

HINDU SCIENCE OF THE FUTURE

By

HARIHAR MAJUMDER, Jyotishshastri

B. A. LL. B. (Cal.), A. C. I. I. (Lond.)

On ASTROLOGY

in Bengali language

1. PHALIT JYOTISH (PART-I)
2. PHALIT JYOTISH (PART-II)
3. JYOTISH JOGA-SANCHAYAN
4. BHABARTHA RATNAKAR
5. BRIHAT PARASARI HORA (PART-I)
6. BRIHAT PARASARI HORA (PART-II)

HARIHAR MAJUMDER

HINDU SCIENCE OF THE FUTURE

Write or visit for :

Books on Astrology Palmistry & Tantra-Mantra etc.

ed

Ranjan Publications

16, Ansari Road, Darya Ganj, NEW DELHI-110002 (India)

Telephone : 327 88 35

Publisher
R. K. Saha
Puthipatra (Calcutta) Private Limited
9 Anthony Bagan Lane
Calcutta 700 009

First Published, April 1981
Reprinted, September 1983
Revised Print, January 2000

Printed By Bhaswati Printing
Creek Row, Calcutta.

Price Rs. 200.00

Foreword

In our time, the study of astrology was limited to only a certain section of people who were profound scholars and who studied deeply the various branches of Indian common philosophy of which astrology is one. There was another section of people who were professionals in the truest sense of the term and earned their livelihood through this profession; their methods of prediction were kept as trade secrets and common people who were interested in studying this subject obtained little help from these professionals whom people of rural areas called acharyas and held in high esteem. Due to their conservative habit many branches of astrology and palmistry have been dying. Of these branches we may mention a few, such as horary astrology and the method of finding out birth particulars from the palm.

Apart from the aforementioned scholars and professionals in those days others showed little interest in the study of this subject. But this attitude is now completely changed. Young men and women of the present generation are taking great interest in studying and understanding the basic concepts of astrology and their application in making astrological forecasts. This is evident from the very large number of astrological books and periodicals in different Indian and Western languages which are available in the market.

To a beginner as well as to an advanced student of astrology the most difficult problem is to assimilate the basic concepts, because in doing so, they find that some sutras appear to be contradicted by others and students are puzzled and fail to take logical approach to the understanding of the subject.

In fact the difficulty can only be avoided by adopting the correct methodology in the study of the subject. It must be admitted that astrology is a science and like the study of other sciences it must be based on systematisation. Mere compilation of the contents from classical texts provides little assistance to an astrologer or to a researcher in astrology. I have been a sincere student of astrology for the last fifty years and I have always felt the need for a book which can help an earnest student of astrology in following a systematic approach to the understanding of this subject. Attempts have been made to make this volume a comprehensive and systematic compilation so that both a beginner and an advanced student may not be bewildered by the apparent contradictions between certain sutras.

In compiling this volume, I have received immense help from my distinguished friends Shri Nirmal Chandra Moitra and Prof. Bimala Prasad Mukhopadhyaya and I would like to record here that I shall ever remain indebted to them.

Lastly it would be a great fault on my part if I do not offer an apology to my learned readers for the undernoted lapses.

Certain Sanskrit terms and names are spelled differently in different places, such as :—Vrhaspathi is spelled somewhere as Vrhaspati, Makar as also Makara etc.

In appendix some of the important matters which missed my attention have been explained elaborately.

14th April 1981

HARIHAR MAJUMDER

Dedicated to
SHRI N. C. MOITRA, M. A.
&
SHRI B. P. MUKHERJEE, M. A.
but for whose enthusiastic efforts the book would not have seen the light of the day.

—Author

Introduction

Astrology is as old as civilisation. But of course there can be no precise pin-pointed date for the outbreak of the phenomenon or rather the phase we call 'civilisation'. The leftist writer Lionel Britton in his 'Hunger and Love' described it as 'Syphilisation'; but that is another story.

It might just as well be said that 'Astrology is as old as superstition.' Nor can there be any precise pin-pointed date for the outbreak of the phase we call 'superstition'. Historians may parade the Age of Reason, as if this ended the Age of Faith or of superstition. But that is all Facile generalisation and tendentious. For, 'civilisation' and 'superstition' have always co-existed. In fact they may be described as indistinguishable phases of a single reality. The terminology has varied according to the point of view of the viewer. The rationalism of to-day may be the 'superstitions' of tomorrow. The changes are so rapid and kaleidoscopic. We shed old superstitions to take on new ones—also old rationalising for new ones, like new lamps for old.

Religion had its own categories of mummery, superstition, blind dogma, repeated rituals, litany and a special esoterically trained priesthood. And thus Religion has been the notorious whipping boy of History.

Much the same deteriorations have been proceeding in Science. It entered the scene with a bang, doubtless broke down many old conceptions and imparted marvellously new ideas of the universe, but, as it developed, has been going the same way that Religion had taken.

It created its own esoteric quarrels, with a special language, special rituals, assumptions and dogmas and its own acolytes and priests—specially trained in its own esoteric methods and habits of thought. The time, we reckon, is not probably far off when there would be a reaction to Science as we now know it, to be followed by a sort of reversal or throw-back—just as there was or had been a reaction to religion. The beginnings of this reaction are already here.

It is more or less against this background that Astrology has to be considered. Astrology has never been quite on the defensive ; for there is a case for it which is stronger than many people would imagine. And it offers, to use the language of a book-reviewer of the Newyork Times writing about the Chinese book of changes, "A release from a discredited Science and rationalism.....a relation between individual and his worlds undreamed in the schemes of social ingenuous engineers."

Human society, as we find it now is only too obviously pervaded with a sense of unrest and insecurity. There might have been similar experiences with human society in the past, but that is not our current concern. Probably society is facing an evolutionary crises for mankind ; we seek, but donot find any co-ordination between our ancient faith or religion and the modern scientific or pseudo-scientific environment where we live, move and have our being. The resultant mal-adjustment is a major malaise and a good reason for a fresh look at Astrology and other old values.

"In recent years", as a distinguished writer has observed, 'a great deal of attention has been given to the idea 'of an expanding conscienceness'—a conscious awareness that can reach out to perceive and understand an 'object' separate from the 'subject'. That is, the perceiving instrument, yourself. There are many ways to experience this expanding awareness. They range from drug taking and flagellation to meditation and religious experience.

Students of Aldous Huxley and Raymond Mortimer would recall the drugs which open the 'door of perception' : flagellation would be remembered along with mysticism. 'Meditation' and experience' is a phrase probably too often to be profaned afresh. And that is exactly where Astrology comes on.

The word 'moon-struck' is a reminder that since time immemorial people have believed that the moon exercises influences on man. And this belief was found by close, repeated observation and experience. So, if the moon influences man, why should not the other planets ? And Astrology grew as soon as such questions were posed. Research follows—a sequel to the laboratory research of our times, the only difference being that in ancient research the human system itself was the laboratory.

There is a sutra in Patanjali Yoga that deep meditation and concentration in a specific manner would produce in the yoga an intimate knowledge of the constitution of stars and constellations. And this is thus one example.

Hindu astrology which is introduced in this book is just a section of the vast subject, but nevertheless an important section. The ancient Babylonian, Chaldean and Greek systems of astrology are as good as lost ; the Chinese and the Hindu systems remain and these are mutually complimentary. Modern research, in its own way, with the backing of modern science is doing its best to supplement Hindu astrology. There has never been any question of supplanting it. It is one of the abiding intellectual treasures of mankind.

I am happy to be privileged to introduce this book. For, it is not one of the run-of-the mill books that drive good books out of market, but on the contrary as has been written by a man devoted to the subject who has spent the best part of his life studying it.

I have known the author for nearly four decades now and can respectfully testify to his deep knowledge of astrology and allied subjects.

April 1981

N. C. MOITRA

Preface

All glories to Shri Shri Guru and Gauranga, Hari, Hari Bol. This new book by Shri Harihar Majumder, is a very important contribution to the world of Vedanga Jyotisha. It is a great asset to the neophyte and master astrologer alike due to the lucid and masterly way in which the subject matter has been handled.

The very basis of becoming a successful astrologer is the thorough understanding of the meanings of the different grahas, rasis, nakshatras and bhavas. Thus in this book you will not find mechanical lists of rasi or bhava-phala which are often misleading (They are also easily obtainable in many other books), rather the emphasis is on the student becoming well-acquainted with the basic building blocks of astrology with which he can make many grand constructions.

It should be mentioned at this point that Shri Harihar Majumder, in the tradition of the Vaisnavas has tried to faithfully follow in the footsteps of the previous acharyas of astrology. For the most part he has given the essence of Maharishi and when there has been some moot point he has given the opinion of other eminent astrologers and of course his own vast experience of over 40 years in the field. I have read dozens of books in the field of Vedic Astrology in the English medium, but to be quite honest none of them have come close to the extent of thoroughness in content and presentation that this book has attained.

Some of the salient features that make this book indispensable are: delineation of the meaning of the Nakshatras, Vedic methods of rectifying the lagna, the meaning and use of the Arudha chakra, the importance and meaning of the Shayanadi bhava. There is a whole section dealing in Arishta, Ayurdaya and the unique technique of the Pataki chakra. The author has spared no pains in carefully delineating all the bhavas and the result of the bhava lords in different bhavas. One of the greatest and most significant sections is the one describing the famous but little understood Shodasa vargas of Parasara, no one, as yet has taken the trouble to deal with this perplexing topic.

and its discussion should stimulate a lot of research into the subject of Shodasa Vargas to help us expand our knowledge in this field. Vimshottari dasa is amply discussed with the exclusion of the usual mechanical tables for dasa and bhukti phala which are often unreliable. As was stated before the principal is to become thoroughly acquainted with the theory so that the student can handle all the exceptions to the mechanical rules which are usually met with in day to day astrology.

It should be noted that while a chapter has been provided for the calculation of the so-called 'bhava-sphuta' or division of houses, this is meant solely for the information of the students who desire to know it and is not used by either Shri Harihar Majumder or myself. When questioned as to the nature of bhavas and their extent, Shri Majumder answered that the bhava is equal in extent to the rasi, and that this was the practice of Parasara, Varahamihira and other ancient eminent astrologers. Thus the chapter on bhavasphuta is really superfluous, but has only been included because of its present day popularity.

I pray to the Lotus Feet of Shri Shri Radha Krishna and Shri Shri Gaura-Nitai that Shri Harihar Majumder may be able to continue in his work and bring to the English speaking world the authoritative knowledge of the Vedanga Jyotisha.

April 1981

SHYAMASUNDARA DAS (ISKCON)

Contents

	Pages
1. Predictive Astrology	1
2. Astrology and Forecasts	12
CHAPTER—I
1. Solar System—Earth, Planets & Stars	22
2. Names of Bhavas	24
3. Nakshatra (constellations)	25
4. Symbols of Planets	26
5. The Pecking order among Rasis	26
6. List of benefic and malefic Planets	27
7. Planetary Relations	27
8. Allocation of Planetary Rulership	28
9. Exaltation and Mooltrikone signs of Planets	29
10. Aspects	30
CHAPTER—II
11. Peculiarities of Rasis explained	32
12. Peculiarities of Nakshatras	39
13. Signification of Planets	53
14. Nature and characteristics of Planets described by other eminent Astrologers	62
15. Structure and temperament of Planets	64
16. Abodes of Planets	65
17. Specification of influences of planets in different bhavas	65
18. A few important planets, their various moods and derivative influences	66
CHAPTER—III
19. What is lagna ?	69
20. Method of calculation of lagna and lagnasphuta	69
21. How to find out grabasphuta	71
22. Lagnasphuta	72

23. Bhavasphuta	...	73
24. How to test correctness of lagna	...	77
25. Determination of Sex from Drekkana	...	80
26. What is Gulik and Pranpada lagna ?	...	82
27. Testing correctness of lagna from Gulik	...	84
28. Pranpada	...	84
29. Arudha Chakra	...	87
30. General rules to judge an Arudha Chakra	...	89
31. Shayanadi Bhava	...	93
32. Planets in different Bhavas and results thereof	...	97

CHAPTER—IV

33. Rules for determining merit of moods or bhavas	...	110
34. Summary of the rules indicated above	...	115
35. When a planet is considered weak ?	...	116
36. Delineation of Sada-Varga	...	116
37. When a planet is said to have acquired strength in a Varga ?	...	119

CHAPTER—V

38. Indication of Bhavas	...	120
39. The first bhava	...	120
40. Position of the lord of the 1st house in different bhavas and results thereof	...	121
41. Dhana bhava (the 2nd house)	...	125
(i) Eye-disease, (ii) Dumbness	...	126
42. Indication of disease from the 2nd house	...	127
(i) The yoga that makes a man a liar	...	127
(ii) The yoga that makes a man rich	...	127
(iii) Daridra yoga (Poverty)	...	130
43. Results of the lord of the 2nd house occupying different bhavas	...	131
44. The Third house	...	133
45. Affinity with brothers and sisters	...	136
46. Positions of the lord of 3rd house in different bhavas and results thereof	...	137
47. The Fourth house	...	139

48. Concerning Mother's death	...	...	140
(i) Nature of disease of mother	...	...	141
(ii) Longivity of the mother	...	...	141
(iii) The yoga that confers happiness	...	...	142
(iv) The yoga that confers unhappiness	...	...	142
(v) Ownership of Vehicles	...	...	142
(vi) Ownership of houses	...	...	143
(vii) Loss of houses	...	...	143
(viii) Concerning possession of landed property	...	...	143
(ix) Acquisition of wealth buried underground	...	...	144
49. Position of the lord of the 4th house in different bhavas and results thereof	...	...	144

CHAPTER—VI

50. The Fifth house	...	...	146
(i) Signs of sterility	...	...	146
(ii) A woman who bears only one child	...	...	147
(iii) Yogas signifying birth to one child and yogas concerning a woman giving birth of dead children	...	...	148
(iv) Yoga of childlessness in a woman's rasichakra	...	...	148
(v) Birth of children at a very late age	...	...	149
(vi) Adopted son	...	...	149
(vii) Other important things about the 5th house and its lord	...	...	150
(viii) Yogas that make man an author	...	...	151
(ix) Yogas causing sharp intellect	...	...	151
(x) Results of the lord of the 5th house in different bhavas	...	...	152
51. The Sixth house	...	...	154
(i) Special yogas concerning disease	...	...	156
(ii) Occupation of 6th lord in different bhavas and results thereof	...	...	159

CHAPTER—VII

52. Jaya bhava	...	...	161
(i) Number of wives	...	...	161
(ii) Two wives	...	...	162
(iii) One wife and one son	...	...	162

(iv)	Three wives	...	162
(v)	More than two wives	...	162
(vi)	Conduct of the wife	...	163
(vii)	A good, honest, religious-minded and faithful wife	...	164
(viii)	A religious-minded wife practising penance	...	164
(ix)	A bad, cruel, ill-behaved or haughty wife	...	165
(x)	Possibility of early marriage	...	166
(xi)	The yoga that makes a person bachelor or spinster (Anurha yoga)	...	166
(xii)	Late marriage	...	167
(xiii)	Illustration of late marriage	...	168
(xiv)	In spite of these yogas marriage is possible under some circumstances	...	168
	Important factors for determining time of marriage	...	169
(i)	Definite period of marriage	...	170
(ii)	Yogas of immorality, loose morals or bad character	...	172
(iii)	Yogas that make a person moral-minded, chaste in sexual life	...	173
(iv)	Good and honest wife or husband may be expected from the following yogas	...	174
(v)	Other unfavourable yogas regarding the 7th bhava—premature death of wife or husband	...	175
(vi)	Widowhood	...	175
	The following configuration of planets nullify the yogas of widowhood	...	176
(i)	Determination of wife's (or husband's) Family standard or Pedegree	...	176
(ii)	Love marriage, Civil marriage, Intercaste marriage etc.	...	177
(iii)	Conjugal life	...	177
(iv)	Occupation of planets in the 7th bhava and results thereof	...	178
(v)	Occupation of the 7th lord in different bhavas and results thereof	...	180

CHAPTER—VIII

53. The Eighth house	...	182
54. Bala-rishta	...	183
55. Ganda	...	186
56. Pataki chakra	...	187
57. Diva yāmārdha and Dandapathi	...	188
58. Diva yāmārdha Table	...	189
59. Method of finding out Dandapathi	...	189
60. How to determine Pataki-rishta ?	...	190
61. What are protective factors ?	...	191
62. Pitri-rishta	...	191
63. Matri-rishta	...	192
64. Bala-rishta	...	194
65. Occupation of the 8th lord in different bhavas and results thereof	...	194
66. Unhappy or painful end of life	...	196
67. Planets in the 8th house	...	197
68. Cancellation of rishta yogas	...	202
69. A few instances of rishta yogas that are nullified under special conditions	...	204
70. Longevity or Ayu	...	205
71. Reduction or increase of Zone of longevity	...	208
72. Role of Vṛhaspathi with regard to increase of the Zone of longevity	...	209
73. Another method of determining span of life	...	209
74. Death inflicting dasa and antardasa	...	210
75. Sani as a Maraka	...	211
76. A few important hints given by Maharshi Parasara	...	212
77. A few more yogas stated by Maharshi Parasara to ascertain longevity	...	213
78. A few formulas stated by Maharshi Parasara by which Zone of long life may be ascertained	...	213
79. A few formulas of Uttara Kalamrita about longevity	...	214

CHAPTER—IX

80. Bhagya Bhava. The Ninth house	...	216
81. Configuration of planets that constitute good bhagya yogas	...	218
82. Configuration of planets and bhava-lords indicating prosperous life in different ages	...	219
83. Religious inclination etc.	...	220
84. Occupation of 9th lord in different bhava	...	220
85. The Tenth or Karma bhava	...	221
86. Positions of some of indicators of Karma bhava of the 10th lord	...	224
87. How to judge Karma bhava ? An illustration and delineation of the chart	...	224
88. Further informations about 10th house, its lord and Ravi	...	226
(i) Death of parents	...	226
(ii) Earning of money, position, distinction in social life and professional career	...	227
(iii) Means of livelihood or nature of profession	...	228
(iv) Another opinion supported by majority of astrologers	...	230
(v) Descriptions of planetary combinations and indications of vocation	...	231
(vi) Occupation of 10th lord in different bhavas	...	232
89. Eleventh house	...	232
90. Occupation of the lord of 11th house in different bhava	...	233
91. Twelfth house	...	234
92. Occupation of the 12th lord in different bhavas	...	235

CHAPTER—X

93. Beneficial planets according to different lagna	...	236
94. Benefic or malefic bhavas and their lords	...	237
95. Sthira Karaka	...	239

CHAPTER—XI

96.	Vimsottari Dasa and Antardasa or Bhukti or Period and Sub-period	...	248
97.	Calculation of dasa and Antardasa		250, 251
98.	Vimsottari Dasa and Antardasa Table	...	253
99.	Fundamental principles of judging dasa and antardasa in predicting events	...	255
100.	A few important points to be noted carefully	...	259

CHAPTER—XII

101.	Astottary Dasa and Antardasa	...	262
102.	Method of calculation of Antardasa	...	262
103.	Astottary dasa Table	...	263
104.	Method of calculation of balance of dasa at the time of birth	...	264
105.	Astottary dasa-antardasa Table	...	266

CHAPTER—XIII

106.	Judgment of dasa and antardasa according to Uttarakalamrita	...	268
107.	Special rules for dasas of Rahu and Ketu	...	270
108.	A few more instructions about judgment of dasa	...	272
109.	Interesting results of the dasa and antardasa of Sukra and Sani	...	273
110.	Dasa and antardasa of Sani and Ravi	...	274
111.	Maharshi Parasara's instructions about judgment of dasa and antardasa	...	274
112.	Determination of favourable, unfavourable antardasas	...	275
113.	Results of dasa and antardasas of planets of different stages	...	276
114.	Results of Mahadasa and Antardasa (according to Sarvartha Chintamani)	...	277

CHAPTER—XIV

115.	Rajayogas	...	283
116.	When Rajayoga is considered defunct ?	...	284
117.	Maharaja yoga	...	286

118. When these yogas will be fruitful ?	...	292
119. When a native has sense of decency or aestheticism ?	...	293
(i) Adhi yoga	...	294
(ii) Sunapha yoga, Anapha yoga, Durudhara or Uvachary yoga	...	295
(iii) Chatursagara yoga	...	297
(iv) Ekabali yoga	..	298
(v) Yogas according to Jataka-Parijat	...	298
(vi) Ruchaka yoga, Bhadra yoga, Hamsa yoga, Malavya yoga	...	299
(vii) Sasa yoga, Bhaskar yoga, Indra yoga, Marut yoga, Budha yoga	...	300
(viii) Lagnadhi yoga, Gajakeshari yoga, Jeeva yoga, Parvata yoga	...	301
(ix) Kahala yoga, Malika or Mala yoga	...	302
(x) Samkha yoga, Bhairi yoga	...	303
(xi) Srinath yoga, Matsa yoga, Lakshmi yoga	...	304
(xii) Kurma yoga, Parijata yoga, Kalanidhi yoga	...	305
(xiii) Yogas that are effective according to Jataka-Parijat	...	305
(xiv) When a native becomes a millionaire ?	...	308
(xv) Yogas that make a man educated and learned	...	309
(xvi) Yogas that make a man astrologer and mathematician	...	311
(xvii) Yoga that makes a man scientist	...	311
(xviii) Conveyances	...	312
(xix) Ownership of houses	...	313
(xx) Prabrajya or Sannyas yoga (religious mendicancy)	...	314
(xxi) When Sannyas yogas are defunct ?	...	317
(xxii) Yogas of glorious and virtuous deeds	...	317
(xxiii) Taking bath in holy river or sea	..	318
(xxiv) Yogas that make a man an orator or fluent speaker	...	319

CHAPTER—XV

120.	Asthavarga System	...	...	320
121.	Ravi and other planets' asthavarga		...	321
122.	Mahasthavarga	...	...	325
123.	Asthavarga chakra—an illustration		...	325
124.	To determine dhana yoga (from Mahastha varga)...			328
125.	Gocharphala or results of transits of planets in different houses		...	329
126.	A few general rules of application of gocharphala of planets		...	339
127.	Table of Vedasthana of each planet		...	342

CHAPTER—XVI

128.	Diseases		...	343
(i)	Blindness	...	...	343
(ii)	Loss of one eye, night blindness		...	345
(iv)	Eye disease, dumbness		...	349
(v)	Deafness or disease of ears	...	...	347
(v)	Dental disease		...	348
(vi)	Disease of the throat		..	349
(vii)	Disease of Asthma or respiratory organ		...	349
(viii)	Phthisis or Consumptive disease		...	350
(ix)	Haematemesis (spontaneous haemorrhage from the stomach)		...	352
(x)	Indigestion, dyspepsia, colic pain and gastritis			352
(xi)	Strong diarrhoea and Vomiting		...	354
(xii)	Dysentery	...	...	355
(xiii)	Hernia	...	..	357
(xiv)	Diabetes		...	358
(xv)	Enlargement of prostate gland	...	...	359
(xvi)	Gonorrhoea or Syphilis		...	360
(xvii)	Disease of Prameha	...	...	361
(xviii)	Enlargement of Scrotum		...	362
(xix)	Rheumatism or gout	...	...	363
(xx)	Impotency		...	364
(xxi)	Heart disease		...	364
(xxii)	Hysteria or Epilepsy	...	...	365
(xxiii)	Lunacy or Insanity		...	366
(xxiv)	Disease of ovary and uterus	...	...	368

(xxv)	Disease of fever	...	369
xxvi)	Disease of cancer	...	369
(xxvii)	Disease of leukaemia (blood cancer)	...	371
(xxviii)	Yogas indicating bad health	...	371
(xxix)	Painful or unnatural death	...	373
(xxx)	Suicide and unnatural or accidental death	...	376

CHAPTER—XVII

129.	When Rajayogas are ineffective ?	...	378
(i)	The yoga that makes a man a beggar	...	378
(ii)	A few more yogas of beggary	...	378
(iii)	Extinction of Family lineage	...	380
(iv)	When a native is considered a disgrace to the family ?	...	381
(v)	Rekha yoga	...	382
(vi)	The yogas that indicate poverty	...	383
(vii)	Yogas quoted from Hora Ratna	...	384
(viii)	Yogas of poverty quoted from Laghu Parasari	...	385
(ix)	Yogas of poverty quoted from Sarvartha Chintamony	...	386
(x)	Yogas of poverty quoted from Bhavartha Ratnakar	...	388
(xi)	A few Daridra and other unfavourable yogas	...	389
130.	Delineation of some Vargas as dealt with by Maharshi Parasara and some other authors.	...
(a)	Sada-Varga ; (b) Dasa-Varga ; (c) Sorasha-Varga		391
(i)	What these different Vargas indicate ?	...	392
(ii)	How to determine a favourable Varga of a planet ?	...	393
(iii)	How Varga-Chakras are analysed ?	...	395
(iv)	Indication of results for lords of some other bhavas	...	396
131.	About 9th lord	...	397
132.	TABLES :	...	1—
133.	APPENDIX—A. Method of Calculation	...	i—iv
134.	APPENDIX—B. Dreams—A Mystery	...	v—x

HINDU SCIENCE OF THE FUTURE (PREDICTIVE ASTROLOGY)

Astrology, older than the Christian Era, flourished greatly in ancient Egypt, Greece, Babylon and India. To what extent at that time ancient Indian culture influenced them is not exactly determinable. And reasons for this are that during the twilight that descended upon India as a result of the consecutive invasions of the Huns, Sakas and Muslims to mention only the conspicuous ones of the series, the ancient civilization of India was not only smothered but nearly obliterated or driven underground, to produce in a much later period, not a syntheses, but a queer amalgam. This is a matter on which there should be no controversy. It is not possible in consequence to trace the origins and the development of such disciplines as Philosophy, Physical Sciences, Mathematics, Astronomy and Literature in their correct historical perspectives, nor to assess the influences which an enormous land-mass like India must have exercised over her neighbours in the various spheres of culture both in the Middle East, as also in the East.

If the evolution of Astronomy as also Astrology has to be consecutively retraced step by step and their right places have to be assigned in the scheme of knowledge, if we have to disentangle it all from the general history, chiefly the history of Egypt, Greece and Babylon then, as is well known as these civilizations naturally lead down to European civilizations, it is like arguing in a circle, for if one starts enquiry about European civilizations, one has to go up the stream, as far as different cultural histories are involved, to Egypt, Greece and Babylon. It is a compulsive, there being no other way ; and an appraisal—or right estimate of the importance of Astronomy and Astrology in the history of these ancient civilizations, is possible only if historical, pre-historical and archaeological enquiry is intensive enough.

Unfortunately, there is controversy as to whether predictive astrology is scientific enough to be called a Science. Needless to add, most of the Scientists are not prepared to accept it as Science because of conservatism and the old grooves of thought, and the old landmarks die-hard. But Astronomy is an accepted Science and, for the advancement of it there has been no lack of money to spend and what has been or is being spent already is just an earnest of more to be spent in future. Those who pursue Astronomy call Astrology a superstition and use abusive epithets to garnish their prejudices. The scientific spirit, which includes or rather should include, curiosity and toleration as basic factors, is thus entirely lost proving incidentally that Science can be almost as despotically dogmatic as the Church which condemned Galileo. Modern Science has evolved its own hierarchy and rituals and mumbo-jumbo which are as unintelligible beyond a certain charmed circle, as the liturgy and litanies of the Church are. Science has its own priest-craft, and its acolytes. It is they who compete with one another in describing Astrology as a pseudo-Science, without of course the obligation of learning anything of it. Late Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru who stood at the apex of the political pyramid was the most fashionable know-all the Indian scene and other politicians who aped him did not deprive Astrology of its ration of abuse. It is known to all or should be, that, while astrologers only try humbly to interpret Man's fate, the politicians sneer at the astrologer as long as they are successful then, when things take an adverse turn, rush to ashramas and quack astrologers to be sneered at. Notwithstanding all this, as long as civilizations endure, both politics and astrology shall co-exist, both undecapitated—not only with their heads on, but possibly with their heads high.

The Question often banded about is "why should the planets take any interest in human affairs?"

Let the point be examined a little. We all know and would be prepared to admit that creative evolution is not a haphazard process. The evidence of design is omnipresent right from the atomic and sub-atomic stages upto the highest, in close integration. The chain of causation and sequence is intensively real but so usual and so much taken for granted that it is hardly perceptible, involving as it does a pattern of fusion of animate and inanimate creations. The animal world, the vegetable world and even the solar system fall into their assigned niches but with a sort of symbiosis running all through. At least it merits some thinking. We shall have occasion to discuss the relations of the animal world to the planets ; but for the present one or two illustrations may suffice. With too many cloudy days and the Sun's rays at discount a sort of fungus-like insects grows in crops which destroys the green shoots and causes famine. Food cooked during the solar or lunar eclipses gets stale ; it has been observed that toxic bacilli grow in it and cause disease.

From many observed cases of this nature it would be quite a correct inference to make that the planets of the solar system do influence both animate and inanimate creation on Earth. The results of the Sun are self-evident, we only wish, the results of other Planets were equally so. If they were, the questions about the good and the evil of humans through food or otherwise would be almost self-explanatory. It is the result of vast and subtle observation encompassing considerable experience that planets and their positions do affect the Earth generally and the lives of the inhabitants of the Earth in particular, to a great extent in detail. It is not only not irrational, but quite rational if the superstitions of pseudo-Science are not preferred. According to all canons of common sense and reasoning this should be so. The planets are in ceaseless motion. This would mean that everything related to these is also constantly in a state of flux.

One acts and reacts perpetually and each delicate shed of action and reaction amounts to an influence. From star to star vibrates light, also from soul to soul.

Astrology tries to find out and delineate the generally unknown and imperceptible reasons for these influences. Whether the general principles that have been evolved are correctly applied in any particular case is a matter of knowledge, experience and skill. So, while the Astrologer may be praised or blamed, according to his experience or capacities the principle of Astrology can hardly be dismissed off-hand. They go much too deep, almost strike at the root of things.

It is in this context that the Astrologer uses the word 'destiny'—the term fashionable people in prosperity so much laugh at. Whether however, the first laugh is also the last is another matter but the philosophers and wise men all the world over and through the ages have accepted the hypothesis of 'destiny'. It is human 'character' in reverse—'character' producing action, which again produces 'destiny'. As the Episcopal Church admits, 'Predestination to life is the everlasting purpose of God.' The Bible clearly indicates the future of man which is the same as his destiny. The history of the Jews is set forth in the Bible from the Genesis to the Revelation. Was not the life of Jesus and account of his Ministry written in the Holy Writ long before he was born? Was not the Ramayana written before Ramchandra also? If the Holy Writ is believed the anticipations of Jesus Christ in it are to be believed also, and if that is so, there is no reason either to convict the Ramayana as post facto wisdom.

Let us take an instance of the most recent times. Cheiro i.e. Count Louis Hammon predicted most accurately the time of Late Kitchner's death along with the attendant circumstances, long before this important event occurred. And how could he do it? There have been other famous or notorious predictions equally uncanny in their accuracy. And how is it explained?

In any case, Astrology is one of the oldest mental and intellectual disciplines of the world and it is necessary to enquire about its development, proficiency and extent of it. Cheiro writes in the preface of his 'You and Your Hand', "People who in their ignorance disdain the wisdom of ancient races forget that the past of India contained secrets of life and philosophy that following civilizations could not controvert, but were forced to accept. For instance, it has been demonstrated that ancient Hindus understood the precession of Equinox and made calculations that it took place once in every 25,870 years. The observations and mathematical precession necessary to establish such a theory has been the wonder and admiration of modern astronomers. They with their modern knowledge and up-to-date instruments are still quarrelling among themselves as to whether the precession, the most important feature in astronomy, takes place every 25,870 years or every 24,500 years. The majority believe that the Hindus made no mistake, but how they arrived at such a calculation is as great a mystery as origin of life itself." In this preface Cheiro has rated Indian Astronomy highly—the calculations about the precession of Equinox which have been established only in our own times with precision had been done by the ancients almost as accurately and without the help of the mathematical gadgets we boast of. The Hindu sages achieved these triumphs long ago and without any margin of error.

The history of all civilized nations will bear out on enquiry that Astronomy and Astrology have been studied everywhere quite intensively and all nations were and have been more or less proficient in these branches of Science. Chinese civilization is older than the Indian; priceless ancient manuscripts on Astronomy and Astrology are preserved in their temples to this day. Though there are numerous accounts of Astronomy and Astrology in Babylonian and Chaldean lore, treatises from these epochs have not come down to posterity. Egyptian Astronomer-cum-Astrologer Petosiris has been many times mentioned in ancient Egyptian manuscripts. It appears that he was a holy man, a priest or a pedlar of religion. He appeared to have written books on these subjects as early as the 8th century B. C. during the Emperor Niceps. Unfortunately none of his writings have survived. Clodius Ptolemy mentioned Petosiris many times in his works. Western Astronomy and Astrology have followed the lead of Ptolemy. Many startling things are said of Al-Hakim of Persia and detail about him can be obtained in the national library of Iran. It is said that he predicted birth of Jesus. Judicia or Jimipsia is a name that frequently occurs in the writings of the famous historians of these days. They say, the methods of calculations of Arabian astrologers were rather strange but nevertheless most significant, but there is hardly any library which has preserved the Arabic works, Collections of nomadic Gypsies might contain traces of them, though no systematic volume can be obtained. The methods of calculations of the Gypsies have been followed in Europe with results astonishingly accurate. No wonder if it is someday revealed that Yavanacharya, Tajik, and Yavan Rishis of our country were the descendants of Arab Gypsies or vice versa. Anyway, fragments from Arabian Astrology and Astronomy used from time to time have yielded results breathlessly astonishing.

Whatever might have been the fate of astronomical and astrological works in the history of ancient Egypt, Chaldea, Arabia and other ancient countries, the fact remains that in the treatises of China and India priceless treasures of wisdom exist and are easily available. No systematic history of Indian astronomy and astrology has as yet been attempted ; but when it is, it will prove incontestably that before the Western countries were lit up by civilizations, many thousand years before that time India had made phenomenal progress in Science, Philosophy and literature, and astronomy and astrology were a part of holy disciplines of the Vedas. E. M. Plunkett in 'Ancient calender and constellations' writes "The opinion of Greek writers at the beginning of Christian Era may be quoted as showing the high estimation in which Indian astrology was held." It appears that the Greek Scholars used to hold Indian astronomy and astrology in the highest esteem and also along with these, the practitioners of this Science. Needless perhaps, but nevertheless necessary to mention that in the ancient world astronomy and astrology were not as differentiated as they are now, but were integrated, one merging into and inseparable from the other like Chemistry and Alchemy. In the life of Apollonius of Tyana who was a great scholar among distinguished scholars of his time we learn that he had opportunity of learning astronomy at the feet of Indian astronomers.

After all this it is hardly necessary to emphasise the Indian astronomers' depth of astronomical and astrological learning. And all of them worked on the basic conception that the planets do influence human life in various ways and in detail. They collected their data accordingly and also collated, classified and co-ordinated them accordingly. It was the result of arduous training converging upon a single objective and spread over countless years.

Western Scientists have also researched in astronomy for a long time and accepted Astronomy as a Science. But it is curious that in regard to Astrology they do not employ the same rationality as in astronomy and as a result failed to accept it as a branch of the same science. Let us take the definition of Science as set forth in Funk and Wagnalls' Standard Dictionary—"A knowledge of facts, laws and proximate causes gained and verified by exact observation and correct thinking—also, sum of universal knowledge—an exact systematic statement or classification of knowledge concerning some subject in which the results of investigation have been systematised."

There can be no two opinions about the wisdom of the definition quoted above. And if that is so, predictive astrology would obviously rank very high as a Science. For, it is not the result of only a year's enquiry but has stood the test of thousand of years on the basis of amassed data researched and processed over the same long time. Scientists wonder how the ancients could secure all this accurate knowledge about the planets without the help of laboratory instruments. The result which the ancient Indian sages obtained through their mathematical calculations in which their proficiency was in their own times unsurpassable, was put to the test in all succeeding ages and have hardly ever been found wanting; and it was on this that their formulae were involved—the Formulae which are the guide-lines of the Hindu Astrology. They have come down to us and are being tested in our own times and found to be true and they appear to bear all the scrutiny quite well. We have to go back thousands of years for the age when these Indian sages worked. Most of the European peoples had not been born and knew nothing about them; they were just non-descript primitive people in forests which covered whole the land area. In India at the same time the Aryan Rishies were setting themselves hard for rigorous tests for their scientific enquiries. Observations and experiments went together and results were passed through the sieve of a system which triumphed in summary intellectual conclusions. Predictive astrology of to-day as we know it now carries their ancient conclusions to this day. As said before they took astronomy and astrology in the same stride and those who looked after the cure of disease, the healers and physicians, had to be versed in not only the run-of-the-mill writings in medical lore, but also in Tantras, Yoga and Vedas. They were all integrated, so as to form a corporate core. It was not possible for one in those days to be a competent physician or a Tantrik without adequate knowledge of predictive astrology—the right propitious time for use of medicines and administration of therapeutic remedies. One might recall with profit that great cultural epoch which we call the Renaissance. The calendar was used to be consulted always for the right time for administration of medicines.

It has been said that the Vedas represent the ultimate knowledge. The key to the Vedas has been lost, but fitful glimpses may be had of the immense range and profound depth of the learning that was embalmed in the Vedas. Astronomy and Astrology have been described as the eye—that is to say, the instrument of vision of the Vedas. An American scholar says, "Astrology is indeed a synthesis of all branches of knowledge. It includes, into various ramifications, such modern Sciences as Astronomy, Medicine, Biology, Chemistry, Physics and many others."

In fact predictive astrology is the co-ordination of various Sciences—Astronomy, Medical sciences, Biology, Chemistry, Physics etc. The astrologer has also to be assumed to be a psychologist and this is a 'must' for him. The real place for Astrology is that of a sort of enclave in Metaphysics and Philosophy. But is not all Science, in a deeper and more permanent sense, a similar enclave in Metaphysics and Philosophy? Has not the work as Einstein, Edington and other sages gone beyond the sphere of matter and touched, if not delved into the greater world of spirit?

The Scientists of our own times are so apt to forget that the ancient sages of India were not holy and religious people only. They were also Scientists with result-oriented research through observation and experiment as their special 'metier'. Take for instance Yoga, which is older than Patanjali, who only wrote down for posterity something of the unrecorded knowledge of his predecessors. Most of the Yogic postures are taken and reproduced from animal life, which had been observed with luminous intelligence and close minute realism. The men who did the observations were not religious men only, they were also great secular investigators, that is, Scientists. Predictive astrology and astronomy, to the Hindu Sages were just indistinguishable aspects of the same great variety and reality. The moderns have broken up the integration, fragmented them and pride themselves on their top-sided results which they call speculations. Astronomy ceases to be down-to-the earth useful to everybody, if divorced from its astrological counterpart. It may remain useful to the mariner, but in the case of others it becomes too limited and circumscribed. The interest evoked becomes academic and hardly anything more; whether Mars is bigger than Pluto or Pluto is bigger than Mars is by no means an ordinary man's cup of tea. Nine-tenths of the popular utility of the science is thus lost.

Scientists now-a-days preen themselves on their close and vast knowledge of Solar system. And rightly enough, there is much to boast of. But it is equally obvious that all the knowledge accumulated so far is only a very small fragment of the enormous knowledge that still lies beyond. Our modern Scientists can very well explain such phenomena as cyclones and tidal bores and there are many interesting stories current in England about this. But did the Hindu Varaha Mihir of the ancient times lag much behind? The Hindu Almanac (Panjika as it is called) indicates with quite substantial certitude the incidents of such phenomena as flood, earthquake, cyclone, draught and with absolute accuracy, the time of Solar and lunar Eclipses. The earthquake in Assam, largescale floods in various parts of India and many other happenings of similar nature were predicted quite correctly, which hardly left much room for modern science to improve upon. If that is so—and it is—there is no well-reasoned justification for expenditure of so much money, time and endeavour on Astronomy only, to the exclusion of its sister-science Astrology. What Benian observes in this connection is worth quoting. "..... the most of the so-called exact knowledge now in our possession, which concerns the actual movements of the Stars, and other heavenly bodies is a legacy handed down to us by the ancient Star-Scientists, astrologers."

The Hindu Rishis divided Astronomy into two parts. The first part Astronomy proper, dealt with only the positions of the planets, their correlations with space and their motions. The second part Astrology dealt with the various effects, the varying positions of the planets have on humanity, or rather on the whole animate creation of the earth. They dealt extensively in the second, i.e. Astrological part with the natural scientific changes and how they bring about earthquakes, famines, accidents etc., another section dealt with births and deaths, the evolution of individual and collective human life, sentiments, affections, cruelty, love, desire and hate, in fact everything that makes up human life.

It is probably superfluous to add that the ancient astrologers' quest for the Absolute in natural laws, particularly in respect of the solar system, led them, as from one thing to another, to the minutiae in astrology. It is a pity that, while in our own times, advanced mechanical means have been evolved to help researches in Astronomy, and nothing like all that, nothing even approaching it, has been done so far in Astrology. The reason is that quite a lot of superstition exist among scientific people about Astrology. It is open to argument whether scientists who claim immunity from superstition are not themselves superstitious in certain things. Probably they shed old superstitions to take new ones. A few illustrations might not be out of place.

(i) There is a close nexus between the sea and the waxing and waning moon, the flow-tide and the ebb-tide prove it.

(ii) There is also a similar nexus between female menstruation and the waxing and waning moon, and also

(iii) between the moon and the mind of man. Cases of lunacy, that is to say, cases where the human mind is derranged permanently or temporarily bring this into clear belief. These should prove, if it were not self-evident that the planets do have something to say in the fate of mortals.

It is a matter of common observations that diseases like Asthma and gout respond variously to the waxing and waning moon. Cases of child-birth are also effected. It is also common experience that, while the individual destinies are matters of engrossing, even obsessing, interest to individuals, and they want to know as much they can about themselves and their future, they would readily be prepared to admit that, only with a mathematical yard-stick, the unknown cannot be fathomed. What can the conch-shell thrown up by the ocean know of the vast ocean itself? True indeed that human beings have, what is called reason and, not to lose grounding in terra firma, a man has got to depend on it. But only as far as it goes. Reason is given to man for certain particular mental adjustments. One cannot, should not, even expect to do everything with it. Just like spectacles, they are just a device to help the failing eye, this far and no further. If one would try to do everything with spectacles, for example, eat, it would be as absurd as a man trying to encompass everything with reason. Take for instance the enjoyment of a picture, the feeling of love, a father's love for his children, the children's love for the father, the male's love for the female and vice versa, the appreciation of beauty; these are not matters where reason is of much avail. It is emotion that helps and that is implanted in man just as reason is, but on an entirely different plane. Intuition is such another. It opens the doors of perception, probably much sooner than reason or even emotion can; but only a few are blessed with it.

Our Hindu Rishis developed and disciplined their reason, but did not neglect either emotion or intuition. They put equal emphasis on all of them.

“যুক্তিযুক্তমুপাদেয়ং বচনং বালকাদপি ।

অন্তঃতৃণমপিতাপ্যাজ্যমপ্যুক্তং পদ্মযোনিম্ ॥”

Meaning a rational statement is acceptable even though it might come from the lips of a child; anything irrational should be rejected like straw even though Brahma might have said it.

Could the apotheosis of reason the more clearly put? The Hindu Yoga Shastra is full of instances of apotheosis of intuition, as also as the methods to develop and discipline it.

Ray Moulton wrote, “a scientist and astronomer of the highest rank advances the theory that there is an order in the universe, which embraces not only the regularity of the motion of celestial bodies, comprising the universe, but also includes the rhythm of the physical, mental and emotional activities of human beings."

Astrology and Forecasts

A question is frequently asked why astrological forecasts would come out true or if there is any well-proved reason for such predictions to materialise. As a matter of fact, in the modern scientific age a person would like to understand everything as a plain mathematical sum and place himself on solid logical foundation. Anything else would not satisfy him. Any forecast about his future, even if found correct in the long run, would inevitably raise such questions,—how did it come to pass? What is the relation between the stars and planets and our lives? He may be told that astronomers calculate the exact timings of high and low tide in rivers, can foretell solar and lunar eclipses or storms and cyclones. So there is nothing to wonder at if in personal life positions and combinations of stars and planets bring about a same kind of effect as in the world of nature. But the person who questions would not accept it as a valid explanation. Because astrology is not the same thing as astronomy. An astronomer deals exclusively with the material world but a human being is not just a particle of matter. He has undoubtedly certain intimate connection, some indissoluble ties with the world of matter. But it cannot be refuted that man is something more than different from matter. Hence how can calculations of a man's past and future based on planetary positions be true when there is so much of qualitative difference and dissimilarity of character between man and nature. He may well ask, even if such calculations prove to be correct, what is the logical ground for assuming that the correctness of those calculations is related to positions and combinations of certain stars and planets?

It is true that our ancient Shastras (texts) donot contain detailed statements, references to which can satisfy the modern scientific mind or be accepted as sufficient evidence. In Science and religion or prescription of social norms our sages of old have recorded their deep impressions while on occasions they have laid down certain important injunctions and on the whole left behind their conclusions and findings derived from immense experience. It is hard to believe that they reached a number of conclusions without any deep thinking or critical analysis and shifting of data. We have no sufficient documentary evidence gathered from old texts and records which can answer questioning minds satisfactorily. Probably, the writers of ancient texts did not think it necessary to leave such evidence on records or possibly the records were there at one time but have been lost to us for ever. We have therefore to go on with persistent researches into the texts, trying to find out clues so that treasures lost in the way may be retrieved. Many well-known scholars of different countries such as Maxwd, Clayton, Tice, Pikardi and others have made intensive researches in this direction. Dr. B. V. Raman, the well-known astrologer, is a tireless worker in this field and his scholarship is beyond dispute.

In astrology there are even now some fundamental problems or questions which claim our careful attention, e. g.,

(i) how do we arrive at astrological predictions? Are these derived through any particular law of average from mathematical and statistical principles or do they issue from something basic or fundamental which is not just mathematics or derived from statistics?

(ii) What is the real character of the planets? Do their material existence and their relative remoteness or proximity affect the animate and the inanimate world within the solar system?

(iii) Is there any such well-ordered regulating principle, more or less mechanical, in the conduct and action of the planets which would invariably influence every living creature?

(iv) What is the real contribution of astrology to the unfolding of life's hidden secrets and its mysteries?

Here I shall enter into some discussion and try to explain that in order to follow the true nature of astrological prediction one has to understand in what ways and to what extent certain unseen forces influence or regulate the tenor of life. Now a few words are necessary at the beginning. Firstly researchers in science know well that the data must be wholly dependable, that their truth or falsity or other attributes must be beyond doubt or dispute. To rely on heresay and to use unverified evidence definitely goes against proper scientific enquiry.

Secondly, any preconceived notion or personal bias in regard to an individual is sure to hamper astrological calculations and finding (at arriving astrological decision) about him. The astrologer must proceed to work like a true researcher. For example, my limited knowledge through personal contact leads me to believe that Mr. X is an honest man. But if on the basis of this conviction I say that Mr. X is thoroughly honest and that he can not be dishonest then I assume or anticipate something which naturally would vitiate my prediction.

Thirdly, and this is the most important fact as stated by the great poet Kalidas who incidentally has left some authoritarian astrological works that "astrology can only indicate a possible future, God only determines it. In other words, astrology can speak of the possible ups and downs or the good and bad incidents in the life of an individual and can also give a sketch or some pattern of durations of those good and evil times." Now, if we claim or expect from an astrologer something more than this, then he has to bring into play his vast experience and knowledge and use his own sense of discretion. This can be done in some cases by knowledgeable men with wisdom born of experience. It is neither fair nor reasonable to ascribe to any shastra or branch of knowledge the credit for infalliability or discredit for inaccuracy.

It would be well to remember all this. But one must not be led to suppose that astrology as a Science is inadequate or worthless. As a matter of fact, astrology is neither incomplete nor useless. It must be admitted, however, that there are limitations and impediments in the process of calculations. Experience shows that findings or careful calculations have been falsified because of errors regarding the time and place of birth and such other basic data or because of the astrologer's preconceived notion about the native. It is needless to say that all this does not signify the futility or inadequacy of the Shastra.

It would be very true to say that a well-versed astrologer free from bias and preconception can with the help of his insight and tested experience draw an accurate picture of an individual's career if there is no error involved in the primary data such as birth time and place, combinations and position of planets at the particular moment of his birth. But: such accurate information or correct data may not be at the disposal of the astrologer with total knowledge and the scientific mind if he cannot acquire it by his own effort.

Hence my thesis is that astrology is neither untrue nor illusory nor even something queer. The astrologer's knowledge may be limited, his calculations may even be wrong but for that, the shastra itself can not be discredited.

To-day in the world of Scientists there has begun an intensive research in astrology with a new zeal.

The celebrated Russian Scientist Prokofaire has entered a new sphere of astrological research and termed it Haliobiology. German researchers have called the same branch of knowledge Cosmobiology. Such terminological differences are immaterial. The important point to note is while one section of present day scientists try to laugh away the entire shastra, another section of distinguished Scientists are simultaneously making eager efforts to know closer and better the role of astral influence on the course of individual life and its material conditions. Perhaps, they have not been able, at the moment to find out the nexus or the kind of relationship existing between the stars and planets in remote space above and infinitesimal human lives below. Or it may be that they have not been able to know precisely at yet the causal relationship or the intimate connection between these two remote worlds in their actual workings. But at the same time it is hardly likely that a group of renowned scientists follow a mirage without getting a glimpse of some chance of success in the pursuit of their object of enquiry.

It is not impossible for an average person with common sense to see even in some common place instances the direct manifestation of the influence of astral bodies on the animate world. It is a well-known fact that the full moon and the newmoon have closer connection with the neap tide and ebb-tide in rivers and oceans. Similarly, it is a matter of common experience that the ailments of a rheumatic or asthmatic patient are usually aggravated on the Ekadasi (11th day of the bright or dark moon) and the new & full moon days. Physicians all over the world as well as laymen have noticed the changes of development of labour pain on those days. Ordinary persons without the gift of scientific interpretation must have pondered why of all times on the new or full moon days rheumatics and asthmatics suffer more acutely. Such facts or matters of actual experience cannot be refuted even though they cannot explain how these coincidences occur. Hence one is naturally led to think that a close connection with the stars and planets does exist on the physiological plane.

There are certain points which need serious thinking. The primary, and perhaps the most important question in future researches in astrology is why our ancient sages, for the matter of fact, wise men of other climes had selected specifically a few of the millions of astral bodies and founded their basic science on the workings of these alone? Why again did they accord superiority to these selected heavenly bodies and brush aside the rest as of lesser importance or consider them outside the scope of their investigation? On a satisfying answer to these questions depends the explanation of the fundamentals of applied astrology.

I do not know if modern Western Scientists have been able to offer any solution of the points raised. But to make research fruitful some solution is imperative. What is more, if some day a reasonable, well-considered answer to the pertinent questions is found, astrology as a branch of knowledge will have extended its horizon, and the scope and range of its operation would be limitless. But this is not what I intend to discuss at present. I am simply mentioning it because I want to indicate the difficulties in the present state of limited knowledge and to hint at the tremendous possibilities in some future time. What I think to be most significant in this connection is that astrology as a living sphere of human knowledge is not static. Like other branches of Science it is making progress sure and steady though not swift.

Our point of deliberation is—why should we accept astrological prediction as infallible by proceeding along the lines laid down? The astrological method or procedure as it has come down to us and the way it has been determined forms a separate theme though this also is a prime question. But why do we assume that astrological predictions based on the principles and formulae laid down in the shastra are not liable to error and totally dependable? This is what we propose to examine.

A fact or a statement is taken to be true only when it does not contradict, at least tallies fundamentally with proved facts or statements.

Water runs from a higher level to a lower one—this is a well-established fact. Now if we posit any statement about water that is found wholly incompatible with its traditional, well-established property, it would be unacceptable as a scientific proposition. The Upanisadas say that to understand the secret of creation and its reality, i.e. to acquire Para Vidya (ultimate knowledge) one has to resort first to Apara Vidya (finite learning). In other words, the acquisition of finite learning (Apara Vidya) is the medium through which one has to proceed with utmost care and application towards the goal of Supreme or ultimate truth. Astrology is one of the branches of that finite learning to which a special value has been given because it helps in unravelling the mysteries of the Universe and primal secrets of nature.

Thus, the utility of astrology does not consist in merely getting an idea of the possible course of material life or some indications of future incidents of individual lives. As a matter of fact, enquiries based on the principles of astrology help considerably in lifting the veil of mystery that surrounds the secrets of individual life as well as covers the deeper meaning and purport of universal life.

It has been admitted by almost all the ancient shastras that it is not possible to understand the nature of destiny or the purpose of life by ignoring or being indifferent to the basic truths on which our existence depends. For, that would only impede the progress of life or even lead it astray.

Astrology as a shastra illumines that great and true path by following which we can reach the eternal goal, know the eternal principles which regulate our individual existences and share and acquire ultimate knowledge. Now by whatever term this universal existence may be described, Divinity or Destiny or by any other name, its predominance as a governing factor, its capacity to convey the supreme meaning of life is acknowledged equally by all the shastras. Its preponderating influence is indivisible, unequalled. If the different heavenly bodies are accepted self-sufficient and supreme in their individual spheres i.e. if a similar kind of supremacy is attached to them and admitted, then what has been characterised as ultimate reality loses its importance as the greatest cohesive force. Then one has to admit the supremacy of many in the non-material sphere.

As a matter of fact, if the goal or objective becomes diversified the way to the goal loses its precise, distinct character. Hence what needs acceptance in astrology is the working of an undeviating intellect free from doubt and hesitancy, one firm undivided end and the presence of an all-pervading 'Supreme Mind or Intelligence'.

This is the kind of Monism spoken of by Sri Chaitanya to Sri Sanatana. He said, "Brahman is the prime cause of the Universe. From Him it originates, in Him does it exist and finally end. Matter or Physical Nature is not the cause of the Universe, its source is God, the Creator."

Secondly, in the human world the working of a Divine will or according to some, the presence of supramundane force rising above environments has been posited. It has been said that the birth of life is not just a matter of sexual reproduction but something more. Besides the physical union of the male and female, there is a third force, often described as divine force which is beyond the world of senses. This is now accepted more or less unanimously. Hence in life—Science the principle of selection governing the Union of sperm and ova has been admitted. It is said that the fusion of the male sperm with the female egg does not always click or fructify unfailingly. In a successful union or semination some voluntary or self-guided selective process is at work. Hence every individual is born with his or her life-pattern or destiny. And the main reason for this is that each one has a distinct and specific end and that all these varying life-patterns are sustained by an omnipotent, all-pervading Will-purpose.

So, where do we go to seek the origin of these divergent patterns of life, that is, the main source of such variables?

It is in the combination of stars and planets under which a person is born that we have to seek an answer to the differences, in life-trends and specific ends, between one individual and another.

Thirdly, every individual life is governed by his own action which is really a continuing stream. Whatever had been done in the past will react on the present life and its action, and present actions would similarly influence the course of future life. As a matter of fact, the doctrine of Rebirth and the Law of Karma is complementary. Karma and Rebirth together determine man's future life or destiny. That is why human life is said to be pre-ordained.

But this is only an explanation of the origin of life-process—an indication of its future course. We are also to examine how the influence of planets, their aspects and degrees of interrelation determines and shapes the original crust or pattern. Once we adopt the analytical method, we shall see that a person's life which appeared to be so much predestined is not as rigidly bound as assumed.

Judicious examination would reveal that human life is not completely enmeshed by predestination. An individual has some scope of exercising Free-Will. If he can strive for his goal through discipline and exercise of Will he can by sustained effort attain truly superhuman heights.

Now such a statement may appear to be limiting the accuracy of astrological prediction. So, it requires more clarification. Astrology as a discipline does not depend on 'accident'. If its success really depended on coincidence or was determined in a "post-hoc, ergo-propter hoc" fashion, then it could not survive, as it has done through all those centuries since prehistoric times.

As systematised knowledge Astrology is obviously based on axioms and principles which may look somewhat nebulous to a realistic objective eye. The real point is this that a subject of study whose roots go deep, whose problem is to lift the mystery veiling the face of truth which has to be discovered through the clear vision of super-science can not be grasped and perceived by a mind that lacks cultivation and is dimmed by common superstition. The value of our beliefs or disbeliefs is largely determined by question of material gain and self-interest.

Let us suppose, for arguments' sake, that we do not believe in the efficacy of astral influences. But if, in spite of that, it is possible to get a more or less correct picture of the important incidents of our lives by considering the position of our birth—'Stars' or by reading the role of planets and their contributions then the question of our faith or doubt becomes really irrelevant. If again some prediction does not come out true in a particular context or in some specific situations, it is quite likely that the influence of a particular planet escaped the astrologer's notice, or it may be that his knowledge was limited or conditioned. It has been said that human existence and heavenly bodies are equally encompassed by an all-pervading spirit and knowledge. Hence the nearer the astrologer comes to that Supreme Spirit or Knowledge or shares it, he can, to that extent hope to succeed in unravelling the mystery of existence, a truth behind it.

Now the question arises—if Karma is all determined by the planets, also if Karma determines the evolution of individual lives, their purpose and retrocession by which the present becomes the past and the present blazes a trail in the future, then why should the same Karma produce the different results in different individual lives? 'The hostility of planets' a phrase which we hear or use so often, means exactly this. What we call the mystery of creation is certainly a mystery, but not in the sense that it is all meaningless or purposeless, or significanceless. The significance and the meaning of creation are rooted in primordial past and consistency of it all—the last day of creation (if there is any last day), the grand culmination of the first day of creation (if ever there was any first day) reflect the sway of sovereign intelligence and design. The planets themselves derive their authority from the same grand cavalcade, the unceasing procession of events which constitute the creative evolution. The purpose and the significance of creation, organic or individual sway the evolutions of individual lives, the planets being used as instruments for specific accomplishments of parts of the design. The planetary charts for individual lives are so contrived that each individual life is different, but sum total of them all contributes to the working out the ultimate pattern. Thus Karma is not the beginning of the unfoldment of any particular virtue or strength, not a cause but an effect. Each tiny act in an individual life operates within the frame work of that particular life and produces variant results according to the placing of the various planets in that chart. The subtle shades and nuances of the results of each act thus vary according to differences in the individual horoscope. And it is impossible to say off-hand what effect any particular act to produce in variant contexts of individual destinies. That is why the Great Poet Kalidas observes in the first chapter of his Uttarakalamitra that only the creator knows the whole meaning and the significance of the mystery of life.

It may be asked whether, if that is so, Astrology denies human free will and volition. The question is a common one, but not compulsive.

The denial of free will need not be assumed. Individual human life is itself a part of the cosmic mystery which of course is inexplicable and predestined. But that does not mean that within the narrow limits of each individual life, there is no scope for free will. In a larger sense, free will may be predetermined, being the resultant of the particular placing of the planets. But to each individual is left a margin of option to decide between the one course of action and another. It is not given to man to see the ultimate seeds ; a few steps are always enough for him before the shadows close in and within the narrow compass he is left to exercise his 'Free Will'. "Free Will" may thus be an ultimate illusion, but very much a real guide as far as the small shining space which we call life—between a sleep and a sleep is concerned. The most pragmatic working view of it all may be summed up in the following stanza from Mathew Arnold :

"I say, fear not
Life still leaves human effort scope
But since life teems with ill
Nurse no extravagant hope
Because thou must not dream
Thou needst not then despair."

CHAPTER—I

SOLAR SYSTEM

Hindu Astronomy considers Solar System in reference to its constituents, the 9 planets and the stars (Nakshatras or Constellations). This is only a fragment of the solar system we know and there are other solar systems beyond it. It is given to man, it is not possible for him to know of the vast firmament as a whole. He has to be content with only a very tiny fragment. The 9 planets are :—

Ravi (Sun), Chandra (Moon), Mangal (Mars), Budha (Mercury), Vrhaspati (Jupiter), Sukra (Venus), Sani (Saturn), Rahu (Dragon's head) and Ketu (Dragon's tail).

Yet it must be noted that the planet does not have the same meaning in Astronomy and Astrology. The Moon in Astronomy reflects light from the Sun; but in Astrology they rank the same. The Dragon's head and Dragon's tail are just the nodal points beyond which they have no other form of existence. Yet Astrology ranks them as full-scale planets, on parity with the rest.

The Sun is at the centre of his system which is called his. The other planets are revolving round the Sun but the Sun also is in a state of constant motion on his axis. And the whole cavalcade or procession is also in a state of incessant motion. The Earth we live in is also a planet, and in addition to the nine said already. Western astrologers name 3 other planets Herschel or Uranus, Neptune and Pluto so that the total works out as 12. Hindu Astrologers do not know much of Herschel, Neptune and Pluto. The Earth has one Moon against 4 for Jupiter.

Earth, the Planets and the Stars

Prithivee, Graha and Nakshatras

As is well-known, the earth takes 24 hrs. to turn on its axis and 365 days and 6 hrs. to circumambulate the Sun once. As a result of these motions the phenomena which we call sunrise and sunset takes place. In reality there is neither, but for all practical purposes, including astrological, they are very much a part of reckoning.

The Zodiac has no beginning or end, it is just a circle of light. In order to measure the distance an arbitrary point is considered and taken into account, which is the first point of Aries (Mesa Rasi). The Zodiac is marked by 27 Constellations or Nakshatras. The first point of Aswini, the first Nakshatra coincides with the first point of Mesa which is starting point of Zodiac.

Nakshatras : The mathematical system which is the foundation of Hindu Astrology in fact all subsequent Astrology, considers 27 Nakshatras and 12 Rasis (signs). Like the invention of Zero, this is another marvellous product of Hindu Astronomy and Astrology, that is to say, of Hindu Mathematics, a major achievement in the exact sciences.

Another fundamental basis of Hindu calculations is the ecliptic, that is, the path of the Sun. It has been seen from numerous observations and deduced that within 8 degrees on either side of the ecliptic the presence of Nakshatras and planets effects and influences results.

The influence of the Sun as it passes along the ecliptic tincture with the results of other planets and Nakshatras near enough to influence and determine the career or destiny of creatures on earth.

It is the job of Astrology to assess the nature and extent of these influences, as far as possible precisely. Each Rasi is 30 degrees and the total ecliptic 360 degrees. 8 degrees to the North of the ecliptic and 8 degrees to the South are taken along with the ecliptic itself and all the Nakshatras that fall within this range are also considered simultaneously. The Nakshatras divided into 12 Houses work out at $2\frac{1}{4}$ Nakshatras for each house. And each Nakshatra has 13 degrees and 20 minutes (Kalas). The Sun travels roughly 1 degree in each day and 12 houses that is 360 degrees in 360 days.

(1) List of 12 Rasis and 27 Nakshatras.

Rasis.	Eng. Equivalent Name.	Symbol.
1. Mesa	Aries	♈
2. Vrsa	Taurus	♉
3. Mithuna	Gemini	♊
4. Karkata	Cancer	♋
5. Simha	Leo	♌
6. Kanya	Virgo	♍
7. Tula	Libra	♎
8. Vrscika	Scorpio	♏
9. Dhanus	Sagittarius	♐
10. Makar	Capricornus	♑
11. Kumbha	Aquarius	♒
12. Mina	Pisces	♓

Names of Bhavas

There are twelve Bhavas which constitute a Rasi-Chakra or Birth Chart. The bhavas are to be counted from lagna in anti clockwise way. The names of the twelve bhavas are stated here below :—Tanu or Lagna (1st bhava), Dhana (2nd bhava), Sahaja (3rd bhava), Sukha (4th bhava), Putra (5th bhava), Satru (6th bhava), Jāyā (7th bhava), Mrityu or Nidhan (8th bhava), Bhagya (9th bhava), Karma (10th bhava), Āyaya (11th bhava), Vyaya (12th bhava). Significance of these twelve bhavas will be dealt with elaborately at the time of delineation of twelve bhavas in Chapter IV and V. At present we are giving in short the significance of twelve bhavas.

(1) Tanu—Physical body, head, health, complexion, character and conduct etc.

(2) Dhana—Wealth and accumulated wealth, speech, eye, face, teeth, relatives, food etc.

(3) Sahaja—Brother and Sister, effort, courage, servants, tenacity etc.

(4) Sukha—Education, happiness, mother, heart prosperity, friend, mind, qualities, house, vehicles, conveyance etc.

(5) Putra—Children, intellect, merit, talent, virtue, belly and intestine etc.

(6) Satru—Enemy, hostility, obstacle, litigation, maternal uncle, disease etc.

(7) Jāyā—Marriage, wife or husband, married life, Sex and Sexual act, business and trade, business-partner, journey etc.

(8) Mrityu or Nidhana—Death, longevity, litigation, speculative act, imprisonment, misery, family troubles, Genital organ, abdomen, rectum, palatial building, ancestral property, wealth acquired through lottery etc.

(9) Bhagya—Fortune, religion, religious acts, ascetism, journey to holy shrine, grace of spiritual guide, father, previous birth, long journey etc.

(10) Karma—Profession, vocation, dignity, reputation, positional influence, fame acquired through brilliant academic career, wealth of father, environment etc.

(11) Āyaya—Earning, income, profiteering, friend and relatives, elder brother and sister, peaceful condition etc.

(12) Vyaya—Expenditure, left foot and eye, material enjoyment, sacrificial act, bed-room comfort, punishment inflicted by government, downfall etc.

(2) Nakshatra (Constellations)		14. Chitra—Virginis Spica
1. Aswini—Arietus		15. Swati—Bootis
		Areturus
2. Bharani—Arietisa Mus		16. Visaka—Librae
3. Krithika—Tauri Alcyoni		17. Anuradha—
		Scorpionis
4. Rohini—Tauri Aldeboran		18. Jyesta—Aritares
5. Mrigasira—Orionis		19. Moola—Scorpionis
6. Aridra (Adra)— „		20. Purvashadha—
		Sagittarii
7. Punarvasu—Gemini Pollux		21. Uttarashadha— „
8. Pushyami or Pushya—Canceri		22. Sravana—Aquilae
9. Aslesha—Hydrae		23. Dhanishta—Delphini
10. Makha (Magha)—Leonis Regulas		24. Satabhisha—Aquarii
11. Purba Falguni—Leonis		25. Purvabhadra—Pegasi
12. Uttar Falguni— „		26. Uttarabhadra— „
13. Hasta—Corvi		27. Revathi—Piscium.

(3) Symbols of Planets

1. Ravi, Surya(Sun)	☉
2. Chandra (Moon)	☾
3. Mangal (Mars)	♂
4. Budha (Mercury)	♀
5. Vrhaspati (Jupiter)	♃
6. Sukra (Venus)	♀
7. Sani (Saturn)	♄
8. Rahu (Dragon's head or ascending Node)	♊
9. Ketu (Dragon's tail or descending Node)	♋
10. Indra or Prajapati (Herschel or Uranus)	♅
11. Varuna (Neptune)	♆
12. Rudra, Yama (Puto)	♇
13. Prithivi (Earth)	♁

The learner of predictive Astrology has to master, at the outset, the nature of 12 Houses and 27 Nakshatras and 9 Planets and is also of the Lagna which is the position of the earth in the east at the time of birth of a child.

The various and subtle conduct of each of the planets has also to be learnt. It cannot be too strongly emphasised that this is based on very minute observations in a vast number of cases with encyclopedic knowledge as the subjacent instrument of research. How the planets behave is called 'Karakata'.

The 'Pecking order among the Rasis'

All four-footed Rasis except the Simha are subordinate to the two-footed Rasis. The aquatic Rasis are edibles for two-footed Rasis and creeping Rasis as well as the aquatic ones subject to the domination of the two-footed. Simha Rasi claims supremacy over all except the creeping Rasis like Vrschika (Scorpio), Karkata (Cancer) etc.

The physical parts of Kalpurush (Zodical Signs)

Mesa—Head	Tula—The lower part of Naval.
Vrsa—Face	Vrscika—Rectum.
Mithune—Arms	Dhanu—Thigh
Karkata—Heart	Makara—Knee
Simha—belly	Kumbha—Shinbone, from region below Knee and within feet where there are tebia bones.
Kanya—Loin, Waist.	Mina—Feet

(If benefic planets have favourable influences on these parts of the Kalpurus the native derives beneficial results and if otherwise the result so far these parts are concerned is not to be favourable).

List of benefic and malefic Planets

Ravi, Mangal, Sani, Rahu, and Ketu are malefic planets. From 8th day of the dark Moon upto the 8th day of the bright Moon Chandra is malefic and from the 8th day of the bright moon upto the 8th day of the dark, Chandra is benefic. Budha when conjoined with a malefic is considered as a malefic planet, otherwise he is a benific. Only Vrhaspati and Sukra are natural benefic Planets.

Planetary Relations

Of these nine planets some of them are friends to each other, some are enimical and some are neutrals. So, relations of planets may be termed as Friendship, Enmity and Neutral. Friendship may be both permanent and temporary.

Here below the relations of planets among themselves are shown :—

Permanent Friendship etc :—

	Friends	Enemies	Neutrals
Ravi (Sun)	Chandra, Mangal, Vrhaspati.	Sani, Sukra.	Budha
Chandra	Ravi, Budha	None	All other Planets.
Mangal.	Vrhaspati, Chandra, Ravi.	Sani, Sukra	Budha

	Friends	Enemies	Neutrals
Budha	Ravi, Sukra	Chandra	Mangal, Vrhaspati, Sani.
Vrhaspati	Ravi, Chandra, Mangal.	Budha, Sukra	Sani
Sukra	Budha, Sani	Ravi, Candra	Mangal, Vrhaspati.
Sani	Budha, Sukra	Ravi, Chandra, Vrhaspati Mangal.
Rahu	Sukra, Sani	Ravi, Chandra, Budha, Mangal.	Vrhaspati.
Ketu	Ravi, Chandra, Mangal.	Sukra, Sani.	ditto.

Besides natural friendship planets become temporary friends by virtue of their relative position in houses or signs. Planets become temporary friends if they are posted in the 2nd, 4th, 10th, 11th and 12th signs from any other planets. In the remaining signs planets become temporary enemies. While judging a horoscope both the types of relation should be considered carefully.

Term permanent friend is called Naisargika Mitra, Temporary friend Tatkalya Mitra. So, Naisargika Mitra or Permanent friend and Tatkalya Mitra together means 'Adhi Mitra' or Bosom friend. Table of friendship, Enmity, temporary friendship or enmity etc. is shown below :—

Permanent friend and Temporary friend together				Basom friend (Naisargika Mitra)
				(adhi Mitra)
Permanent friend	„	„	enemy	„	Neutral (Sama)
„	Enemy	„	friend	„	„
„	„	„	enemy	„	Great enemy (Adhi Satru)
„	Neutral	„	„	„	Enemy (Satru)
„	„	„	friend	„	Friend (Mitra)
etc.

Allocation of Planetary Rulership.

Excepting Ravi and Chandra all other five planets are lords or owners of two Rasis or signs each. Ravi and Chandra own one Rasi each.

Ravi	Owner or lord of Simha Rasi	Sukra owner or lord of Chandra	" " " " Karkata "	Vrsa & Tula Rasis.
Mangal	" " " Mesa and Vrscika Rasis.	Sani owner or Lord of Makar & Kumbha Rasis
Budha	" " " Mithune and Kanya Rasis
Vrhaspati	" " " Dhanu and Mina Rasis.

In short we may describe the ownership of planets in the following manner :

Mesa and Vrscika are ruled by Mangal ; Vrsa and Tula by Sukra ; Mithune and Kanya are governed by Budha ; Vrhaspati rules Dhanu and Mina ; and Makara and Kumbha are owned or ruled by Sani. Ravi governs Simha and Chandra rules Karkata.

Exaltation and Mooltrikone signs of Planets

Exaltation.

Ravi is exalted in the 10th degree of Mesa, of course the entire Mesa Rasi is his exalted sign.

Chandra is exalted in the 3rd degree of Vrsa Rasi Mangal " " " " 28th " " Makar ", the entire Rasi is his exalted sign.

Budha " " " " 15th " " Kanya Rasi.

(Budha has some peculiarities in this respect. Budha's Mooltrikona begins after 15 degree of Kanya Rasi and extends upto 25th degree, the remaining 5 degree is his own house i.e. Kshetra as we call it.)

Vrhaspati is exalted in the 5th degree of Karkata Rasi, the entire Rasi is his exalted house.

Sukra " " " " 27th " " Mina Rasi, the entire Rasi is his exalted sign.

Sani " " " " 20th " " Tula Rasi, the entire Rasi is his exalted sign.

Rahu " " " " 20th " " Mithune

Ketu " " " " 20th " " Dhanu.

* Rahu's own house is Kanya, His mooltrikona house is Kumbha, Ketu's own house is Mina and Simha is his Mooltrikona house. According to Maharsi Parasara Rahu is exalted in Vrsa Rasi, Ketu is exalted in Vrscika Rasi. Mithune and Karkata Rasis are Rahu's Mooltrikona signs and Dhanu is Ketu's Mooltrikona Kshetra.

Mooltrikona

Ravi is in Mooltrikona in the first 20 degrees in Simha Rasi and the remaining part is own house.
Chandra	„	„	„	last 27	„ of Vrsa Rasi.
Mangal	„	„	„	first 12	„ „ Mesa „
Budha	„	„	„	after 15	„ to 25th degrees of Kanya Rasi.
Vrhaspati	„	„	„	first 10	„ of Dhanu, the last 20 degrees are his own house (kshetra).
Sukra	„	„	„	„ 15	„ „ Tula, the last 15 degrees in his own house.
Sani	„	„	„	„ 20	„ in Kumbha, the remaining part is his Kshetra.

Debilitation (Nicha) house :—

The 7th house or the 180th degree from exaltation point is the point of debilitation. Ravi is debilitated in the 10th degree of Tula and Chandra in the 3rd degree of Vrscika and so on.

Aspects

Each planet has good or evil influence on an individual. Their influence is modified to a great extent by sympathetic or antipathic aspect on planets or houses of the birth chart. Hence aspect of planets is an important thing to be considered first. Aspects are counted from sign to sign. They are good or bad, as the case may be, according to relation between the aspecting and the aspected planet. Malefic or benific planets when aspecting a bhava—yields good or evil influence as the case may be.

The table of aspects is drawn below for ready reference :

	Full aspect.	Three-fourth aspect.	Half aspect.	One-fourth aspect.
Ravi	7th. house from his position.	4th & 8th houses from his position.	5th & 9th houses from his position.	3rd & 10th houses from his position.
Chandra	do	do	do	do
Mangal	4th, 7th & 8th houses from his position.	—	do	do
Budha	7th. house	do	do	do
Vrhaspati	5th., 7th & 9th houses from his position.	do	x	do
Sukra	7th. house from his position.	do	do	do
Sani	3rd, 7th. & 10th. houses from his position.	do	do	x
Rahu	5th, 7th, 9th & 12th houses from his position.	do	x	do

Ketu has no aspect as he is considered to be blind.

According to Maharshi Parasar Ravi, Chandra, Budha and Sukra each has full aspect on the 7th house, Mangal has one-fourth aspect, Vrhaspati half aspect and Sani three-fourth aspect on the 7th house. Ketu too has similar aspect like Rahu.

According to Venkateswar Daivangya Rahu and Ketu have full aspect on the 7th house only.

CHAPTER—II
PECULIARITIES OF RASIS EXPLAINED

Mesa Rasi : Head of Kalapurush, very noisy, harsh voice, rough appearance, strong determination, diligent, arrogant, lascivious, likes pomp and grandeur, moves hither and thither, sensitive, brave.

It has a challenging attitude, likes to involve itself in betting, dashing, clashes with opponents, its protest is not merely vocal, it does not feel shy to protest with physical force.

It tends to stop the opponent with head or chest, it is arrogance personified, it exerts itself completely to attain the thing desired and to get that thing it may fight unto its last breath, fiery warfare, ball of fire, fiery arms and armaments, wealth plundered during war, fertile land where grains are grown in abundance, deaf and stammerer, constipation, diseases relating biles, Venereal disease, stricture, fire that helps digestion of food, top of mountain. It is a store house of kinetic energy.

This is the first sign or rasi of the Zodiac, consists of Aswini, Varani and $\frac{1}{4}$ part of Krittika nakshatras. Lord is Mangal, Symbol is a Ram.

Vrsa Rasi : Lord is Sukra, Symbol is a bull. It is sober and obstinate, it is as if immovable or can not be moved easily. In mythology the God Siva is considered to be sober but obstinate. He can not be activated easily. So, bull is his conveyance. The rasi is conservative, it does not care any body else, it is full of ego, its gait and movement speak of its nature and temperament.

Attributes are :—pouring, effervescent, discharge, emit, impregnate, making fertile, grow, beget or to be begotten, to be vexed, to chastise, to give profusely, manhood and manliness, productive power, leadership, moral qualities, egoist, sobriety, sanctimonious hypocrite, childless woman or a woman having manly nature, encouragement, impetuosity, beauty, sweet odour (fragrance) patience. This rasi comprises of $\frac{3}{4}$ part of Krittika, Rohini and $\frac{1}{4}$ of Mrigasira Nakshatras.

It pertakes of the qualities of Rohini Nakshatra that represents good dressing, and using extra quality toilet-products to look beautiful. Mrigasira Nakshatra represents sexual acts, calm and cool temper, and also cruelty. The rasi speaks of personality of a native, it is sober, has immense strength to forbear the onslaught of attack from the opponent. The rasi is full of self-conceit.

If it is influenced by malefic planet the result referred to above is reversed. It represents Tamo guna, indicates throat, ears, thumb and scrotum of Kalapurus.

Mithuna Rasi : Joyful, normally a pleasant talker. Its Lord is Budha, symbol the twin figure of a man and a woman. The rasi consists of $\frac{1}{2}$ mrigasira, Adra and $\frac{1}{4}$ Poonarbasu Nakshatras. From the symbol it can be imagined easily that there is a dual personality in it. It represents the middle stage of frivolity and sobriety. There is a dualism in it. The store-house of creation in a woman and creative power of a man are mixed up in it. So, conservatism of a woman and frivolous nature and power of renovation of a man are found in it.

Attributes : Mixture, conjoining of things, twin, a man and a woman, dualism, indecisive mind, oscillation, working together in a friendly atmosphere. In the reverse way to quarrel with colleagues, or dual fight. In another way it may mean sexual intercourse, companionship between a man and woman, mysteriously going to a secret place.

Wisdom, intelligence of Budha and his calmness are found in this rasi, softness, lively beauty of Mrigasira Nakshatra, wisdom of "Adra" and creative source of Poonarvasu are found in abundance in this rasi.

This rasi represents the middle stage of happiness and miseries. This peculiar feeling in a man cannot be described easily.

It indicates two shoulders, arms and hands of Kalapurus.

Karkata Rasi : Cool, good talker, large flabby body, intelligent, temperate, barren. Lord is Chandra, symbol crab. Consists of $\frac{1}{4}$ of Poonarvasu, Pusya and Aslesha Nakshatras. It is a watery rasi and is a reservoir of energy. Therefore it is a complete manifestation of kinetic force. As it is a watery sign, it partakes the character of sentimentalism and at times effervesces exuberantly, or overflow and flows so fiercely that it breaks through all the obstacles that befall on its way. When obstructed it is filled up with sentimental feelings and carries away everything with it and destroys all obstructions. It is then impossible to check its current. If it does not face any obstruction even then it becomes full with sentimental feelings but it dies down silently within it. The sign is introspective. Its lord Chandra also is a sentimental planet. The sign represents idealism. It is fanciful, affectionate, sympathetic and cool in nature.

It is versatile, artistic, joyous, lively, highly intellectual, lightly influenced by ideas, gives pleasure to others, joking, flowing with murmuring sound, spreading, boiling, blooming, invigorating, a cocoanut fruit—a thing the exterior of which is hard and strong but the inner contents are watery and fluid, sticking to a thing, to be very much friendly to one who is in its own liking, to take the shape of something, to sacrifice for other's cause, philosophising, to scan others' qualities and frailties, phlegmatic constitution, to fall ill due to slight cold, sceptic habit, unworldly, always looking everything from idealistic point of view, truthfulness, noble-mindedness, cleanliness, beauty, fame, independence, freedom and liberty, endlessness, to invigorate, fertilisation, flabbiness.

If malefically influenced—to surround secretly, to render unholy or unclean, worried mind due to cliquish temperament, to poison. Chest and Lungs of Kalapurush.

Simha Rasi : Hot (Not so hot as Mesa Rasi), determination, diligent, greedy, angry, addiction to sensual pleasure, brave, moving, likes a few companions, high sounding, harsh but grave voice, appearance full of gravity, tall figure, not fertile.

Its Lord is Ravi (Sun), symbol is a lion. It consists of Magha, Poorbafalguni and $\frac{1}{2}$ of Uttarfalguni. The sign is full of glamour and light. Its shining glamour as if lights up everything around it. It is a fixed sign. So, it is not frivolous but full of life. It is a creative sign. This is the only sign that has the gravity of a tall banian tree. It is a fiery sign but has no burning quality of Mesa rasi. It has the character of a Lord, a king, and it is majestic in style and gait. Though full of ego its personality attracts others. Woman of Simha rasi (if Chandra is situated in this sign) is not liked by astrologers as she is full of pride and likes to lord over others. To win over everything, always strives hard to win over all kinds of obstacles, to want supremacy, patience, powerful, to show respect, dignity, bravery, kind, prosperous, it is accorded highest honour, to establish its own reputation, patronage, to give shelter to others, to protect those whom it gives shelter.

Heart and stomach of Kalapurush.

Kanya Rasi : Calm, pleasant talker, tall figure, intelligent, barren (unfertile), cold, green colour. Lord is Budha (Mercury), symbol—a virgin girl standing on a floating boat with a bunch of ears of corn in one hand.

Nakshatra—Uttarfalguni, Hasta and $\frac{1}{2}$ Chitra. The rasi is a mixture of 'Satwa' and 'tamo' gunas. It is sometimes joyous and at other times grave. A virgin, chaste girl, fully grown up young just a blooming youth, a woman of bright complexion, innocent girl. Beauty, decent, soft, to grow joyful and obedient, to be pleased, to hanker after, to be admired by any other person, benevolence, beaming with knowledge, to give vent to one's feeling decently, to be enlivened by learning, to dispel darkness, painting, artist, skilful, imagination, to accomplish any work properly, doubt, want of faith, want of deep thinking, uncertainty, to float like a floating boat, to analyse and judge a thing accurately, advise, culture of knowledge, any pleasurable sensation, amorous.

Intestine and waist region of Kalapurush.

Tula Rasi : Warm, full of sound, even but pleasant talker, calm, tall figure. Lord is Sukra (Venus), symbol is a man with a scale in his hand weighing something.

Nakshatra— $\frac{1}{2}$ Chitra, Swati and $\frac{3}{4}$ Visakha. It has the speed of wind (vayu), many-sided, characteristic of spreading hither and thither, to compare, to examine or scrutinise, to counter-balance, to possess in the same degree, tribunal, assessment of real worth, business, buying and selling, store house, scale, always restless, unsteady in a place, to roam, to establish a self-idealism, social, an active worker, to like to lord over others, tools or implements to analyse a thing, to accomplish a work, to remain engaged in various types of work, changing, assortment, systematise.

Kidney and buttock of Kalapurush.

Vscika Rasi : White colour, phlegmatism, fertile, stammerer or dumb, inaudible tongue, tall figure Tamo guna. Lord is Mangal (Mars), symbol is Scorpion-like creature.

Nakshatra— $\frac{1}{4}$ Visakha, Anuradha and Jestha. Conservatism, Inertia. It is a watery sign, therefore, there is some sort of restlessness in it. If met with any obstruction from outside agent it reacts sharply. It is an introspect sign. Its ugly appearance is not manifested if its feeling is not wounded. It gets angry and restless like a scorpion. It has the acute tendency to hurt the opponent. It is full of ego, and crookedness. Under an adverse condition it becomes cruel and hurts its opponent fiercely. When it becomes very enraged and annoyed with its opponent but is unable to take vengeance it gets very much agitated and the vehemence is consumed within itself and the sentiment dies down. It is the negative sign of Mangal. Hence malefic character of this planet is very much evident in this sign. The autocratic temperament, oversensitiveness and arrogance of Mangal is manifested in the Vscika Rasi.

To pierce, to cut into pieces, to sting, to poison, to spoil, to destroy, to wipe out, to smitten with bitter words, to bring disaster to somebody, loss due to some inimical work of others. The Rasi is prominently unpopular for its cruel characteristic, but it does not care other's criticism and faces everything stubbornly and challenges its critics. Anything that causes obstruction, to fight. An extremist and critic, an upsetter of existing ideas and ways of living, and where it cannot do this, a sarcastic and cynical critic.

Its beneficial characteristics are to love or be affectionate, to arrange things, to adorn, to be alert, to guard, to act as a police.

Generative and excretory organs of Kalapurush.

Dhanu Rasi : Determined, diligent, restless, pompous, want of foresight, greedy, noisy, harsh talker, calm, composed, pleasant talker, medium height, imprudent, lack of foresight.

Lord is Vrhaspati (Jupiter). Symbol is horse (front portion of the body) with a rider on its back and armed with bow and arrow (Its front part is quadruped).

Nakshatra—Moola, Poorbasarha, and $\frac{1}{4}$ Uttarasarha. The negative sign of Vṛhaspati. It is more materialistic than spiritualistic. It indicates energy and represents kinetic force. From the symbol the character is evident. Universality, invincible spirit, "The archer points out his shaft at higher and better things. The sign of a seer and prophet, idealist, aspirant to a life of devotion. The appearance of the sign is warlike which it really is. Persons born under its influence are fiery and warlike in nature. Endowed with great strength, the Sagittarius are highly intelligent, respected for their good qualities." Vide Astri-Magazine, Feb, '51. It is not lover of imagination, because it has to proceed through many obstacles, mountainous regions and defeat its enemies. So it is a practical idealist sign. It is a sign of animal and man. So, the animal is controlled by highest knowledge and wisdom of a man. It is a searcher of knowledge and truth. Nakshatra Moola speaks of animal power, and Poorba and Uttarasarha represent energy, calmness, perseverance and truth, speed, to proceed with highest speed, to shoot arrows, bow and arrow, to pierce through the mark, to shatter all sorts of obstructions, to search for light, to be armed with weapons, endowed with merits. Encouragement, bravery that gives impetus to others, to know the source of all Sciences, arts and truth or to practise devotional austerities to know all.

Hips, buttock, thigh of Kalapurush.

Makar Rasi: Perseverent, diligent, industrious, restless, foppish, lover of a few companions, addicted to sensual pleasures, brave, very noisy, high sound, harsh voice, medium figure.

Lord is Sani (Saturn). Symbol—the front portion is a goat, and the hinder part is that of a crocodile.

Nakshatra— $\frac{3}{4}$ Uttarasarha, Sravana and $\frac{1}{4}$ Dhanistha.

It is a cardinal sign no doubt but it is not a high-speed sign. This can be easily imagined from the appearance of its symbol. It can hardly move on a plain. The movement is slow but sure. It has earnestness to reach its goal in spite of obstacles that may befall on its way. It represents matter and material thing but it is industrious and a sure climber. It proceeds breaking through obstructions or move in a zig-zag way to avoid them. The structure of the body shows that it cannot be indisciplined. Materialistic, disciplinarian, and an expert industrialist, unriversality, a social figure, to settle into definite form of mind, to create, letting loose, builder of a career, the sign of a businessman who is sometimes exacting to the point of dishonesty, a politician.

Knees of Kalapurush.

Kumbha Rasi : Warm, rheumatic and bilious constitution, calm and gentle, noisy, normal talker, short figure.

Lord is Sani (Saturn). Symbol is a man with a waterful pitcher on his shoulder.

Nakshatra— $\frac{1}{2}$ Dhanistha, Satabhisa and $\frac{3}{4}$ Poorbavadrpadā.

Symbol indicates that it is sober, has an end in view and always alert and careful. It has confidence in itself, and is earnest in its undertakings. The pitcher is a significant sign no doubt. Because if it loses its confidence in itself, be a bit careless or be less earnest it is not possible to move with a pot full of water. For if his attention is in any way diverted the water of the pitcher will fall down. Moreover, its path and goal is fixed. It has a great attraction for them. The discipline, fixity of purpose and slow but sure progress of Sani is found in the nature of this Rasi.

Earnestness, carefulness, to fill up, to cover, two different kinds, to fill up with water or air, to move on a fixed goal, conservation, selfishness, prominence in the upper part of the forehead, self-indulgence, heart trouble, abundance.

Shanks of legs of Kalapurush.

Mina Rasi : Day and night, calm, soft, silent, dumb or stammerer, restless mind, intelligent, faithful, impatient, slow and steady, short figure. It represents Satwa guna.

Nakshatra— $\frac{1}{4}$ Poorbavadrpadā, Uttarvadrpadā and Rebati. It is the last rasi of the Zodiac. Lord is Vṛhaspati. Symbol is two fishes in the deep sea—kissing each other's tail.

A sea has two appearances. Externally it is violent and restless, but its bottom is calm and cool. Its external appearance speaks of restlessness, sentimentalism, roaring sound etc., but the bottom is calm but dangerous. There lies all kinds of Jewels. The two fishes, as if bathe deep in water and are influenced by each other's sentiment. So, this rasi is manifested within itself, the exuberance in the outer region is not its own real feeling.

To be joyful, to be actuated by sentiments, to be happy, to be comfortable, to be agitated, to be haughty, to prosper step by step or by hopping, to flow intermittently, to sink deep into water, to think of one's emancipation, to be influenced, itching, eczema, bunches of curling hair. The wife of the person having this Rasi dies an early death or becomes paralysed, and the native gets married again, "a restless and creative mind with romantic and imaginative outlook necessary for successful writer of fiction. liable to be obsessed with curious fancies. Pisces (Mina Rasi) is the sign of artist and author." Diseases relating to urine, diseases of the intestine or stomach.

Two feet, ankles of Kalapurush.

PECULIARITIES OF NAKSHATRAS

(Nakshatras' Karakata)

I am not aware of the existence of any original systematic exposition of sidereal influences and effects of Nakshatras. I do not know of any secondary compilation either. Besides Astrology, the Vedas, the Puranas, the Mahabharata etc. provide occasional hints, glimpses and insights which have to be colated, in order to appreciate the importance of the stars (Nakshatras) —a tentative examination follows.

It has been said already that each Rasi extends over $2\frac{1}{2}$ stars (Nakshatras) in the zodiacal space ; which is the same as saying that $2\frac{1}{2}$ Stars make up each Rasi. It would follow from this that the influence of the stars should help us to determine the nature and the influence of Rasi itself. It is necessary however to enter upon 'Caveat'. The sidereal effect is by no means the whole of the Rasi-effect, though is certainly a large ingredient of it. The Stars certainly influence the Rasi.

The Mesa Rasi consists of Aswini, Bharavi and Krithika. The first two is 13° - $20'$ each and the third one is 3° - $20'$, the remaining 10° degree is in Vrsa Rasi.

Aswini Nakshatra : 'Devata' for Aswini Nakshatra is Aswi or the Duality known as Aswini Kumar Twins, the physician of the Gods. Symbol—the head of a horse. So, by the influence of this star the native is expected to be equestrian (horse-ride) or a soldier, also a physician with marvellous power to heal. The after-speak of physician's excellence or process. It is possible, in the horoscopes of these physicians it will be seen that the.

planet for successful medical practice is positioned in Aswini Nakshatra. From Aswi is supposed to be derived carriages for animals for transport, everything related to transport and transport department. The Puranas relate that the two Aswini Kumaras were born of mother Sanga and father Ravi. The mother held the solar semen in her nostrils, for otherwise she could not hold it, it is so strong. They are the twins of Sanga and therefore this Nakshatra is supposed to produce twins. Mangal in this Nakshatra—specially if the Lagna is in Kumbha and Mangal in bhatristhan indicates twin brother and sister for the native. Or if Ravi, Vrishaspati or Pitri Karaka or lord of the bhava signifying father or son in a similar way is in this Nakshatra then the father or any of the uncles or any of the children may be one of the twin.

Bharani Nakshatra : Devata Yama ; birth star of Rahu. It extends from 13°-20' to 26°-40'.

Symbol : Orifice of the womb (oss-mouth), lord Mangal. It is possible to have an idea of the nature of Bharavi Nakshatra from the nature of Rahu, Mangal and Yama. To take Rahu first,

1. Rahu gives extravagant enjoyment of material pleasure and is later on the cause of sorrow,

2. Mangal gives courage, strength, exaltation and hope,

3. Yama purity, cleanliness, justice and integrity. The sense of restraint is also Yama's gift ; he is the lord of Dharma, a stern disciplinarian, a ruthless expositor of truth, and a refuge for kings and law-abiding subjects. We should not always confine his interpretation to his being only the lord of death ; he is the great 'judicature', the ultimate dispenser of reward and punishment. The story of 'Yama-Nachiketa' is a particularly exposition of the hospitality of Yama, his sense of dharma and knowledge of it, his superb honesty and great integrity and other divine virtues. The Nakshatra of which he is the devata (God) is also in consequence the giver of enjoyment and pleasures, courage and upward thrust of the spirit and on the other hand the giver of whatever is good, pure, truthful and honest.

The etymological meaning of Bharani is "what deserves to be cultivated and preserved" that is dependence, servitors, retainers or anything by which living is earned, for example salary.

Krithika Nakshatra : This is the birth star of Chandra. Many constellations gather at the tail end of Krithika group. It extends from Mesa 26° - 40° . The residuary 10° degree fall in Vrsa. The devata is Agni, Lord (Adhipati) is Mangal and Sukra. Agni is the great purifier, the great consumer and the giver of light, heat and brightness. Agni causes the fire of life and the drive. It is also the spark of life. Without fire creation would not exist. Agni is at the base of creation and of the continuation of existence. It consumes everything. The fire of digestion in the human system and the external fire for cooking are only different manifestation of the same principle which is Agni. Agni is the symbol of brightness and brilliance, all weapons with fire-power. And other things of the same category come within the range of Krithika group. The fire is considered as purifier ; for it burns away all that is sordid, dark and dull, also all that is low and sinful and inauspicious in the world. The dross thus blazed away, only effulgence and light remain. Fire gives the earth its activity and dynamic and revives it after the spells of cold that periodically inflict comatose condition of the earth. It is easy enough to deduce from fire the causal effect of the Krithika group. Mangal is the lord of that part of Krithika which is in Mesa Rasi and Mangal is like a mass of lightning in shining splendour. So, the Krithika in Mesa is devastatingly brilliant, the effulgence being closely associated with also an incendiary character.

The Krithika of Vrsa Rasi is brilliant but unlike the Krithika of Mesa, not incendiary. The lord of Vrsa Rasi is Sukra and Sukra stands for worship of beauty and for poetry and imagination. He is rediantly white like snow, the 'Kunda' flower and the 'Utpal'. He is also the encyclopedic expounder of all branches of learning. It follows that the Krithika of Vrsa Rasi is brilliant but the brilliance does not burn, it is soft and sweet, and benign. The Krithika of Mesa Rasi is doubtless brilliant, it has plenty of heat which burns. The Krithika of Vrsa has on the contrary a softened radiance, a wave of brightness that does not hurt. In Western Astrology Krithika has been described as an incendiary star.

Rohini Nakshatra : The word is derived from "Rohan" which means 'to rise' or 'to bring into existence'. It extends in the Vrsa Rasi from 10° degree to 23°-20'. The lord of it is Sukra, the symbol a Cart drawn by Cows. The 'Devata' is Brahma, the prime creator of all things living, from the meanest insect to Man, the beauty of the weird, the paragon of animals. Rohini-group therefore encompasses everything that comes within the range of creation—beasts, birds, animals etc. It would also connote the process of growing, begetting, birth, production etc. in brief production, birth and creation. Rising means process of ascending, that is to say the creative evolution, the cultivation and the improvement. Mythology describes 'Rohini' the wife of Chandra. Of all the 27 Stars—all wives of Chandra—Rohini is said to have been fond of fine dress, cosmetics and decore and was the most beloved of Chandra. The Rohini (group) is, in the line with this, considered to be the cause of a taste for fine dress, perfume, and other articles of toilet. Creation continues to exist mainly on the basis of food ; and Rohini is supposed to be the cause of food. The direct and immediate cause of food is Agni and Brahma the remote cause. From this point of view the God who gives food, that is Agni, is the spiritual principle of Rohini (group) Nakshatra and because, Brahma the remote cause of food is also the devata of Rohini; the range of influences of this group runs over the whole gamut of the visible and invisible animal world.

Mrigasira Nakshatra : Mrigasira Nakshatra extends from after 23°-20' in Vrsa Rasi upto 6°-40' in Mithune. Presiding deity Chandra. Symbol—Antelope or Deer. The word 'Mriga' represents forests, gardens, a search, a seeking to find, to roam about in the forests and a hunter, to seek, to blaze the trail, a guide and preceptor. An erotic affair, beauty of the countenance with particular emphasis on the radiant lustre of the face, because of the Moon. To seek as the primary characteristic of the star, to discover hidden treasures after the churning of the Sea, the 'Samudra Manthan' of the Hindu Mythology, the mother, motherly conduct that is to say maternal instincts, self-sacrifice without hope of requital etc. Chandra is the lord of the mind, so all mental attitude, good or bad, sympathies and antipathies, patience and impatience, the fidgetiness and placidity, imagination, the gift of poetry, purity, sweetness and light, physical and mental aspects, all these come within this star and when things of sweetness and light of physic as also of the mind, both derivatives from the moon, the horoscope of Rabindra Nath comes to mind. His Janma lagna was Mina with Chandra there and Vrhaspati was in Karkata Rasi. Because of this yoga Rabindra Nath had something like physical translucence which was object of admiration all the world over, wherever people met. Also, at the same time his poetry enthralled the whole world. The Moon is a sub-planet round the earth and that is why the influence of the Moon on all that happens in the earth is so paramount. And again that is why the influence of the Moon on both the body and mind is simultaneously so very great. Sukra and Chandra both are female grahas (Planets) with difference that while the Moon is the Lord of motherhood, maternal instincts and all that, Sukra is the lord of feminine beauty, the structure of feminine form, the physical excellence of women and all that. In the former there is elegance and dignity of the feminine while in the latter, the physical beauty and the lure of feminine form which leads a male captive dominates. The moon is the lord of marine products and of medicines ; that it was from the sea that the moon rose. And it is to the moon that the influences and causalities have to be traced.

Adra Nakshatra : In Mithune from after 6°-40' to 20°. The presiding deity the Rudra, the wielder of the trident. Symbol—a tear-drop. The lord of Adra is Budha, when the Sun enters Adra the earth is said to be starting its menstrual course, that is "Ambobachi". Adra means wet or surcharged with water, that is fat. Because the earth is running her menstrual course there are tear drops falling one after another. From Rudra comes all suffering, persecutions and oppressions, anger, ferocity of countenance or hideousness of noise. Rudra is another name of Siva, the 'Five Faced' (Panchānana). In knowledge, asceticism, renunciation, as also in enjoyment, he is the supreme consummation of all desires. He is a blue-throated one, the wielder of the most tremendous powers, what could not be attempted far less achieved by other Gods, when the churned Ocean at the time of 'Samudra Manthan' exhaled poison Siva achieved quite simply by holding the exhalation in his throat. On one side he is the symbol of the most perfect placidity and serenity, on the other hand he is the symbol of all that is terrible. He holds the great serpent on his head and on his forehead crescent Moon with his sweet-soft light. He is at the same time the most peaceful and also the most terrible. And in all these are to be traced the intrinsic characteristics of Adra. Superficially, on the surface of it, Adra stands for suffering, hardness, cruelty, murder, prison, theft, adultery etc. The root characteristic is oppression—in order to purify. All male kidney trouble and connected urethral disease comes within the jurisdiction of Adra ; so also uterine diseases of the female.

The skull of Kalapurush and hair on it.

Punarvasu Nakshatra : Spread from 20° degree Mithune upto 3°-20' Karkata. Presiding deity 'Aditi', the Lord is Budha and Chandra. Symbol—Quiver (receptacle for arrows).

The word Punarvasu is derived from Puna + Vasu, which means return, renewal, restoration or repetition. The 12 Adityas were born of Kasyapa in the womb of Aditi. The 12 Vasus are Indra, Vishnu, Vaga, Twasta, Barun, Aryama, Pusa, Mitra, Agni, Parjyanya, Vivaswān and Dinakar. The mother Aditi of whom the Gods are born is the repository of everything good—truth, generosity, magnanimity, purity, aristocracy, beauty and renown. It follows that this start is the cause for these virtues. To start afresh after having once broken off, to start a new life, to come back from a distant land—all these are signified by Punarvasu. It stands for freedom from restriction and limitation, and boundless space. The Gods, the children of Aditi, are basically and essentially are different from children of Diti, who are demons. The demons never had a taste of divine nectar and therefore miss the knowledge of fundamentals, fundamentals of creation and mystery. They were engrossed with or deeply emerged in enjoyment of the externals, the materialistic aspect of the universe. Gold and sex were the two immediate pursuits, which made them extroverts. The Gods however, could rip into the deeper texture of things, they had tasted the divine nectar and become partners in supreme divine bliss and Punarvasu represents all these.

Pusya Nakshatra : Spread from 3°-20' to 16°-40' Karkata. Lord Chandra. Symbol—Teat of the Cow, the word etymologically means "to nourish" and that again means to preserve, to protect, replenish, multiply and strengthen. Everything of the very best comes within the scope of this Star. Enjoyment of wealth and prosperity follows from it.

Vrhaspati is described as the great teacher of all creation from amoebae to the Gods and is the source of all knowledge and wisdom. The mystery of creation is no mystery to him. He is the eloquent preceptor, the wise minister, pontifex, head of all religious ceremonies. He takes pleasure in all worshipful ritual. And that is why the Pusya is composed of these virtues. It has been described as blossoming and flourishing. It is the mouth of Orion.

Aslesha Nakshatra : Spread from 16°-40' to 30° degree Karkata. Chandra is the lord. It is the birth star of Ketu. Symbol—coiled up snake. It is the nature of a snake to hide himself, to encircle and entwine, to creep on the chest, to embrace, and to enjoy or unite surreptitiously. All this is an attribute of Aslesha also. The cunningness of the serpent, its devious nature, the burning sensation of poison and pain along with all consequences that poison connotes are to be read in the constitution of Aslesha. The virtues and vices of the serpent are all in it. The Moon in Aslesha sicklied over with various faults in great intensity. Whoever would have his or her Karmapathi (Lord of the 10th house) or bhagyapathi (Lord of the 9th house) in this star would run the risk of having all his or her principal acts in life handicapped, jeopardised or spoiled by many kinds of danger and obstruction. If the lagna is in this star, the native would possibly be of wily disposition. Such people would like to work in secret and their words would carry the sting of poison.

Magha Nakshatra : Spread from 0° degree to 13°-20' Simha. Ravi is the lord, the deity 'Pitrigan'. Symbol—The royal Court with a royal throne. Attributes—The virtues and vices of the father's family, wealth, glory, beauty, strength and prowess, lustre and effulgence, superior qualities, sharpness of intellect, nobility, prestige, replenishment, and increase, wisdom, brilliance, capacity and willingness to donate, ancestors on the paternal side—all these are effected by Magha. In no star the position of Ravi is so magnificent and dignified. Ravi in "Aswini" is brilliant no doubt but the brilliancy of incendiary character. It burns everything about it. The Sun is then a terrible ball of fire. But in Magha Ravi is like an emperor.

confident and self-assured. If happy and pleased he is in a mood to make any benediction or gift.

When Ravi is in Magha Sani gets alarmed and that is natural. For Sani is by character, of a mean disposition, the nature of a slave, no wonder that mean and lowly Sani cannot brook the beauty and the dignity of the position of Ravi in Magha. That is why Sani is 'Nicha' and anti-meridional in Aswini and meanness and wiliness of Sani so much increases. If Sani is the lord of 9th & 10th houses and is placed in the 4th house and associated with Magha he acts adversely the effects of the 4th & 10th houses. Magha is the causes of brightness and light. Therefore old and gloomy planets cannot stand it. Magha stands for noble impulses and incentives, the gift of Magha must always be a noble one. Magha has been described as glorious one. Anthropomorphically it is the nose of Kalpurush.

Poorva Falguni Nakshatra : Spread from 13°-20' to 26°-40' Simha. Lord Ravi, deity "Shivalinga", Symbol—Swinging hammock. It is also called the Bhagadaivata Star. All the six majesties, pleasures and prosperities, love, enjoyment and sensual delights are caused by this Nakshatra. The origin of creation is the "Shivalinga". It is the symbol of the call for creation, it announces creation and development. The closure of it means destruction. The individual who in personal life succeeds in mastering the six impulses, that is the impulse of creativity which masters also death. Therefore, on the one hand this star symbolises the joy of creation and enjoyment, and on the other hand signifies desirelessness and asceticism. On the one hand it is the gateway to creation, basic seed of it, on the other hand it aims at renunciation, dissolution, and a merger in 'Brahma'. Fame and renown are the special feature of this star. Poorva Falguni and Uttara Falguni are symbol of good fortune and luck. It is the birth star of Vrishaspati.

Anthropomorphically it is the upper lip of Kalapurush.

Uttara Falguni Nakshatra : Spread from 26°-40' Simha to 10° degree Kanya. The lords are Ravi and Budha, symbol is a bed. Poorva Falguni and Uttara Falguni are pair together. Its attributes are much the same as those of Poorva Falguni. The only difference is that generosity, kindness, patronage and an eagerness to help and succour the distress, to help friends and intimates and those who seek help are more pronounced in this star.

Hasta Nakshatra : Spread from 10° to 23°-20' Kanya. Deity Sun, Lord Budha, symbol—closed hand. The 12 names of the Sun are : (1) Arun, (2) Aditya, (3) Tapan, (4) Divakar, (5) Bhaskar, (6) Bhanu, (7) Martanda, (8) Mihir, (9) Ravi, (10) Bivakar, (11) Sahasramsu and (12) Sura.

All the attributes of these names etymologically connote are caused by this star. From the Sun we derive creativity and creation, and from creation we derive light, lustre, and strength. The Sun is the prime cause of dominion, kingship, power of immunity and the light that dispels darkness. Budha is the cause of knowledge. If placed in this Star he sheds light all around. Ravi with this Nakshatra enhances the instinct of dominion and the capacity to rule over others. It brushes up human intelligence, making it more luminous and makes a man vibrant with life and light.

The symbol is a closed hand or fist. It would follow that it signifies determination and clenched resolution. To keep everybody within one's grip, the possessive instinct follows from the nature of this star. The magician and the pick-pocket are also born under this star—variation from nobler attributes.

Anthropomorphically it is the hand of Kalapurush.

Chitra Nakshatra : Spread from 23°-20' Kanya to 6°-40' Tula Rasi. The lords are Budha and Sukra, deity Viswakarma, the symbol is the gem on the serpent's crest. Chitra is very beautiful to look at. Viswakarma, the great artist and artificer to the Gods, the lord of practical arts and applied aesthetics. The knowledge and capacity to paint, the gift of narration and well-ordered conversation. From Chitra is derived the painter, specialist in paints, the artist, the musician, the skilful surgeon, the imaginative writer, the specialist in aromatic herbs and dreamer of intricate patterns. The art of construction, the art of engraving, embroidery, frame-making and everything that constitutes an artistic complex from fine embroidery to the Tajmahal and on the other hand industrial engineering and skill and the organisation of machinery and plants—everything is caused or influenced by Chitra.

It is Anthropomorphically the forehead of Kalapurush.

Swati Nakshatra : Spread from 6°-40' to 20° Tula. Lord is Sukra, the deity is the Wind and because of this latter factor this causes the attributes of the Wind. Restlessness of disposition or physical restlessness, inability to stay still at any place comes from it ; also fidgetiness and noise. It is self-assured and asserting. The winds (Marut) are the Lords of North-West. The 49 of them under the 'Paban', of all Gods he is the strongest and most obstinate. From these are derived the knowledge, the physical internal adjustments of the 5 Winds.—Prān, Apan, Vyan, Udan and Saman. Also from this comes the storms and the whirl-wind, the concrete disturbance of the atmosphere. A person born under this star is good at buying and selling, his wealth and property come and go quite easily. He is an independent sort of man, always striving for more independence. Asceticism is yet another attribute of this star. Diseases of the wind are to be treated in reference to this. The Wind is the great scavenger, it sweeps the dross and purifies. The winnowing of rice bears comparison to this.

Visakha Nakshatra : Spread from 20° degree Tula upto 3°-20' Vṛścika Rasi. The lords are Sukra and Mangal, Deity is Satrāgni. Symbol—a leaf-decked triumphal gate. Another name of this Star is Radha, a compliment to Anuradha, the birth star of the Sun. From this is derived the fulfilment of action, variety of enterprise, achievement irrespective of the means employed and fearless and unscrupulous pursuit of self-interest. The only objective being to reach the end justifying it by any means fair or foul. Real friendship hardly happens. A man born under this star works at various things but hardly concentrates on any one of them. To spread about and to dissipate is another attribute of this star. The native of this star aims at success and is pleased with it when it happens, nothing else matters. Among other attributes may be mentioned obedience to religious injunctions, quickness on the uptake, and also loss and disaster from enemies, sometimes even death or lunacy.

Anuradha Nakshatra : Spread from 3°-20' to 16°-40' Vṛścika Rasi. Lord is Mangal, Symbol—the same as that of Visakha. Visakha and Anuradha are complimentary to each other. From Anuradha is derived friendship, love, affection and other tender feature of a person's character. From Visakha is considered the ultimate objective while from Anuradha is indicated the 'action'. The difference between Visakha and Anuradha is that while the Visakha-native forgets after success about benefits derived as also the persons who helped, the Anuradha-native retains soft feeling about them, he keeps his friendship intact and does not forget the benefits. The Anuradha-native's mind is always alive and receptive to all feelings and gestures of friendship and love. He is like the sentinel always a mounting guard over emotions, but lacking the hardness or toughness of the official sentinel.

Jestha Nakshatra: Spread from 16°-40' upto 30° degree Vrschika Rasi, Lord is Mangal, the deity is Indra, equivalent to Ravi, the king of the firmament. Indra is the great lord, the mighty warrior and a hero among heroes by tradition and in the plenitude of power he reigns supreme. He is the first among courtesans. When this star is unfavourable it causes sorrow and poverty.

Anthropomorphically Middle Finger and Neck of Kalapurush.

Moola Nakshatra: Spread from 0° degree to 15°-20' Dhanu Rasi, Lord is Jupiter (Vrhaspati). Symbol—a bunch of roots tied together, deity 'Nirithi' or 'Alakshmi'. It also means the 'opposite' or 'reverse'. Moola is not one of the good stars which is evident from this that the deity is Alakshmi i.e. God of ill luck. Moola signifies roots, that is to say, everything of basic nature, its motion is finite and limited. It does not go beyond its narrow orbit. Old servant, pedlar of seeds, physician administering herbal seed remedies—every such thing is determined from this star. The Moola native looks into scientific, literary, philosophic and other basic subjects. Mortgage and Mortgaged property are governed by this star and its horizon is not rural but urban.

Poorbasarha Nakshatra: Spread from 15°-20' upto 26°-40' Dhanu Rasi. Lord is Vrhaspati, the deity is 'Barun' (Lord of the Waters), symbol a 'hand fan'. Its attributes are extensiveness like that of the waters, concealment, protection of the dependant, firmness in danger, kindness, forgiving nature, power of endurance, will to victory, biting time for opportunities for victory, declaration of war, the courage never to submit or yield, travel by water, cold things, marine life, fish or anything concerning fish trade, bridge-making, fisherman's occupation, the watery part of the human system, the watery diseases like Bright disease, kidney trouble, things that float on waters including boats, snips and other vessels, mist i.e. berges, all these things come within the purview of this star.

According to some, the deity of 'Poorbasarha' is 'Daksha' the son of Prajapati. He was the father of 'Sati', he was the most powerful among Gods but having incurred the displeasure of 'Shiva' he was beheaded and had a goat's head in place of his own. From this it is possible to ascribe attributes like truth, desire and other qualities of Puru, Kuru, Pururaba and others to this star.

Uttarasarha Nakshatra : Spread from 26° - $40'$ Dhanu to 10° degree of Makara. Lord is Vrnaspati and Sani. The derivatives from Uttarasarha are closely allied to those of Poorbasarha. The points of difference are as follows. Poorbasarha spreads out, it is concerned with extensiveness. Uttarasarha is introspective and penetrative and is concerned with intensiveness, the results of the latter being more permanent than the former (Poorbasarha). The deity who preserves this world and makes for its welfare is called 'ganadevata'. There are ten ganadevatas Basu, Satya, Kratu, Daksha, Kala, Kama, Dhriti, Kuru, Pururaba, Mudraba. All their attributes are in this star. The warrior, the wrestler, the painter, the artist, the magician, the well-dressed man, the happy and successful men are influenced by this star. A special characteristic of it is that it causes a person to be admired and socially applauded. Another characteristic of it is that under the influence of this star the native falls in love with an unmarried girl. Vishma of the Mahabharata was one of the 8 Basus; so, under this star one possesses self-control, restraint, endurance, and firm character. There are special rituals for the worship of ganadevatas, which are more or less of specialised nature. The juice of Soma plant plays a part in 'yagna' and worship.

Shravana Nakshatra : Spread after 10° degree upto 23° - $20'$ in Makar. Lord Sani, symbol 3 footprints, deity Hari who takes all forms of Brahma, Vishnu, Siva, etc. It is the birth star of Saraswati. From this is derived light-rays, lion, beasts, horse etc. "Hari" means "to take away". From Shravana is derived the art of hearing and education and audile education. As the birth star of Saraswati it signifies and bestows scholarship, educational proficiency, respect for the shastras, knowledge etc. The eminent men in the field of education and knowledge, the man who is listened to by others with respect is influenced by this star. It causes also disease of the urethral channel.

Dhanistha Nakshatra : Spread from after 23°-20' in Makar upto 6°-40' in Kumbha. Lord Basudaibata. Symbol drum and tabla. Because Basudaivata is the deity of this star—it is the giver of wealth, precious stone, valuable articles, gold, opulence etc. Asthavasru derives from Ganga. The virtues of these gods are associated with this star. Persons born under this star are hostile to women. Because they lack adequate sex power. If Saturn is the lord of the 7th house and also in this star—any other planet in the 7th house and associated with this star will also do—the native will be sexually weak. It has to be noted that Saturn himself is eunuch. The native of the Star seldom marries or marriage is difficult for him, if married conjugal relation is seldom happy.

Anthropomorphically it is the back of Kalapurush.

Satavisa Nakshatra : Spread from after 6°-40' upto 20° in Kumbha. Lord Sani. Symbol a circle.

The Ocean, rivers, lakes etc. are derived from this star and it signifies aquatic marine life. It concerns boats, concealment, the veil, and to hide beneath the veil, covering, armour, places to hide things, failures, no-easy success, sorrow, death, restrain, idleness, peevishness, cynicism and a mania for excessive cleanliness.

Diseases indicated by this star are dropsy, rheumatism and heart disease.

Purvabhadrapada Nakshatra : Spread from after 20° in Kumbha upto 3°-20' in Mina. Lord Sani and Vrishaspati, deity Ajopada (Rudra). Symbol double-faced man.

It causes burns, punishes by fire, to cause pain, to burn things to ashes, to use words that burn, conduct that blisters, to use harsh words, evil disposition, cruelty, greediness, restlessness, feeling of despair and unsatisfied ambition, to burn by slow degrees, sudden excess of anger etc.

Anthropomorphically the side of the body of Kalapurush.

Uttarabhadrapada Nakshatra : Spread from after 3°-20' upto 16°-40' in Mina. Lord Vrishaspati, deity Ohibridna, symbol the last i.e. funeral bed.

The Star is adorned with serpent-like symbol. It looks like rice, its properties and attributes are like those of Adra, some attributes of Purvabhadrapada also are found. Purvabhadrapada shows signs of contrition and atonement while Uttarbhadrapada shows restraint. From this are to be calculated long distance journeys, renunciation of wordly possessions and mendicancy etc. On the other hand knowledge, learning, good counsel, personality—these also come within the purview of this star.

Anthropomorphically the sole of the feet of Kalapurush.

Revati Nakshatra : Spread from after 16°-40' upto 30th degree in Mina Rasi. Lord Vṛhaspati. Deity Pusa. Pusa is the keeper of Cows of the Gods, causes Cow keeping and animal husbandry, protection and nourishing of dependants, foster-father etc. Pusa means the cherishing of protected people, nourishment, excellence, increase etc., material enjoyment, wealth, prosperity, superfluity, fatness—these are the attributes of Revati. Another attribute is that the native of this star advances by leaps and bounds, that it is to say by fits and starts. Birth Star of Saturn.

Anthropomorphically cavity of the abdomen, groins of Kalapurush.

SIGNIFICATION OF PLANETS

Ravi

Ravi (The Sun) signifies soul, nature of the native can be judged from Ravi. It represents pomp, power, position in one's career, dignity, self-reliance, prestige, ego, gravity, sobriety, nobility, social leadership, highly placed person in any Governmental Institution, political power, king or emperor, a middle-aged man, despotism, hot and pungent taste, chemist, druggist, goldsmith, sacrificial places, coronation chambers, bones, head, brain, courage. It indicates father, Satwa guna, windy and bilious temperament, a male, Kshatriya, day, east direction.

Disease indicated by Ravi : Any disease due to bad biles, disease of head, brain or bone or esophagus, fever, eye-disease, disease of nerve, arteries, veins, lungs or heart. It also causes disease of mouth or cholera.

Metal : Gold, Mercury, Ruby.

Colour : Golden colour, red-copper colour.

Vocation : Physician, engineer, administrator in a Govt. Institution.

Birth star : Visakha (16) and Anuradha (17).

Digit : 12, 33, 48, 70.

Strength : Ravi is strong when he occupies Mesa, Simha or Vrschika Rasi or while full moon is associated with 7, 13, 16 or 17th Stars (Nakshatras).

A man may possess Satwa guna if Ravi is conjoined with Chandra but there is chance of his losing power of thinking due to dark moon (Amabasya). The native may be endowed with real Satwa guna if these two planets are posited opposite to each other. In that case the native becomes truly an energetic person and a lover of independence. While in case of a weak Ravi the native cannot easily be successful in any of his endeavours. Combination of Ravi and Sani or if they are opposite to each other, or if Sani is combust the native may experience many changes in his career, suffer from various sorts of troubles, meet with unsuccess in life or pass through many vicissitudes in life.

Chandra (the Moon)

The Sun is the creator and the Moon is the protector of creation or it causes development of created beings. It is repository (reservoir) of life and develops energy, vitality, vigour of life. This is why its role is so important and essential in ascertaining a child's longevity and physical strength.

It signifies mind, mother, woman, tender feeling, love and affection, politeness, socialism, sympathy, kindness, idealism, social work, excellent physical stature, stored energy, mental happiness, mental strength, family life, happiness and miseries, treasury, people, artistic skill, silk, water, watery things, thinking, love marriage, fat, marrow, stomach, Satwa guna, phlegmatic disease, salt, cultivation, navigator, milk, manners, psychophysiological consciousness, moral and religious acts, feminine tenderness, fancies, romances etc.

Disease : disease of the stomach cough and cold, lunacy, disease of the nerve, phthisis, colic pain, intestinal disease, kidney disease.

Metal : Conchshell, Silver, Moonstone. It signifies Calcium.

Colour : Whiteness.

Vocation : Clerkship, dealer of silk or fine machineries, or business concerning watery things.

Birth star : Krithika and Robini.

Digit : 2, 5, 15, 17, 49.

Strength : The full moon attains the maximum strength when the sun and the moon are associated with stars (Nakshatras) No. 3, 4, 5.

When the moon is weak in a man's birth chart or he is associated with his enemy or natural malefic or he is debilitated the native becomes fickle minded. When the moon is aspected by or conjoined with Saturn (Sani) the native becomes moody, gloomy, or pensive temperamentally and at the same time he (the native) becomes morose and sorrowful.

Mangal (Mars)

Self-assertion, daring and initiative temperament, alertness, keen intellect, zeal, enthusiasm, prowess, manliness, struggle for existence, combativeness, ambition, bravery, courage, enterprising, energetic, aggressive, passionate, brothers and sisters, battle, war, warrior, army, commander-in-chief, military operation, strife, litigation, accident, obstinacy, organising capability, an excellent mathematician, land and landed property, ownership of land and house, to build a house, fiery temper, appearance of a bandit or dacoit, prophylactic medicine, earthquake, scars and wounds, weapons of offence and also defence, blood, cannon, burning gases, iron and steel, metals or things that grow in ore or under the earth.

Mangal signifies intestine, rectum, excretory gland, bile, Tamo guna, bitter taste, a male, Kshatriya, southern direction.

Disease : Dysentery, piles, fissure, ulcer in intestine, typhoid, cholera, pox, disease due to morbid condition of wind and bile, accident, boils, gangrene due to any kind of wound, urinary difficulty due to stricture or enlargement of prostate gland.

Metal : Iron, lead.

Gem : Coral (Prabal)

Colour : Red.

Vocation : Army or police officer, engineer, surgeon, contractor, officer or proprietor of a machinery factory, dentist, chemist, metal worker, all vocations connected with steel and iron industry, bandit, executioner, political agitator.

Birth star : Poorbasarha and Uttarasarha.

Digit : 3, 10, 39.

Strength : Dark moon when posited in Mesa or Varsika Rasi, or full moon when associated with Nakshatras (Stars) No. 20 or 21. The native becomes energetic, brave and active when Mangal is situated in Upachaya houses (3, 6, 10 & 11th houses from lagna are termed as Upachayas).

When Mangal being the owner of malefic houses is placed in Kendra position from lagna the native becomes obstinate, haughty, turbulent. When the moon is influenced by unfavourable Mangal the native becomes short-tempered and suffers from loss of wealth and luck. Favourable Mangal occupying third house from lagna makes the native skilful, courageous but a powerful Mangal in that house may be the cause of premature death of the native's elder brother or sister.

Budha (Mercury)

Budha is the herald of the day always preceding the Sun. He is always dancing closely around the Sun sometimes preceding, sometimes trailing him (the Sun). Budha rules the mind—the moral mind—the rational brain, pure reason and ability to think logically. Anatomically he is represented by the cerebrum, the larger part of the brain which may be termed as superior brain.

The planet Budha signifies education, conscious mind and will. He endows a person with knowledge that can discern good from evil ; he denotes power of speech, memory, wisdom, intelligence, accountancy, accountant, to copy, to commit to memory, or cramming, orator, public speaker, shrewdness, cunning, dexterity, commerce, publishers, advertisement, childishness, printing, printers, go-between, ambassador, merchandising, partnership, broker, mathematics, versatility, lawyer, hawker, journalism, astrologer, export and import, industries, beauty, elegance, wit, humour, psychological development, refined taste, Rajo guna, betal leaves, nuts and limestone. He signifies teeth, esophagus, physical apparatus of breathing, hand and mouth, sour taste, temperate disposition, His gender is neuter, and a boy eunuch, convertible. He pertakes the nature of the planet with whom he is conjoined.

Disease : head in whirl, epilepsy, loss of memory and power of speech, disease of the tongue or mouth, dyspepsia. The planet represents carbon and soda.

Colour : Green like grassblade.

Vocation : Lawyer, barrister, attorney, astrologer, writer, clerk, journalist, businessman, painter, magician, accountant, auditor, publisher, bookseller, broker, commercial agent.

Birth star : Sravana and Dhanista.

Digit : 4, 20, 54.

Strength : When the full moon is associated with Rohini, Hasta, Sravana or Dhanista Budha becomes strong. Favourable relation between Budha and benefic Chandra makes the native highly meritorious, intelligent and educated. Again beneficial relation among the Sun, the Moon and Budha enables the native to enjoy unstained peace of mind and he (the native) can raise himself beyond the material surroundings by practising 'Japa and Tapas'. Also favourable disposition between these two planets (Budha and Chandra) endows the native with sharp memory.

A man becomes a poet of extraordinary calibre if strong Budha, Sukra (Venus) and Ravi (The Sun) or the Moon are conjoined together (see Rabindranath's birth chart). Favourable relation among Budha, Vrhaspati (Jupiter) and Sani (Saturn) makes a native a successful astrologer. The native also becomes a successful astrologer when Budha is in a favourable house from lagna (ascendant) and Sukra occupying the 2nd place in the birth chart is exalted in Navamsa Chakra.

The native is an engineer when in his birth chart Budha having been associated with 'hasta' Nakshatra (Star No. 13) is placed in a Kendra position from lagna.

Temperamentally—beneficial Budha indicates activity, agility, energy, intellect, talent, wit, adaptability. When he is unfavourable the native indulges in illegal practices, he becomes a forgerer, thief, burglar, swindler and racketeer.

Vrhaspati (Jupiter)

Vrhaspati represents truth, wisdom, the knowledge that enables a man to realise God. He signifies intellect, conscientiousness, merit, intuition, education, peace, peaceful state of mind, power of speech, Vedas, Vedantas, devotion, morality, religiousness, proficiency in arts and sciences, religious institution, temples, sobriety, philosophic wisdom, oratory, invention, idealism, fraternity & equality, universality, University, one who can attain divine bliss, justice, nobility, belief in divine predestination, phlegm, longevity, physical development, the tree full of fruits.

Vrhaspati is the judge, the noble judge, the wise judge, he is solomon of all ages, pious, philanthropic. Vrhaspati's native (a Jupitarianian) believes in fraternity and equality, he is sagacious, a friend to all men and beasts alike. He signifies fortune, manliness, reputation, charity.

The planet denotes digestive organ, liver, breathing apparatus of the physical body; he signifies sweet taste, children, father, Brahmin, Northern direction.

Disease : Diarrhoea, dyspepsia, disease of cough and cold, disease of the palate and throat, asthma, phthisis, epilepsy, thrombosis.

Colour : Colour of gold, yellow.

Gem : Emerald, yellow sapphire.

Vocation : Priest, jurist, judge, profession connected with Governmental administration, temple, or church, preceptor, professor in a school or college, philosopher, preacher of religious doctrines, scientist, engineer etc.

Birth star : Poorba and Uttar Falguni Nakshatra.

Digit : 5, 12, 34, 52, 56, 60.

Strength : When Vrihaspati is associated with Pusya Nakshatra or when the Sun and the Moon occupy Dhanu or Mina Rasi or when full moon is associated with 11 or 12 Nakshatra Vrihaspati regains his strength.

The native suffers from indigestion or similar chronic disease when Vrihaspati occupies the 2nd or 5th place from lagna due to overeating of sweets and meat. Malefic Vrihaspati occupying a Kendra or Kona place from lagna makes the native an egoist, tyrant and he (the native) wants to rule over his subordinates ruthlessly. When the planet is strong and favourable and is posited in Kendra or Kona from lagna the native is bestowed with very many qualities such as high education, learning, honesty, morality, intelligence and piety.

Sukra (Venus)

Sukra as a general significator holds absolute sway over the vast domain of knowledge. This is the only planet that can give you acumen and intelligence of how to utilise Shastric codes in the practical field of life. For, it knows the intricates of all Shastras. Moreover influence of Sukra over the adornment of body and luxuries of life is well-known to all astrological pandits.

The planet denotes fashions, perfumes, all artistic expressions, interior decorating. Sukra is beauty personified. The planet signifies practical knowledge, desire, passion, sexual pleasure, material prosperity and comfort, artistic skill, poetic faculty, music, musician, actor, feminine grace, lustre in the eyes, authorship, dancing, learning, amiability, kindness, perseverance, vitality, marriage, sexual intercourse, adultery, scandals, dens of prostitutes, harems, pomp and grandeur, infinite faculties, Applied Science, young man and woman, flower, garment, machines, medicines, aesthetic sense, affection, sensuousness, romance, conveyance, painting.

It signifies prostate gland, ovary of a woman, testicle, generating organ, Rajo guna, sour taste, south-eastern or eastern direction.

Disease : Veneral disease, disease of the uterus or ovary of a woman, diabetes, or disease of kidney, stricture due to gonorrhoea or syphilis, or enlargement of prostate gland, asthma or any other disease due to cough and cold, phthisis.

Colour : White.

Vocation : Engineer, poet, artist, musician, publicity business ; or business of advertisement, actor, physician, business concerning conveyance, jewellery or medicinal products, astrologer.

Birth star : Magha.

Digit : 6, 37, 52.

Strength : Sukra is strong when the Sun and the Moon occupy Vrsha or Tula Rasi, or when the full moon is associated with either of the Nakshatras (Stars), viz. Aswini, Ashlesha, Magha, Jetha, Moola or Rebati. Afflicted Sukra by association with malafies or by occupation in an unfavourable house causes loose morals. Again when Sukra conjoins with or aspected by Sani there is every possibility of late marriage or marriage disregarding the native's social customs or environments. Friendly aspect between Sukra and Chandra may make the native popular, ambitious, and prominent in public life but the native may be sensuous.

Sani (Saturn)

to Old, infirm, conservative, animal that is utilised as carrier of heavy loads, lame man, lonely, obstacles, misery, longevity, Yama (lord of death), death, selfishness, reality, mendicant, who practises severe austerity dutifulness, a slow ascent after great struggle, retarded results, slow recognition, slim and sickly constitution, buffalo, horse, donkey, goat, oilseed, coal, multicoloured cloth, teeth, bone, nerve, hair, muscle, Tomo guna, pungent taste, imprisonment, demoralisation, bondage, servitude, idiosyncrasies, servant, sorrows, injuries, miners, brick-layers, thieves, risks, drunkenness, gamblers, seeds, oil, cereals, woolen fabrics, architectural skill, iron, lead, whirlwind and storms, low people, western direction.

Disease : Rheumatism, gout, indigestion, chronic dyspepsia, disease of the gall bladder, rickets, disease due to calcium deficiency, deafness, pthysis, consumption. disease of spleen enlargement, insanity.

Colour : Black, blue.

Metal : Iron, lead black sapphire (Nilam).

Vocation : Mining engineering or engineer, mine owner, coal industry, lead or iron industry, masonry, building and real property, farmer, tannery and leather industry, high officials, business of oil seeds and grains etc., speculative business etc.

Birth star : Rebati.

Digit : 7, 39, 49, 56, 72, 82.

Strength : When the Sun and the Moon occupy Makar (capricornus), Kumbha (acquarius) or Tula (libra) Rasi or the full moon is associated with any of the stars, viz. Chitra, Swati, Rebati—Sani is strong.

Sani signifies obstacles, impediments, and sorrow or miseries, it afflicts the house where it is posited and the native's miseries and sorrows from that house are indicated. A native cannot be a true ascetic unless Sani is strong and favourable. The planet is a gruelling tester of strength and character. It is a blessing in disguise. Sani melts away the dress in man through pain and suffering and by a process of fiery baptism, builds up the native, of course if Sani is favourable. If unfavourable he brands the native with inevitable disaster and doom—even though all other planets might contrive to make him apparently prosperous and successful. He is wrath of God Narayan or rather sorrow of God, imparted to man, made as He is in His image.

Rahu and Ketu

Rahu and Ketu are intersection points of the Sun's path and the Moon's, the Nodes. Physically non-existent, in motion they are very much there, directly exercise their influence which is an intensive and also far reaching as the influence of any other planet. It is well observed and ascertained fact that the influences of Rahu and Ketu are direct and positive in character, making and unmaking yogas.

The Epics relate that when the divine nectar came out of the charred primeval ocean, Rahu stole a sip of it and acquired immortality. So, he survived even when Vishnu cut off his head. Thus Rahu is the Dragon's head and Ketu the Dragon's tail, both immortal, that is to say, effective. There is a mythical story to explain the active nodal points.

The myth explains also other essential features to be considered because Rahu is an Asurha (demon), his passion, lust and greed are consequential. A subtle point about it is that as Rahu has no actual material body, the passion, the greed and the lust are endless and insatiable. Nothing can slake the thirst that Rahu gives the native—if he is powerful in the horoscope. It follows from this that insatiable desire causes intense heart burning, sorrow and pain, and to satisfy desire the native would stop at nothing; the strong Rahu would sweep away virtue and vice alike if it stands in the way. He would not bat any eyelid to do anything that is likely to advance his cause, truth politeness, civility included. A powerful Rahu and propitious would give the native great wealth.

It is an attribute of Rahu to enhance or aggravate the characteristics and properties of the houses which it occupies or aspects. If favourable, the result is better than what would have been without Rahu's and if unfavourable worse.

Because the nodal points move clockwise, Rahu and Ketu are described as having reverse motion. And some scholars equate this with Purba-Janma. And philosophically this seems to be quite justifiable. If the seven planets, minus Rahu and Ketu—and their placing in a horoscope represent their astronomical positions at the point-instant of birth. And if, as the Hindu philosophy believes, the current birth is just one of an astronomical number of births and rebirths, just an urge out of innumerable urges connected like beads on thread of garland by Samskar—experience. It is quite logical that there should be some planetary force to carry on or perpetuate the continuity.

Disease : Indigestion, disease due to accumulated gas or wind in stomach or intestine.

Colour : Rough black.

- Metal : Lead.
- Gem : Garnet (Gomed).
- Vocation : Any kind of itinerant job, it gives the profession of the planet with which it is associated or aspected by.
- Birth star : Bharani.
- Digit : 8, 41, 42.
- Strength : During solar or lunar eclipse or when the full moon is associated with Bharani Nakshatra or if Chandra occupies Mithune Rasi Rahu is strong,

Ketu

The symbol of Ketu is Serpent. Subtlety and secrecy, indolence and all the inferior aspects of a man's nature are caused or determined by Ketu. One thing however is important. Because Ketu is a part of Rahu, yet not a part of it but the other side to it, it represents asceticism. And if aspected by beneficial planet it goes to the farthest length of it by giving the native (of course if well-placed particularly in the 12th house) ultimate self-realisation.

Nature and characteristics of Planets (commonly termed as Karakata) described by other eminent Astrologers.

1. Ravi (Sun) : Through Ravi one ought to ascertain a person's copper, gold, father, ownself, prowess, courage, service under King or Government, glory, prosperity, vocation, professional pursuit, acuteness and enthusiasm.

He is Kshatriya by caste.

2. Chandra (Moon) : From Chandra one ought to determine the welfare of the mother, mind, mental tranquillity, sea-bath, white chowri, moonstone, umbrella, good fan, fruits, tenderness, fame, flowers, corn, agriculture, acquisition of pearls, bell-metal, silver, sweet substances, milk, water, cows, good meals, bodily health and beauty.

He is Vaisya.

3. Mangal (Mars) : Mangal represents strength, energy, valour, daring act, odium, battle, brothers & sisters, accident, litigation, sin, piles, fissure, uttering falsehood, cruelty, products derived from the earth, landed property, house, activeness, quarrel, feud, kindred.

Mangal's caste is Kshatriya.

4. Budha (Mercury): Budha is the planet that influences one's learning, eloquence, skill in fine arts, eulogy from the learned, maternal uncle, dexterity in speech, cleverness in religious meditation and the like, aptness for acquiring knowledge, intelligence, truth-speaking, skill in mechanical arts, any religious rite relating to Vishnu, sacrifice, one's sister's sons or daughters.

By caste Budha is Sudra.

5. Vrhaspati (Jupiter): Vrhaspati represents knowledge, wisdom, good qualities, teaching, magnanimity, learning, merit, knowledge of Vedas, Shastras and Smrities, reverence to Gods and Brahmins, penance, religious faith, treasure-house, conquest of senses, honour, prestige, personality, compassion, children, minister, acquisition of knowledge of self-realisation, wealth and happiness.

He is Brahmin by caste.

6. Sukra (Venus): One should know the following from Sukra, viz. wealth, grandeur, prosperity, beauty, pleasure in poetry, learning that gives material success, triple symphony (union of song, dance and instrumental music), acting, beautiful eyes, vehicles, clothes, ornaments, hoarded goods, happiness, scents, flowers, couch, sport, ministership, charming speech, wife, marriage and festivity, house, sexual intercourse, addiction to many women and lasciviousness.

He is also Brahmin by caste.

7. Sani (Saturn): Sani is an indicator of one's longevity, death, fear, degradation, misery, humiliation, poverty, sickness, reproach, sin, impurity, misfortune, resorting to low people, drowsiness, debts, iron, servitude, labourer, agricultural implements, jail and captivity.

Sani is a leader of outcasts.

STRUCTURE AND TEMPERAMENT OF PLANETS

Ravi : Ravi is of bilious temperament. He is strong in bones in the body. He possesses a dark-red form and has limited quantity of hair, his eyes are of reddish brown colour, he has a square-built body, is valiant and wrathful and has massive arms.

Chandra : Chandra has a huge body, is both young and old, lean and white, has fine lovely eyes, black and thin hair. She governs blood. She has beautiful complexion, wears a white garment. She has wind and phlegm in composition and is mild in temperament.

Mangal : Mangal has a slender waist, curled and shining hair. He has fierce eyes, he is bilious and cruel in temperament and is of reddish hue. He is wrathful but exceedingly generous. He has a youthful appearance, governs marrow in the body and wears a red garment.

Budha : His complexion is green as the blade of 'durva' or panic grass. His body is full of veins, he has red and long eyes and is clad in green ; he governs the skin, is fond of fun and possesses even eyes. He is pleasant in his speech and is a mixture of three humours—Vata (wind), Pitta (bile) and Kapha (Phlegm).

Vrhaspati : He has a body of yellowish hue (colour of gold). His eyes and hair are brown. He possesses a fatty body, with elevated chest and big belly. He is phlegmatic in temperament and is exceedingly intelligent. His voice is similar to that of a lion or the sound of the conch. He is always after wealth.

Sukra : Sukra has black curled hair and very lovely broad eyes. His limbs and body are huge. He has much wind and phlegm in his composition. His complexion is of the colour of Durva Sprout. He has treasured his virile power.

Sani : He is dark in form, lame and has wind in his composition. He has got deep eyes, a lean and tall body full of arteries and veins. He is idle and is exceedingly calumniating. He is cruel and has no pity. He is dull-headed. He has got large nails, teeth, stiff hair, and limbs. He is dirty and is of sinful disposition. He is fierce and is a personification of anger. He is ripe with old age and wears a black garment. He governs the muscle in the body.

ABODES OF PLANETS

Ravi : Ravi generally moves in all open area where there is light. He lives in a temple of Siva and in a place where there is no water. Ravi signifies Eastern Quarter.

Chandra : Chandra lives in a place where there is Goddess Parvati, the place is occupied by women, full of water, herb and plant and the spot is also full of honey or liquor.

Chandra indicates North-West Quarter.

Mangal : Mangal lives in places where there are thieves or low people, the place is one where there is fire, it is a battlefield too.

Mangal indicates Southern direction.

Budha : Budha moves in places where there are learned men. His place of choice is the spot where God Vishnu is kept. He likes an assembly, a recreation ground and a mathematical hall. Budha indicates Northern direction.

Vrhaspati : His places of liking are Treasury, the Aswatha (Peepul) tree, or the dwelling places of Gods and Brahmins. Vrhaspati signifies North-Eastern direction.

Sukra : His abode is courtesan's quarter, the harem, dancing hall, bed room. He indicates South-Eastern direction.

Sani : He lives in places where there are only low and outcast people, his liking is dirty places and his house is dilapidated leaf-thatched hut. Direction is Western Quarter.

Specification of influences of Planets on different Bhavas (houses)

Ravi	governs	10th bhava, vocation, profession.
Chandra	governs	Mind, 4th bhava, mother.
Mangal	governs	3rd bhava, brothers & sisters.
Budha	governs	2nd (power of speech, eloquence), 4th (Education & Learning) & 6th bhava (Kins).
Vrhaspati	governs	2nd, 5th, 9th & 11th bhavas.
Sukra	governs	4th & 7th bhavas.
Sani	governs	3rd & 8th bhavas (longivity)

A few important Planets, their various moods & derivative influences.

The various moods of the planets vis-a-vis the different houses are most important for all astrological purposes. Basically however it will be perceived that from a realistic point of view they are also essential to the setting up of an integrated mathematical structure, twelve houses which are by no means natural, but altogether man-made on the basis of exhaustive observation, set off against nine planets, are the coping-stones of the mathematical edifice. It is now further complicated, with the aid of further researched observation by the introduction of the working hypothesis of planetary moods.

The fundamental symbolism are as follows :—

Ravi the sun is taken as a symbol of Atma (the soul); the Moon of the mind, Mangal (Mars) of energy, Budha (Mercury) of nimbleness of wit and intelligence, Vrhspati (Jupiter) of learning and wisdom, Sukra (Venus) of material plenitude, Sani (Saturn) of sorrow and effort, Rahu and Ketu because of their vacuum they symbolize everything that all the houses primarily stand for. In these categories, the subtleties and variations are numerous.

Ravi : The Sun is the lord of the Solar system. The Hindu sacred books refer to him as the "Lord of the Earth" and a creator, reserver and destroyer. So, if the Sun is good and strong in a horoscope, posited in any of the 3rd, 6th, 10th or 11th houses or aspects the 10th, the house of Karma, it follows that the native will be favoured by the king and would be eminent. At least he would occupy a high position in life. If however the Sun is joined or aspected by Saturn it causes a lot of impediment in native's rise—his favourable disposition in relation to other benefics is to some extent adversely effected. If the Sun is badly positioned—the 6th, 8th & 12th houses are considered to be bad houses—his rise is obstructed. The Sun is also the symbol of father and if he is placed in the 6th the relatives on the father's side cause the native considerable annoyance and pain.

The Sun also stands for vitality, if favourable he increases, if bad diminishes it. Curiously enough the Sun, who is the brightest, most effulgent visible God in the Hindu pantheon, the lord of the earth and the symbol of the soul has been classed as a papa (natural malefic) graha (planet). It can be explained only on the hypothesis that the Sun is also responsible for the final destruction of the Earth at the time of "Maha-pralaya" (the great Dissolution) when the Sun operates through 12 replicas of himself. Not a very convincing explanation but the only one that occurs to us.

The Sun as also the Moon are particularly concerned with infants' danger to life—Indian Astrological term is A-rishta or Bala-rishta yoga. Infants' longevity be cut short if they are badly posited.

Chandra (The Moon): The Moon is said to represent the mind and this has bearings on also such aspect of Hindu mythology as lie outside astrology proper. To take just one example:—One name of Shiva is 'Chandra-churha', the moon being on his brow. The implication is, Shiva, the ultimate summit, rises higher than the mind to a point which the mind approaches but cannot reach. In other words, the sublimation of the mind and to get beyond it—that is the fullest realisation.

In astrology it represents also the Mother, if in conjunction with malefic Rahu or Sani, the mind is considered to be afflicted and is seldom at peace. The disturbance in poise pursues the native in his social life. The moon is the cause of emotional exaltation or depression as the case may be. A favourable moon tends to make a man an idealist. A too favourable moon is again like too much of a good thing, it would rob a man of all practical or pragmatic virtues. He would lose himself into a morass of emotion. Such a moon might enhance a native's religiosity. If Vṛhaspati and Sani are in favourable conjunction with or are related to Moon and Vṛhaspati in his own house which is Kendra or Kona the religiosity is bound to be there. The importance of the moon in calculating an infantile danger (Arishta) is as great as that of Ravi.

Mangal (Mars): The general among the planets, bestower of all military virtues and toughness. Incendiary in character, antipodal to Sani (Saturn) in attitude and methods but complimentary to Sani in various ways in working out the pattern of life. While Sani is freezing Mangal is fiery. While Sani is slowest moving of all planets (name 'Sanaischara' makes it self-evident) Mangal is very quick. He upsets all careful slow going human calculations. While the Sani is normally the planet of poverty, slothfulness, Mangal is generally a planet of process, valour and riches and also a planet of wealth (if favourably disposed). While Mangal lives in a Fort or Castle, Sani lives in leaf-thatched hut, while Saturn is symbolised as a very old man Mangal is symbolised by youth. In the 2nd or 9th house Mangal is the cause of sorrow being extremely unfavourable. Bad luck and poverty invariably follow. If Mangal is debilitated in a Kendra the results are good. In Makar (Capricorn), Mesa (Aries) and Vrschika (Scorpio) Mangal gives rise and promotion if any of those houses is the 10th or any other 'Upachayasthan', as already said Mangal in the 2nd or the 9th, spoils luck but if it is Mangal's exalted position or own house this does not happen. Mangal in the 3rd house generally kills off the elder brother or sister.

CHAPTER—III.

WHAT IS LAGNA ?

Every Almanac (Panjika) carries a table of lagnamān and lagnas as a discord. It varies slightly in detail from year to year and place to place. The lagnamān is extremely important in determining the lagna. The word 'lagnamān' roughly interpreted, means calculation as to which Rasi stays how long to eastern side of the horizon. The calculation reaches upto 'pala' and 'bipala' and is noted against each Rasi. Because the basis of calculation for Almanac is not in each case the same, each Almanac shows slightly different or variant lagnamān. We set forth below the method for determining the lagna according to two Almanacs then current in 1360 Bengali year namely 'Jagatjyoti' and 'Susiddhanta'. It will be seen that they are different in respect of the lagnamān for all the most important places in India, necessarily due to different latitude and longitude.

The Method of Calculation of Lagna and Lagnasphuta.

Let us take the case of a boy born at 10 A.M. (Local Time) in Calcutta, Thursday the 17th Baisakh of the Bengali Year 1360. English corresponding date is 30th April, 1953. Now how to find out the lagna ?

The first thing is to find out the Lagnamān for Calcutta. Then we should find out from the Almanac the exact hour and minute for sunrise on the 17th Baisakh (if the birth is at night) the exact hour and minute for sunset). Then we have to look up how many dandas (ghaties) and how many palas after lagnamān starts did the sunrise occur. The Susiddhanta Panjika notes the following lagnamān of different Rasis:

Rasi	Danda	Pala	Bipala
Mesa	4	10	10
Vrsa	4	54	25
Mithuna	5	32	32
Karkata	5	39	33

Rasi	Danda	Pala	Bipala
Simha	5	28	35
Kanya	5	25	22
Tula	5	34	58
Vrscika	5	39	37
Dhanu	5	14	10
Makara	4	28	43
Kumbha	3	54	15
Mina	3	47	20

Now how long after the sunrise the Jatak (Native) was born is to be noted, if the birth was at night then how long after the sunset.

The sunrise on that date was 5 hrs. 8 min. 43 sec. (I. S. T) + 24 min. (according to Indian Ephemeris 23 min. 30 secs.) = 5 hrs. 32 min. 43 sec. (The boy was born at 10 A. M.—Local Time) The boy was born 4 hrs. 27 min. 17 secs. after sunrise. Reduced danda, pala etc. it works out 11 danda 8 pala 12 bipala 30 anupala. This is called Jata-danda or Isthadanda.

The lagnamān for Mesa Rasi is 4 danda 10 pala 10 bipala. 2 danda 9 pala 32 bipala has to be subtracted as consumed (Bhukti) by Ravi at sunrise and then it has to be seen what Rasi specifically the Isthadanda comes. The same would work out like this,

Mesa Mān	Danda	4-10-10
Ravi bhukti	„	-2-9-32
		2-0-38
Vrsa Mān	„	+4-54-25
		6-55-3
Mithuna Mān	„	+5-32-32
		12-27-35

Isthadanda is 11-8-12-30. Mithuna Rasi-Mān terminates at Danda 12-27-35 bipala. Isthadanda is included in it. Hence lagna falls in Mithuna Rasi. It has to be learnt how to examine the placing and positions of the various planets (grahas) in the natal chart (Rasichakra). Susiddhanta Panjika shows the positions of all the planets for each day on the margin to the left. Where the planets were on that morning at 6 A. M. is shown :

Ravi—	0-16-9-30	Vrhaspati—	1-4-34-11
Chandra—	6-25-56-32	Sukra—	11-22-9-58
Mangal —	1-5-56-14	Sani—	5-29-34-2
Budha—	11-23-5-20	Rahu—	9-14-33-58
		Ketu—	3-14-33-58

The position of planets reckoned by Amsa, Kala etc. is called grahasphuta and how does it show the exact position ?

The Sun is recorded at 0-16-9-37 bikalas. It means that Ravi having traversed Mina Rasi is now in Mesa Rasi which is 0 Rasi and its precise position in Mesa Rasi is 16 degree 9' Kala (Minute) 37 bikala (second). The Moon having passed 6 Rasis is in the 7th—that is in Tula Rasi, the exact point 25° amsa (degree) 56' Kala (Minute) 32 bikala (second). This is the grahasphuta for 6-24 A. M. (Calcutta Local Time i.e. 6 A. M. Indian Standard Time or I. S. T). The boy was born at 10 A. M. (Calcutta Local Time). The grahasphuta for this time has to be found out.

How to find out the grahasphuta (or Degree of Planets) :

Each Almanac (Panjika) gives a variant version of the grahasphuta. In the present case we depend on the Susiddhanta Panjika. So, it is necessary to find out right at the start what precise time the grahasphuta is indicated for. Nearly, but not all the Almanacs start with the grahasphuta for sunrise. So, the first step is to see how long before or after this the child is born. It is easy enough to know from the Almanacs the grahasphuta for the whole day—that is 24 hours. The grahasphuta for how long has also to be worked out. It is easy after this to work out the grahasphutas for Isthadanda or for hours and minutes adding to or subtracting from the grahasphuta in the Almanac, the grahasphuta that is worked out for the birth time is found. One particular point is that the Rahu-sphuta decreases and always in the nature of things, it has to be subtracted from grahasphuta in the Almanac. If the birth takes place before the grahasphuta in the Almanac, it has to be added, of course. Add 6 Rasis to the grahasphuta you get Ketu's sphuta. When a graha is in retrograde motion then the sphuta has to be found as we did in the case of Rahu.

Now, as an illustration the grahasphuta of 10 A. M. of the 17th Baisakh has to be found. The Almanac gives the grahasphuta for 6-24 A. M. (Calcutta Local Time). The child was born 3 hrs. 36 minutes after sunrise.

Ravisphuta on the 18th Baisakh ... $0-17^{\circ}-7'-50''$

„ „ „ „ 17th „ ... $0-16^{\circ}-9'-37''$

Ravisphuta for 24 hours ... $0-0^{\circ}-58'-13''$

3 hrs. 36 min. = 216 min., 24 hrs. = 1440 min. Now, by Rule of Three we have to find out Ravisphuta for 216 min. That is:—

1440 min. : 216 min. : 58 kala : X (13 kala is omitted)

$$\therefore \frac{216 \times 58}{1440} = 8 \text{ kala } 42 \text{ bikala}$$

Therefore Ravisphuta for birth time : $0-16^{\circ}-9'-37''$

+ $0-8'-42''$

$0-16^{\circ}-18'-19''$

Because, Sani is retrograde, we show the method of calculation of Sanisphuta.

On the 17th Baisakh Sanisphuta ... $5-29^{\circ}-34'-2''$

On the 18th „ „ ... $5-29^{\circ}-29'-45''$

Sanisphuta for 24 hours ... $0^{\circ}-4'-17''$

Now, by Rule of Three :

1440 min : 216 min : 4' kala 17" bikala (= 257 bikala) : X

$$X : \frac{216 \times 257}{1440} = \text{about } 39 \text{ bikala}$$

This is to be subtracted from the Sanisphuta of the 17th Baisakh. That is :

$5-29^{\circ}-34'-2''$

(-) $0'-39''$

$5-29^{\circ}-33'-25''$

The word 'R' is to be written against 'Sani'. "R" means retrograde.

Lagnasphuta

We have seen that on the day of birth Mithuna Lagna lasted till 12 danda 27 pala and 35 bipala. Mithuna Lagna started from after 6 danda 55 pala 3 bipala. The native's Jathadanda (or Isthadanda) is 11 danda 8 pala 12 bipala 30 anupala. The child was born at 4 danda 13 pala 9 bipala 30 anupala after Mithuna Lagnamān started. This may be put differently, we may say that after Mithuna has been used up for 4 danda 13 pala 9 bipala and 30 anupala the boy was born. And it has to be worked out how many 'Amsa' (degree) and Kala (minute) of Mithuna it covered. You have to remember, each Rasi consists of 30 degrees and it takes 5 danda 32 pala and 32 bipala to cover 30 degrees of Mithuna Rasi. By the Rule of Three you are to find out the used up extent of Mithuna at the time of birth.

5 danda 32 pala 32 bipala = 19952 bipala

4 danda 13 pala 9 bipala = 15190 bipala (9 bipala 30 anupala is taken as 10 bipala)

So, by Rule of Three 19952 : 15190 : 30 amsa : X

$\therefore \frac{15190 \times 30}{19952} = 22 \text{ amsa (degree) } 50 \text{ Kala (min.)}$

That is after Mithuna Rasi used up exactly at 22 degree 50 minute the boy was born. This is called Lagnasphuta. It is indicated in English as Asc. (Ascendant) 22°-50'. It should be noted down in the natal chart by the side of the Lagna or Ascendant.

There are other ways of finding out the Lagnasphuta. The Table of Ascendant, so called, is now readily available in market ; and it shows the calculation of Lagnasphuta and Dasamasphuta. Any learner can take advantage of this and work out the lagna and dasamasphuta without any other aid. Shri Nirmal Chandra Lahiri's 'Table of Ascendant' is the best help in this line.

Bhavasphuta

The Zodiacal chart is, as has been said above, divided into 12 equal parts. There are also 12 bhavas (this is more or less a technical astrological expression), that donot always coincide with the Rasi. A single Rasi may be covered by more than one bhava or a single bhava may cover one whole Rasi and overflow into another, we shall examine the 12 bhavas in detail later on. They make up the Jata-Chakra (or birth-chart) and life of the native. The reason why each bhava does not always cover 30 degrees may be said in brief as follows.

Unlike the Rasis the bhavas do not cover exactly 30 degrees each. The reason for this, briefly stated, is that though the Zodiac is divisible into twelve 'Rasis' of equal length, the bhava-chakra (sphere) has to be calculated from the point of the lagna ; so, the 'Rasi-chakra' and the 'bhava-chakra' overlap and donot coincide. The lagna-point may fall anywhere on the earth planet ; so, in relation to the 'Rasi-chakra' some bhava may be bigger than the 'Rasi', some smaller. In the first place the 'Rasi-chakra' is ecliptical. And in the second the lagna-point would be on that part of the arc, which is the eastern horizon and fill equal parts of the arc from east to west, above, and fill equal parts of the arc, below would make up the Zodiac. But even though it may be possible in theory to cut up the sky like this, the 'Rasi-chakra' would not in fact admit of being divided into twelve exactly equal parts. It is an instance of theory not precisely coinciding with, but slightly diverging. In fact the exact coincidence of theory with fact would happen only if the arc passed meridionally over all places on earth. Really speaking however, only those places which fall on the equator have the arc of the 'Rasi-chakra' actually bisecting the sky.

The 'bhavasphuta' has to be determined after lagnasphuta and 'dasamasphuta' (Tenth bhavasphuta) are worked out. If the 'tenth lagnamān' is known then of course, 'bhavasphuta' can be found out. But since it is difficult for the beginner I have explained how the 'tenth sphuta' has to be worked out according to the Table of Ascendant.

We have seen that the boy mentioned illustratively was born at 10 A. M. on the 30th April, 1953.

Let us follow Table of Ascendant by Shri Nirmal Chandra Lahiri.

In table No. I in the Column of 30th April at 12 noon, we find	2 hrs. 30 min. 59 sec.
In " " II in 1953 correction to different years... + 38 sec.	2 hrs. 31 min. 37 sec.

In table No. III correction for different localities (birth place is Calcutta, therefore for Calcutta).

	— 4 "
	2 hrs. 31 min. 33 sec.
" " No. IV corrected time Minus	2 hrs. 0 min. 20 sec.
This is called Sidereal Time ...	0 hr. 31 min. 13 sec.

Why we subtract 2 hrs. 0 min. 20 secs. need further explanation. If you look into the Table I of the Table of Ascendant you will see that Sidereal Time at 12 hr. Noon Local Mean Time for any of the places of the world is given in Table No. I. The boy was born at 10 A. M. Local Meantime—Calcutta. This means he was born 2 hrs. before 12 Noon. You will find in the Table of Ascendant correction to increase the time interval. In this case time interval is 2 hrs, for 2 hours 'increase' would be 20 secs. Hence we have to add 20 secs. to 2 hours i.e. 2 hrs. 0 min. 20 secs.

Because the boy was born 2 hours before 12 Noon, we have to subtract 2 hrs. 20 sec. from the Sidereal Time for 12 Noon.

Now at 10 A. M. on that day

Sidereal hrs. etc. are 0 hr. 31 min. 13 sec.

Now the Ascendant Table (or Lagna Sarani) for Calcutta shows.

For 0 hr. 32 min. lagna falls at 2 Rasi - 23 amsa - 29 kala

" 0 hr. 28 min. " " 2 " - 22 " - 37 "

Difference of Lagnasphuta for 4 min. = 52 kala

We are required to find out Lagnasphuta for 0 hr. 31 min. 13 sec. (Kala). In other words we have to add sphuta of 3 min. 13 sec. to the Lagnasphuta of 0 hr. 28 min. Now, by Rule of Three, 4 min. : 3 min. 13 secs. : 52 secs. : X i.e. for 3 min. 39 secs. and for 13 secs. we find 3 secs. i.e. 39 secs. + 3 secs. = 42 secs.

Therefore 2 Rasi 22 amsa 37 kala or sec.

+42 "

2 Rasi 23° - 19'

Ayanamsa correction

for 1953 = minus (-) 13'

2 Rasi-23° - 6'

We shall speak about 'Sidereal Time' later ; for the present let us confine ourselves to the working out of the tenth 'sphuta' (dasamasphuta). We have seen that Sidereal Time of 10 A. M. (Calcutta Local Time) is 0 hr. 31 min. 13 sec. Sidereal Time is necessary to work out dasamasphuta. In Table of Ascendant look at the table of Tenth house.

At Sid. Time... 0 hr. 32 m. = 11 Rasi 15 degree 45 sec. (kala)

0 hr. 28 m. = 11 Rasi 14 degree 37 sec. (kala)

Difference of sphuta for 4 minutes 1 degree 6 sec.

i.e. in 1 minute approx. 16 sec. (kala)

We are to find out sphuta for 3 m. 13 sec. This means 48 sec. for 3 min. and 3 sec. for 13 sec. equal to 51 kala or sec. Add to the sphuta for 0 hr. 28 min. which is (11 Rasi 14 degree 37 kala + 51 kala) 11 Rasi 15 deg. 28 kala.

Ayanamsa correction for 1953 = minus 13 kala.

So, 11 Rasi 15° amsa 28' kala minus 13' kala = 11 Rasi 15° amsa 15' kala = dasamasphuta.

All the bhavasphutas may be determined, if the lagnasphuta and dasamasphuta are known. We would state this in the form of a formula.

$$(\text{Lagnasphuta} - \text{dasamasphuta}) \div 6 = A.$$

$$\text{Dasamasphuta} + A = \text{Dasamasandhi}.$$

$$\text{Dasamasandhi} + A = 11\text{th bhavasphuta}.$$

$$11\text{th bhavasphuta} + A = 11\text{th bhavasandhi}.$$

$$11\text{th bhavasandhi} + A = 12\text{th bhavasphuta}.$$

$$12\text{th bhavasphuta} + A = 12\text{th bhavasandhi}.$$

$$12\text{th bhavasandhi} + A = 1\text{st bhavasphuta}.$$

The last count is not necessary, for we know it already. This may be counted only to see whether lagnasphuta found here coincides with the correct lagnasphuta.

$$(4\text{th Bhavasphuta} - \text{Lagnasphuta}) \div 6 = B.$$

$$\text{Lagnasphuta} + B = \text{Lagnasandhi}.$$

$$\text{Lagnasandhi} + B = 2\text{nd Bhavasphuta}.$$

$$2\text{nd Bhavasphuta} + B = 2\text{nd Bhavasandhi}.$$

$$2\text{nd Bhavasandhi} + B = 3\text{rd Bhavasphuta}.$$

$$3\text{rd Bhavasphuta} + B = 3\text{rd Bhavasandhi}.$$

$$3\text{rd Bhavasandhi} + B = 4\text{th Bhavasphuta}.$$

Now, adding 6 Rasas to these bhavasphutas we shall get all the twelve bhavasphutas and Sandhis. Let us work out these twelve bhavas and arrange them one after another.

(Rasi means 'Sign'. Hereafter we shall put 'S' to indicate Rasi ° Degree for 'Amsa'. 'Min' for Kala).

Lagnasphuta	28-23° - 6'
Minus 10th sphuta	118-15°-15'
	3-7°-51' ÷ 6
	= 16°-18'-30"
Now, 10th sphuta	118-15°-15"
	+ 16°-18'-30"
10th bhavasanhdi	08-1°-33'-30"

	$+ 16^{\circ}-18'-30''$
11th bhavasphuta	$0-17^{\circ}-52'-0''$
	$+ 16^{\circ}-18'-30''$
11th bhavasandhi	$1-4^{\circ}-10'-30''$
	$+ 16^{\circ}-8'-30''$
12th bhavasphuta	$1-20^{\circ}-29'-0''$
	$+ 16^{\circ}-18'-30''$
12th bhavasphuta	$2-6^{\circ}-47'-30''$
	$+ 16^{\circ}-18'-30''$
Lagnasphuta	$2-25^{\circ}-6'-0''$

How to test correctness of Lagna

The rising sign (the word 'Sign' is English equivalent of Rasi) is the lagna Rasi which is termed as lagna and English equivalent is Ascendant. We have already described the method of erecting a birthchart vis-a-vis Lagna but to determine the Ascendant we must depend on birth data which may not be correctly quoted due to various reasons. So, it is quite reasonable for an astrologer to test the correctness of lagna-position in the birth chart before he makes any forecast about the native. There are more than one such method to test the correctness of lagna, which will be stated in the following paragraphs. According to Maharshi Parasar no lagna is to be taken as correct until and unless the lagna is tested by 'Pranpad' method. We however give below the general methods first; in most cases these methods are sufficient for beginners to find the correct lagna. Subsequently 'Pranpad' and 'Gulik' or 'Mandi' will be taken up.

1. According to 'Sasthidas', an astrologer of remote days, lagna may fall there where Chandra is situated or from the position of Chandra lagna may fall in the 5th or 9th house, or 5th or 9th house from the position of Chandra-lord (i.e. the lord of the Rasi where Chandra is placed).

But our experience is that this method is successful in 50 percent cases; so, it is not dependable.

2. Another method :—

(a) If a person is born within the first half of the day calculate 7th Nakshatra from the Nakshatra associated with Ravi. Lagna will fall in the Rasi indicated by that Nakshatra. Please remember, each Rasi consists of $2\frac{1}{4}$ Nakshatras. Let us take an example. Say Ravi is associated with 24th Nakshatra i.e. Satavisha. From Satavisha 7th Nakshatra is Krithika (No. 3 Nakshatra). So, lagna will be either in Mesa or in Vrsa.

(b) If a person is born in the second half of the day calculate from Ravi's Nakshatra the 12th Nakshatra. The Rasi indicated by the Nakshatra will be his lagna Rasi. From Satavisha the 12th Nakshatra is Pusya which indicates Karkata Rasi. So, lagna falls in Karkata Rasi.

(c) If a person is born within the first half of the night Rasi indicated by 17th Nakshatra from Ravi's Nakshatra will be the lagna Rasi.

(d) If a person is born after midnight or we may say second half of the night lagna-Rasi will fall in 24th Nakshatra from the Nakshatra of Ravi. 24th Nakshatra from Satavisha is Purbasarha (No. 20 Nakshatra) which indicates Dhanu Rasi. This holds good in my case. I was born at 2 A.M. that is after midnight, Ravi in my chart is associated with Satavisha and my lagna falls in Dhanu.

There is difference of opinion among some eminent astrologers on some points. They are as follows :

(i) If a person is born after midday within the sunset from Ravi's constellation count 12 Nakshatra and you will find lagna Rasi.

(ii) If a person is born within midnight Rasi indicated by 19th Nakshatra and after midnight 24th Nakshatra from the constellation associated with Ravi will be the lagna.

In more than 60% cases these rules are quite helpful. Moreover, there are other difficulties too. We know, there are some Nakshatras which fall in two Rasis. In such cases true Lagna Rasi cannot be found out.

3. Another method :—

Add the number of Rasi where Rahu is posited, number of lagna Rasi and number of Ravi (Ravi's number is always 1) the total obtained by addition of three digits is to be divided by 7. If the remainder indicates even number it is the chart of a Female, if the remainder is odd number a male child is indicated.

Take for example—Rahu is in Simha Rasi which is No. 5 Rasi in the Zodiac, Ravi is 1 and lagna being in Dhanu lagna Rasi is 9. The grand total is 15 to be divided by 7 and remainder is 1 which is odd number. Therefore it is the birth-chart of a male.

4. Another method :—

(i) When a person's lagna falls in fiery or windy Rasi the person is seldom fat.

(ii) While a person's lagna falls in earthly or watery Rasi the native may be fat and bulky. Vrhspati, Sukra and Chandra are watery planets. If any one of these planets is associated with lagna the native may be fatty. Aspects of different planets on lagna or Chandra or on both give different results, such as :—

(a) If lagna or Chandra receives the aspect of Rahu the native may be lean and dry-looking and texture of his skin is dry having no glamour at all.

(b) If Mangal aspects lagna or Chandra (particularly lagna) the native may be well-built, strong and stout.

(c) If it is Sukra, he has large beautiful eyes, curling hair and graceful appearance, and he is affable and phlegmatic.

(d) If it is Sani aspecting lagna or Chandra or he is posited in lagna or is associated with Chandra the native is lean and thin, he will be hungry looking with deep eyes with no fat in his body.

(e) Ravi indicates strong physique, if he aspects or conjoins with lagna the native will have strong physique, bald head, his gait will be dignified and he will be sober.

(f) If Chandra aspects lagna or is associated with it the native may have sublime look, soft body, he may be a beautiful man to look at with curling hairs and large round eyes.

(g) If Budha aspects lagna or is conjoined with it the complexion of the native may be green like durba grass and he will have medium height.

This is to be noted that every Rasi has different peculiarities. The planetary aspect on or association with lagna or Chandra may give different complexion, structure, and countenance as said above, and on scrutiny and by applying one's common sense he can adjust his reading and ascertain the true lagna-Rasi.

5. From Drekkana one can determine the sex of the native.

Determination of Sex from Drekkana

Rasi	1st Drekkana. 2nd Drekkana. 3rd Drekkana.			Sex
				Male	Female
Mesa	„	×	„	„	×
do	×	„	×	×	„
Vrsa	×	„	„	„	×
do	„	×	×	×	„
Mithune	×	„	„	„	×
do	„	×	×	×	„
Karkata	„	×	„	„	×
do	×	„	×	×	„
Simha	„	„	×	„	×
do	×	×	„	×	„
Kanya	„	„	×	„	×
do	×	×	„	×	„
*Tula	„	„	×	„	×
do	×	×	„	×	„
Vrscika	„	„	×	„	×
do	×	×	„	×	„
Dhanu	„	×	„	„	×
do	×	„	×	×	„
Makara	„	×	„	„	×
do	×	„	×	×	„
Kumba	×	„	×	×	„
do	„	×	„	„	×
Mina	„	×	„	„	×
do	×	„	×	×	„

* If a person born in the 3rd drekkana of Tula Rasi is a male child he will be an expert in artillery and shall possess a large face.

Drekkana means one-third of a Rasi. Each drekkana is equal to 10 degree, e. g., If the lagna is 8 degree in Dhanu, the person is born in the 1st drekkana of Dhanu Rasi. So, the native is a male.

This method also does not give us the sure result. So, we cannot rely on it absolutely.

There are other ways of testing the correctness of lagna. These methods are general no doubt but experienced astrologers depend on these methods in majority cases of doubtful lagna when some of the rules described earlier donot agree with the true lagna position. Even when methods previously mentioned do agree with the actual lagna position they apply these methods (to be written in the following lines) to become doubly sure about the correctness of lagna.

To explain further—For argument's sake let us say that a few methods described before have been applied strictly and we are sure about correctness of the lagna. Even then an experienced astrologer may apply the following methods to be more certain about the position of lagna.

The nature of test is as follows :—

(i) From Navamsa of lagna or Lagnadhipathi (Lord of lagna) countenance, complexion, nature of a native can be determined. A man's nature, complexion, countenance may be influenced by the planets aspecting lagna or lagnapathi. These points were discussed earlier to a great length.

Some Astrologers take recourse to the following methods and verify the exact position of lagna, viz.,

(ii) If the 3rd house from lagna is occupied by Sani, Mangal, Rahu or Ketu the younger brother or sister as the case may be, may not live long (i.e. there is possibility of their early death).

(iii) If the lord of lagna is in conjunction with malefic planets or the lagna-lord is aspected by inauspicious planets, or the lagna-lord is hemmed in between malefics or if that lord occupies any dusthan (6th, 8th or 12th place) the native may not be keeping good health. But this is to be remembered that without being aspected by or being in conjunction with any malefic if the lord of lagna occupies the 6th place from lagna the native shall be keeping perfectly good health.

(iv) If the lagna or lagnadhipathi (Lagna-lord) is not associated with or aspected by any benefic the native's road to prosperity is not free from thorns.

(v) When lagna, lagnapathi or Chandra is aspected by all the planets the native shines extraordinarily in almost all spheres of life materially or spiritually.

Mahapravu Shri Chaitanya Dev's horoscope shows this brilliant yoga.

(vi) When the lord of lagna is weak and at the same time he is aspected by Sani the native may have to pass through many vicissitudes of life and he may sustain monetary loss due to wrath of the king of the country or through the activities of thieves.

It is needless to add that different houses (Rasis) or bhavas indicate different parts of the body. If the lord of dusthan aspects or conjoins with certain bhava or house (Rasi) the native may suffer from diseases pertaining to that part of the body indicated by that bhava or Rasi. This unfavourable results may happen during the dasa-antardasa of those malefic planets.

What is Gulik and Pranpada Lagna ?

(Another name of Gulik is Mandi, we may use any one of this term)

1. The span of the day (which is termed as Divā-Mān and it is found in every Alamanac) is divided by 8. Each part is ruled by a planet. Thus the part which is ruled by Sani is called Gulik or Mandi. The lord of the date is the first lord of the 1st part, 2nd part to be ruled by the planet next to the 1st lord, 3rd part to be ruled by the planet next to the 2nd lord and by this manner the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th lords will rule over each part or division of Divā-mān and Sani will certainly be lord of a part and that will be Gulik.

2. In case of birth at night the span of night is to be divided by 8. Each part is ruled by a planet and the part ruled by Sani is Gulik. The mode of determining lord of different parts is as follows :

The first part is ruled by the 5th planet from the lord of the date of birth. That is, if the birth date is Sunday the first lord is to be ruled by the fifth planet from Ravi i.e. Vrhaspathi, 2nd lord will follow Vrhaspathi, i.e. Sukra, 3rd lord is Sani etc.

We have drawn two charts showing the lords of different parts of the day and also night.

Gulik Chakra—at day time.

Date.	1st part.	2nd part.	3rd part.	4th part.	5th part.	6th part.	7th part.	8th part.
Sunday	Ravi	Chandra	Mangal	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×
Monday	Chandra	Mangal	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×
Tuesday	Mangal	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×
Wednes.	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×	×
Thursday	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×	×	×
Friday	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×	×	×	×
Saturday	Sani	×	×	×	×	×	×	×

Gulik Chakra—at night time.

Date	1st part.	2nd part.	3rd part.	4th part.	5th part.	6th part.	7th part.	8th part.
Sunday	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×	×	×
Monday	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×	×	×	×
Tuesday	Sani	×	×	×	×	×	×	×
Wednes.	Ravi	Chandra	Mangal	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×
Thurs.	Chandra	Mangal	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×
Friday	Mangal	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×
Saturday	Budha	Vrhas.	Sukra	Sani	×	×	×	×

Let us explain the two charts and find out the Gulik time and lagna.

For instance—

1. The span of the day is 32 danda or ghati when divided by 8, each part is equivalent to 4 danda or ghati, the 1st part will be ruled by Sun the lord of the date Sunday (as the birth date is Sunday), 2nd part begins from after 4 danda upto 8 danda, the lord is Chandra, the 3rd part begins from after 8 danda upto 12 danda, the lord is Mangal and so on. Thus we get 28th danda which is Gulik time, because that part is ruled by Sani. Now we have to convert 28 danda into hour and minute and calculate lagnasphuta which will be Gulik lagnasphuta.

2. If the birth is at night the span of the night will be 28 danda (span of the day is 32 danda, hence span of the night is 28 danda). If it is divided by 8, each part is equal to 3 danda 30 palas. The first part will be ruled by Vrhaspathi. Because in case of birth at night 5th planet from the lord of the birth date will be the lord of the first part and the 2nd lord will follow the 1st lord. That is, first lord is Vrhaspathi, 2nd lord is Sukra and 3rd lord is Sani. Add these three parts and you will find 10 danda 30 palas. This is Gulik time. Convert this time into hour and minute and find out lagna for that hour and minute, which will be Gulik lagna.

One thing is to be noted that Gulik danda will have to be converted into hour and minute according to sunrise or sunset of the birth day of the native.

Testing correctness of Lagna from Gulik or Mandi

Now if the lord of the Rasi where Gulik lagna is placed is powerful the 5th or 9th house from Gulik lagna-Rasi will be the native's lagna. Again from Navamsa Rasi from Gulikamsa (i.e. Gulik lagnasphuta) the 5th, 9th or 7th Rasi may be the native's lagna-Rasi.

Gulik lagna is necessary to judge a horoscope on other important matters also.

PRANPADA

Convert the birth hours and minutes into danda and pala, we generally call them Jata-danda or Isthadanda. See the method of erecting a birth chart and of working out a lagna. Now, this Jata-danda and Pala are to be converted into Rasi and Amsa.

15 Pala = 1 Pran

1 Danda = 4 Pran

1 Pala = 2 Amsa

1 Pran or 15 Pala = 30 Amsa, i.e. 1 Rasi.

The native's Jata-danda and Pala is to be converted into Pran (i.e. Rasi) and Amsa.

Let us test the lagna of a birth chart which was drawn already in Chapter I. Let us again quote the positions of lagna and Ravi : Lagnasphuta is 2 Rasi 23 Amsa 6 Kala (may be written as 2s-23°-6'), Ravisphuta is 0 Rasi 16 Amsa 18 Kala (bikala is omitted) in other words Ravi is in Mesa Rasi, 16 degree 18 minutes.

Now these points are to be considered first, viz. :—

(i) If Ravi is in Sthira (Fixed) Rasi, 9th Chara Rasi from Ravi's actual position should be imagined as Ravi's position.

(ii) If Ravi is posited in Dwatyaka Rasi (dual Rasi) the 5th Chara Rasi is to be taken as Ravi's position.

(iii) If Ravi is in Chara Rasi no change in his position is necessary. We have already worked out from Jata-danda-Pala the Rasi and Amsa. With this Rasi and amsa add to newly found Ravi's (his degree & minute to remain as it is, only Rasi will be changed if necessary) degree etc. This new Rasi and amsa is the Pranpada lagna. If Pranpada lagna and Amsa-kala (or degree & minute) are similar to actual lagnasphuta we should say lagna Rasi and Amsa found out from birth hours and minutes are correct. If not we shall have to experiment the process of Pranpada by changing the Jata-danda and Pala till we get the correct lagna & amsa etc.

We may examine our previously drawn birth chart as quoted above. The boy was born on the 30th April, 1953 at 10 A. M. Calcutta Local Time, corresponding Bengali date is 17th Baisakh, 1360 B. S. Thursday. Jata-danda Pala is 11 danda 8 Pala 12 bipala.

Now the process of conversion of Jata-danda-Pala to Pranpada lagna is as follows :—

1 danda	...	4 Pran
11 „	...	44 Pran
44 Pran	...	44 Rasi which means 36 Rasis already consumed, only 8 Rasis remain.
Hence, we take only 8 Rasi.
1 Pala	...	2 Amsa
8 „	...	16 „
1 bipala	...	2 Kala
12 „	...	24 „

So, it comes to 8 Rasi 16 amsa 24 Kala.

Ravi is posited in Chara Rasi in the birth chart, therefore Ravi's position should remain unchanged.

Next step :—	8 Rasi	16 amsa	24 kala
And Ravi' sphuta	0 „	16 „	18 „
Total	9 Rasi	2 amsa	42 kala.

This is Pranpada lagna.

Original lagna worked out is $2^{\circ}-23'-6''$. This does not tally with the Pranpada lagna worked out on the basis of Jata-danda-pala quoted already (i.e. 11 danda 8 pala 12 bipala).

We have to change the Jata-danda & Pala with an eye to make it exactly at par with Pranpada lagna, then we shall be able to correct the lagna and sphuta vis-a-vis birth hours and minutes very very correctly. Students should experiment the process of change of Jata-danda & Pala and shall gain experience to find out the exact birth time and correct lagna. However, we have to rectify the error in Jata-danda-pala in this case.

If we change the present Jata-danda & Pala (11 danda 8 Pala 12 bipala) into 11 danda 3 Pala 24 bipala we get 8 Rasi 6 amsa 48 kala (by converting the newly imagined danda-Pala etc. into Pran & amsa).

So, 8 Rasi	6 amsa	48 kala &
Ravisphuta	0 „	16 „ 18 „
Total	8 Rasi	23 amsa 6 kala

This is Pranpada lagna.

This tallies with the lagnasphuta found in the birth chart of that boy born on the 30th April, 1953. There is another point to be looked into. The lagna position in relation to Pranpada lagna should be at a distance of 5th, 7th or 9th house (This is to be measured from Rasi to Rasi from the true lagna.)

Now here Pranpada lagna falls in Dhanu and Lagna in the birth chart is in Mithuna i.e. they are at a distance of 7 Rasis from each other.

So, the correct lagna is found according to Pranpada system. Now, convert 11 danda 3 Pala 24 bipala into hours, minutes & seconds. It will be 9 hrs. 57 m. 35 sec. (Calcutta Local Time). This means there is a difference of 2 min. 25 secs. in quoting the exact birth time which error is possible no doubt.

ARUDHA CHAKRA OR BHAVAPADA

If the lord of any bhava or Mood in a horoscope is at a distance from the house the same distance calculated anti-clock-wise from the position of that lord is the Arudhapada of that bhava. Take for instance, the lagna which is the house of physical health, reputation etc. is in Vrsa (Taurus) and Sukra, the lord of Vrsa Rasi is in Tula (Libra). This puts Sukra, the lord of the house of self (physical health and reputation etc.) six houses removed from the lagna. So Lagnarudha-sthan (or Lagnapada) would be 6 houses calculated from Tula (Libra); Then lagnapada falls in Mina Rasi.

The indication of Arudha-sthan from the points of view of all the twelve bhavas—(1) health, (2) wealth, (3) effort, (4) happiness etc., is set forth in Parasari Hora but Uttar Kalamrita gave only 8 Arudha-sthanas. The Arudha Chakra based on this kind of calculation helps assessment or appraisal of the value of a horoscope. There are also many ways of assessing or evaluating a horoscope, but this is one of the most significant. Various other things also can be determined from the calculation about Arudha-Chakra; they will be dealt with as far as possible in due course later.

	५	♀ १० १२
	BIRTH- CHART
♂	♂	Lagna

4	5	2 3
10	ARUDHA CHART	6, 8
1, 9, 11 12	7

If the Arudha-Chakra is drawn fully and completely it will be seen that some house has two or three padas, some are empty but if the lord of a mood (bhava) is placed in its own house then that pada will fall in the house of his own. For instance when lagna rises in Dhanu and Vrhaspathi is in Mina, the Sukhapada will fall in Mina rasi and again if Vrhaspathi in the birth chart is in Kanya (Virgo) the Sukhapada in this case also will fall in Mina (Pisces) Rasi.

We have drawn in the previous page a birth chart and at the same time an Arudha-Chakra. These chakras will give clear idea of the method of erecting an Arudha Chakra.

In this manner all the padas are to be determined. We have seen that there are lagnapada, dhanapada, sukhapada etc. Maharshi Parasar narrated the results arising out of these padas according to the aspect of Subha (favourable) and Asubha (unfavourable) planets and their positions. If padas are afflicted due to aspects (drishti or conjunction) of any malefic planets that pada which it represents also is afflicted. Again, the pada for that bhava may not bestow favourable result on the native if the lord of that pada (that is the ruler of the house where a pada is placed) is not otherwise strong. For instance lagnapathi Vrishpathi is in Mesa and therefore lagnapada falls in Simha rasi where there is Rahu and in Kumbha rasi there are Ravi, Sani, Budha and Ketu. Under this circumstance lagnapada is associated with a natural malefic Rahu and aspected by two malefics viz. Sani and Budha. The lord of lagnapada (Ravi aspects the lagnapada) is not very favourably disposed as he is in conjunction with his dire enemy Sani and is aspected by Rahu who is also inimical to Ravi. Ravi's aspect on lagnapada is technically said to be favourable but as he is afflicted his aspect on lagnapada will be of little help to the native in respect of maintaining good health. Vrishpathi, the lord of lagna in the natal chart aspects lagnapada as also lagna. This is slightly better. The result will be that the native though not of perfectly good health shall be able to maintain mediocre health due to the aspect of Vrishpathi but in malefic dasa-antardasa he shall suffer from various ailments. Actually the native suffered heavily during Vrishpathi's dasa and Rahu's antardasa and also during Sani's dasa. Budha also did not let him free from suffering during malefic antardasa as Budha is a maraka both from lagna of the natal chart and lagnapada.

We may judge the educational career of the native. Look at the Arudha Chakra and you will find Sukhapada is placed in Vrsa Rasi, the Rasi-lord Sukra is exalted. Generally educational career is determined from 4th, 5th and 10th bhava and bhava lords. Besides Vrishpathi, Sukra and Budha are natural signifiers of education.

In the present Arudha chart Putrapada and Karmapada along with Sukhapada are to be looked into. We must know the position of these padas. We have already seen that Sukhapada is not very much afflicted by any malefic planet though it is aspected by Mangal who is the lord of the 5th bhava in the natal chart. Putrapada is in Mesa Rasi associated with Vrhasthi, a natural benefactor and significator of education. This is favourable no doubt but this pada has become ominous due to aspect of Sani, Rahu and the 8th lord Chandra. Of course to go deep into the aspects of educational career of the native other favourable points should not be overlooked, viz., Chandra though weak and lord of the 8th house in the natal chart is in Vrhasthi's constellation and Sani is associated with 5th lord Mangal's constellation. Over and above Sukra the lord of the Rasi where Chandra and Mangal are posited is placed in his house of exaltation and is in Kendra from lagna. The Karmapada falls in Karkata, its lord Chandra will give mixed result due to conjunction of the 5th lord Mangal who is Chandra's friend. These two planets are aspected by natural benefic Vrhasthi.

Maharshi Parasara is of opinion that if the Kendra & Kona positions (particularly Kendra position) from a Pada are occupied by any benefic, favourable result of that pada may be predicted.

This is the method how padas are determined and result good or bad accrued thereby is to be judged.

General Rules to judge an Arudha Chakra.

1. If lagnapada is placed in an auspicious house or the lord of the Rasi where the Arudha Pada is situated is favourable, or associated with beneficial planet or planets and, at the same time that lord of the Rasi (where Pada is placed) is strong and occupies Kendra or Kona house from the Pada the native prospers in life and earns name and fame. But if the lord of that sign where the pada is placed is a natural malefic and occupies the Kendra or Kona position from the pada the native will get unfavourable result in respect of that Arudha Pada.

2. If the 11th place from lagnapada is aspected by auspicious planet the native becomes popular, lucky and is a perfect gentleman. He earns money through a respectable profession and believes in God.

(a) If the lagnapada is aspected by inauspicious planet he earns money through dishonest means, at the same time if the lagnapada receives the aspect of both auspicious and inauspicious planets he earns money through both honest and dishonest means.

3. If a planet aspects, the 11th house from lagnapada and he has no aspect on the 12th place from the Lagnapada such a yoga according to Maharshi Parasar is very brilliant dhana-yoga. Let me cite an example.

D		Lagna
☉	BIRTH-CHART	☿
♂ ♀ ♀ (8) ♀	2	4

9 6, 8, 12		5
7, 11	ARUDHA-CHART
1	4	3 2, 10

Lagnapada falls in Kanya (Virgo) and the 11th place from lagnapada is Karkata aspected by powerful Sani who has no aspect on the 12th place from lagnapada.

Maharshi Parasar says that aspect of some planets on the 11th place from lagnapada will also be effective and if the aspecting planets are powerful the result will be more productive. He further says that the position of planet or planets on that 11th place from lagnapada will be an additional force to give sure result through this yoga. This yoga is termed as "Disthya Yoga".

4. Aspect of auspicious and inauspicious planets on the 12th place from the lagnapada gives the following results, viz.,

(i) If that 12th place is aspected by Ravi, Sukra and Rahu the native shall have to spend money due to some act against king or administrative authority. These results may be more effective if Sukra is aspected by Chandra.

(ii) If Budha in conjunction with and aspected by a favourable planet is posited in that 12th place (from Lagnapada) the native shall have to spend money for his own kinsmen. And if Budha is aspected by and conjoined with malefic planets he may be the cause of monetary loss for litigation or quarrel with some one.

(iii) If Vrhaspathi is posited in the 12th place from lagnapada and is aspected by any other planet the native may have to spend money to pay off Government tax etc.

(iv) If Sani is there in that 12th place from Lagnapada the native may have to spend money for his brother.

5. If Rahu or Ketu occupies the Rasi (Sign) where Lagnapada is placed) or these planets are posited in the 7th place from Lagnapada the native may suffer from some sort of pain in the stomach or intestine. Ketu's position in those two places is more effective and unfavourable.

6. If the lagnapada or the 7th place from that pada is aspected by Ketu being in conjunction with or aspected by a malefic planet the native will be brave, grey haired and tall.

7. If the lagnapada or the 7th place from lagnapada is associated with Chandra, Vrhaspathi and Sukra the native will certainly be a lucky man. The result will be more and more prominent if one, two or more of them are there i.e. if there is Chandra the result is favourable, if it is Chandra and Vrhaspathi it will be more favourable and if the three planets are there the result will be very favourable.

8. If the lagnapada or the 7th place from that pada is occupied by any planet, be it naturally favourable or unfavourable, the native will be lucky and a notable personality provided that house (or sign) is planet's house of exaltation.

9. The same result shall occur if the 2nd place from lagnapada is occupied by an exalted planet.

10. If the 2nd place from lagnapada is occupied by Budha the native becomes a King (now-a-days there is hardly any king anywhere, so it should be construed that the native shall hold an eminent position in the society).

(i) If Vrhaspathi is posited in the 2nd place from lagnapada the native shall be omnipotent.

(ii) If it is Sukra in that 2nd place the native shall be a poet and an orator.

11. If the following places are occupied by a powerful planet or planets the native becomes famous and lucky, viz.,

- i) Kendra or Kona from Lagnapada,
- ii) Lagnapada itself,
- iii) Jāyāpada and,
- iv) Ayāpada,

The yoga will be effective if all these places are occupied by powerful planets. If the 6th, 8th and 12th places from lagnapada are occupied by strong malefics the result will be very unfavourable.

12. If the 2nd, 6th or 8th place from Lagnapada is occupied by malefic planet and those places are aspected by malefics the native may be a thief. If there are also auspicious planets in those places or those places are aspected by auspicious planets the result will not be unfavourable.

[Generally we call those people thieves who steal things by breaking the lock and key or enter stealthily in a house and steal away things and money, but truly speaking the definition of theft should not be limited to that. Those who collect money by dishonest means may be classified in that category of thieves.]

13. If the 7th place and other Kendra or Kona or Upachayasthan (3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th place) from lagnapada is occupied by a powerful planet the native enjoys happy conjugal life.

(a) Again if the 5th place from lagnapada, Kendra or Kona houses or Upachayasthanas are occupied by powerful planets affinity between the father and son may be expected.

There is another version—if from the 7th place Kendra or Upachayasthanas are occupied by powerful planet happy conjugal life will be the result. If these planets or a planet is naturally benefic and strong the more favourable result will be evident.

14. If lagnapada and jāyāpada are in Kendra or Kona positions from each other or they are in 3rd and 11th place from each other this is considered to be a 'Rajayoga'.

15. In the birth charts of father and son if their Lagnapadas happen to be in Kendra from each others the true affinity between the father and the son is possible.

If their lagnapadas happen to be in Kona from each other the result will be neutral and lagnapadas of both of them are in dusthanas (6th, 8th or 12th) from each other, the relation between the father and son may remain strained.

16. If the 2nd and 8th places from lagnapada are occupied by equal number of planets it is a sign of poverty. Similarly if the 2nd and 8th places from atmakarakamsa lagna are occupied by equal number of planets this also is a sign of poverty.

SHAYANADI BHAVA

There are 12 Shayanadi Bhavas, namely

1. Shayana
2. Upaveshana
3. Netrapani
4. Prakashana
5. Gamana
6. Agamana or Gamanechha
7. Savābāsa or Savābasati
8. Agama
9. Bhojana
10. Nrityalipsa
11. Kautuka
12. Nidra

These twelve names are symbolic terms to explain the results of planets being in any of these twelve bhavas. This is also to be noted that the Shayanadi bhavas of all the 9 planets including Ketu are to be calculated. The process of calculation is more or less mechanical but the results deduced from the bhava or 'Abastha' are claimed by authoritative books on astrology, to be very effective. Maharshi Parasara went to the length of warning his readers that it must be seen whether a certain planet gives favourable result in Shayanadi Bhava. If that planet is unfavourable the planet is expected to impart some sort of unfavourable result. So, in determining the strength and well disposition of a planet Shayanadi bhava is an important factor for consideration.

Calculation of Shayanadi Bhava :

1st Step : Planet's Number (i.e. Ravi 1, Chandra 2, Mangal 3, Budha 4 etc.) to be multiplied by number of Nakshatra with which that planet is attached. (Nakshatra's Number meaning Aswini 1, Bhavani 2, Krithika 3 etc.). The results obtained after multiplication of these two figures are again to be multiplied by the number of Navamsa the planet enjoyed [Say Ravi in Vrsa 20 degree 3 min. His first Navamsa house is Makar and actual position in Navamsa chart is Karkata. So, number of Ravi's Navamsabhukti is 7].*

Let us write this by way of a Mathematical Formula, viz.
 $(\text{Planet's Number}) \times (\text{Plt's Nakshatra}) \times (\text{Plt's Number of Navamsa bhukti}).$

2nd Step : i.e. The next step : Number of Lagna-Rasi, Janma Nakshatra (i.e. the Number of Nakshatra attached with Chandra in Natal Chart) and Isthadanda (or Jata-danda), these three figures are to be added together. The total thus obtained is to be added with the figure obtained in the first step (If Isthadanda happens to be 10 danda 1 Pala it will be taken as 11 and not 10).

3rd Step : The total figure thus obtained (after addition of the above figures) is to be divided by 12, the remainder will show the Shayanadi bhava of the planet. In other words, if the remainder is 1, it is Shayana bhava, if it is 2, it is Upaveshana bhava, if it is 3 it is netrapani bhava etc.

After the calculation of Shayanadi bhava of planets, their capability to give definite result, medium result or no result at all is to be examined.

We have seen that after division by 12 of the sum total of figures obtained after addition of the digits in the 1st and 2nd step there is a remainder which is termed as "Shesanka" i.e. residue digit. This 'Shesanka' digit is to be multiplied by the same digit (i.e. if Shesanka digit is 6, it is to be multiplied by 6, in other words square of Shesanka digit) and the resultant figure is to be added to "Swaranka" reckoned below, and the total figure is to be divided by 12 and the remainder is to be added to Planetary "Dhrubanka" shown hereafter.

* Some astrologers are of opinion that instead of the planet's navamsa bhukti planet's amsa-kala is to be taken, say Ravi in Vrsa 20°-3'. So the amsa that is to be taken is 21.

This digit thus found is to be divided by 3. Now, if the remainder is 1, it is "Dristi" which means little result.

" is 2, " " " " "Chesta" which means maximum result.

" is 0, " " " " "Bichesta" which means no result.

Our readers are definitely tired after following these cumbrous process, if they go deep into the processing and practise it they will find it very easy. To help them we are elaborately treating this matter in the following paragraph.

Here we shall take birthchart, jata-danda etc. of the boy who was born on the 30th April, 1953 at 10 A.M. Calcutta Local Time corresponding to 17th Baisakh, 1360 B. S. Thursday. We draw herebelow the birth and Navamsa Charts and give planetary degrees and number of Navamsa they consumed :—

♂ 3 43 Lagna	☾ 2	(R) ♀ 27 8 27
♀ 8	BIRTH- CHART	♂ 22
(R) ♀ 14	☾ 16

☾	Lagna	♂ 4
	NAVAMSA- CHART	♀ 8 ♀
☾		♀ 9

Jata-danda is 11 danda 3 Pala 24 bipala (rectified according to Pranpada) to be taken as 12 danda, total is 31. This is a constant figure.

Janma Nakshatra—16, Janma Lagna Rasi—3

We may arrange Planets' degree and number of Navamsa they consumed.

	Degree of Planets.	Nakshatra.	No. of Navamsa.
Ravi	0°-16°-18'	2	5
Chandra	6°-27°-59'	16	9
Mangal	1°-6°-4'	3	2
Budha	11°-23°-20'	27	7
Vrhaspathi	1°-4°-37'	3	2
Sukra(R)	11°-22°-21'	27	7
Sani(R)	5°-29°-33'	14	9
Rahu	9°-14°-33'	22	5
Ketu	3°-14°-33'	8	5

To explain the working process of Shayanadi bhava we shall work out Shayanadi bhava of Ravi only. Our readers can get practical idea of calculation of the bhavas of all other planets.

1. Planet's number 1

2. Planet's Nakshatra 2

3. Planet's Navamsa 5

That is : $1 \times 2 \times 5 = 10$

Add to this number 31. This is the constant figure shown already.

Total 41

This number 41 is to be divided by 12

Remainder 5. This is the Shesanka digit.

5 indicates that Ravi is in Gamana bhava (See the list of symbols and their meaning).

Here comes the questions of "Swaranka" & "Dhruvanka".

Swaranka

"Dhruvanka" of Planets.

1	2	3	4	5	Ravi	5
A	I	U	E	O	Chandra	2
K	Kh	G	Gh	Ch	Mangal	2
Chh	J	Jh	T	Th	Budha	3
D	Dh	Tha	Thha	Dh	Vrhaspathi	5
Dhh	N	P	F	B	Sukra	3
V	M	Y	R	La	Sani	3
W	Sh	Shh	S	H	Rahu & Ketu	4 each

[It is difficult to write Swaranka in English because Indian alphabetic letters cannot be pronounced in English tongue and therefore exact translation is not possible]

The name of the native is Hiren, So, first letter is "H". Swaranka is therefore "5".

4th Step : Shesanka digit (in the 3rd step) is 5

5² 25

Swaranka 5

Total 30 to be divided by 12,

the remainder 6

add with this digit dhruvanka

of Ravi 5

Total 11 to be divided by 3

remainder is 2 which indicates "chesta"

This means Ravi who is in Gamana Bhava will give maximum result. It may be good or bad, which we shall see later on.

PLANETS IN DIFFERENT BHAVAS AND RESULTS THEREOF

RAVI

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native may be suffering from indigestion, colic pain, piles, or disease in anus and may be always in distress.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : Poverty-stricken, expert mechanic, quarrelsome, ill-educated, cruel, unhappy and passes his days in servitude.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : If Ravi being in that bhava occupies 5th, 7th, 9th and 10th places from Lagna the native will be robust, strong, always cheerful, conscientious, benevolent, very happy, and feels himself very much dignified due to the charitable disposition to him by king or head of the State.

According to "Jataka Chandrika" if Ravi be placed in any other houses other than 5th, 7th, 9th or 10th place from lagna, the native may be cruel hearted, hot-tempered and envious of others, and he may be suffering from eczema, itches, and eye disease.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : The native may be wealthy, a good parliamentarian, pious, very strong built, a good looking person of excellent complexion and respectable. If Ravi under this bhava occupies 7th or 5th house from lagna the native's first born son dies early and he becomes a widower.

(5) In Gamana bhava : The native lives in a foreign land. He is unhappy, lazy, timid, short-tempered, and bereft of money and intellect.

(6) In Gamaneccha bhava : Cruel hearted, misguided intelligence, miserly, addicted to other's wife. If Ravi under this bhava is posited in the 2nd or 12th place from lagna the native's sons die at early ages and the native may have no wealth.

(7) In Savabhasati bhava : The native is pious, religious-minded, physically strong and stout, versatile in many branches of knowledge, a man of very charitable disposition, and of blemishless conduct, orator and benevolent. His residence is full of relatives and varieties of men. His treasury always remains full.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native is restive and fickle minded, wicked, lean and thin, haughty, miserable, creates trouble for others, and he never enjoys happiness and mental peace.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native suffers from gout, headache, disease of ears; he is a liar and always indulges in slang talks, addicted to meat and is never happy.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : The native always enjoys the company of learned and wise men. He himself is a learned man, energetic, wealthy and benevolent. He may have two wives and becomes a "Yogi" of high order.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is a lover of poetry, learned, wise and is held in high esteem by others, has good wife and many friends.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native resides in a foreign land, is poor, suffers from miseries, loses money and becomes a widower.

CHANDRA

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native loses his accumulated money, lustful (lascivious), is very much afraid of cold weather but he is respected by others.

According to 'Jataka Chandrika' Chandra in this bhava gives very bad result, such as : 'The native is hot tempered, a man of loose morals, and poor. He suffers from disease in anus.'

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native is sickly, spoils good work, steals other's money, unscrupulous and wicked minded, and may be attacked by four-footed animal.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : The native is too much talkative, possesses diseased health, cunning, indulges in dishonest activities, suffers from Filaria in leg, has poisonous nails and he is a man of medium height.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : The native becomes rich, intelligent, charitable and is a man of many virtues. Some astrologers are of opinion that the native is addicted to others' wife or wives.

(5) In Gamana bhava : The native is timid, cruel, sinful, and suffers from eye-disease.

(6) In Gamaneccha bhava : The native commits sinful acts secretly, has no honest thinking, and has diseases in legs.

Others are of opinion that he is very respectable, has no wealth and suffers from disease in leg.

(7) In Savabhasati bhava : The native is extraordinarily beautiful, temperamentally peaceful, king of kings, a very best man in society, and is a man of very charitable disposition and is also a large-hearted man.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native is talkative, pious and rich. If it is waning Chandra the native may have two wives, he will be wicked and haughty.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native is blessed with good wife and children, owns conveyances, possesses wealth and is popular.

Others are of opinion that the native is greedy and a voracious eater of meat and very rich ; after birth of many daughters he dies.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : If Chandra is of bright half the native is artistic, a good musician, humourist and strong and stout. If it is the waning Chandra the native indulges in sinful acts.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is as rich as a king and is very powerful, develops great artistic skill and likes to learn many things from different branches of knowledge. He is adored by beautiful women.

(12) In Nidra bhava : If Chandra conjoins with Vrhaspathi the native will be a noble man, if not the native loses his money and due to premature death of wife he laments over her death.

MANGAL

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native suffers from itches, ringworm and small boils and is an efficient man. Some are of opinion that the native knows many languages. He is short-tempered, lascivious and very efficient but fickle minded.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native indulges in sinful acts, forsakes his own religious belief and becomes rich but he is a liar. Other astrologers are of opinion that the native is a man of very vile character and cruel. He is rich but he is abandoned by his own kith and kin.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : If Mangal is posited in Lagna the native will be a poor man. Other astrologers say, if Mangal occupies any place between lagna and 10th house (both the places included), the native loses everything including wife, children and wealth. But some other experienced astrologers are of opinion that Mangal in Netrapani bhava will give the above results if he occupies 9th & 10th houses only, in other houses the planet will give very beneficial result concerning the native's financial stability and other material happiness.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : There are various opinions about the effect of Mangal under this bhava. Maharshi Parasar says, the native will be meritorious and respectable, but if Mangal occupies the 5th place from lagna with Rahu there the native's children and wife will meet with premature death.

Other astrologers say Mangal under Prakashana bhava can do no good to the native.

(5) In Gamana bhava : The native suffers from small boils and entire body is covered with painful itches and ringworm, and loses his wealth.

(6) In Gamanechha bhava : The native is meritorious, wealthy, destroyer of enemies, always helps ameliorate the miseries of his relatives and moves on elephant (i.e. he has very good conveyance to move about), others say Mangal under this bhava is not favourable ; the native suffers from disease in anus and always engages himself in bad works.

(7) In Savabhasati bhava : If Mangal under this bhava is posited in his exalted house the native will be a great warrior, wealthy and virtuous ; if the planet occupies 5th or 9th house the native may have no money, wife and children, but in places other than these two houses Mangal gives the native money and prestige.

(8) In Agama bhava : Mangal is awfully unfavourable as the native despises religious deeds, always moves in bad company and suffers from a serious type of abscess at the base point of ear. Many others do not agree with this opinion.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : If Mangal under this bhava is strong the native likes sweets too much, he engages himself in vile acts and is respected by none. Some say that if the planet occupies the 8th place from lagna the native may meet with accidental death or he may be killed by an animal.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : The native becomes very rich and owns a palatial building. Others say, the planet makes him a man of charitable disposition, highly respectable and king's minister. Others are of opinion that this planet under this bhava if posited in lagna, 2nd, 7th or 10th house the native will get very best results but if the planet occupies 8th or 9th houses the native suffers from many miseries and may meet with accidental death.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is bestowed with good friends and children. If Mangal occupies the house of exaltation the native rises to the position of an important learned member of the King's Court by dint of his own merit and his qualities of head and heart are appreciated by all. Some of the astrologers say Mangal in the 5th or 9th house will not give the aforesaid beneficial result, on the other hand his wife and son may meet with premature death.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native is bereft of education and wealth ; he is cunning and has no religious scruple and suffers from diseases in arms.

BUDHA

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native has a defective limb, he may be lame or without any limb when Budha is in lagna. If Budha occupies any place other than lagna the native becomes cunning and a man of loose morals.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native is bestowed with all virtues, if the planet is aspected by a benefic the native will be rich, if it is aspected by a malefic planet the native will be poor.

There are different opinions also, one of them is that the native will be an eloquent speaker, happy and a poet of high calibre.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : The native has no education and without conscientiousness. He is proud and tries to harm others. If this planet under this bhava is posited in the fifth place from lagna his first son meets with premature death. After that son many daughters are born to him. If Budha is in the 10th place from lagna the native is held in high esteem by all and he is respected like a king.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : The native is benevolent, kind and sympathetic to others, pious, versatile in many branches of knowledge, a conscientious person and curve wicked activities of bad men.

(5) & (6) In Gamana and Gamanecbha bhavas : According to Maharshi Parasar the native earns wealth and builds a house of his own. Others are of opinion that Budha gives very bad result if he is under these bhavas.

(7) In Savabasati bhava : The native is a devotee of Gods, religious-minded, temperate, prosperous and wealthy. Others are of opinion that native has no education at early stage of his life but in the long run becomes a great scholar, rich, pious and very sickly. There is another school who says that when Budha under this bhava is posited in the 7th house from lagna the native enjoys material happiness all through his life but if the planet occupies 5th or 12th house from lagna he has many children and is a miser.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native aspires after accumulation of money by acts of very low standard and he is father of twin children. The other astrologers say that the native is a mean-minded fellow and worst type of man.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native is lean and thin and he has no money to meet his both ends and has no conjugal happiness. Others are of opinion that by the left side of his belly there is ringworm, small boils and he is attacked with bad type of leucoderma. He is envious of others, and poor.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : The native is rich, a scholar, very cheerful, meritorious, happy, powerful, and is blessed with sons. Some astrologers say that the native has four sons and one daughter. Others are of opinion that the native has three qualified wives (which is not possible under the present law of the land). According to Parasari Hora if Budha is afflicted the native will be a man of loose morals.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is very popular, expert in the art of song and stringed instruments, wealthy, pious, suffers from piles and has many enemies.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native suffers from various diseases and miseries, he seldom enjoys sound sleep but he is rich and is respected by many. According to some astrologers Budha occupying 9th place from lagna will give aforesaid result but if he occupies any other place the native enjoys happiness all through his life.

VRHASPATHI

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native is a tall figure and has very fair complexion. He always remains afraid of his enemies.

There is a different opinion, according to which the native suffers from colic pain and many more diseases but he is a qualified and efficient man. Some astrologers say that if Vrhaspathi under this bhava occupies lagna, 5th, 7th, 9th or 10th place the native is rich, learned and a man of good conduct.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native is talkative, proud, a powerful man like an emperor, and is worshipped by his enemies. His leg, thigh and face are full of small boils. There is another opinion too, according to which the native is highly educated, a great and noble man and meritorious if Vrhaspathi occupies 2nd, 3rd, 10th or 12th place from lagna and his health remains perfectly alright.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : The native is a lover of song and dancing. He is lustful and a man of very fair complexion. There is a second opinion, according to which the native suffers from headache and becomes rich.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : The native has many virtues, he is energetic and has great personality, and a lord of wealth and costly gems. Others are of opinion that if Vrhaspathi occupies lagna or 10th place the native will be a prince.

(5) In Gamana bhava : The native is brave, and always moves with many friends and admirers. He is a great scholar, learned in Vedas and is wealthy. Others are of opinion that the native may have danger from snake, attends his duties with determination, acquires wealth of others, he is sufferer of colic pain and engages himself in social works to ameliorate miseries of others.

(6) In Gamaneccha bhava : The native is held in high esteem by others and earns great popularity, a man of charitable disposition, rich and serves the king of the land very faithfully.

(7) In Savabasati bhava : The native earns great popularity and is adored by many ; he is very rich, a good orator, has ego for his learning and is a good looking person. Others are of opinion that if Vrhaspathi occupies lagna, 4th or 7th place the aforesaid good result is possible. Again there is another class of astrologers who say that if unfortunately Vrhaspathi is posited in the 8th or 10th places from lagna the native loses his everything and passes the rest of his life miserably.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native is extraordinarily brilliant and highly educated and there is no equal to him ; he is a multimillionaire, owns many vehicles and is a very happy man.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native is a great warrior, sweet-tongued, happy, lustful and a voracious eater of meat.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : The native is a great philologist, respected by the king of the land, an expert in Tantra-shastra, pious and rich. Some astrologers are of opinion that the native is a man of loose morals, rich and at the same time religiously inclined and a multimillionaire.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is a great wealthy man, happy, physically very strong, a great scholar, an expert in many branches of arts, and always cheerful.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native has no education, he is without any virtue or piety and aimlessly roams hither and thither.

SUKRA

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native is a man of loose morals, enjoys other's wife or wives, very hot-tempered and suffers from teeth-disease. There are various different opinions about Sukra being under Shayana bhava, some are good and others bad.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native's treasury is full of costly gems and huge money ; he is happy in many respects, a conqueror of enemies, and a man of prestige and dignity. Other astrologers say that the native is very strong, proud and has an ulcer in right part of his body and suffers from gout.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : If Sukra occupies places other than lagna, 4th or 10th place from lagna the native owns a palatial building. If those places are owned by Sukra's friends then only the aforesaid beneficial results are possible.

Some other eminent astrologers hold very bad opinion in this respect. They say that if Sukra under this bhava occupy the 10th place from lagna the native becomes very poor, even the ocean will dry up at the sight of this man. If that 10th house is owned by friends of Sukra or that place is Sukra's exalted house than the native is prosperous and enjoys life happily like a king.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : If under this bhava Sukra occupies his own exalted house or the house of his friend the native becomes a poet, expert in many branches of art, a great musician and humourist. Some are of opinion if Sukra occupies his debilitated house the native will be a sickly man all through his life and lives in a foreign land.

(5) In Gamana bhava : The native's mother dies at her early age and the native has some sort of disease at the lower part of feet. Others are of opinion that the lower part of the native's feet will be diseased no doubt but the native will be energetic, skilful in technical matters and happy.

(6) In Gamanachha bhava : The native is wealthy, energetic and visits holi shrines. There are diseases in his hand and feet. There are other astrologers who say that the mother and brother of the native die premature death and the native himself is sickly.

(7) In Savabasati bhava : The native comes of a high family ; he is very rich, a king's minister, very efficient and a sufferer from colic pain. There are other class of astrologers who say that if Sukra occupies his enemy's house or is associated with or is aspected by his enemy the native becomes a pauper and suffers from many ailments.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native feels very much distressed owing to suffering from various ailments and has to lament over premature death of his children. There are some astrologers who are of opinion that the above results are possible if Sukra under this bhava occupies enemy-house or is associated with or aspected by enemies. If Sukra is posited in the 2nd, 4th, 8th or 12th place the native enjoys happiness in all spheres of life.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native suffers from colic pain, he is always afraid of his enemies, unhappy and has to live in foreign land. Other opinion is that if Sukra is afflicted due to aspect by or association with inimical planets the result said above are possible, otherwise the native will be strong, pious, very rich and shall earn huge money through business.

(10) Nrityalipsa bhava : The native is highly educated, a poet, an artist, and rich. His merit, as a poet gradually develops. Some other astrologers say that if Sukra occupies the house of debilitation the native must be an illiterate person but if the planet sits in his exalted house or he is otherwise favourable the native will be a prince, handsome, very rich, a man of slightly dark but charming complexion ; he is a lean and thin person and has very loose morals.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is rich, pious, very cheerful, an eloquent speaker and has a good wife and many sons. If Sukra is debilitated the result is very bad.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native indulges in loose talks, engages himself in serving others, speaks ill of others and is a traveller.

SANI

(1) Shayana bhava : At his early age the native is unable to appease his hunger for want of two meals and is a sickly person and afterwards luck favours him very much.

Some astrologers say that the native is lascivious and a man of bad character, talkative and suffers from disease in anus. Another opinion is that if Sani occupies the 7th or 8th place from lagna the native vanquishes his enemies and lives in a foreign country ; but if the planet is posited in 5th, 9th or 11th house from lagna the native is happy and pious and is blessed with sons.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native is an egoist, punished by the king of the land, suffers from ringworm and he loses his accumulated money.

(3) Netrapani bhava : The native is the husband of a very beautiful woman, he is an expert artist, pious and always tries to advance the cause of the king.

Another opinion is that if Sani occupies lagna or 10th house the native becomes a pauper and passes his days very miserably.

Again some other astrologers say that if Sani under this bhava is situated in 5th or 7th houses the native loses his wife (i.e. his wife dies a premature death) and money but in other places Sani gives the native many sources to enjoy his life very happily.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : The native has many virtues and qualities of head and heart, he is intelligent, kind to others, rich and a devotee of God "Hari".

Others are of opinion that if Sani occupies lagna or 7th house the native totally loses his mental peace and is never happy and is the cause of extinction of his clan (family).

(5) In Gamana bhava : The native becomes very rich. Others are of opinion that the native suffers from disease in the leg, is very hot-tempered and haughty, miser and always speaks ill of others.

(6) In Gamanechha bhava : The native suffers from piles and fissure and is a most unfortunate man without son and wife.

(7) In Savabasati bhava : The native is highly qualified and meritorious and a wealthy man and has good wife and children. But if Sani occupies his enemy-house or aspected by or in conjunction with enemy planets the native loses his everything.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native is hot-tempered, he has danger from snakes and is a man of diseased health, and his brothers are shortlived.

Other astrologers are of opinion that if Sani occupies 2nd, 3rd, 5th & 7th places the native is highly educated and has good wife and children.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native is attacked with many diseases, such as, indigestion, colic pain, piles and fissure and disease of eyes. If Sani is situated in his own house or house of his exaltation, the native is blessed with a son of perfectly good health and his son becomes popular and he has no enemy.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : The native is a very pious man, wealthy and is held in high esteem by the king of the land ; he proves himself a great warrior in the battlefield.

Other astrologers say, Sani being in the 5th, 9th, 7th or 10th place the native has very bad health and becomes a pauper and at the same time his son meets with premature death.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native becomes very rich, efficient, benevolent and is a great scholar.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native is wealthy, endowed with artistic qualities, powerful, lover of poetry and is addicted to harlots. Other astrologers differ from this opinion ; they say, the native suffers from disease in the loin or waist, gastritis etc. He has two wives and many sons.

If Sani is associated with 5th or 7th place from lagna the native enjoys material happiness but is envious of others.

RAHU

(1) In Shayana bhava : The native passes his days very miserably and is hot-tempered. If Rahu occupies Vrsa or Mithuna rasi he is financially affluent. There are other astrologers who say that Rahu also in Simha or Kanya rasi gives the same result i.e. the native becomes rich and happy.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : The native is attacked with disease of ring worm and is in distress. Some astrologers say that he is in distressed condition due to wrath of the king but is very rich.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : The native suffers from many diseases and loses his mental peace, and he is always afraid of enemies and thieves ; loss of money is another cause of his distress.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : The native has beautiful appearance ; financially he is affluent ; he is respected by all and earns prestige and reputation.

Others are of opinion if Rahu under this bhava occupies Simha or Karkata rasi the native is beheaded by enemies.

(5) In Gamana bhava : According to Maharshi Parasar the native is a great scholar, benevolent, he has sons and is respected by the king of the land, but there are some astrologers who are of opinion that Rahu under this bhava makes the native mean, sickly, unhappy, miserly and he always speaks ill of others.

(6) In Gamanecchha bhava : The native has no intelligence and wealth, he is a short-tempered man, miser, lustful and crooked.

(7) In Savabhasati bhava : The native has many virtues, he is wealthy but miser, and a scholar.

(8) In Agama bhava : The native is a cheat, afraid of his enemies, picks up quarrel with noble friends and unhappy.

Other astrologers say that he learns many languages and can speak in many dialogues.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : The native is greedy, wicked, quarrelsome and unhappy.

(10) In Nrityalipsa bhava : The native always apprehends danger from his enemies, he loses his money and forsakes his religious belief, suffers from eye disease and other serious diseases.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : The native is addicted to others' wives, steal others' property or money. According to some astrologers when Rahu occupies his own house or house of exaltation these results are possible, in other houses he becomes rich and lives in peace with wife and children.

(12) In Nidra bhava : The native is highly qualified, proud and very rich. According to some astrologers Rahu in Nidra bhava does not bestow any favourable result in respect of money and family peace. Again there is another opinion according to which Rahu in 5th or 7th house gives the native wealth and happiness.

KETU

(1) In Shayana bhava : When Ketu occupies Vrsa, Mithuna or Kanya Rasi the native becomes prosperous and wealthy, in other place Ketu under this bhava may cause worries, anxieties and many diseases.

(2) In Upaveshana bhava : Suffering due to attack of rheumatism, gout and ringworm, and also serious mental anxiety owing to king's wrath, activities of enemies and thieves.

(3) In Netrapani bhava : Venomous Snake-bite, apprehension of punishment by king, inimical activities of some one.

(4) In Prakashana bhava : Energetic, pious, temperate, rich and good service to king.

(5) In Gamana bhava : Blessed with many sons, a scholar, highly qualified, benevolent, very rich and a great man.

(6) In Gamaneccha bhava : Always jealous of others, speaking ill of others, very sickly, and suffers from loss of money.

(7) In Savabasati bhava : Indulging in light talks, miser, proud, lascivious, wicked & cunning but vastly learned in many branches of knowledge.

(8) In Agama bhava : Always engaged in sinful acts, quarrelling with friends, wicked, afflicted by enemies and diseases.

(9) In Bhojana bhava : Poverty-stricken, diseased and roaming aimlessly.

(10) In Nityalipsa bhava : Disabled due to various diseases, wicked and cunning.

(11) In Kautuka bhava : Displaced from permanent residence, wicked, poor, addicted to wine and women.

(12) In Nidra bhava : Highly qualified and meritorious, monetarily affluent and happy.

CHAPTER—IV

GENERAL RULES FOR DETERMINING MERIT OF MOODS OR BHAVAS

First rule : Certain planets have been described as auspicious and certain others inauspicious. In determination of moods also this division into auspicious and inauspicious is expected. Of the moods, the 4th, 5th, the Lagna, the 9th and 10th moods are auspicious ; the 6th, 8th and 12th moods are considered to be inauspicious. The 7th and 2nd moods are considered to be mixture of both. If a naturally benefic planet is the lord of an unfavourable (inauspicious) house the results are considered to be inauspicious in an overall way, though the natural goodness of that planet is not altogether lost. Besides all these the 3rd and 11th bhavas (or moods) are considered to be unfavourable and together with the 6th, the trio is described as “tri-sarhayadhipathi” (3rd, 6th & 11th). The lords of these trio houses (bhavas or moods) are also considered to be unfavourable.

It may be added however that the house for income (i.e. the 11th house) is by no means wholly devoid of good attributes. The good may be reduced but some of it will be there.

The 3rd, 6th, 10th & 11th are called “Upachaya” houses, and in these houses naturally malefic planets give good results.

The influences of naturally benefic planets in conjunction with or aspected by other benefic are good. If they occupy or aspect any bhava they will do good to that bhava. But if the same bhava is influenced by both auspicious and inauspicious planets results will be mixed. The point of difference is that whichever of the two (i.e. auspicious and inauspicious) is stronger he will make more of its characteristic contribution.

2. When the benefic planet is aspected by or is in conjunction with an enemy planet that would weaken the both and the result will be determined by the stronger one. This means that if the enemy planet is stronger the result will not be favourable and in case of the stronger benefic the result is expected to be slightly favourable.

3. A natural benefic or a malefic planet if combust or is posited in an unfavourable bhava (the 6th, 8th and 12th bhavas are termed as unfavourable) is considered to be weak and is not expected to give favourable result.

4. Nicha Vanga Yoga : When a planet is debilitated and the lord of that rasi occupies his exalted house the debilitated planet regains his strength. For instance, Vrhaspathi (Jupiter) is debilitated in Makar Rasi (Capricorn) and Sani, the lord of Makar Rasi is posited in Tula (Libra), Vrhaspathi regains his strength though he is in his debilitated house. Again, if a debilitated planet is in conjunction with another planet that occupies his exalted house, the former regains his strength. As for example : Budha is in Mina Rasi which is Budha's debilitated house and is in conjunction with Sukra (Venus) there in Mina Rasi. Budha is no longer weak, or Sukra in Kanya Rasi is in conjunction with Budha, or Mangal in Karkat is associated with Vrhaspathi and so on.

These planetary relations are called Nicha Vanga Yoga. Renowned Astrologers have described other Nicha Vanga Yogas, which are as follows :

(a) If a planet is debilitated and the lord of the house where that planet is situated occupies his own or Mooltrikona house this is also a Nicha Vanga yoga. Some astrologers are of opinion that if the lord of the sign (rasi) where the debilitated planet is situated occupies his own or mooltrikona or friendly house Nichavanga Yoga occurs.

(b) Again "Kumar Swamyam" a most important Tamil book on astrology is of opinion that both the debilitated and exalted planets when conjoined with each other and are placed in a Kendra from Chandra then only Nicha Vanga Yoga occurs.

(c) According to "Phaladipika" if the debilitated planet is aspected by the lord of the house where the planet is debilitated then also this yoga occurs.

(d) If the debilitated planet is aspected by or is in conjunction with the lord of the house where that debilitated planet is exalted Nicha Vanga Yoga is to be admitted. Such as, Vrhaspathi's debilitated house is Makar (Capricorn) and Karkata (Cancer) is his house of exaltation and lord thereof is Chandra. Now, if debilitated Vrhaspathi is aspected by or is in conjunction with Chandra Vrhaspathi regains his strength due to the aspect of Chandra.

5. When a planet occupying an inauspicious house is aspected by or is in conjunction with a benefic planet his unfavourable result will be mitigated to some extent.

6. If the lords of the 6th, 8th or 12th are related to each other by exchange of their houses, or by conjunction or by mutual aspect the unfavourable results of those houses represented by the planets are mitigated and good result may be predicted.

This is called "Viparita Raja Yoga". As for instance, if the lord of the 6th house occupies the 8th from lagna or there is exchange of aspect or houses then the bad result expecting from both the 6th and 8th houses is diminished and favourable result ensues.

7. If the bhava or its lord are not strong, good or bad result whatever it may be should not be expected.

(a) When a house (or sign) is occupied by a benefic planet but the lord of that house is either weak or in an inauspicious house under such circumstance it may be slightly difficult to give correct verdict.

This is to be noted that the lord of the house is the primary factor for consideration. If the lord of the house is favourably disposed and strong, the bhava under consideration is expected to give desired result.

(b) Again if the house under question is occupied by a malefic, the house (i.e. the bhava) will be weak no doubt but the good result will not be lost but one should say that good result may be attained through some strenuous effort.

(c) If the lord of the house in question is weak that weakness cannot be repaired fully inspite of occupation of a benefic planet in that house, only the unfavourable result due to weakness of the bhava-lord may be diminished to some extent. Similar deduction may be made, in case a bhava is occupied by a malefic but the lord thereof is strong and favourable.

8. While considering the merit or demerit of a bhava the bhava under consideration is to be taken as a lagna and if there are beneficial planets in Kendra or Kona from that lagna and the lords of the 6th, 8th and 12th places from that bhava (which we take for the present as lagna) are favourably placed or the bhava is not influenced by the aspect of or conjunction with the lords of dusthanas (viz. 6th, 8th or 12th lords from the original lagna) and/or the bhava is aspected by or is in conjunction with auspicious planets the bhava or its lord or both will impart good result.

(a) If an auspicious bhava-lord occupies a Kendra or Kona house from lagna both the bhava and its lord are favourable and beneficial result will yield.

(b) If that lord of the auspicious bhava is placed in any inauspicious house (6th, 8th & 12th houses) from that bhava the bhava-lord under consideration becomes weak and unfavourable.

The rule No. 8 (a) & (b) needs further elucidation to remove misunderstanding arising out of such directives. Say for example, the lord of the 9th house (house of luck) while occupying the 4th place from lagna is expected to give good result as the 9th lord is in Kendra from lagna. But according to rule No. 8 (b) the 9th lord being in the 8th place from the 9th bhava should not be considered as favourably disposed. So, the lord of the 9th house may be considered as weak and unfavourable. Now, it is apparently evident that two rules No. 8 (a) & (b) are self-contradictory. Then how to compromise between these two opposite directives? Under such circumstance the finding should be that the native shall be prosperous, and lucky (as the 9th lord is in Kendra from Lagna) but initially there may be difficulties and various kind of obstacles in getting good results (because the 9th lord is placed in the 8th place from the 9th house).

9. A weak bhava-lord inspite of his favourable ownership occupying a Kendra or Kona house from Lagna cannot yield favourable result upto expectation.

(a) If a bhava-lord is combust, debilitated or in any other way weak good result should not be expected.

(b) Similarly if a planet otherwise strong, is aspected by or is in conjunction with the lord of the 6th, 8th or 12th house favourable result will be diminished to a great extent.

10. A natural malefic when situated in an Upachaya house yields good result. [3rd, 6th, 10th & 11th houses are called Upachaya house]. We have already indicated that 6th, 8th & 12th houses are called Dusthanas meaning malefic or unfavourable houses. 6th house is both an Upachaya and Dusthana. So in case of a natural malefic being in dusthana (6th house) which is at the same time an Upachaya house what would be our finding? In such contradictory directives the readers should adjust their reasoning and give their verdict as reasonably as it should be. As for example, Sani (Saturn) is a natural malefic and in a native's birth chart he as the lord of the 9th place occupies the 6th from lagna. As the lord of the 9th house while associated with the 6th place Sani though in Upachaya can not be favourable so far the native's luck is concerned. But this should be noted that Sani is posited in a Kendra from the 9th house (6th place is the 10th house from the 9th). So, he is favourable, he is in Upachaya-sthan, this is also a favourable position. Therefore we may safely come to a conclusion that if the planet (Sani) is not otherwise unfavourable Sani will prove favourable to the native and help him prosper in life.

11. Any planet occupying the 2nd or 11th house is said to be favourably disposed and is expected to give the native money or wealth etc. But if the planet owns dusthan (i.e. 6th, 8th or 12th house) he will be harmful in respect of the native's earning and wealth. But this is to be remembered that any planet, be he the lord of any of the dusthanas occupying the 11th house will help the native earning money but due to ownership of an inauspicious house the native shall have to strain his nerve to earn money.

12. A planet just in cusp of two bhavas loses his capacity to give any beneficial result, on the other hand a planet in the middle position of a bhava gives the exact result be it favourable or unfavourable.

(a) A planet while crossing the midpoint of a bhava approaches towards the cusp and loses by and by its strength to impart desired result. Again when a planet approaches the midpoint of a bhava he regains its strength.

(b) While a planet crossing the midpoint of a bhava approaches the cusp he can initially give slightly good or bad result as the case may be, but in the long run he cannot give any result whatsoever.

13. It is said that a planet in or near the cusp cannot give any result, this does not mean that the planet has no strength to yield any result at all. When it is said the planet cannot give any result when he is in the cusp of a bhava it means that the planet's position in the bhava is absolutely ineffective, but the planet is expected to give the result of the rasi he occupies and of the Nakshatra with which he is associated.

14. If the nature of the planet and the nature of the house it occupies are in tune with one another then the character of the effects to be expected of such a combination becomes clear and well-defined. If they do not agree they cancel out one another, never completely but partially. Take the following illustration :

Sani is in the Mesa (Aries). Mesa is a house fire intensive whereas Sani is antipodal to fire. Fire gives brightness, light, and also rapid dynamic effects, whereas Sani is slow, dull-looking and more or less static. Then again, Sani is debilitated in Mesa Rasi. So, a combination of these would amount to an intensification of the darker and more unpleasant aspects of Sani. There would be a sort of working syntheses, but it would be jerky or fugitive.

15. The constellation (Nakshatra) with which the planet is associated adds its quota to the amalgam. It would enhance or diminish as the case may be the quality of the resultant of the combination. For instance, Vṛhaspathi gives good effect in 'Pusyam' Nakshatra (Constellation), on the other hand in 'Ashlesha' Nakshatra Vṛhaspathi is slightly weak because neutral and out of tune. But as the rasi is Karkata the weakness of Vṛhaspathi would not effect much, because the house itself has considerable affinity with Vṛhaspathi.

Summary of the rules indicated above

In judging a house the following points must be considered first :

1. The location of the lord of the house, his strength, whether he is aspected by a benefic and at the same time a friendly planet. If the same lord is in conjunction with a benefic or with a malefic, a friendly or an enemy planet.

2. The strength of the bhava and its lord.

3. The natural characteristics of the bhava and bhava-lord, the influence of aspect on them by another planet—auspicious or inauspicious must be taken into consideration.

4. Position of the bhava-lord or the nature of the planet that occupies the house (bhava) under consideration, their strength or weakness due to their position in Navamsa chart are to be examined thoroughly.

These points were discussed in previous pages and to alert our readers we have again summarized them, which will help them give correct judgment.

When a planet is considered weak ?

1. When Ravi is in conjunction with or aspected by Sani both of them are to be taken as weak.

2. While Chandra is in conjunction with or aspected by either Sani or Rahu Chandra becomes weak and unfavourable.

3. When Sani and Mangal aspect or conjoins with each other both of them become weak and unfavourable.

4. Budha while in conjunction with or aspected by Mangal Budha becomes unfavourable.

5. Similarly, when Vrhaspathi conjoins with or is aspected by Rahu, Vrhaspathi is weak. Conjunction of Sukra & Mangal or Mangal's aspect on Sukra and Rahu's conjunction with Ravi and Mangal are taken to be unfavourable. In such cases Vrhaspathi, Sukra, Ravi and Mangal will be more unfavourable.

Besides the aforesaid 14 rules, we must remember that strength of planets is to be measured in many more ways. We have repeated more than once that strength of bhava-lord is the most important factor. Now, how to judge the strength will be shown in the following lines.

Delineation of Sada-Varga

We shall discuss about Sada-Varga, and Dasa-Varga first and tell our readers how a planet becomes favourable and strong or unfavourable and weak. Sada-Varga means (1) Kshetra, (2) Hora, (3) Drekkana, (4) Navamsa, (5) Dwadasamsa and (6) Trimsamsa.

Dasa-Varga means these 6 Vargas and also (7) Samptamsa, (8) Dasamamsa (9) Sorasamsa and (10) Sasthyamsa.

In each case a separate chart is to be erected and planets and lagna are to be placed according to their sphuta or degree and minute.

- (a) Kshetra means the birthchart itself.
- (b) Hora, 15 amsa makes a 'hora' ($\frac{1}{2}$ of 30 amsa)
- (c) Drekkana—10 amsa makes a Drekkana ($\frac{1}{3}$ of 30 amsa)
- (d) Saptamsa—4 amsa 17 kala 8 bikala & 34 anukala (which may be written as $4^{\circ}-17'-8''-34'''$) makes Saptamsa ($\frac{1}{7}$ of 30 amsa).
- (e) Navamsa—3 amsa 20 kala ($3^{\circ}-20'$) makes a Navamsa ($\frac{1}{9}$ of 30 amsa)
- (f) Dasamsa—3 amsa makes a Dasamsa ($\frac{1}{10}$ of 30 amsa)
- (g) Dwadasamsa—2 amsa 30 kala ($2^{\circ}-30'$) makes a Dwadasamsa ($\frac{1}{12}$ of 30 amsa)
- (h) Sorasamsa—1 amsa 52 kala 30 bikala ($1^{\circ}-52'-30''$) makes a sorasamsa ($\frac{1}{18}$ of 30 amsa)

(i) Trimsamsa table will show that the planetary placement will be different. When a planet in the birth chart is in a $\frac{1}{3}$ Visama Rasi it will be placed in Visama Rasi in the trimsamsa chart, when placed in a Sama Rasi it will be in Sama Rasi. Trimsamsa Chakra is not equally divided.

- (j) Sashtyamsa—30 kala makes a Sashtyamsa ($\frac{1}{60}$ of 30 amsa)

These different Vargas are to be judged from charts drawn separately in each case. Say, we know the Kshetra (i.e. the birth chart). We shall have to erect Hora-chart, Drekkana chart, Navamsa chart etc. separately and judge the strength or favourable state of a planet or otherwise in every chart and come to a decision about the strength or weakness of a planet and lagna. But there are rules in erecting a chart in each case and this may not be very easy to remember them or to determine the position of planets and lagna in all cases. Hence Varga charts are to be consulted. These charts are given in the last chapters of this book for ready reference.

Now rules to erect different charts are stated below. To erect the charts we must know the 'Sphuta' (degree & minutes) of all the planets and of lagna.

Hora: When a planet or lagna is posited in odd (Visam) Rasi and their sphutas are within 15 amsa (degrees etc.) then in the Hora-chakra of that planet or lagna will be an Simha Rasi, and if sphuta is more than 15 amsa they will be in Chandra's rasi i.e., Karkata. There are two Horas, one is Ravi's and another is Chandra's hora. If the planet or lagna is in even Rasi (janma rasi) and is placed in first 15 amsa the hora lord will be Chandra and beyond 15 amsa, the hora lord will be Ravi (i.e. Karkata and Sinha respectively).

Drekkan : When the planet or lagna is within 10 degrees of a Rasi the ruler of that rasi will be lord of the first drekkan, after 10 degree upto 20 degree, the 5th Rasi-lord from the position of the planet or lagna is the lord of 2nd drekkan and if the sphutas go beyond 20° degree the Lord of the 5th Rasi counted from the 2nd drekkan will be lord of the 3rd drekkan.

Saptamsa : When the planet or lagna is situated in the oja or odd or visam Rasi 1st lord will be ruler of the Rasi where lagna or planet is posited, the 2nd lord is the ruler of the rasi next to the first and so on.

When the planet or lagna is situated in even or Jugma or Sama Rasi the ruler of the 7th Rasi from the Rasi occupied by the planet or lagna will be first Saptamsa lord and 2nd lord will be the ruler of the next rasi and so on.

Navamsa : If a planet or lagna occupies a chara rasi (movable rasi) 1st Navamsa lord will be the ruler of that house where they are posited, remember each Navamsa measures 3°-20' kala, the 2nd lord will be the ruler of the Rasi next to the 1st Navamsa lord and so on.

If the lagna or planet is in a Sthir (Fixed) Rasi the 1st Navamsa lord will be the ruler of 9th rasi from the position of the planet or lagna and 2nd lord is the ruler of next rasi counted from the 1st Navamsa rasi and so on.

If the lagna or planet is in Dwatyaka rasi (dual) the first Navamsa lord will be the ruler of the 5th rasi counted from the position of planet or lagna in the birth chart and the second lord will be the ruler of the second rasi next to the 1st and so on.

Dadasamsa : This is simple. The 1st lord is the ruler of the rasi where lagna or planet is situated. From that position the 2nd, 3rd and 4th lord etc. are to be counted.

Trimsamsa : In case of odd rasi the first 5 amsa or degree is ruled by Mangal, next 5 amsa or degree is ruled by Sani, the next 8 amsa by Vrhaspathi, next 7 amsa by Budha and next 5 amsa is ruled by Sukra.

In case of even rasi the 1st 5 amsa by Sukra, next 7 amsa by Budha, next 8 amsa by Vrhaspathi, next 5 amsa by Sani and last 5 amsa by Mangal.

According to Maharshi Parasara there are Sada-Varga, Sapta Varga, Dasa Varga and Sorasha Varga. These have different terms, such as Sada Varga, Kimsukadi Varga (Kshetra, Hora, Drekkana, Turyamsa, Saptamsa, Navamsa, Dasamsa), Parijat Varga, Kimsukadi Varga & Sorasamsa & Sasthyamsa Varga.

Of these Vargas, Navamsa Varga is most important and essential. When planets are situated in their own Mooltrikona or their exalted houses or in their friendly houses they are considered to be strong and favourably disposed. When a planet or lagna is situated in the rasi in which he is posited in birthchart they are considered to be strong.

When a planet is said to have acquired strength in a Varga ?

Excepting hora and Kshetra a planet's Varga-bala (Strength) is to be judged in the following manner :

(i) In any Varga if the planet is in a Kendra from his position in the birthchart it is said to have acquired strength. Again if he is in a friendly house or Mooltrikona, Exalted house or his own house he will be taken as strong. Of course if he is in a Kendra position from the original place in the birth chart and at the same time in a friendly or mooltrikona houses etc. he will be very strong.

(ii) If he is in a Kendra position from the place where he is posited in the birth chart but that Kendra rasi is his enemy's house, the planet in question loses his strength to some extent.

(iii) If a planet is posited in a house whose lord is in his house of exaltation, mooltrikona etc., the planet in question acquires some strength.

(iv) If a planet occupies the house of his debilitation in the birth chart but in Navamsa Chart he is in his exalted house then the planet acquires strength.

CHAPTER V

INDICATION OF BHAVAS

While considering the merit or demerit of a house (henceforth we shall call it a bhava) it is the bhava not the rasi the most important factor. Navamsa is next or equally important point. Hindu astrologers attach much importance in Navamsa Chart. They call it the life vibration of a planet or in other words liveliness of a planet is to be judged from a Navamsa Chart.

The First Bhava

The first bhava indicates the health of the native, constitutions and structure of the body, countenance, character, nature of the person, complexion, longevity etc.

All these qualities as already said in previous chapter may be subjected to many changes by the influence of aspects and the position of planet or planets situated in the bhava and also due to position of the bhava-lord in any auspicious or inauspicious bhava or by conjunction with malefic or benefic planet. Let us take an example. If Vrhaspathi occupies Simha Rasi where lagna is posited and lagna and Vrhaspathi receive no full aspect of any other planet or they are not in conjunction with any one, the reading may be summarized in the following manner.

Colour of Simha Rasi is dark red, and colour of Vrhaspathi is gold-like yellow. In Navamsa chart Vrhaspathi is in Karkata. If the lagna lord Ravi is not influenced by black-coloured planet such as Sani the native's complexion should be yellow and white mixed, slightly dark red hue may be mixed with yellow and white colour. He will be good looking, eyes are prominent, nature is temperate, he will keep good health etc.

Again, if the lord of lagna is not well-disposed rather aspected by his enemy Sani who is the lord of the 6th and 7th houses or Ravi is in conjunction with Sani or Rahu the native inspite of Vrhaspathi's position in lagna may not be keeping good health. The native may suffer from such ailments of Sani or Rahu or both and also of Ravi to some extent. Vrhaspathi's effect on lagna is no doubt good but he will not be able to protect the native all the time from suffering from ailments referred to above. Again Vrhaspathi's strength is also of primary consideration. If Vrhaspathi is strong in Varga-charts specially in Navamsa Chart he (Vrhaspathi) will have definitely a favourable influence in matter of health of the native provided Lagnadhipathi (lagna-lord) is not seriously damaged. On the other hand if Lagnapathi Ravi is well-disposed or attached with Lagna or in a friendly house without being malefically influenced by any unfavourable planet the native is sure to keep good health and shall be endowed with many virtues.

Position of the lord of the 1st houses in different bhavas and results thereof.

1st house : If the lagnapathi is posited in lagna the health of the native is expected to be good, his physical structure is excellent and he becomes a liberal-minded man. If the Lagnapathi is a natural malefic and is situated in the 1st house the native shall not always be keeping good health or if the same lord occupies any other Kendra or is associated with Chandra ill health of the native is possible, but if he occupies in any Kona (5th or 9th house) or 11th house the native may keep good health. If the lagnapathi is weak or debilitated or combust or he is posited in any dusthana (6th, 8th or 12th house) the native will be lean and thin and sickly.

If the Kendra and Kona houses are not occupied by any malefic and Vrhaspathi being the lord of lagna occupies the 4th or 8th house the native lives upto 100 years and keeps his health free from any disease ; he is happy and pious.

Again, a powerful lord of lagna aspected by benefics but unaspected by malefics occupies a kendra position from lagna the native is blessed with long life and never meets an unnatural death.

When lagnapathi Vrhaspathi or Sukra is situated in a kendra position the subject will become a rich man, is dear to the king and is blessed with long life.

When lagnapathi aspected by benefic and occupies a moveable Rasi (sign) the native becomes a renowned man, beautiful to look at and luxurious.

When any one of Chandra, Budha, Vrhaspathi and Sukra is posited in Lagna or in Kendra the native has an appearance of a king.

If lagna is occupied by Rahu aspected by Chandra and "Gulika" is posited in Navamsa lagna birth of twin children is possible.

If the lagna-lord is weak, debilitated or combust the native will become sickly, evil-minded, and infamous. When the same lord occupies the 12th place in the Navamsa chart the native may roam about aimlessly and never enjoys peace of mind.

Lagnapathi in the 2nd house :

If the lord of lagna occupies the 2nd house (dhana house) with the lord of the 2nd the native may be wealthy and his treasury may be full of silver, gold, precious metals and stones. He will have peaceful family life, his attempts to prosper in life may be fruitful. But in the Navamsa chart if the lord of the 2nd house occupies any dusthana (6th, 8th or 12th place) from the rasi where the 2nd lord is posited in the birth chart the good effect will be much less.

The native may be sickly but pious.

Lagnapathi in the 3rd house :

This is a good sign for the native to have the 1st lord in the 3rd house in his birthchart, because the native shall be persevering, painstaking and a mighty man. His brothers and sisters will be prosperous. He will be endeared by men of both sexes.

If the lagnadhipathi occupies any dusthan from the lord of the 3rd house in the Navamsa chart the native may have enmity with his brothers.

Lagnapathi in the 4th house :

The native shall have his own house, vehicle and lands. He will command respect from his friends and relatives. Acquaintance with learned men and formation of new friends of high social status will also be the effect due to the position of lagna-lord in the 4th place. These good effects will be enhanced if the lord of the 4th house also is there in the 4th place from lagna. Relation with his mother, near relatives and friends will be vitiated if the lagnapathi is in any dusthan in the Navamsa Chart from the 4th lord. Further, he may sustain monetary loss, may be involved in accident and litigation. Effects of similar nature may be predicted if the 4th house is occupied by any lord of dusthanas or any lord of dusthan is conjoined with lagnapathi and lord of the house.

Lagnapathi in the 5th house :

If the strong lagna-lord occupies the 5th house and there is equally strong 5th lord in the same place the native shall be endowed with many qualities and he shall be a learned and intelligent man. He will earn the grace of the king (Government of his time), may be a minister, ambassador, or a high Government official. He may not be quite happy about his sons. This is a yoga of political prosperity.

The good effect may be nullified and quite opposite result may be predicted if in the 5th house there is any planet owning dusthana or in the Navamsa chart the lagnapathi occupies 6th, 8th or 12th house from the rasi held by the 6th lord.

Lagnapathi in the 6th house :

If the lagnalord alone is posited in the 6th house the native shall vanquish his enemies, he will be able to win over all obstacles, will be a respectable man and rich. But if the 6th lord is there with lagnalord or lord of lagna receives the aspect of lord of 6th, 8th or 12th house, the native shall suffer from many ailments, enmity with cousins, failure in all undertakings, poverty etc. But the salient point is that if the 6th lord is debilitated and lagnalord is strong favourable result may be predicted.

Lagnapathi in the 7th house :

If the 7th house is a movable rasi and lagnapathi is posited there along with 7th lord the native will go on pilgrimage and also travel over many distant countries, if the 7th house falls in a common rasi he will undertake journies to foreign countries.

If lagnadhipathi is stronger than 7th lord or both of them are equally strong the native will be profitted by such journey and if lagnapathi is weaker than the 7th lord the journey will be profitless.

It is a very unfavourable yoga when lagnapathi occupies any dusthana from the 7th lord in Navamsa chart. In such case the native becomes very poor, has no means of livelihood, he will be defamed and shall always quarrel with his wife. Lagnadhipathi in the 7th house may indicate premature death of wife or husband as the case may be.

Lagnapathi in the 8th house :

When the lord of lagna is in the 8th house it is a very unfavourable yoga, there is no doubt about it. The native may be plunged in heavy debt, suffer from misery and poverty, he is an evil-minded man and never thinks of honest things. This result will worsen if lagnapathi is in conjunction with 8th lord. But unfavourable result may be much minimised if lagnapathi is strong and 8th lord is weak. In any case the native will indulge in sinful acts.

Lagnapathi in the 9th house :

The native will be a righteous man, popular, devoted to father, elders and God. These favourable results will be much enhanced if the lord of lagna is in conjunction with 9th lord. The father of the native will have prosperous time during the dasa-antardasa of Lagnapathi and bhagyapathi (9th lord). When both the lords or at least either of them is strong on account of their positions in the house of exaltation or Swakshetra (own house) or acquire strength in Vargas there is possibility of influx of much wealth.

If in the Navamsa chart lagnapathi occupies any dusthana from the 9th lord or vice versa the native may be involved in litigation with regard to ancestral property.

Generally lagnapathi in the 9th house makes the native a man of aesthetic sense, he will be an intelligent, efficient and lucky man.

Lagnapathi in the 10th house :

The native shall be prosperous, wield respect and honour from men of high circles, he shall have good administrative service provided the lord of lagna is powerful and conjoins with equally powerful 10th lord. His parents will be happy and the native also will do his best to please them (parents).

Lord of lagna in the 11th house :

If the native is a businessman there will be much gain through business, he will be benefitted through his elder brother's effort. If he is an officer in any institution during the dasa and antardasa of lagnapathi and lord of the 11th house the native will earn good money provided both the lords are strong and are situated in the 11th. If in the Navamsa chart the lagna lord and lord of the 11th house are posited in dusthana from each other the result will be unfavourable.

Lagnapathi in the 12th house :

If lagnapathi along with the 12th lord occupy 12th house the native shall be plunged in debt, he shall be a very poor man and shall pass his days in distress. He shall be a man of haughty temperament and a man of loose morals.

Dhana bhava (or the 2nd house)

Dhana bhava signifies Financial Prosperity, wealth (particularly accumulated wealth), Family, relatives, speech, mouth, tongue, eyes (vision).

Initial rules in judging a horoscope are also to be applied at the time of analysing the dhana bhava.

It is needless to repeat here that in dealing with all houses the same rules as said before are applicable. First of all (1) the house, (2) its lord, (3) aspect on the house or/and its lord, association with them, (4) planets occupying the house. (5) position of natural karaka (indicator) etc. The same rules are to be considered in Navamsa chart also.

There are a few planets that give unfavourable result with regard to dhana bhava. They are Ravi, Mangal primarily and Sani and Rahu or Ketu secondarily. Besides the lords of dusthanas (6th, 8th and 12th) when placed in dhana bhava will not give good result even if they are naturally friendly to the lord of the 2nd, and/or their aspect on the 2nd bhava is not beneficial to dhana bhava. But waning moon or malefic planets (except Ravi and Mangal) if they are wealth-giving planets in a birth chart will help increase the native's wealth. Planets occupying or aspecting the 2nd house if predominantly indicator of wealth in a chart will give wealth to the native in their dasa and antardasas. So also the dhanapathi's effect. If the lord of the 2nd house is posited in his own house, in his house of exaltation, in his friend's house or gains 'Gapuramsa' Varga (if a planet gains 4 Vargas of one planet it is called 'Gapuramsa' Varga) or if the 2nd lord is posited in Kendra or Kona house from lagna the native becomes rich and passes his days cheerfully.

If the 2nd house is occupied by an exalted planet or the same occupant is in his own or mooltrikona house and at the same time the 2nd lord acquires strength in Vargas the native becomes sweet tongued and his words will be infallible.

If the lord of the 2nd and 9th houses being the one and the same planet is posited in the 2nd house and also is aspected by a benefic his words also may be infallible.

If the 2nd lord conjoined with or aspected by benefic occupies Kendra or Kona house the native becomes pious, orator and protect or maintains relatives.

If the 2nd lord is situated in highest exalted point, either conjoined with or is aspected by Vrhaspatti and is posited in Kendra or Kona house from lagna the native becomes a world famous person.

Eye-disease

Eye sight (vision) is to be judged from the 2nd house.

(1) If the lord of the 2nd house in conjunction with lagna lord is placed in any dusthana there is possibility of complete loss of eyesight.

(2) If the 2nd lord, Sukra, and Chandra together occupy lagna there is possibility of night blindness.

(3) If the lords of the 2nd house and lagna together conjoined with Ravi and Sukra occupy any dusthan the native may be blind since his birth.

(4) When Mangal aspected by a malefic occupies the 12th house from lagna loss of left eye sight is indicated. Similarly when Ravi aspected by a malefic is situated in the 12th from lagna loss of sight of right eye is indicated.

(5) If the lords of lagna and of the 2nd house in conjunction with Sukra are posited in any of the dusthanas the native may be squint-eyed.

Dumbness

Power of speech is judged from the 2nd house and its lord.

(1) If the lord of the 2nd combines with Budha, and Rahu or Ketu or the lord of the rasi where Rahu is posited owns the 2nd house and is situated in the 6th place from lagna the native may lose his power of speech during the dasa-antardasa of the 2nd lord.

(2) The 2nd lord being in conjunction with Vrhaspatti if placed in the 8th place from lagna the native may be a dumb.

(3) If the 9th Navamsa of Karkata, Vrschika or Mina Rasi is afflicted by a malefic and Chandra in Vrsa Rasi is aspected also by a malefic planet the native may be a dumb, but instead of malefic aspect on Chandra if he is aspected by a benefic the native restores his speaking power after 5 years of age.

(4) If the 6th lord Budha aspected by a malefic occupies either Karkata, Vrschika or Mina, or, if said Budha (the lord of the 6th house) being in conjunction with Mangal is aspected by a naturally unfavourable planet and occupies lagna the native will be dumb, he can only make a queer sound of "Go—Go".

(5) If the Muka-yogakaraka (the planet that makes a man dumb) is placed in any dusthana but the place is planet's own house, or house of exaltation the result will not be unfavourable.

Indication of disease from the second house :

(1) The native may be attacked with chronic dysentery if the 2nd house is occupied by Rahu or Sani.

(2) If there are Chandra and Rahu in the 2nd house the native may be susceptible to cold and also he may be attacked with typhoid fever.

(3) If Sukra or Mangal occupies the 2nd or 12th house the subject may be attacked with disease of the ear.

(4) If Chandra is associated with his enemy or is placed in the 2nd place which is the house of his enemy there is danger from water.

(Ordinarily Chandra has no enemy, here enemy means temporary enemy).

The Yoga that makes a man a liar :

If the lord of the second house is conjoined with a naturally unfavourable planet and another malefic occupies the 2nd house the native is a habitual liar and suffers from morbid affection of the nervous system.

The Yoga that makes a man rich :

If the lagna, dhana and Ayasthan (11th house) are occupied by their respective lords the native becomes rich.

Our readers may get general idea of 'dhana' yoga if they remember the following combination of planets or relation among those planets :

(1) Any two of the following seven bhavas viz., lagna, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 9th, 10th and 11th, if related to one another either by combination, aspect or exchange of places, may confer wealth to the native. Permutation and combination of these bhava lords will be the guiding factor to determine the dhana yoga.

dhana karaka (wealth giving planet) Vrhaspathi does not aspect the dhanasthan (i.e. 2nd house) even the specially brilliant dhana yoga does not yield desired result.

Dāridra yoga (Poverty)

The same theory as noted above is applicable in determining 'Dāridra Yoga'.

That is, if the planets that form dhana yoga are malefic due to their positions in unfavourable houses or aspect of or conjunction with malefic planets the native may suffer from poverty. This is a general rule. The malefic effect may be modified or lessened owing to aspect of or association with favourable planets. But there are special 'dāridra' yoga (yoga of poverty) which are considered to be almost infallible.

(1) If Ravi, Sukra and Sani are combined together even a king may be a pauper. But if Ravi is posited in Mesa Rasi and is associated with Budha and is aspected by Vrhaspathi the native is expected to be rich.

(2) Combination of Chandra, Mangal, Sukra and Sani in any sign (i.e. Rasi) will definitely result in poverty.

(3) When Ravi and Sani together occupy the 2nd place from lagna the subject suffers from loss of money and also monetary stringency is possible, but if these planets are aspected by a benefic planet unfavourable result should not be predicted.

(4) If there is no planet in the 10th house from lagna, the 11th house from Ravi and in the 8th house from Chandra the native becomes a poor man. This is a very unfavourable yoga.

(5) If the 4 Kendras i.e. lagna, 4th, 7th and 10th are occupied by malefic planets the native suffers from poverty till his death.

(6) If there is no planet excepting Ravi in 2nd and 12th places from Chandra, and Chandra and Kendra positions donot receive aspect of any benefic planet it is 'Kemadrooma' yoga. This is a sign of poverty and the native passes his days through many vicissitudes of life. If Chandra is aspected by Vrhaspathi the bad effect of Kemadrooma yoga is much minimized.

(7) Mangal in the 2nd place from lagna is said to be very unfavourable even though he is a yogakaraka planet. (In case of Karkata & Simha lagnas Mangal is called a yoga-karaka planet).

(8) Ravi, Mangal and Sani, are said to be naturally very unfavourable planets, their Indian equivalent term is 'Krura' (cruel or mischievous) planets. If these krura planets occupy the 2nd place without being aspected by any naturally benefic planets and at the same time if they are combust, debilitated or conjoined with any lord of dusthan the native has no means of livelihood and suffers from extreme poverty.

(9) If the benefic planets occupy any dusthan and malefic planets are situated in kendra or kona house the native anyhow is able to manage his two meals but it is a great predicament for him to arrange his clothing.

Results of the lord of the second house occupying different bhavas (houses)

(1) In Lagna—The native may be a businessman and rich, but he will be miserly, greedy, passionate and lacks polite manners and may hate his own kith and kin.

But the native will earn money by his own effort, intelligence or learning. If the 2nd lord being in Lagna joins with the lord of luck (9th house) or the Sun the subject may get property and wealth by inheritance.

(2) In the 2nd place—The native may be wealthy and enterprising; he feels proud for his wealth. He may marry twice or thrice and even then he remains childless.

The native cannot take delicious or nutritious food if the 2nd lord is afflicted by malefic planets. Again his children may be sickly and he is unhappy in his conjugal life.

(3) In the 3rd place—The native shall be brave, conscientious but obstinate, well-mannered but he may be a man of immoral character and addicted to luxuries. If the 2nd lord in the third house is strong and is aspected by or conjoined with beneficial planets his brothers or sisters may be of great help to the native and his artistic faculties, viz., art of music or dancing may be developed and he may be profited thereby.

(4) In the 4th house—The subject will be rich, kind-hearted and truthful; he may be blessed with long life. If the 2nd lord is a naturally malefic planet without receiving any aspect of a favourable planet the mother of the native may fall badly ill during the dasa-antardasa of the 2nd lord.

Again, if the 2nd lord is fortified by the aspect of or conjunction with a benefic planet the native may earn good amount of money through agricultural pursuit or automobile business. Further he may be benefited by maternal relatives and may inherit his father's property.

If the 4th house or its lord along with the lord of the 2nd is afflicted, the native shall have to sustain monetary loss heavily.

(5) In the 5th house—If the 2nd lord in the fifth house is well-fortified there is a chance of unexpected gain of wealth through lotteries or favour of the ruler of the land. The subject may be doing good works no doubt but his miserly habit may be a talk of the day, because he will be reluctant to spend the least amount of money for his house-hold affairs. Even he shall not be readily agreeable to spend anything for maintenance or education of his children. His children may be honest and lucky, the native may be sensual and lack manners due to affliction of the 2nd lord in the 5th house.

(6) In the 6th house—The subject may acquire wealth through unfair means such as black marketing or other deceitful works. For his own financial gain he may create misunderstanding and trouble between his friends and relatives.

If the 2nd lord combines with the lord of the 6th house and both of them are strong, suspicious dealings with friends and relatives may be anticipated and he may be accused of forgeries and perjuries or breach of trust.

If the 6th lord is a natural benefic the native may sustain loss of money due to activities of enemies but the enemies will be subdued.

(7) In the 7th house—Both the husband and wife may be sensual, particularly the wife who may be a person of questionable moral character. When the lord of the 2nd associated with the 7th lord is posited in the 7th house and both the planets—particularly the 7th lord, are strong the native may earn money through foreign sources. He will be a business man and shall visit many foreign countries to promote his business.

When the rasi or Navamsa held by the 2nd lord happens to be a feminine one the native will be benefited by a woman.

(8) In the 8th house—If the 2nd lord is situated in the 8th there is little or no chance of happiness in conjugal life. Relation with his elder brothers or sisters are not cordial. The native will inherit ancestral property, or wealth from some other source ; he will have no earning and ultimately accumulated wealth or property may be squandered.

If the 2nd lord is strong there is a chance of fair earning but loss of money also is equally possible.

(9) In the 9th house—If the 2nd lord is in the 9th house the subject will be efficient, skilful, and lucky ; he will be sickly in young age but will maintain good health afterwards. This yoga is very favourable one, the native shall earn money through different sources and shall inherit wealth or property.

(10) In the 10th house—When the 2nd lord is associated with the 10th house the native shall be held in high esteem by almost all classes of men, even his superiors and elders shall show respect to him. He will be a learned man, and shall earn fairly well by dint of his own effort. He may be childless, the result depends on the character and strength of the 5th house and its lord.

(11) In the 11th house—The native may be a hotelkeeper or a banker or moneylender. Health in his childhood will not be good, he will earn huge money through the business stated above but he will be unscrupulous.

(12) In the 12th house—This is not a good sign to have the lord of the 2nd posited in the 12th house. The native may be extravagant or may be bound to spend much more than his income and may be involved in debt.

There are favourable results too. He becomes a very respectable man and may hold a Governmental post. He is not happy with his elder brother and eldest son.

The Third House

The third house rules brothers, sisters and relatives in general. It signifies medicine, food specially fruits, courage, throat, ears, father's death. While judging the third house the following factors should be looked into viz.,

- (a) The strength or otherwise of the bhava and its lord,
- (b) Planets occupying the bhava,
- (c) Natural indicator of the third bhava.

Besides, general rules to assess the merit or demerit of a bhava or its lord are to be applied which will help the readers arrive at a correct decision.

Third house denotes exclusively brothers and sisters. So, standard and authoritative books on astrology deal with brothers and sisters first and subsequently other matters are taken into consideration.

1. If the third house is occupied by very malefic planets or the lord of the third house or the Karaka planet (viz., Mangal) is associated with very unfavourable planet the native loses his brother or sister in his/her childhood.

2. If Karaka planet Mangal occupies his debilitated house either in birth or Navamsa Chart or Mangal is in malefic sasthanamsa ($\frac{1}{60}$ part of a Rasi—See Varga charts) or conjoined with a malefic the birth of brothers or sisters is possible only to meet with early death.

Sarvarthachintamani an authoritative book on astrology says that if the Karaka planet Mangal becomes extremely malefic as stated above the birth of a still-born brother is certain. The readers must be very careful in applying this rule before giving their judgment. Because it was found in some cases that aspect of a favourable planet on Mangal saved one or two brothers of the natives inspite of their serious illness. Let us give an instance :—In case of dhanu lagna third house is occupied by Sani, Ravi, Budha and Ketu, and Mangal is in the 11th house (Tula Rasi) with 8th lord Chandra who is a natural papa. Chandra and Mangal are aspected by lagna-lord Vrhaspathi who is situated in the 5th house.

The third lord Sani is combust, between two malefic Ravi and Budha, aspected by Rahu. Mangal is with 8th lord Chandra but aspected by favourable Vrhaspathi.

The younger and elder sisters of the native died very early, the youngest brother though seriously ill at the age of 5 years, survived and still alive. This is only possible as Mangal is aspected by Vrhaspathi and Sani is exalted in Navamsa chart. So, correct decision about the third house and its lord depends on a careful examination of many more things.

(3) If the lord of the 3rd house and Karaka planet are posited in the 3th house from lagna and are aspected by malefics, early death of brothers and sisters may be anticipated. If that 8th house is owned by a malefic and the lord thereof is associated with an unfavourable planet early death of brothers and sisters is more certain.

A few yogas that indicate early death of brothers and sisters :

(a) The third house is associated with or aspected by a malefic and the lord of the 3rd house is hemmed in between two malefics.

(b) The 3rd lord will be unfavourable due to above reasons and his position in his debilitated house in Navamsa, at the same time no benefic will cast his aspect on the 3rd house or its lord.

(c) The Navamsa lord of the 3rd lord is combust and in the 8th house and debilitated.

(d) The third lord is joined with Sani or Mandi, or debilitated and is aspected by a malefic.

(e) The lord of the third house is posited in the 3rd, is aspected by a malefic or is in malefic Sastyamsa.

(f) The lord of the 3rd house is in the 8th place and his Navamsa lord occupies the house of a very malefic planet.

(g) The Navamsa lord of the lord of Navamsa of the 3rd lord is in his debilitated or inimical house.

4. The third lord or Karaka planet Mangal if posited in any dusthan or is associated with and aspected by a malefic will produce bad effects so far death of brothers and sisters are concerned though they occupy their houses of exaltation.

5. The yogas that confer the native being blessed with brothers and sisters :

(a) The 3rd house is associated with and aspected by benefic planet and the 3rd lord is strong.

(b) The Karaka planet Mangal being placed in the 3rd house and powerful, will give good result in respect of brothers and sisters if at the same time Mangal is in conjunction with or is aspected by a benefic.

(c) The lord of the 3rd house, the Karaka of the 3rd bhava (Mangal, naturally governs the 3rd bhava) if posited in their houses of exaltation, in their own or friendly houses or in their own Vargas in Navamsa Chart.

(d) The 3rd lord is a natural benefic and acquires Gopur varga and Mangal the ruler of the 3rd bhava (i.e. Karaka of the 3rd bhava) also is in Simhasan varga.

If a planet acquires 4 vargas of his own is said to be in 'Gopur' varga and when a planet in 5 vargas of his own is said to be in 'Simhasan' varga.

6. Affinity with brothers and sisters—When the lagnadhipatni (lord of lagna) and the lord of the 3rd house are friendly to each other relation with brothers and sisters will be cordial. If however, they are inimical to each other there is least chance of sweet relation between the native and his brothers and sisters.

7. The 3rd lord and character of the native :

(a) If the 3rd lord being in conjunction with a benefic is placed in a favourable Navamsa the native becomes sober and temperate.

(b) The lord of Navamsa of the lord of the 3rd house if placed in his own or exalted house in Navamsa chart, the native will be steady in all his endeavours, he will be an intelligent warrior and experienced diplomat.

(c) When the 3rd lord acquires Simhasan, Gopur or Pārābata varga (6 vargas of his own) and is aspected by or conjoined with benefic the native becomes a veteran first rate warrior.

(d) (i) When the 3rd lord is associated with Ravi the native becomes gentle-natured and calm.

(ii) When 3rd lord is associated with Chandra, the native becomes steady in all his endeavours.

(iii) When he is conjoined with Sani he will be fatuous.

(iv) When he is associated with Mangal the native will be a man of bad temper.

(v) When he is in conjunction with Budha the native will be pious.

(vi) When he is joined with Vrhaspathi he will be conversant in all shastras, a great scholar and sober.

(vii) When the 3rd lord is conjoined with Sukra the subject will be highly libidinous.

(viii) If the same lord is in conjunction with Rahu or Ketu the native outwardly appears to be strong-minded but inwardly a weak man.

8. Indication of diseases and other unfavourable results from the position of 3rd lord :

(a) If Vrhaspathi with the 3rd lord is posited in lagna, danger from four-footed animal particularly cows may be anticipated, and if the lagna-rasi is a watery sign, danger from water also may be apprehended.

(b) If the 3rd lord is associated with Rahu or with the lord of the sign where Rahu is posited there is danger from snake.

(c) If the 3rd lord being in his house of debilitation is posited in the 6th house and also is aspected by a malefic or he is combust the native may be poisoned by somebody or accidentally he takes any poisonous drug etc.

(d) The native suffers from any kind of disease in throat if the 3rd house is occupied by malefic planet particularly if Gulika (or Mandi) is there in the third house along with other malefics the disease in throat is a strong and sure possibility.

(e) If the 3rd house is occupied by Sani, and Gulika also is there the native shall be attacked with rheumatism.

(f) The lord of Navamsa of the lord of the sign where the 3rd lord is posited if placed in Kendra and conjoined with and aspected by malefic and there is no aspect of a benefic cast on the same Navamsa lord the native may be attacked with diseases in Ear.

Positions of the lord of the third house in different bhavas and results thereof.

1. In the 1st house—The native earns money by his own effort and becomes rich ; he is illiterate, lean and thin, brave, sickly and serves others.

When the third lord is strong the native becomes a good actor and makes good name as a musician and dancer.

2. In the 2nd house—The native shall be morally depraved, unscrupulous and a mean-minded person ; generally he is unhappy.

3. In the 3rd house—The third lord in the 3rd house is a favourable yoga. The native becomes brave, wealthy and happy. He shall always be adored by his friends and relatives.

4. In the 4th house—The wife of the native shall be a mean and cruel-hearted person ; he himself will be rich and learned.

5. In the 5th house—If the 3rd lord is well-fortified in the fifth house the native's relation with his brothers will be cordial and he will be benefited by them but he will not be happy about children. As a Government Servant he shall prove his efficiency and shall hold very high position.

6. In the 6th house—Native's brothers may be very rich, but he hates them, his enemies shall give constant trouble. His relation with his maternal uncles will not be cordial but he will be dear to his maternal aunts.

When the 3rd lord is well-fortified in the 6th house, one of his brothers shall be a successful physician and another an army officer. If again both the 3rd and 6th lords join together in the 6th house the native may be a good sportsman and athlete. If these two lords are afflicted the native shall suffer from various kinds of diseases and enemies will give him trouble every now and then.

7. In the 7th house—The native may incur displeasures of rulers and may be punished. If the 3rd lord is very much afflicted the native may even be sentenced to death. Of course if lagna and the 8th lord are well-fortified there may not be capital punishment.

If the 3rd lord is well-disposed in the 7th, the native's brother or brothers may live in a foreign country and will help the native.

The afflicted 3rd lord in the 7th house does not make a person morally strong unless the lord of the 9th house (called house of religion) and also the lagna-lord are strong and well-disposed. If these two lords are not well-fortified and the 3rd lord is unfavourable the native may hanker after other's wife.

8. In the 8th house—The 3rd lord in the 8th house is an unfortunate yoga with regard to one's health. The native may be attacked with serious and dangerous diseases. The native may be involved in a criminal case; this yoga denotes unhappy conjugal life and bad luck all through his life until and unless the well-disposition of the lords of 9th and 10th houses are assured in the birth chart.

9. In the 9th house—Indication of favourable luck after marriage. The native may be benefited by his brothers. His father will be cynic and a cruel-hearted man. The native may have strained relation with his father if the 3rd lord is afflicted. He may undertake long journey.

10. In the 10th house—The native's wife will be quarrelsome, cruel-hearted and unfaithful. He himself will be rich, happy and intelligent and his brothers will shine well in their vocational career and will be of great help to the native.

11. In the 11th house—If the 3rd lord is well-disposed in the 11th house the native may earn good money by his own effort and lead a decent life. If the 3rd lord is afflicted he becomes vindictive, may be serving others or dependant on others, and is liable to suffer from many diseases.

12. In the 12th house—The native gets fortune through his wife but he is to pass through many ups and downs. His father is a cruel-hearted man, and the younger brother of the native will be a dangerous fellow and for his fault the native may sustain heavy loss of money.

These unfavourable results may be modified if the 3rd lord is strong in Navamsa Chart, aspected by favourable planets.

The Fourth House

The 4th house signifies mother, education, mental condition, vehicles, house, general happiness, prosperity, property—particularly immovable property. In determining the student's merit in academic career 4th house and its lord play an important role though the disposition of the 5th and 10th lords should not be overlooked. The Karakas of the 4th bhava are Vrhaspathi, Sukra and Budha of which Vrhaspathi stands for learning and wisdom, and Sukra and Budha for such education that helps the man enjoy material happiness. So, in considering the academic success of a native the Karaka planet's disposition also is to be taken into account.

If the lagnadhipathi is not well-fortified simply favourable disposition of Karaka planets and of the 4th lord cannot give brilliant result in respect of university education.

(a) If the 4th lord is favourably posited either in the 4th or in any other favourable house and the favourable planets are situated in any dusthan the native shall not be altogether deprived of good result expected from the 4th house, though the good result will be lessened to some extent.

On the other hand occupation of malefic planets or of lords of dusthanas in the 4th may mar the tranquillity of the mind and other malefic effects regarding the 4th house are possible.

(b) If the 4th house and its lord, favourable planets and strong Karaka planets are situated in the 4th place, or those benefic planets cast their aspect on the 4th house or its lord, or the 4th lord joins those favourable planets the native shall be highly educated, modest, disciplined and intelligent.

(c) The native cannot do well in his educational career, and he cannot be a man of sharp intellect if the 4th house and its lord are afflicted owing to aspect, or association of malefic planets or the position of 4th lord in any dusthana.

(d) Sukra denotes wife, Chandra mother, and Ravi father. Again when birth is at day time Sukra governs mother and Chandra governs mother when birth is at night.

[The planet that attains maximum degree is called Atmakaraka—ruling planet (if Rahu attains minimum degree he is called Atmakaraka), the planet whose degree is second to the first one is called Amatya-karaka. In this manner Bhatrikaraka, Matrikaraka, Putrakaraka, Jnatikaraka and Jayakaraka planets are determined. In case of Rahu being Atmakaraka, Amatya-karaka planet will be one who has maximum degree among other six planets.]

Concerning Mother's death

(1) Subtract Ravi's sphuta from Chandra-sphuta.

The result will be some rasi, degree, and Kala or Minute ; when the transit (Gochar) Sani or Vrhaspathi will pass over that rasi and amsa or on the 5th or 9th rasi and amsa from the newly found rasi and amsa, the death of the mother may be predicted.

(2) Subtract the rasi and amsa of Ravi from the rasi and amsa of the 8th lord from Chandra, when transit Sani or Ravi passes over that newly-found rasi and amsa, mother's death may be apprehended.

Let us cite an example :

In the first birth chart (See Chapter 1)—Method No. 2 Sukra denotes mother as the native is born at day time. Hence, Sukra's sphuta...11s-22°-11'

Minus Ravi's	"	...	0-16-18'
Result	"	...	11-5-53

So, when transit Sani or Vrhaspathi will pass over the aforesaid rasi and amsa the death of the mother may be anticipated. The 5th house from this newly found rasi and amsa is 4-5'-53' and 9th rasi is 8-5'-53', when Sani or Vrhaspathi will pass over any of these rasis, the death of the mother may be predicted.

Astrologers must be cautious in predicting the period of death of any person. Because, Death can not overtake a person before his turn to leave this mortal world comes. In such cases, when astrologers see that the person will live some years more they will predict illness of that person during the transition of Sani or Vrhaspathi over that newly found rasi and amsa.

Nature of disease of mother

(a) Powerful Ravi and Mangal when posited in the 4th house the mother of the native may suffer from diseases due to faulty secretion of bile and she may also be attacked with carbuncle or tumour etc.

There may be a scar on the right side of the native's body and he can not maintain cordial relation with his friends. These results are outcome of the positions of Ravi and Mangal in the 4th house.

(b) If the 4th house is occupied by either Sani or Rahu the mother of the native may suffer from morbid affection of the nervous system or she may fall seriously ill owing to application of any kind of poisonous drug or she may be involved into an accident from fall on any spacious stone.

(c) If Chandra being associated with Sani or Rahu is posited in the 4th house the mother of the native becomes sickly.

Longivity of the mother

Full life or Purnayu :—

(a) When the 4th house and Matrikaraka planet are associated with favourable planet and the 4th lord is powerful.

(b) Powerful Chandra being in favourable Navamsa is aspected by Sukra or Budha and occupies any of the 4 Kendras or that Chandra will be posited in the favourable rasi from the 4th house.

(c) The lord of Navamsa of lagna-Navamsa-lord when associated with the Sukhapathi (4th lord) and is posited in a Kendra from lagna or in any Kendra from the Moon.

The yoga that confers happiness

(a) When powerful lord of the 9th house is associated with Sukra and occupies the 4th house the native enjoys happiness till his death.

(b) When Vrishaspathi is comparatively more powerful than lagnadhipathi and is in conjunction with favourable planets or is posited between two benefic planets, at the same time he occupies the 4th house the native becomes a leader of the people and enjoys happiness.

(c) Vrishaspathi's aspect on the 4th lord, and when he is posited in the 7th place, or 7th place is occupied by any other benefic planet or Budha being in the 7th house is posited between benefic planets.

This yoga makes a man happy and a leader of the people,

(d) The 4th lord Vrishaspathi acquiring 'Gopuramsa' and the 2nd, 10th and 11th houses are occupied by planets the native leads a very happy life.

The yogas that confer unhappiness

(a) The 4th lord joined with malefic planets and posited in malefic Navamsa and the 2nd, 4th and 5th places are associated with debilitated planets. Under this yoga the native lives in distress and is very unhappy.

(b) When the 4th lord associated with Ravi and Mangal is in malefic Navamsa and is not aspected by any benefic planet the native lives in great distress.

Ownership of Vehicles

(a) When powerful Sukra and full moon occupy Kendra or Kona houses the native commands many conveyances.

(b) When the lord of the Kendra where the powerful 4th lord is situated occupies lagna or there is exchange of houses between 10th and 11th lords the native becomes prosperous and possesses many conveyances.

(c) If the 4th lord associated with Chandra, Vrishaspathi and Sukra is situated in lagna and these three planets (Chandra, Vrishaspathi and Sukra) are not weak or malefic in any way, the native owns three kinds of conveyances.

Ownership of houses

(a) The 11th house is occupied by powerful benefic, and lords of lagna and the 4th house are very strong, or the 4th lord acquires 'Gopur' or 'Simhasan' Varga the native owns a palatial building.

(b) If the lord of lagna is in the 4th and the 4th lord is in lagna (i.e. when there is exchange of houses between them) the native may build a house of his own very easily.

(c) If the 4th place falls in a movable sign and the 4th lord and Karaka planet too are posited in movable sign (or Rasi) the native builds houses in many places. Under this yoga if the lords of the 2nd, 11th and 4th houses are placed in Kendra or Kona places all the buildings referred to above are good and well-built.

(d) If the powerful 4th and 10th lords are situated in Kendra or Kona houses the native shall own beautiful buildings.

Loss of houses

(a) If the inimical planet of lagnadhipathi occupies lagna there is possibility of loss of house in his (Enemy's) dasa and antardasa.

(b) The dasa-antardasa of inimical planet of the 4th lord may be the cause of destruction of houses and death of friends.

If that dasa-lord happens to be Sani, Mangal or Gulika the native shall have to suffer from serious type of worries and anxieties.

Concerning possession of landed property

(a) 4th lord is in the 10th and 10th lord in the 4th and Mangal attains full strength ; under this yoga the native possesses many landed properties.

(b) If the 4th lord acquires Gopur varga and is posited in the 5th place from lagna the acquisition of many landed properties may be predicted.

(c) Navamsa lord of the lord of the sign where the 4th lord is situated may help the native's brother acquire much wealth and landed property if that Navamsa lord is aspected by a friendly planet.

(d) If the lord of the 7th and Jāyakaraka planet are situated in the 4th house and the 4th lord is in the 7th and they are friendly to each other, acquisition of wealth through wife is possible.

Acquisition of wealth buried underground

(a) If the lords of the 2nd and 11th houses are in the 4th,

or

(b) If the powerful lord of the 4th is posited in the 9th house owned by a benefic and also 4th lord is associated with benefic planets,

or

(c) If the powerful lord of the house, associated with a benefic is placed in the 4th house owned by benefic planets,

or

(d) If the lord of the 2nd house being in conjunction with the 4th lord is conjoined with a benefic and also is placed in the 9th place from a favourable planet.

The owners of birthcharts having been endowed with any of the above yogas may acquire wealth buried under the earth.

A few special yogas

(a) If the 4th house is occupied by Sani with Chandra in his house of exaltation and Vrhaspathi aspects both Chandra and Sani the native's mother dies early; he will receive western education and will be an author at his early age.

(b) If the 3rd house is occupied by Budha, the 4th lord is well-disposed, the native will own splendid mansions.

(c) If the 4th house is associated with Sani, Rahu or Ketu the native will be dishonest and may indulge in fraudulent schemes.

Position of the lord of the fourth house in different bhavas and results thereof

1. In the 1st house—The native becomes highly educated but is afraid of speaking in public meetings or assemblies. He may be deprived of ancestral property.

2. In the 2nd house—The person will be very fortunate, courageous and happy. He will have chance of inheriting property from maternal grandfather.

3. In the 3rd house—The native will be a man of very poor wealth, generous and a man of character. He will be rich by dint of his own effort and intelligence ; may suffer very badly due to activities of step-mother and step-brother.

4. In the 4th house—The person will be rich, respected and happy. He will be a religious-minded man but sensual.

5. In the 5th house—He will be a devotee of lord Vishnu, popular and becomes rich by self-effort. He may acquire vehicles.

6. In the 6th house—The person will have evil thoughts and intentions. Short-tempered and mean-minded fellow as he is he will be very unpopular and will be roaming about without any peace of mind.

7. In the 7th house—He will be owner of lands and houses. If the 7th house falls in a movable sign (rasi) he will earn his livelihood in a distant place from his birthland ; if that house falls in a fixed sign, he will be employed in his own birthplace.

8. In the 8th house—The native may be plunged into miserable circumstances, he may be impotent, his father may die early, and may be involved into litigation and lose his landed property.

9. In the 9th house—The native will be fortunate, he will have his own properties, his father too will be lucky and the native himself will be prosperous and happy. Of course if the 4th lord is afflicted or 9th lord is unfavourably posited the good results will not be predicted or astrologers should be cautious in making favourable predictions.

10. In the 10th house—He will be an expert chemist and a successful politician, he will be an illustrious personality to be adored by great men of the world (provided the 4th and the 10th lords are powerful). If the 4th lord is afflicted there is chance of loss of reputation.

11. In the 11th house—The person will be a self-made man and will rise to the position of eminence. He will be generous and sickly. His mother may be fortunate.

12. In the 12th house—The person shall have to lead a miserable life due to poverty and will be deprived of mental peace. Early death of the mother is possible.

CHAPTER—VI

THE FIFTH HOUSE

The fifth house denotes intellect, talent, devotion to God, royal favour, secret counsel, education and learning, wisdom and children.

The fifth place is primarily termed as place concerning children (Putrasthana). The Karaka planet is Vrhaspathi. But while giving judgment about children the fifth place from Chandra, Vrhaspathi and the 9th house are to be examined carefully. One may get children from those planets as well as the 5th and 9th lords during their dasa and antardasas.

If the 5th or 7th place from lagna or Chandra is occupied or aspected by or conjoined with benefic planets good results may be predicted about son and wife both, on the other hand if those places or their lords become malefic due to aspect of or conjunction with unfavourable planets we can not expect any good result about children and wife.

Before we give our judgment about children we must first of all ascertain whether there is any sign of barrenness in the native's chart. We therefore shall take up those yogas that may make a person sterile. They are as follows :

Signs of sterility :

(a) If the 5th place is occupied by 2 or 3 malefic planets and lagna is aspected by the enemy of lagnādhipathi the native and his wife (vice versa) become barren.

(b) If lagna rises at Makar or Kumbha with Sani there or Sani's aspect on lagna without receiving any aspect of or association with any benefic the native's life-partner becomes barren.

(c) If lagna rises at Karkata or Simha rasi and the 7th place from the lagna is aspected by or associated with Sani the native may be barren.

In case of both (b) and (c) rules sign of barrenness will be taken as nullified if Sani becomes otherwise strong in Navamsa

Chakra, or Kendra position or the lord of the 5th house receives the aspect of or is in conjunction with any benefic.

Let me cite two examples :

(i) Lagna is in Kumba with Sani there, the 4th house from lagna is posited by Vrhaspathi. The native is the father of 13 children.

(ii) This is the birth chart of Mrs. Indira Gandhi, Lagna is associated with Sani, and Chandra is in the 7th place from lagna, the 5th lord Mangal is in the 2nd place. Sani in Navamsa Chakra occupies his own rasi Makar and he is therefore strong. Here 5th place from lagna is aspected by Vrhaspathi a natural benefic and the lord of bhagyasthana (9th place).

(d) If the lagna is associated with Sani, and Sukra is situated in the 7th place from lagna or the 7th place is occupied by Ravi and Sani the native shall be barren in both the cases provided Vrhaspathi has full aspect on the 10th place from lagna.

(e) If the 5th place is aspected by a malefic and the lords of the 2nd and 5th houses are weak the native shall have no issue inspite of more than one wife.

If the native gets a child and the 5th house is aspected by the 6th lord Budha the child born to him is to be taken as bastard.

(f) Vrhaspathi in the 5th house is said to be ineffectual so far concerned with children unless the 5th place is aspected by its lord. Vrhaspathi alone in the 5th place may give one or two children only and the native will seldom be happy about them.

A woman who bears only one child

The 5th place signifies womb of a woman and the 8th place denotes genital organ. If these two places and/or their lords are influenced by malefics the disease in the sexual organs may be anticipated, and in such cases the native (a woman) may not have any issue.

Yogas concerning that result are given below :

1. If the 5th lord is conjoined with a malefic planet and combust or the debilitated 5th lord is posited in the 6th place.

2. If the debilitated 5th lord occupies 8th or 12th places and the 5th place is associated with Budha and Ketu.

3. If the 5th lord does not cast his aspect on the 5th place occupied by Budha and Sani.

4. The 5th place is occupied by Vrhaspathi and from Vrhaspathi the 5th place is occupied by Sani and from Sani the 5th place is occupied by Rahu.

5. If the 5th lord without receiving any aspect of a favourable planet is posited in the 5th place the native gets a few children.

6. Similarly if Vrhaspathi alone occupies the 5th place the native gets a few children, of course if the 5th lord aspects the 5th house this yoga (of getting a few children) is nullified.

The following Yogas signify birth of one child & Yogas concerning a woman giving birth to dead children.

7. (a) If these three places, viz. 6th, 8th and 12th are occupied by malefic planets the native in case of a woman's birth chart, will give birth to still-born or dead children, in case of man's birth chart the native may not have any issue at all.

(b) If the malefic planets are situated in the 5th place and from Vrhaspathi's position the 5th place is occupied by Sani or Mangal and the lord of lagna is posited in the 2nd place, children of the native shall be shortlived.

Yoga of childlessness in a woman's Rasi-Chakra (birth chart)

8. If in a woman's birth chart Janma-rasi (rasi where Chandra is situated) falls in Karkata, Vrscika or Mina and Chandra in Navamsa chakra is situated in the 7th house from the native's lagna with Sukra there and Jata-lagna is associated with Sani without any planet in the 5th place from Lagna—the woman becomes barren.

Further there are special rules of testing yogas that confer a man or a woman children at proper time or at bit late in age etc. The rules are stated below :

According to a woman's rasi chakra :

Add together the degree, amsa & kala of Chandra, Mangal and Vrhaspathi, if total figures thus obtained indicates even rasi the woman may have children. If the Navamsa rasi obtained from that total figures also indicate even rasi the native must get children.

If these figures indicate odd rasi and Navamsa rasi shows even rasi the child may be born to the woman after timely treatment by a competent physician. If both of them signify odd rasi, the lady shall have no child at all.

According to a man's rasi chakra :

Add together the degree, amsa & kala of Ravi, Vrhaspathi and Sukra. If the total figures thus obtained indicate odd rasi the native shall have children. The possibility of getting children will be more certain if the Navamsa rasi determined from those figures too falls in an odd rasi. If however one is in odd rasi and another is in even sign, birth of children may be possible after the native undergoes thorough medical treatment.

If both the rasis indicate even sign no child may be born to the native.

9. Birth of children very late in age :

Maharshi Parasar says :

(i) If Mangal be the lord of lagna and is posited in his house of exaltation, and Ravi and Sani together are situated in the 8th place the native gets a son very late in age.

(ii) If the 5th house is occupied by Budha, Sani and Vrhaspathi and the 5th lord is posited in lagna or in any beneficial rasi or

(iii) If Sani is in lagna, Vrhaspathi in the 8th place and Mangal in the 12th and the lord of the 5th house is weak—

The native gets children very late in age.

10. Adopted son :

The native may adopt a son under the following configuration of planets in his birth chart :

(i) The 5th lord is posited in the 9th, Chandra is situated in a malefic house and 5th or 9th place from Chandra is occupied by lagnadhipathi.

(ii) If the 5th house from lagna is owned by Budha or Sani and that house is aspected by Sani, or Gulika is posited there.

(iii) The 5th is owned by Chandra who is situated in lagna, Sani occupies the 5th house and Vrhaspathi attains full strength.

Other important things about the 5th house and its lord.

It was already stated that 5th house denotes intellect, talent devotion to god, wisdom, children etc.

Vrhaspathi mainly rules over talent, intellect, learning, wisdom and children. Budha and Sukra signify among other things intelligence, education and knowledge.

So, if a man's intellect, wisdom etc. are to be judged primarily position of Vrhaspathi and 5th house and its lords are to be looked into, if the 5th house is associated with a favourable planet or the house is situated between two benefics and Vrhaspathi is posited in Kendra or Kona house the native's intellect and talent may be developed.

If the 5th house is occupied by Budha and Sukra the native is able to utilise his intelligence in practical field and may attain success in his academic career.

If Ravi is in the 5th house the native will be sober, Chandra there will make him fickle-minded, Mangal there makes him mischievously inclined, Budha makes him temperate. Sukra in the 5th house makes a man of slow intellect, and Sani and Rahu in the 5th house will make him a man of perverted intellect.

The 5th house indicates intestine, liver etc. If the 5th place is situated in a watery sign with any watery planet the native may pass liquid stool. If the 5th house falls in a dry or windy rasi with dry planet there the native may suffer from constipation.

The 5th house also denotes penance, religious austerity, devotion to Gods, spiritual initiation. So, if the 9th house and its lord and 5th house and its lord are favourably disposed the native will be religiously inclined and will be overwhelmed with sentiment of devotion.

If the lords of the 5th and 9th houses are natural denoters of moral goodness, the qualities referred to above will be developed gradually more and more.

Sukra also rules over divine qualities. So, if he is in the 5th house or being the lord of the 9th is posited in the 5th the native aspires after acquiring divine qualities.

Again if Sukra being in the 5th house joins Sani the native has an unswerving devotion to God and becomes an austere devotee.

11. Yogas that make man an author :

Authorship is to be determined from the 5th bhava.

(a) If Chandra or Vrishpathi is posited in the Navamsa rasi where atmakaraka planet is situated, or

(b) Any of these two planets are situated in the 5th or 9th place from atmakaraka Navamsa rasi, or

(c) If the 5th or 9th place from lagna (of the birth chart) is occupied by any of those two planets the native becomes an author.

(d) If Sukra joins Chandra the native will be an author of mediocre standard and shall earn moderate name and fame.

(e) If Chandra joins Budha the native shall be an author of ordinary calibre.

(f) If Chandra joins both Budha and Sukra he will be an illustrious author and shall be a poet, dramatist, fiction and story writer, a novelist and historian too.

(g) If Chandra is conjoined with Vrishpathi along with Budha or Sukra the native shall write books on philosophic and other serious subjects. If Budha, Vrishpathi and Sukra join Chandra the native shall write books on astrology, medicine, philosophy, art and accountancy.

(h) If Rahu or Ketu joins Chandra and any two among Budha, Vrishpathi and Sukra are associated with them the native may be vastly learned in mathematics and astrology.

12. Yogas causing sharp intellect :

Budha is the natural indicator of intelligence.

(i) So, if Budha is powerful and well-disposed, and the 5th lord is aspected by a benefic or the 5th house is associated with a favourable planet,

(ii) If the 5th lord at his highest exalted point casts his aspect just on the bhava-madhya of the 5th house,

(iii) If the lord of Navamsa of the 5th lord is aspected by a benefic,

(iv) If Navamsa lord of Budha is posited in Kendra or Kona and is aspected by the 5th lord,

(v) If the lord of the 5th house being posited in the 9th is aspected by a benefic or occupies an auspicious house,

(vi) If the 5th house is situated just between two favourable planets,

(vii) While 5th lord is in the 9th place, Vrhaspathi in the 5th and 5th bhava is posited between two benefics,

(viii) If the 5th place being associated with a benefic is situated between favourable planets and Vrhaspathi is posited in Kendra or Kona the native will be a man of sharp intellect.

13. If Sani occupying the 5th house aspects the lord of Lagna and the 5th lord conjoins with a malefic planet the native slowly becomes intellectually dull.

14. The native loses his memory if Sani, Rahu or Gulika is situated in the 5th place and the 5th lord is aspected by a malefic planet. Of course inspite of this yoga if Budha is associated with a favourable planet the subject slowly regains his memory.

15. In most cases it was observed that the native loses memory if the 5th lord joins an unfavourable planet and be in malefic Sasthyamsa (one-sixtyeth part of a rasi).

16. If the 5th house falls in Prithwi rasis (Vrsa, Kanya & Makar rasis) the native will possess retentive memory, imagination and deep feeling.

The 5th house is considered as a house of emotion and virtue or piety. If the planets that signify these qualities are posited in the fifth house, and the character of that sign is consistent with the planet or planets situated therein, the emotional side of the native will be developed. If the horoscope does not show any other unfavourable disposition of planets the native can not be corrupted. Rather he will be more and more religious-minded if Vrhaspathi and the 9th lord also are favourable.

Results of the lord of the 5th house occupying different bhavas.

In the 1st house : According to Parasari Hora, if the 5th lord is situated in lagna the native becomes evil-minded, a miser even he will not part with a single pice from his pocket. This may be the result if the 5th lord is afflicted, under that circumstance the person may be a cheat, a leader of a gang of swindlers. But astrological savants are of opinion that if the 5th lord is favourably associated or aspected by favourable planets the person may be the master of a number of servants, he may become a judge or a magistrate or a minister empowered by the law of the land to punish wrong-doers and he shall be a God-fearing person. He will have few children.

In the 2nd house : When the 5th lord is favourably disposed the person will be blessed with a beautiful wife and his children will behave themselves with him very respectfully. He will earn money from Government and will be a learned man and a good astrologer.

If the 5th lord is afflicted and otherwise weak the person will be a poverty-stricken man, unable to maintain his family, and may suffer from domestic troubles, Parasari Hora says that he may be attacked with asthma or other kind of phlegmatic troubles.

In the 3rd house : When the 5th lord is favourably disposed the native may have many children and brothers, if the lord is unfavourable due to aspect of or association with malefics the native may be a deceitful person, will suffer from continuous occupational troubles and may have to lament over loss of children.

In the 4th house : If the 5th lord is favourably disposed the person may become a minister, adviser to the king or a preceptor. His mother will live long and be happy. If the lord is afflicted premature death of children is possible.

In the 5th house : If the lord is favourably disposed the person will have a few children, he will prosper in his own vocational career and will be adored by men in power. He may be a great mathematician or head of a religious institution. If the lord is afflicted premature death of children is possible, he will be cruel, fickle-minded, sometimes harsh in his dealing with others.

In the 6th house : Lord being favourably disposed, benefit through maternal uncle who may be a man of repute, enmity with his sons. If the lord is afflicted he may adopt or purchase a son and then adopt.

In the 7th house : The result will be very favourable if the 5th lord is powerful and well-disposed in the 7th house. The native will be renowned, learned, prosperous, faithful to his master and a man of charming personality. One of his sons will live abroad and shall earn name, fame and wealth.

If the lord is afflicted there may be loss of children and one of his sons shall die after attaining name and fame.

In the 8th house : Loss of paternal property due to debt, may suffer from lung or intestinal trouble, he will be peevish and unhappy. His financial condition will not be bad.

In the 9th house : When the lord is favourably disposed the person may be a preceptor or teacher, may renovate ancient temples, wells and gardens. One of his sons may be an author and will attain distinction and be as great as a king. If the lord is afflicted destruction of fortune is possible due to divine wrath.

In the 10th house : When the 5th lord is favourable the person acquires landed property, is held in high esteem by the King, perform religious deeds, one of his sons becomes a famous man and raises the status and prestige of the family. If the 5th lord is afflicted unfavourable results will happen.

In the 11th house : The lord if not afflicted, success in all undertakings, becomes a learned and efficient man, popular, blessed with sons, extends helping hand to others during their bad days, becomes an author, and rich ; when the lord is afflicted the person becomes a man having shallow knowledge, earns money through hard labour and strenuous effort.

In the 12th house : The 12th house is a place of salvation. So if the 5th lord is favourable, unattached with or unaspectd by any malefic and the 9th lord is favourably disposed the native attains salvation, atleast becomes great spiritually and visits many holi shrines and lives in company of great 'Sadhus' (ascetics). If the lord is afflicted there will be a show of austerity with no attainment of beneficial result, he may roam hither and thither sometimes aimlessly.

THE SIXTH HOUSE

The Sixth house rules enemy, accidents, disease, mental afflictions, mother's brother, stepmother, co-wife, litigation and misfortunes.

1. If the sixth house falls in an auspicious sign (rasi) and the bhava is associated with or aspected by benefic planet unfavourable results signified by the Sixth bhava should not be expected. Contrary results may happen when the Sixth house falls in an inauspicious sign conjoined with or aspected by an unfavourable planet.

2. If the three weak malefic planets are posited in the 6th or 8th place or these two bhavas are aspected by three weak malefics the native remains sickly since his birth and all along suffers due to monetary loss. He is mentally troubled owing to activities of enemies.

On the other hand if powerful Budha, Vrhaspathi, Sukra and favourable Chandra are situated in the 6th place the native's granary will be full of grain and cereals and the treasury also will never be empty.

(i) If the 6th lord associates with or is aspected by a malefic and is situated in lagna the person will suffer from boils, if the 6th lord aspected by or conjoined with malefics is situated in the 5th house his son will suffer from boils, if such an afflicted 6th lord is posited in 4th the mother will suffer from boils etc.

(ii) If Ravi associated with a friendly planet and benefic planet is placed in the 6th the native's enemies will be vanquished. If Ravi associated with a malefic and unfriendly planet is situated in the 6th house the person is always troubled by enemies.

(iii) Weak and malefic Chandra in the 6th is the cause of suffering due to attack of various diseases.

(iv) The debilitated Mangal in the 6th house causes danger to life and the native sustains monetary loss.

(v) A retrograde Vrhaspathi being in the 6th place when posited in an enemy house gives the native awful troubles due to activities of an enemy or enemies;

(vi) If the 6th lord being in the 6th is associated with Sani and Rahu the native also suffers much due to activities of enemies.

(vii) If the weak 6th lord is situated in a dusthana (6th, 8th or 12th place) and the lord of lagna is powerful and well-disposed the native can surmount all the obstacles and subdues his enemies.

(viii) There is danger from fire or chance of loss of money due to activities of thieves if the 6th lord is combined with Sani and Mangal.

3. If afflicted Ravi is placed in the 6th house the person suffers from headache, any disease due to poison, heart trouble, gastritis or any other disease due to defective secretion of biles.

4. Afflicted Chandra in the 6th indicates Bālāristha (serious illness) during early childhood. The native may be attacked with periodic fever, asthma, lung disease, hydrocele etc.

5. Afflicted Mangal in the 6th makes the native suffer from Hæmatemesis (disease involving spontaneous hæmorrhage), cholera, pox, measles, ulcer, piles, fistula, blood dysentery, accident, wound by any weapon etc. The native may experience loss of money and troubles through employees.

If the afflicting planet is Sani there is chance of death due to operation or injury by animals. If Rahu afflicts Mangal death may be due to suicide, if it is Ketu the native may die by poisoning.

6. If Budha is afflicted and an indicator of disease is situated in the 6th place the native may suffer from indigestion, hysteria, loss of memory.

7. If Vṛhaspathi is an indicator of disease and being afflicted is posited in the 6th bhava the person may suffer from asthma, typhoid, dyspepsia, liver trouble, diarrhoea, apoplexy, pthysis.

8. If afflicted Sukra positioned in the 6th place in the birth chart of a woman she suffers from leucorrhœa, disease of ovary or uterus, syphilis etc. In case of a male the native may be attacked with syphilis, dropsy, inflammation of prostate gland, diabetes, impotency, eye trouble.

Afflicted Sani in the 6th place causes Paralysis, nervous ailments, hysteria, enlargement of spleen, lunacy and asthma.

10. Afflicted Rahu or Ketu causes flatulence, toothache, diarrhoea, worms, morbid condition of nerves. The lord of the sign where Rahu or Ketu is posited will also indicate the disease.

11. Special Yogas concerning disease :

(a) If the 6th house and its lord are afflicted by an unfavourable planet or by association with Sani and Rahu, and both these planets are situated in the 6th place the native remains sickly throughout his life.

(b) If 6th lord is in the 8th place and 6th place is occupied by Mangal the person is attacked with high fever at the age of 12 years.

(c) If Chandra and Vṛhaspathi are in the 6th bhava the native is attacked with any kind of disease in the womb or belly at the age of 19 or 22 years.

(d) Rahu in the 6th, Lagna lord in the 8th and Gulik in any Kendra, possibility of attack of pthysis.

(e) The 2nd lord in the 6th and the 6th lord in the 12th, possibility of enlargement of spleen at the age 8 or 29 years.

(f) If 6th bhava is occupied by Chandra combined with Sani the native may be attacked with leprosy at the age of 55 years.

(g) Lagnapathi in lagna and Sani in the 6th, chance of attack with rheumatism or gout.

It would be wrong if our readers gather this impression that in all cases planets occupying the 6th house which is termed as dusthana or inauspicious house will give unfavourable results. But in practice this is not all true. The following rules will testify our statement :

12.(a) Ravi in the 6th house : The native becomes a good and famous politician, and successful in his endeavours. The result will be otherwise if Ravi is afflicted.

(b) Chandra : When favourable and strong in the 6th bhava the native shows his efficiency and attains success in his vocational career.

(c) Mangal when favourable and strong in the 6th bhava, the native may be highly sensual, an able administrator or politician.

(d) Budha favourable and strong in the 6th bhava, a man of sharp intellect outwardly a good man but quarrelsome, yet he is respected by many, his educational career is not smooth-sailing.

(e) Vrhaspathi does not give any good result in the 6th house.

(f) If Sukra unafflicted be in the 6th bhava the native has no enemy, he is benefited by women but may be corrupted by young women.

(g) Sani in the 6th house makes a man qurelsome but courageous and the native can undertake very hard task and complete it to his satisfaction.

(h) Rahu in the 6th bhava makes a person long-lived, wealthy but he may be troubled by enemies.

(i) Ketu in the 6th bhava gives very best result, the native may earn name and fame and may have no enemy.

This is also to be remembered that astrologers must be cautious in applying the above rules without taking into considerations of aspect, conjunction and other important factors that may modify the good effect of planets in the 6th house. To explain further, let us take an example--Chandra when strong and favourable does good to the native but if she is afflicted by the aspect of any unfavourable planet Chandra may be the cause of hysteria, mental derangement (may be lunacy) etc.

When the planets in the 6th house are afflicted the native may suffer from many ailments. Nature of diseases are suggested here below :

(i) If 6th place falls in a fixed sign (Rasi) with afflicted Ravi heart trouble, asthma, nerve disease etc. may be anticipated but aspect of favourable Vrhaspathi on Ravi may neutralise all these bad effects.

If Ravi be in a movable rasi and is afflicted disease of indigestion is possible, here also aspect of favourable and strong Vrhaspathi will do him good.

(ii) When Chandra in the 6th house is afflicted by Rahu or Ketu indigestion, skin disease, loss of mental peace may be possible ; if she is afflicted by Sani various sorts of chronic diseases, mental derangement, and when she is afflicted by Ravi bad liver and complaint of indigestion are possible.

(iii) When Mangal in the 6th is afflicted by Rahu or Ketu the native suffers from despondency and always thinks of suicide or death by poisoning ; when afflicted by Sani the native is inclined to pick up quarrel with any body and every body and may be involved into litigation with brothers. The native may be short-tempered and haughty.

(iv) When Budha is afflicted by Rahu, Ketu or Sani the native suffers from despondency, abnormal mental condition and may be easily excitable.

(v) Vrhaspathi in the 6th house when afflicted makes the native a voracious eater of sweets and meat and in the long run suffers from serious trouble of indigestion. Vrhaspathi under that circumstance causes great hardship too.

(vi) Sukra when afflicted is the cause of urinary trouble, disease of sexual organ, etc. and the native may be addicted to wine and women.

(vii) Afflicted Sani in the 6th causes serious illness, incurable diseases, gout, paralysis etc.

Occupation of 6th lord in different bhavas and results thereof

In the 1st house : Maharsi Parasar says, the native will be a famous man, rich, highly qualified, efficient, and courageous but he shall have no son if the 6th lord is in the 1st house. Other astrologers are of opinion that when well-aspected the 6th lord in the 1st house may make the native a high administrative officer, a minister of war or an official concerned with prisons.

But there is an exception in case of Tula Lagna-Jataka. If the lagna is in Tula and the 6th lord Vrishpathi is with Lagna the native never keeps good health and suffers set back in almost all his endeavours. Maharsi Parasar rightly said that "Tula lagna Gurus Khalas" i.e. in case of Tula lagna Vrishpathi is very unfavourable.

Unfavourable (i.e. weak and otherwise afflicted) 6th lord in the first house is not a favourable yoga for a native, one should not welcome the weak and otherwise afflicted 6th lord in the 1st house. For, it makes a man a thief, robber or a leader of a criminal gang.

In the 2nd house : If the 6th lord is posited in the 2nd house the native shall be courageous, single minded devotion to his duties, an orator and happy. But the native may have untold suffering in family life, will be disowned by his kith and kin and shall have to live in a foreign land. If afflicted he will have defective vision, uneven setting of teeth and may be a stammerer and poverty stricken. His wife may fall seriously ill during the dasa and bhukti of malefic planets.

In the 3rd house : The native may be a man of violent temper, cruel, malicious, intolerant, and rich. He will be inimical to his brothers and incur loss of money due to inimical activities of his maternal uncle.

In the 4th house : There may be obstacles in academic career, relation with mother may not be as congenial as it should be. If the 6th lord is afflicted he shall quarrel with his mother and ancestral property may be involved in debt. He will not enjoy peace in family life. If the 6th lord is strong and 4th lord also is favourably disposed the native may enjoy happiness and be prosperous during dasa and bhukti of benefic planets.

In the 5th house : Uncertainty in money-making activities, at times he shall suffer from poverty. That is also the case in respect of his friends. His children will be sickly, may be adopted by his maternal uncles and be fortunate.

In the 6th house : When the 6th lord occupies the 6th place the native shall be rich and shall have his own cars and other vehicles. His own kith and kin shall be hostile to him but he will be popular among others. If the weak lord of lagna is conjoined with the 6th lord the native will suffer from incurable disease.

In the 7th house : The native will be financially affluent and shall earn name and fame if the 6th lord is fortified in the 7th house. If the lord is afflicted the wife of the native may be a woman of suspicious character, his relation with her may be unfavourable. There is another opinion held by other classes of astrologers who say that the wife will be sickly and the native's conjugal life will not be happy. If the 7th place falls in signs owned by Sani or Budha the native may be sexually weak.

In the 8th house : Indication of Madhyayu (Middle life). Success in life after many obstacles or through great hardship. If 6th lord is afflicted the native will be a women hunter and be heavily in debt. He shall frequently suffer from illness and will have strained relation with learned men. He will find pleasure in causing distress to others.

In the 9th house : The maternal uncle of the native will be a fortunate man and the father will be a judge. Strained relation with the father is possible. He may be benefited by his cousins, may be a timber merchant or stone cutter.

If the 6th lord is weak and afflicted the native may indulge in sinful acts and becomes poor.

In the 10th house : Outwardly a pious man but unscrupulous in regard to religious matters. When favoured by a benefic he shall be courageous, dutiful and happy. If 6th lord is afflicted he is to fight a very powerful enemy and leads a low life.

In the 11th house ; The native may be highly qualified and efficient, if the 6th is weak and afflicted the native may lead a miserable life due to poverty.

In the 12th house : The native causes harm to others, always tries to antagonise learned men, if afflicted the native passes his days miserably.

CHAPTER—VII JĀYĀ BHAVA

The seventh house denotes marriage, wife or husband, trade or business, buying and selling, partnership, short journey, sexual act, bladder, lost property etc.

If the 7th bhava and its lord is associated with or aspected by a benefic planet the wife or the husband as the case may be will be beautiful to look at, their physical structure may be charming and the native's relation with his (or her) father-in-law may be cordial and domestic environment may be peaceful.

All the rules of judging a horoscope are applicable also in case of this bhava.

In case of a male Sukra, and in case of a female native both Sukra and Mangal signify the 7th bhava i.e. husband or wife. Therefore in judging the 7th bhava disposition of Sukra (in case of a male) or Sukra and Mangal (in case of a female) and the 7th house from these planets and their lords are to be taken into consideration. If they are well-disposed, acquires favourable Vargas or conjoined with or aspected by benefic planets the native's conjugal life will be happy.

Number of wives :

Now-a-days law of the land forbids a person to have more than one wife at a time. Of course a widower can marry again when his first or second wife dies. Law has nothing to do in respect of those who married again and again during the life time of their first wife before the enactment of this law. So, when a birth chart shows signs of more than one wife the verdict of the astrologer must be given after careful consideration. If the native is not a man of good character, rather he is a man of loose morals and at the same time there are signs of more than one marriage at a time the native may have one legally married wife and has other women as concubines. Therefore number of wives may be judged from that perspective.

The number of Navamsa the 7th lord traversed or the number of planets aspecting the 7th bhava or number of planets conjoined with the 7th lord may be the number of wives of the native. This sort of planetary aspect or conjunction may be commonly found in any birth chart. But that should not be the criterion in giving one's judgment. If the native is morally strong astrologer's verdict about number of wives must be otherwise. But there is no legal bar to marry again and again in case of death of 1st and 2nd wife etc.

Two wives :

(a) If the lagnadhipathi (lord of lagna) is posited in the 7th or 8th place and the lord of 2nd place is associated with malefic.

(b) Or lagnadhipathi and the lord of the 7th are posited in lagna or 7th house,

(c) Or lagna or the 7th house is occupied by lagnadhipathi, or the 7th lord occupies lagna.

(d) If the lord of lagna is in the 8th and a malefic is in the 7th place or the 2nd lord is in the 8th and a malefic in the 7th.

(e) If the 7th lord from the 7th house is joined with a benefic and is posited in the 6th or in his house of debilitation or the 7th house is occupied by a malefic.

(f) The natural significator of marriage, viz., Sukra when conjoined with a malefic or posited in his debilitated house in Navamsa chart—these yogas indicate two wives.

One wife and one son :

If Ravi, Chandra and the lord of lagna or the 7th lord are posited in lagna or the 7th house the person has one wife and one son.

Three wives :

(a) If the 2nd or the 7th house is occupied by number of malefic planets and the 7th lord is aspected by a malefic.

(b) If the lagna, the 2nd or the 7th house is associated with a malefic planet and the lord of the 7th house is combust or posited in his house of debilitation the native may have three wives.

More than two wives :

The following configuration of planets signify many wives (at least more than two wives) :

(a) When the 7th lord occupying the house of either Sani or Sukra is aspected by a benefic planet, (the yoga will be very forceful if the 7th lord is exalted or in his own house).

(b) Powerful Budha when occupies the 10th place from Lagna and Chandra is in the 3rd place from the 7th lord.

(c) When the lords of the 2nd and 12th houses together are posited in the 3rd place from lagna and aspected by either Vrhaspathi or the lord of the 9th house.

(d) When the 7th lord occupying his own, friendly or exalted house is situated in any Kendra or Kona and combined with the lord of the 10th house.

(e) If the lords of the 7th and 11th houses are combined or exchange each other's house and are placed in any Kona i.e. 5th or 9th house.

(f) When the lord of the 9th house is in the 7th and 7th lord is in the 4th house.

(g) The lords of the 7th and 11th houses are placed in any Kendra.

The aforesaid yogas conferring more than two wives become fruitful.

Conduct of the wife :

The native's wife may be a woman of bad conduct—

(a) If the 7th lord, the 7th house or the Navamsa lord of the Saptampathi (lord of the 7th house) is in conjunction with a malefic planet.

Or (b) the 7th lord and the natural indicator of the 7th house (generally Sukra is a natural indicator of the 7th house) is in his house of debilitation either in the birth or Navamsa Chart and remains unaspected by any benefic.

(c) If Ravi or the lord of the 7th house is in conjunction with or aspected by a malefic or those two planets (Ravi and the 7th lord—at least either of them) are placed in any unfavourable house in the Navamsa chart the native's wife indulges in sinful acts.

(d) The wife of the native may be a woman of loose morals and rough-tongued if the 7th lord is weak and the 6th house is occupied by a debilitated or combust planet.

(e) When the lord of the 7th house together with Budha is combust or placed in the house of debilitation or the planet is in 6th or 8th place and conjoined with malefic planets and also is hemmed in between malefics the wife of the native brings disrepute to her family and brings about the death of her husband through her malicious activities.

A good, honest, religious minded and faithful wife :

(a) The lord of the 7th house conjoined with a favourable planet, aspected by a benefic or is placed between beneficial planets.

(b) If the lord of the 7th house is in a favourable Navamsa and the 10th lord is strong.

(c) Similarly if the Karaka planet Sukra is posited in a favourable Navamsa and also the 10th lord is strong.

(d) If the 7th lord occupies his own exalted or friendly house.

(e) If the lord of the 7th house acquire Gopur varga and is posited in Makara rasi.

(A planet is said to be in Gopur varga when he acquires 4 vargas of his own).

(f) Even if the 7th lord is a natural pāpa (malefic) but is posited in a friendly house or in his house of exaltation in the birth or navamsa chart and at the same time he is conjoined with or aspected by a benefic the wife is faithful to her husband.

(g) Similarly if the 7th lord Sani is powerfully posited in the birth chart and is in conjunction with or aspected by Vṛhaspathi the wife of the native is benevolent, respectful to gods and brahmins. She will be a person of good conduct and believes in the doctrine of Vedānta philosophy.

(h) If the 7th place from the position of the 7th lord is occupied by the lord of the 2nd or the lords of lagna and the 7th house are equal in strength the family status of both the husband and the wife is of the same rank and the wife of the native is faithful and respectful to him (the native) and she will be a good-natured person.

4. A religious minded wife practising penance :

(1) If the powerful lord of the 7th house, or the karaka planet in strength is associated with or aspected by Vṛhaspathi the wife of the native observes religious rites and practises penance.

2) If the 7th lord is in a favourable rasi or in a beneficial navamsa and also aspected by a favourable planet the wife of the native observes religious rites very carefully.

(3) If Chandra is posited in any auspicious house or in a favourable navamsa, or occupies the house of exaltation the wife of the native is honest and good-natured.

(4) The similar result is expected if the 7th lord and also the karaka planet are placed in a favourable rasi.

5. A bad, cruel, ill-behaved or haughty wife :

(a) If the 7th place from lagna, the lord thereof or Navamsa lord of either the 7th place or its lord is associated with or aspected by a malefic the wife of the native may be dishonest or ill-behaved.

Similarly if the lord of the 7th house and the karaka of the 7th bhava are posited in their debilitated houses either in birth or Navamsa chart and they remain unaspected by a benefic planet the result as said above is to be predicted.

(b) If Ravi or the lord of the 7th house is in a malefic Navamsa, or conjoined with or aspected by a malefic planet the wife of the native may be dishonest.

(c) If the lord of the 7th house or Chandra is afflicted due to association with or aspected by an unfavourable planet or any of them is hemmed in between malefic planets or both the planets are in unfavourable Navamsas the wife of the native indulges in baneful acts and will be accused of heinous offence.

(d) If the 7th lord is weak and the 6th place from lagna is occupied by a debilitated or combust planet the wife of the native is wicked and rude, and she may have illicit relation with some person.

(e) If the 7th lord joins Budha who is in his debilitated house, combust, or associated with a malefic or posited in the 6th or 8th place from lagna and is also situated between malefic planets the wife of the native may kill her husband and will ruin the family prestige.

(f) If the 7th lord occupies the house of debilitation or be in the 6th place from lagna and is aspected by an unfavourable planet, and posited in a movable papa Navamsa rasi the wife of the native brings disgrace on the family.

The unfavourable results stated above may be modified to a great extent if the 7th house and its lord are aspected by a benefic or they are situated in a favourable Navamsa and are not in cruel Sashtyamsa.

6. Possibility of early marriage :

(a) In case of a male, if Chandra is situated within the third house from lagna or within the 9th house from the 7th place. (Chandra of brighter half will be more sure in giving effect to this yoga).

(b) In case of a woman, Ravi instead of Chandra will give the same result if he (Ravi) is posited in those places.

(c) If Sukra or planets, more than one at least are posited in watery sign.

(d) If a powerful Chandra occupies the 5th or the 7th place from lagna.

(e) Eminent astrologers of India believe that if the lords of the 7th and lagna are posited near to each other or the karaka planet is situated next to lagnapathi or vice-versa, or a favourable planet is posited near the lord of lagna or the 7th lord early marriage is possible.

Here are two illustrations of early marriage :

(i) Lagna is in Simha rasi, Ravi the lord of lagna is in Tula and the karaka planet is in Vrscika rasi. The native was married at the age of 23.

(ii) Lagna is in Dhanu rasi. The lord of the 7th house is in Kumbha rasi, the karaka planet Sukra is in Mina and the lord of lagna is in Mesa rasi.

The native was married at the age of 21. In both the cases the lagnapathi and the karaka planet are situated very near to each other.

7. The Yoga that makes a person bachelor or spinster (Anurha Yoga) :

(1) If any one of three planets, viz., Sukra, Ravi and Chandra (particularly Chandra) is aspected by or conjoined with Sani or any one of these trio is associated with Sani's Nakshatra (i.e. Nakshatra No. 8, 17 & 26) there is possibility of no marriage at all. The yoga may be more effective if the aforesaid conditions are fulfilled in Navamsa chart also.

(2) When Ravi, Chandra and also the lord of the 5th house are in conjunction with or aspected by Sani the same result may be foretold.

According to western school of astrologers the yoga as said above will also be effective if these planets are associated with or aspected by Herschel (Uranus).

(3) If Sukra is placed in a birthchart at a distance of 43° degree or more from debilitated Ravi and is aspected by or conjoined with Sani the negotiation of marriage may fall through just at the time of completion of negotiation. According to western astrologers the yoga will yield the above result more accurately if Sukra under that circumstance is afflicted by Pluto.

(4) If the 7th place remains unoccupied by any planet and Chandra in case of a woman, and Ravi in case of a man, are aspected by Sani occupying Vrscika rasi the marriage of a person is an uncertainty.

Western astrologers are of opinion that when Sani is in Square aspect with Ravi or Chandra the same result may be expected.

(5) If the 7th lord, lagna and Sukra fall in an unfertile rasi there is least possibility of marriage.

(Unfertile rasis are Mithune, Simha, Kanya and Dhanu).

These yogas (i.e. Configuration of planets) may not be found in toto in all cases, but if most of the conditions set forth above are there in a radical chart the aforesaid result may be expected.

8. Late Marriage :

(1) In case of a man if the 4th or 10th place is occupied by Chandra, in case of a woman if Ravi occupies the 4th or 10th place marriage may certainly be delayed if the native is born in Krishna Paksha (i.e. during dark moon).

(2) If Mesa rasi is occupied by Sukra or by more than two planets, Or

(3) Lagna or Chandra falls in an unfertile sign the judgment of late marriage may be pronounced.

In these cases both the birth and Navamsa charts should be consulted.

(4) Our experience in matter of late marriage is as follows :

(a) Of the 2nd, 5th, 7th, 8th or 12th house from lagna if any two or three houses are occupied by Sani, Mangal, Ravi, Rahu —particularly by Sani and Rahu, Mangal and Rahu or Ravi and Sani there is strong possibility of late marriage.

(b) It becomes a matter of headache for parents regarding marriage of their children if those houses mentioned above (from Sukra and Chandra) are associated with malefic planets.

Illustrations of late marriage :

(i) Lagna is in Kanya, in the 2nd place Rahu, in the 3rd place Ravi and Budha, in the 4th place Sukra, the 7th house is occupied by Vrhaspathi, the 8th place by Sani and Ketu and Chandra is in Mithune (10th place from lagna).*

(ii) Lagna is in Vrscika rasi, occupied by Ravi, Budha in the 2nd, Chandra in the 3rd, Vrhaspathi in the 4th, Sani in the 5th, Ketu in the 6th, Mangal in the 11th and the 12th house is occupied by Sukra and Rahu.

In the first instance lagna and Chandra are in unfertile rasis, again Chandra in the 10th place from Lagna, Sani in the 8th, Rahu in the 2nd and Sani aspects Chandra.

In the second instance Sani is in the 5th, Rahu in the 12th and the 2nd house is aspected by Mangal and Sani.

Inspite of these yogas marriage is possible under the following circumstances :

(a) If lagna is occupied by Sukra and the lord of the 11th house.

(b) If powerful Vrhaspathi is posited in the 5th place from lagna, the 7th house from powerful Chandra is occupied by Sukra and the 7th house from lagna is not occupied by any malefic planet.

(c) If Vrhaspathi being in the 5th or 9th house from lagna aspects lagna, Chandra is beneficial due to aspect of or conjunction with favourable planets and is not situated between malefics or is not afflicted due to aspect or conjunction with any unfavourable planet.

(d) If the 7th lord is powerful and favourably situated and at the same time he is aspected by or conjoined with favourable planets.

*Some astrologers make Vrhaspathi in the 7th house responsible for delay in marriage and experience has in many cases borne this out. But nevertheless, the responsibility of Vrhaspathi in these cases remains doubtful. Many competent astrologers think Vrhaspathi in the 7th house makes a successful marriage. Jataka-Parijat declares quite unequivocally that Vrhaspathi in the 7th house gives the native a bride desirable in every respect.

Under the above circumstances the yoga conferring 'no marriage' may be considered as cancelled.

In respect of cancellation of 'Anurha Yoga' (Yoga of no marriage) in the birth chart the Navamsa chakra also should be examined. If the 'Anurha Yoga' is thus found as cancelled in the rasi or Navamsa chakra the marriage may be held during the dasa antardasa of favourable planets.

If Vrhaspathi in transit moves to 5th, 7th or 9th place from lagna, Chandra or Sukra—particularly Chandra, marriage of the native is possible during favourable dasa and antardasa.

Before we enter into elaborate discussions about timing of the most important event like marriage we must admit that among various astrological problems that confront an astrologer the timing of marriage is the most difficult one that cannot be predicted with utmost certainty. The astrologer is really bewildered not knowing which rule among various ones may be suitably applicable in a particular case as in authoritative books there are so many to determine the period of marriage.

Generally astrologers are of opinion that marriage occurs when transiting Vrhaspathi traverses the 1st, 2nd, 5th, 7th, 9th or 11th place from lagna or Chandra.

It is not always easy to predict accurately when marriage will take place even with all our knowledge in astrology. Our ancient rishis have laid down certain rules based on the following :

Important factors for determining the time of Marriage :

- (i) Yogas that confer marriage.
- (ii) Planetary conditions (Avastha).
- (iii) Dasas helpful to this important event.
- (iv) Gochara (transit of planets).

(a) When the lord of the 7th house is situated in a beneficial sign, Sukra is favourably disposed (i.e. in his own sign, house of exaltation or associated with his own Nakshatra, viz. 2, 11, 20) marriage occurs at pre-puberty age. Now-a-days legally minimum age of marriage is 17 years. So, the aforesaid marriage may signify 17 years to 20 years of age.

(b) If Ravi occupies the 7th house and the 7th lord conjoined with Sukra is situated in a kendra, marriage is possible within 23 to 25 years of age. If the 7th lord or Sukra is afflicted in birth or Navamsa chart marriage may be delayed. In such cases marriage may occur in between 30 and 33 years of age.

(c) If the 2nd house is occupied by Sukra and the 11th house by the 7th lord event of marriage may occur in between the ages of 23 and 28 years.

(d) When Sukra is situated in any kendra and the lord of the 7th is posited in any house owned by Sani aspected by a benefic the age of marriage may be predicted as 23 to 28 years of age. In rural area where people are not so modernised marriage under the above circumstance may occur at 15 to 16 years of age..

(e) When the 7th house is occupied by Sukra, Chandra and Sani marriage of the native concerned will not be possible before 30th year of age—it may be 35th year also.

(f) When 11th house is occupied by the lord of the 2nd and the 10th place by the lord of lagna marriage may occur within the reasonable period of 17 to 20 years of age.

(g) If the lord of the 2nd is posited in the 11th house and the lord of the 11th in the 2nd place from lagna reasonable period of marriage is 16 to 25 years of age in a modernised family and 14 to 16 years of age in a rural area.

(h) If the lagna rasi of a Navamsa chart falls in the 7th house of Janma chakra (birth chart) and the 7th lord is situated in the 12th house from lagna marriage event may happen in between the ages of 16 to 20 years.

(i) If the 8th house in a Navamsa chart happens to be the 7th house in the birth chart and Sukra in case of a male and Sukra and Manga¹ aspected Vrhaspathi in case of a female occupy the rasi indicated by Navamsa lagna the marriage period may be fixed in any one of 25 to 27 years of age.

Definite period of marriage :

Definite period of marriage may be determined in different dasa and antardasa. The suggestions with regard to such dasa and antardasa are given here below.

1. It is superfluous to mention here that the lord of the 7th place is the main significator of marriage.

(ii) Again when the lords of 7th and 2nd places are related in any way their dasa and antardasa also may be indicated as suitable period of marriage.

(iii) The 7th lord from Sukra or Chandra may hasten marriage of the native during their dasa-antardasa.

(iv) The lords of 5th, 9th, 10th or 12th may indicate marriage of the native in their dasa and antardasa provided any of them is related to the 7th lord.

This is to remind our readers that marriage may be delayed if lagna, 2nd, 5th, 8th, or 10th house is occupied by any one of Sani, Mangal and Rahu.

Again if Chandra and Sani, or Sukra and Sani are combined together, or 7th or 8th house from the position of Sukra is occupied by Sani marriage is delayed.

Of course the yoga of delay in marriage may be modified if the planets responsible for delay are aspected by or related in any other manner to a favourable planet.

Some of the modern Indian astrologers have observed that Rahu is the patent match-maker and other planets are not so significant as Rahu. So, they say :

(a) If dasa of Rahu comes within the marriageable age marriage may be held in his dasa in preference to other planets.

(b) The 9th lord from lagna, Chandra lagna or A. M. lagna (i.e. the mean position of ascendant and M. C), the planets seated in the 9th house or planets aspect that house may cause marriage during their dasa and antardasa.

It is needless to say that the stronger one out of those planets associated with the 2nd place or lord of the 2nd place from the newly found rasi will be the powerful indicator of marriage in their dasa and antardasa.

(c) Another method :—Add lagna-sphuta (degree of ascendant) with the sphuta (degree) of the 7th lord. When Vṛhaspathi in transit traverses through the 5th, 7th or 9th place from the newly found rasi and amsa marriage of the native is possible during that period.

(d) There is another method :—Add together the sphuta of the planets indicated by the constellations (Nakshatras) associated with Chandra and the 7th lord.

When Vṛhaspathi transits over the 5th, 7th or 9th place from that rasi and amsa the marriage of the native is possible.

Planetary lordships indicated by different constellations or Nakshatras are as follows :—

3,	12,	21	No.	Nakshatras are ruled by			Ravi
4,	13,	22	"	"	"	"	Chandra
5,	14,	23	"	"	"	"	Mangal
6,	15,	24	"	"	"	"	Rahu
7,	16,	25	"	"	"	"	Vrhaspathi
8,	17,	26	"	"	"	"	Sani
9,	18,	27	"	"	"	"	Budha
10,	19,	1	"	"	"	"	Ketu
11,	20,	2	"	"	"	"	Sukra.

(e) Find out the rasi and amsa by addition of sphutas of Iagnapathi, Sukra and the 7th lord. Marriage is possible when transit Vrhaspathi passes over that rasi and amsa.

(f) In the asthavarga Chakra of Sukra if the rasi that contains 5 or more Rekhas happens to be the 5th or 9th place from Chandra or Sukra situated in the birth chart and transit Vrhaspathi passes through that rasi marriage may occur during that period.

(g) In asthavarga chakra of Sukra after Trikoṇe and Ekadhipatya Sodhana (reduction) the number of digits that contain in the 7th rasi from the position of Sukra is to be multiplied by the Rekhas in the asthavarga chart of Sukra before reduction of Trikoṇe and Ekadhipatya methods and the figure thus obtained is to be divided by 27. The remainder will be taken as number of Nakshatra. If the remainder is 0 (zero), or if the result obtained after multiplication referred to above is less than 27 the remainder will be taken as 27 Nakshatra i.e. Revati.

When transit Vrhaspathi passes through that Nakshatra the marriage of the native is possible.

There is a special rule to count number of Nakshatra thus found as remainder after division by 27. The rule is, if the native is born during period of waxing moon counting of Nakshatra is to be made from Aswini; if it is the period of waning moon counting is to be made from Dhanistha Nakshatra.

Yogas of immorality, loose morals or bad character :

We have already stated that the 7th house indicates marriage, sexual life and happiness. The house also indicates latent energies and general happiness in the family etc.

As the house represents sex and sex-life one's moral character may also be judged from this house. We suggest herebelow some of the yogas that make a native licentious, and immoral and some of the favourable yogas may be there to give perfect happiness in married life.

(1) If the lords of the 2nd and 6th are afflicted due to conjunction with or aspect by a malefic and occupy the 6th place from lagna the native may be a person of loose morals.

(2) The 7th lord occupying the lagna makes a man passionate and if that 7th lord is afflicted the native may be a man of loose morals.

(3) Sukra in the 7th house makes a person extremely passionate but Sukra and Budha together in the 7th house make him hunt after other's wife.

(4) When in a birthchart 7th house is occupied by Sukra, Budha and Mangal the native is a man of perverted sex and is guilty of homo-sexuality.

(5) If Rahu or Ketu is conjoined with the lord of the 7th house and is aspected by Mangal or Sani and also Sukra is afflicted due to unfavourable position or aspect the native is notoriously immoral during the early period of his life.

(6) So also, if Sukra in combination with lords of the 2nd, 6th and 7th occupies lagna the native will be a person of loose morals.

The author of Sarvarthachintamani is of opinion :

(7) if the 7th place is occupied by Mangal the native is a debauch and enjoys many women, and

(i) if Ravi is posited in the 7th place the native indulges in sexual act with woman or women related to him.

The author further says that

(ii) the native's moral character will be loose if Rahu or Ketu combines with the 7th lord and is aspected by a malefic.

Yogas that make a person moral-minded and chaste in sexual life :

(1) Vrhaspathi when posited in the 7th house with no malefic aspect makes the native strictly moral.

(2) The lord of lagna, or Chandra if situated in a favourable rasi and Navamsa, occupies a Kendra and is aspected by a benefic the native shall be a person of moral stamina and possesses high standard of personality.

(3) When the 7th lord is in combination with or is aspected by Vrhaspathi or the planet denoting the 7th bhava is aspected by or in conjunction with Vrhaspathi the native possesses a good moral character and his wife too is a pious person.

There are persons who are not strictly speaking moral-minded but they lead faultless sex-lives. The lords of the 9th and the lagnapathi are primary factors in this matter. Even the afflicted 7th house and its lord and Sukra may not make the native unchaste in sex-matters if the 6th place, its lord, lagna, lagnadhipathi and Chandra are placed in favourable rasis and Navamsas and aspected by or conjoined with favourable planet. The beneficial result in this respect may be more certain if those planets endowed with merits are placed in Kendra position from lagna.

Good and honest wife or husband may be expected from the following Yogas :

(1) The 7th lord when well-disposed, aspected by favourable planets or placed between benefics.

(2) When the 7th lord is in favourable Navamsa and 10th lord is powerful and favourably disposed.

3. Similarly when Sukra as the natural indicator of the 7th bhava is in favourable Navamsa and the 10th lord is strong.

4. If the 7th lord is exalted, placed in his own or friendly house.

5. When the lord of the 7th house is strong and is conjoined with or aspected by Vrhaspathi the wife or the husband is pious and strictly observes religious rites.

6. If the 7th lord or Ravi is placed in Makar Rasi (Capricorn) and is aspected by favourable planets and the 7th place is occupied by Vrhaspathi the wife or the husband is religious minded and very much faithful to life-partner.

7. If Chandra is posited in a favourable rasi, Navamsa or is exalted the wife or the husband of the native is faithful to her or his life-partner and the native possesses good moral character.

8. If the 7th lord or Karaka planet Sukra is well-disposed and powerful the same result is expected.

9. If the 7th lord Sani is strong, well-disposed and is aspected by or combined with Vṛhaspathi or with any other benefic planet the native becomes respectful to brahmins and gods and tries to know Brahma.

But if that Sani is in conjunction with Rahu or Ketu and is aspected by any other malefic and is also posited in 'Krura' (very malefic) Shastyamsa the native earns bad names and is quarrelsome, rude and rough.

Other unfavourable Yogas regarding the 7th bhava

Premature death of wife or husband :

1. If the 7th place is occupied by Rahu, 8th place by Sani and the 6th place is occupied by Mangal, or Ravi is posited in the 10th place and Chandra in the 6th premature death of life-partner is possible.

2. If the 7th place from lagna or Chandra is associated with a malefic planet the aforesaid result is expected.

3. Premature death of the husband or wife (as the case may be) is certain if Mangal in the 7th place is aspected by Sani. Only Mangal in the 7th place from lagna may give the same unfavourable result.

Widowhood :

Mangal in lagna, 4th, 7th, 8th or 12th house may bring about death of the husband (or the wife) of the native.

This is astrologically termed as Bhaum dosha.

There are some renowned astrologers who are of opinion that Mangal in the 2nd place from lagna gives the same result.

But this also is to be remembered that if Mangal in spite of his position in any of those unfavourable places acquires strength in Vargas or by aspect of powerful benefics "bhaum dosha" may be neutralised.

The following yogas also indicate premature death of life partner, such as :—

(a) When 8th lord is in an unfavourable Navamsa, the 7th house is occupied by a malefic and there is no benefic in the second house.

(b) If a malefic planet is associated with the 8th house and the lord of the 8th house is posited in his own Navamsa.

The following configuration of planets nullify the yogas of widowhood.

- (i) If the 8th lord is seated in the house of exaltation.
- (ii) If the Navamsa lord of the ruler of the 8th house is posited in a malefic house and is also aspected by a malefic premature death of the husband or the wife of the native is no doubt indicated but if the 8th house in the natal chart is occupied and aspected by benefics the "bhaum dosha" is nullified.
- (iii) If birthcharts of both husband and wife contain similar malefic yogas the 'bhaum dosha' is neutralised.
- (iv) If the 7th house is occupied by Sani and Mangal is posited in the 8th or Mangal and Sani are situated in the 4th place or if Sani is in lagna and Mangal is in the 12th place 'bhaum dosha' is neutralised.
- (v) 'Bhaum dosha' caused by Mangal being in any of the places such as 4th, 7th, 8th or 12th may be nullified if any one of those houses are occupied by Sani or Rahu.

Determination of wife's (or husband's) Family
Standard or Pedegree :

The complexion, caste, propriety of conduct, social rank, qualities etc. of husband or wife may be indicated by the 7th house and its lord. As for instance, say, a person's lagna falls in Mina rasi, the lord thereof is Vrhaspathi who is a brahmin by caste. The 7th house from Mina rasi is Kanya, the lord is Budha who is Vaisya by caste. That is, the 7th lord belongs to a lower caste than brahmin. So, Budha will indicate the caste, complexion, merits etc. of the life-partner of the native. Sources of these qualities, merits or demerits are to be found from the position, strength and aspect over Budha. Generally complexion, gracefulness, countenance, physical structure of the wife or the husband of the native are to be judged from the 7th lord and the Navamsa lord of the Saptamadhipathi (lord of the 7th house). This also is to be noted that aspect on or conjunction with the 7th lord by any other planet may definitely influence the finding of the astrologer.

- (i) If the lagnapathi is weak and 6th house of the birthchart is the Navamsa rasi of the 7th lord, he (7th lord) is debilitated, combust or conjoined with a debilitated planet the bride of the native comes of a family of a comparatively lower standard.

(ii) Similarly if the lord of lagna is weaker than the 7th lord and he (lagnapathi) is debilitated, conjoined with malefics or posited in the 8th house the husband's family standard or pedigree is lower than the wife's.

Love marriage, Civil marriage and Intercaste marriage etc :

Love marriage, civil marriage or marriage with persons of different or prohibited caste may be judged from the 5th lord, Sukra and the lord of the 7th. Combination of Sani and Sukra, Sukra and Ravi or Mangal has a great role in this respect. But it is an admitted fact that love marriage comes within jurisdiction of the 5th house and its lord.

Regarding intercaste marriage Maharshi Parasar says in his Vrihat Pārāsari Hora, 'when the waning moon occupies the 5th place, and the 7th and 12th houses are associated with malefic planets, the marriage with a person belonging to a lower or prohibited caste may occur.'

Conjugal life :

The 7th places from lagna and Chandra and their lords and Karaka planet Sukra in case of a man, and Sukra and Mangal in case of a woman indicate the nature of conjugal life of the native.

(a) If the 7th place is occupied by a malefic planet and if that planet is inimical to the 7th lord and the lord of lagna the conjugal life of the native is not expected to be happy and peaceful.

(b) If Karaka planets (viz., Sukra and Mangal) are in any way afflicted there is remote chance for the native to enjoy peaceful conjugal life.

(c) If the 7th bhava is occupied by its lord, receives aspect of a benevolent planet and also lord of the 7th bhava from either lagna or Chandra is favourably disposed the conjugal life of the native is expected to be happy.

In short we may summarize the aforesaid rules in the following manner :

Any given house is always 7th in relation to wife's vis-a-vis which is in exact confrontation to it.

The husband's and wife's natal houses are thus interrelated and have to be judged in conjunction with each other. The status, family, health, wealth, education etc. of the husband and the wife are mirrored in the first and the seventh. If any of them is governed or aspected by an evil planet the disparities and afflictions should follow. Favourably governed and favourably aspected the results would be happy.

Occupation of planets in the 7th bhava and results thereof :

Ravi in the 7th house :

(1) If the 7th house is occupied by Ravi the wife of the native may be barren, he will wander hither and thither aimlessly and may suffer humiliation. According to Parasari Hora conjugal life of the native will remain disturbed if Ravi occupies the 7th house.

Chandra in the 7th house :

(2) If the waning moon is in the 7th house the wife of the native will be unfaithful but if that moon is aspected by a powerful benefic the wife of the native will be virtuous and faithful to the husband.

If the full or waxing moon is posted in the 7th bhava and a benefic planet casts his aspect on Chandra the native will be beautiful to look at, will be loved by beautiful damsels and will be exceedingly lovely.

According to Parasari Hora waxing or full moon in the 7th house makes a man happy, learned and wealthy.

Mangal in the 7th house :

(3) When Mangal occupies the 7th bhava the wife in case of a male and the husband in case of a female dies premature death. Maharshi Parasar says that the native shall serve low class people and his wife will not live long.

Budha in the 7th House :

(4) When strong Budha is situated in the 7th house the native will be learned, will always like good and beautiful dress, his wife will be artistic, fortunate and rich. Weak Budha when afflicted will be the cause of unhappy conjugal life.

Vrhaspathi in the 7th house :

(5) Vrhaspathi occupying the 7th house will make the native happy, wise and benevolent. The native will have a beautiful lucky, faithful and virtuous wife. His children also will be highly educated and lucky.

If debilitated Vrhaspathi be in the 7th house the native will lose his wife. If Sani is posited in the 7th bhava identical with Mina rasi the result will be the same.

If Vrhaspathi occupies a rasi or Navamsa owned by Sani or Mangal the Native may have illicit relation with other women.

But Mantreswar in his Phaldipika holds a different view, he is of opinion that it is Sukra (not Vrhaspathi) who will give the malefic result as stated above. If the planet occupying 7th house is in a Varga of Mangal or Sani the native may have a liason with other people's wife.

Sukra in the 7th house :

(6) If the 7th house is occupied by strong Sukra the wife of the native will enjoy happy conjugal life and she will be highly prosperous. But afflicted Sukra in the 7th house makes a man licentious and unhappy.

Sani in the 7th house :

(7) Conjugal life of the native will not be peaceful if Sani is in the 7th house, but when Sani in the 7th house occupies his exalted, own or mooltrikona sign the conjugal life will be happy. An afflicted Sani or Sani in conjunction with or aspected by a malefic planet or if posited in an inimical house identical with 7th bhava will give the native immense trouble in his domestic environment, his wife may be quarrelsome, peevish and he himself will be roaming aimlessly and distressed.

Rahu in the 7th house :

(8) If Rahu occupies the 7th house the person concerned will lose his wealth through intrigues with women, suffer separation from his near and dear ones, he may be obstinate and silly.

Ketu in the 7th house :

(9) If Ketu is posited in the 7th house the native will be humiliated, seek the company of women of bad repute, will suffer from disease of intestine, his wife will be sickly, and he will lose his vital power.

Occupation of the 7th lord in different bhavas and results thereof

In the first house—If the 7th lord occupies lagna the native may have intrigues with women other than his wife, he may be a man of loose morals, he will have sharp intellect, will be prudent and skilful and may suffer from rheumatism or gout; particularly if lagna rises in Vrscika rasi and the 7th lord is in lagna the native may be a man of loose morals. If Mangal or Rahu is in the 7th house and Sukra in Vrscika rasi where lagna is situated the native may be a debauch. Similar result may be predicted when lagna falls in Tula rasi and Sukra in conjunction with Sant, Mangal or Rahu occupies the 7th house.

In the second house—The native has procrastinating habit, and is financially affluent. The native may be a henpecked husband. If the seventh lord is Sukra favourable result noted above will be very effective. This may be the case in case of Mesa and Vrscika lagna. In other lagnas monetary affluence will be mediocre. In Mesa lagna Sukra in combination with Vrhaspathi and Mangal, occupying the 2nd house is a "Yogakaraka" planet, and the native becomes a very rich man.

In the third house—If the fifth house and its lord and karaka planet Vrhaspathi are not favourable and the 7th lord occupies the 3rd house the native's children may be shortlived and his wife may give birth to still-born child. If the fifth house and its lord are strong and well-disposed the unfavourable result said above should not be expected.

If the 7th lord seated in the 3rd house is combust the wife of the native may be shortlived and sickly.

In the fourth house—No happiness in conjugal life, tooth disease etc. The native will be truthful and virtuous. He may do well in business (trade) if the 7th lord is not afflicted but aspected by a favourable planet.

In the fifth house—The native will be meritorious, wealthy, cheerful and happy. The favourable result may be very much effective in case of Mithuna lagna when the 7th lord Vrhaspathi in combination with Sukra is posited in the 5th house, and also in case of Vrscika lagna when the 7th lord Sukra and Vrhaspathi are posited in the 5th place from lagna.

In the sixth and eighth houses—The wife of the native will be sickly, he himself will be peevish, irritable and unhappy. His business enterprise may be unsuccessful until and unless a favourable planet casts his aspect on the 7th house or its lord. The native may be attacked with any kind of disease in intestine or abdomen.

In the seventh house—If the 7th lord occupies the 7th house the native enjoys happy conjugal life, his wife will be faithful and pious. If the 7th lord is in conjunction with Rahu, Sani and Mangal his wife may be uncontrollable, haughty and unchaste. She may be involved in an accident.

In the ninth house—Please see the result of the position of 7th lord in the 2nd house. Only difference is that the native may be benefited by his wife or her parents and shall be lucky.

In the tenth house—The native will be truthful, pious and happy. If lagna rises in Mithuna, Dhanu or Mina and the 7th lord is situated in the 10th house the native will be highly educated, will build his own career by dint of his own merit and effort and shall wield pomp and power. In case of Mesa lagna the 7th lord being in the 10th house will not be so favourable as other three lagnas mentioned above if the ninth lord Vrabhaspathi is not favourably disposed.

In the eleventh house—The native's conjugal life will be unhappy, his children may be shortlived unless the fifth lord and the house are strong.

In the twelfth house—Indication of loss of domestic peace. If the 4th lord and the bhava are favourable, family peace may be restored occasionally ; bad health of wife, short journey etc. are indicated.

CHAPTER—VIII

THE EIGHTH HOUSE

The 8th house is the house of longevity. It covers the span of life. According to Hindu theory the beginning of life herebelow is the beginning of the barrier between the individual soul and God. In other words life begins when the individual soul starts off the Universal soul to masquerade for its allotted span as an individual—the non-spiritual elements, though themselves also ultimately and basically spiritual—acting as the comouflage to obviously spiritual past.

Sorrow, affliction, vicissitudes of forces are the inevitable incidents to a life on earth and it is from the 8th house that all these have to be calculated. In pessimistic language, the house represents also the house of action. For, action is the source of all vicissitudes of fortunes.

The seventh house is described as the house of destruction. The 7th from the 8th house is the 2nd from lagna and the lord of the 2nd is therefore, indicated as the killer. According to this theory the 6th house attitude (i.e. the 6th bhava) is the house of sorrow and affliction. The house which destroys the 6th house attitude (bhava) is the 12th (the house of destruction of the 6th i.e. the house of sorrow and affliction) which has been described as the house of salvation or release. The individual soul merges into the Universal soul, its sojourn on earth is completed. Superficially therefore, the 6th house and the 8th give nearly the same result. From the 8th the life span is calculated; a few specific rules are to be found in Parasari Hora, Jaimini, and other standard treatises.

According to the famous treatise viz., Parasari Hora the first 24 years of life should be calculated mainly from the point of view of the dangers that beset it. Life during this period needs extra protection from these dangers. It comes into stride after these dangers are got over. The dangers are called 'Aristha' of which there are three kinds, viz., (1) Pataki, (2) Graha-ristha and (3) Ganda-ristha.

Bala-rishta : The risthas that endanger a child are termed as bālā-rishta. Some of the bālā-rishta yogas are mentioned here :

1. If Rahu is situated in the 8th house from lagna with Mangal and Sani the child may be involved in an accident and the leg and hand of the child may be badly injured.

2. If Ravi in the 7th or 8th house is hemmed in between three malefics and Vrhaspathi or Sukra is not posited in any of those places the child may be killed by a four-footed animal.

3. If Budha in his inimical house is aspected by or associated with any enemy planet and Chandra occupies the 6th or 8th house the child may be killed by any aquatic animal.

4. If the 8th place from lagna is occupied by Mangal and Chandra, and if that 8th place is their enemy house the child may die of snake-bite.

5. If Vrhaspathi and Budha are in the 6th place which is also their enemy house the child may be attacked by his enemy and may meet with death.

6. If Ravi occupies Simha lagna and Sani is in the 12th place the child may be blind.

7. If Ravi is in the 8th place from lagna, Chandra in the 6th and Sani is situated in the 12th the native may be blind.

8. If any house is occupied by 6 planets the native may be bereft of happiness and mental peace, and the native may be a man of suspicious mind and crazy.

9. If Chandra and Sani together are posited in Karkata (Cancer) the native becomes lame.

'Kshana' a mythological figure said to be vastly learned in astrology pronounced that while these two planets (Chandra and Sani) occupy Karkata rasi Sani makes the native lame.

10. If Ravi in his inimical house is conjoined with Mangal and Chandra without receiving any aspect from Sukra the child becomes an one-eyed person.

11. The longevity of the child may be about 8 months only if lagna is associated with Mangal, Rahu aspects the 4th place and the 2nd or 12th house is occupied by Sani.

12. In a child's birth-chart if 12th place is occupied by Ravi and Mangal, lagna by Chandra and Sani, and at the same time the lagna is aspected by an unfavourable planet the child dies a premature death.

13. The child dies prematurely when configuration of planets in his birth chart is as follows :

Chandra, Mangal and Sani occupy lagna, Ravi is situated in the 9th place and there is no aspect of Vrhaspathi on lagna.

14. This is also a sign of premature death if in the birthchart of a child Ravi and Mangal are positioned in the 3rd house, 8th house is occupied by Sani and lagna remains unaspected by either Vrhaspathi or Sukra. In such a case the maximum period of longevity is about a month.

15. If malefic planets are posited in the 8th house and the 6th place is occupied by Chandra, and lagna is not aspected by either Vrhaspathi or Sukra the child does not live more than a year.

16. The following yogas bring about premature death of a child :

(i) if lagna is occupied by Mangal who is aspected by a malefic planet and remains unaspected by a benefic.

(ii) when Sani in conjunction with Mangal remains unaspected by a beneficial planet and occupies the 7th place from lagna.

(iii) Ravi in conjunction with Mangal when posited in the 8th house may kill the child in its early life.

(iv) Sani in association with Mangal is seated either in the 6th or 8th place and is not aspected by a favourable planet.

17. When 6th or 8th place falls in Karkata rasi and Budha is there and he is aspected by Chandra the child's longevity is about 4 years.

18. If the 8th place falls in Mesa or Vrscika rasi and Vrhaspathi is aspected by Ravi, Chandra, Mangal and Sani and remains unaspected by Sukra the child dies at the age of 3 years.

19. If the 6th, 8th or 12th house from lagna falls in Karkata or Simha rasi associated with Sukra and the aforesaid house is aspected by all malefic planets the child dies at the age of 6 years.

20. If Sani conjoined with and aspected by a malefic planet is situated in lagna and there is no aspect of favourable planet on Sani the child dies at the age of 16 years.

(i) If that Sani (when conjoined with and aspected by a malefic planet) is only associated with unfavourable planets and is not aspected by a favourable planet the child dies within a month.

(ii) If that Sani is aspected by both favourable and unfavourable planets the child may die within first one year of its age.

21. If Mesa or Vrscika rasi is the 6th, 8th or angular place (kendra) from lagna and retrograde Sani is seated at any of those signs and is also aspected by powerful Mangal the child dies within 2 years of its age.

22. If at birth Sani, Ravi and Chandra together are posited in a house the child dies after its birth. This is called 'Sani-ristha'.

23. If Chandra associated with a malefic planet and aspected by even a favourable planet is posited in lagna, 7th or 9th place the child does not survive long.

24. If Simha, Vrscika or Kumbha lagna rises and Rahu in lagna is aspected by many (at least three) malefics the child may die at the 7th year of age. This is called 'Rahu-ristha'.

25. If Rahu and Budha together are aspected by a pāpa and are posited in a kendra from lagna the child may die at the 10th year of age.

26. If waning moon associated with lagna and malefics without receiving aspect of any favourable planet is situated in a kendra or the 8th house the child dies a premature death.

27. Even a benefic if aspected by an unfavourable planet occupies the 6th or 8th house the child dies at a very early age.

28. If Chandra occupies lagna and Mangal is in the 7th house from lagna it is a ristha yoga for the child and its parents.

29. If lagna is occupied by Chandra and the 7th house by Rahu the child may die at its 4th year of age.

30. If Mangal being placed in the navamsa of Chandra is posited in the 7th house from lagna and remains unaspected by any benefic the child dies in the period when Chandra traverses the 77th nakshatra from Janma nakshatra (birth star i.e. the nakshatra associated with Chandra at the time of birth).

(a) Similarly the child dies when Chandra traverses the 77th nakshatra from Janma nakshatra if Ravi, Mangal and Sani are posited in the 5th place.

31. If in the Navamsa chakra Mangal is situated in a rasi which is the Jāta-lagna (i.e. lagna of the birthchart) and Mangal in the birthchart is not aspected by Vrhaspathi, Or

(a) If Chandra is posited in the 5th house from lagna and occupies Mangal's Navamsa and is not aspected by Vrhaspathi early death of the child is indicated.

32. Death is possible due to snake bite if Rahu in conjunction with Mangal is posited in the 8th house.

Combination of these two planets in the 8th house may also cause death by poison.

But if Rahu is favoured by a benefic the malefic result to some extent may be mitigated. This is also to be noted that the native himself is responsible for loss of domestic peace if in his birth chart Rahu occupies the 8th place from lagna.

33. If Chandra and malefic planets occupy any Kendra and lagna acquires "Chandra Hora" and the baby is born at any Sandhya Kāla or at Gandanta there is chance of danger of life of the child.

*At the time of sunset upto 3 dandas (i.e. 1 hr. 12 min.) after disappearance of half of the disc of the sun is Swayam Sandhya Kala.

At the time of sunrise upto 3 dandas after appearance of half of the disc of the sun in the sky is called Prāta Sandhya kāla.

34. In the native's birth chart if lagna falls in Vrscika rasi and 'krura grahas' ("Krura" means cruel. Ravi, Mangal and Sani are termed as 'Krura grahas'. "Grahas" means planets) are situated within the first part of the birth chart and favourable planets occupy last part the child must die a premature death.

Ganda : The beginning of Aswini Nakshatra or the last 5 dandas of Revati Nakshatra is termed as Swaganda. In case of birth of a child with "Swaganda" during Swayam or Prāta Sandhyakāla the child will die.

If the baby is born with Pitri-ganda the father and if it is Matri-ganda the mother dies.

* (Pitri, Matri and Swa-ganda will be explained in due course).

(a) If there is birth during Swa-ganda caused by Aswini Nakshatra the baby dies within first 10 months.

(b) If it is Revati Nakshatra's (Swa-ganda) ganda death of the baby is possible within the first $2\frac{1}{2}$ years of age.

(c) If it is Aslesha's Swa-ganda within the first one year of age the child dies.

(d) If it is Maghā's ganda within first 4 or 8 years of age of the child the mother dies.

(e) If it is Jestha's ganda within first $1\frac{1}{2}$ years of age and if it is Moola's ganda within the first 6 years of age the father dies.

Ganda-ristha may be classified in the following manner :-

Birth at day time—Pitri ganda :-

The first 3 dandas of Moola Nakshatra

The last 5 dandas of Jestha Nakshatra

Birth at night—Matri-Ganda :-

The first 3 dandas of Magha Nakshatra

The last 5 dandas of Aslesha Nakshatra

Birth at the junction of day and night and night and day :-

This is swa-ganda i.e. ristha of the baby itself.

The beginning of Aswini Nakshatra

The last 5 dandas of Revati Nakshatra.

The total of these is 108. This is generally taken to be a man's longevity.

Pataki chakra

Look at the diagram drawn above. Three perpendicular lines parallel to each other are cut horizontally by three parallel lines. There will be 12 intersecting points. The first point is Mesa, the 2nd is Vrsa, etc. ; in this method we shall find 12 rasis. Now Mesa is joined by a line with Kanya, Vrsa with Simha, Mithuna with Karkata rasi. Again Mesa is to be joined by a line with Mina, Vrsa with Kumba, Mithuna with Makar rasi. Similarly Mina is to be joined by a line with Tula, Kumba with Vrsika, and Makar is to be joined with Dhanu. We know the Rasi where lagna is situated.

Here also in the Pataki chakra lagna is to be shown in that rasi.

This is also to be noted from the diagram that each rasi is joined with other two rasis, such as :—Mina and Dhanu are joined with Karkata, Kumbha and Vrsika with Simha, Makar and Karkata with Dhanu, Dhanu and Kanya with Makar, Mina, Kanya and Dhanu with Mesa, Vrsika, Simha, and Kumbha with Vrsa and lastly Makar, Karkata and Tula with Mithuna.

Each rasi contains a digit in the following manner :—

Mesa 10, Vrsa 6, Mithuna 20, Karkata 5, Simha 8, Kanya 2, Tula 20, Vrsika 6, Dhanu 10, Makar 14, Kumbha 3 and Mina 4.

Total of these digits is 108. This is generally taken to be a man's longevity.

Pataki chakra will indicate rishtha period of the child. This will be dealt with later on. Before we explain this we shall have to discuss some other important matters.

First of all yāmārdha-pathi and Danda-Pathi are to be worked out. There are Divā-yāmārdhapathi and Ratri yāmārdha-pathi. Divā means day, Ratri means night.

Divā yamardha :

In any almanac (Panjika) the span of a day and night is mentioned. One-eighth of a day or night is the span of each yāmārdha and one-fourth of each yāmārdha is the span of each danda.

In case of birth of the child at day time yāmārdha-pathi is to be determined in the following manner :

The lord of the birthdate is the first yāmārdhapathi of that date, i.e. if the birth date is Sunday, Ravi is the lord of that date, if it is Monday Chandra is the lord of that date, if it is Tuesday Mangal is the lord of that date etc.

So, if the birth date is Sunday the first yāmārdhapathi is Sun i.e. Ravi.

the second „ 6th planet from Ravi

the third „ „ „ 2nd yāmārdhapathi

the fourth „ „ „ 3rd „ „

the fifth „ „ „ 4th „ „

the sixth „ „ „ 5th „ „

the seventh „ „ „ 6th „ „

the eighth „ „ „ 7th „ „

In case of birth at night different method is followed. Here too we are to find out from almanac the span of night as the child is born at night. It is needless to mention here that one-eighth of the span of the birth night is the span of each yāmārdha and each danda is equivalent to one-fourth of each yāmārdha. Now method of determining yāmārdhapathi is as follows :

The lord of birthdate is the first yāmārdhapathi—that is if the birth date is Sunday the first yāmārdhapathi is Ravi.

The fifth planet from the first yāmārdhapathi is the second yāmārdhapathi. The fifth planet from the 2nd yāmārdhapathi is the third yāmārdhapathi and so on.

The diagrams of both yāmārdhapathi and dandapathi are given in the last part of this book which will serve as a ready reckoner.

Method of finding out Dandapathi :

(Here also method is different in case of birth at day and at night).

When the child is born at day time

The first yāmārdhapathi is the lord of first danda. As for instance if the birth date is Wednesday, the first yāmārdhapathi is Budha. So, the first dandapathi also is Budha.

Budha is the fourth planet from Ravi. The second dandapathi is one-half of the figure 4, which denotes Chandra.

The third dandapathi is the one-half of figure obtained by Chandra, (Chandra is 2 from Ravi. So, half of 2 is 1 which means Ravi) which is Ravi.

The fourth dandapathi is Rahu. Here special rule is followed. If one-half of the figure thus found is not a round figure i.e. there is something as $2\frac{1}{2}$ or $3\frac{1}{2}$ the round figure is accepted and part of the round figure is to be omitted. Such as, say the first dandapathi is Vṛhaspathi which denotes 5 (counted from Ravi), $\frac{1}{2}$ of 5 is $2\frac{1}{2}$; here the round figure 2 is acceptable, which means Chandra.

If half of the figure obtained by a dandapathi is not a round figure it will be considered as 0 (zero) which means Rahu.

In case of birth at night the method is easier.

The first yāmārdhapathi is the lord of first danda.

The second dandapathi is the 6th planet from the first dandapathi.

The third dandapathi is the 6th planet from the second dandapathi.

To illustrate—if the first dandapathi is Ravi, second dandapathi is Sukra, the third dandapathi is Budha etc.

How to determine Pataki-ristha ?

We have seen that in the Pataki Chakra there are 12 rasis and each rasi is joined with other two rasis by a line. The intersecting points are called 'Veda-sthanas'.

For instance, Karkata rasi is joined with Dhanu and Mina. These two intersecting points, viz., Dhanu and Mina are 'Veda-sthans' of Karkata i.e. if lagna is in Karkata rasi its Veda-sthana are Dhanu and Mina.

If dandapathi is posited in any those two rasis (Dhanu and Mina) the native is born with 'Pataki-ristha'. The digits in these three rasis (Karkata, Dhanu and Mina) are 5, 10 & 4 respectively.

The native may fall badly ill during 4, 5, 10 days, months or years of age provided during any of those ages there is unfavourable dasa and antardasa. The result may be modified under special circumstances which will be discussed later on.

While considering Pataki-ristha the following points are to be noted very carefully :

1. If the dandapathi posited in Veda-sthana is a natural malefic and there is no aspect of any strong favourable planet on lagna, or lagna is not in association with any benefic the child may die within the days denoted by digits in Veda-sthana.

2. If lagna is conjoined with or aspected by both malefic and benefic planets the child may die within the months or years instead of days as reckoned by digits in Veda-sthanas.

Please note that each rasi has three Veda-sthanas and there are three digits. Ristha period will be those three digits and also total of those three digits.

We have seen in the aforesaid illustration that digits in Karkata, Dhanu and Mina are 5, 10 and 4 respectively. The total of these three numbers is 19. Hence, ristha period may be 5, 10, 4 and 19 days, months or years as the case may be.

If the ristha is very unfavourable and there is no protective factor against that ristha the child may die within days mentioned above. Again inspite of one or two protective factors if the ristha is more forceful the child may die within months or years instead of days.

There will also be a ristha if dandapathi is posited in Vedasthana from Chandra.

What are protective factors ?

1. If dandapathi is weak and there are both unfavourable and beneficial relation with lagna or lagnapathi.
2. If the lagna is in "Vargottom Navamsa" or lagnapathi is posited in his highest exaltation-point.
3. If Vrhaspathi and Sukra are situated in Kendra.
4. If the lord of the birthday is the dandapathi and he is seated in Vedasthan from lagna or Chandra there will be no ristha inspite of the malefic nature of dandapathi.

[Lord of the birthday means—if the baby is born on Sunday the lord of the birthday is Ravi. In this manner the lord of birthday is to be determined]

Under those circumstances the child may avert the crisis arising out of ristha. There are also other favourable yogas that may save the live of the child inspite of 'Pataki' or other risthas which will be discussed later on.

Pitri-ristha :

Pitri ristha means that kind of ristha that may endanger the life of the child's father,

Ravi signifies father and Chandra mother.

1. If these planets are situated between malefics, or associated with or aspected by malefics parents may die.

2. If Sani is situated in lagna, Mangal in the 7th place and Chandra in the 6th house from lagna this is a death inflicting yoga for the father of the child.

3. If Vrhaspathi occupies lagna and the 2nd house is conjoined with Sani, Ravi, Mangal and Budha the father may die at the time of marriage of the child.

4. If the baby is born in the navamsa rasi of Mangal and lagna is aspected by Ravi and Sani the father dies before the birth of the child.

5. If Rahu and Vrhaspathi being in their inimical house occupy lagna or the 4th place from lagna the father dies at the child's 23rd year of age.

6. If the 6th or 8th house from lagna is occupied by Chandra, Mangal and Sani who are not aspected by Vrhaspathi the yoga may prove fatal for both the child and the father.

7. Within 7 days from the birthdate of the child the father may die if the 8th place is occupied by Chandra, the 2nd place by Vrhaspathi and Rahu and the 4th place is occupied by Sani and Mangal.

8. If Ravi is aspected by three malefics without any aspect of any beneficial planet on Ravi or he (Ravi) is not associated with any favourable planet the yoga may endanger the life of the father.

9. If Mangal is placed in the 8th house and the 12th place is occupied by three unfavourable planets without being aspected by or conjoined with any beneficial planet is also a fatal yoga for the father.

10. This is also a ristha yoga for both the child and the father if Ravi is in the 8th place and Rahu is in lagna.

11. This is also a fatal yoga for the father if Ravi and Mangal are conjoined with each other and aspected by Sani or Ravi and Sani together are posited in a house and aspected by Mangal.

Matri-ristha :

1. If Chandra is aspected by three malefics and the 6th place from Chandra is occupied by an inauspicious planet the mother of the child meets with death.

2. If Chandra being in conjunction with and aspected by malefics is posited in the 7th or 8th place from any other unfavourable planet or is aspected by a powerful malefic the mother of the child dies.

This is also a Matri-ristha yoga if the Kendra position is not occupied by a favourable planet and the 4th place from Chandra (if that house is inimical to Chandra) is occupied by a malefic.

3. If the malefic planets are posited in the 4th, 6th, 10th and 12th places from lagna life of the mother and the father may be in danger.

4. When the birth of the child happens to be at night, and both Chandra and Sukra are situated in a malefic house or houses and they are also conjoined with other unfavourable planets the mother dies within 6 months from the birthdate of the child.

5. If Sani and Mangal together (in any rasi) are in the same navamsa and occupy Kendra position from Chandra the mother dies in the baby's childhood and the child is looked after by a stepmother.

6. From waning moon if the 5th and 9th places are occupied by malefic planets only the mother dies within 6 months from the birthdate of the child.

7. If Chandra is hemmed in between Sani and Mangal or is in conjunction with them the mother dies.

8. If the 4th place from lagna or Chandra is occupied by a powerful malefic and the Kendra position from that malefic is occupied by another strong unfavourable planet the mother dies.

9. The mother of the baby dies within 8 days from its birth if lagna falls in Mina and navamsa lagna be in Karkata, and Ravi and Sukra being in Kumbha rasi are aspected by Sani.

10. If Kendra and trikona houses are occupied by malefics the mother dies.

11. If Chandra conjoined with any evil planet is posited in 6th or 8th house and Mangal occupies the 7th place from lagna the mother meets with death.

12. If the 4th place from lagna or Chandra is occupied by a powerful malefic and the Kendra position from that malefic is occupied by another strong unfavourable planet the mother dies.

13. If Chandra is hemmed in between Sani and Mangal or is in conjunction with them the mother dies.

N. B. Though Chandra has an important role in determining the 'ristha' of the baby's mother the fourth house and its lord are no less important.

Bala-ristha (early death of the child) :

(This part of bālā-ristha should be read along with the ristha yogas explained earlier in this chapter)

Primarily Eighth house indicates Ayu or Longivity, but that is not all. The house also signifies litigation, victory over or defeat by enemies, imprisonment, domestic troubles, worries and anxieties, abdomen and pelvic region of the body, rectum, secret organ, legacies, unearned wealth, wills, disgrace and degradation, cause of death, place and surroundings of death.

Occupation of the 8th Lord in different bhavas and results thereof :

1. If the 8th lord occupies lagna or the 7th place from lagna the wife or the husband may die a premature death and the native may marry again.

Remarriage depends on many factors which must be considered before the final judgment is pronounced.

The 8th lord in lagna may be the cause of immense trouble, such as, the native may be possessing very bad health, he will have no easy walk of life.

2. If the 8th lord is posited in the 2nd place the native cannot acquire good wealth and he cannot restore his lost property.

The 2nd place is 'marakasthan' (death inflicting house), So if the 8th lord is situated in the 2nd place the native may fall badly ill during dasa-bhukti of the 2nd lord under the major period of the lord of the 8th house. Besides, the native may suffer from some sort of ailments in throat.

3. Relation between brothers and sisters may be strained if the 8th lord occupies the 3rd house. Health of brothers and sisters may not run well.

4. Position of the 8th lord in the 4th or 10th house is deemed to be very bad. The native may be mean-minded, malicious and jealous of others. His parents may die in his childhood. There may be ups and down in his vocational career and mental peace may remain disturbed.

5. When the 8th lord is posited in the 5th house the native may not be a man of sharp intellect unless any one of Budha and Vrhaspatti is powerful and favourably posited in Kendra or Kona.

6. If the 8th lord occupies the 6th place the native will be sickly, there is danger of Snakebite and also fear from water in his childhood.

7. If the 8th lord occupies the 8th house and the house itself is his (8th lord's) exalted or own sign the native may live long, but if the said 8th lord is conjoined with or aspected by a malefic, or acquires unfavourable Sasthyamsa (one-sixtyeth part of a rasi—see the table) the native may be shortlived.

8. The 8th lord in the 9th house (house of luck) is awfully bad. The native can not thrive well in life, he may be a sinful man, unscrupulous, always hankers after other's wealth and wife, or he may be barren or childless.

9. If the 11th house is occupied by the 8th lord his relatives may be hostile to him and he may not have cordial relations with his elder brothers or sister. Of course all these depend on the strength and favourable position of the 3rd lord. Again, if the 3rd house is occupied by a benefic and its lord is well-positied the unfavourable result may be ameliorated to a great extent.

10. If the 8th lord in conjunction with a natural malefic is posited in the 12th place the native may be shortlived, this also may be the case if the 6th lord also be in the 12th place.

11. The 8th lord when posited in the 11th will not be favourable for the native to earn as much money as in case of other lords but if the 2nd and 11th lords or/and houses are favourable the native may earn a lot by unscrupulous means particularly when the 8th lord being a natural malefic occupies the 11th house. Again if the house of gain (11th) is not afflicted and the 8th lord be in the 11th the native may get wealth or property by inheritance.

12. If the 8th lord is Sukra and the planet is associated with or related to a naturally inauspicious planet the native may be attacked with kidney trouble, ailments due to inflammation of prostate gland or any other urinary trouble, such as diabetes. In case the native is a woman besides urinary trouble referred to above she may suffer from uterine disease or disease of the ovary. If that Sukra is conjoined with or aspected by Mangal the native may have to undergo surgical operation due to any of those diseases.

The 8th lord being in conjunction with Mangal or similar other cruel planets may be the cause of disease of the anus or rectum (such as piles, fissure etc.).

The combination of the 8th lord and Mangal, or association of the 8th lord with the lord of the 6th house may be the cause of involvement into litigation, imprisonment or debt.

Combination of or relation between the lords of 8th and 6th houses are not always unfavourable, rather the native may pass over many hardles that beset him or her in his (or her) career and prosper in life provided they are not aspected by or related to any other bhava Lord (excepting the lord of the 12th house), so says Uttarkalamrita and Parasari Hora.

Again if the 8th house is occupied by more than one malicious planet the native may suffer from diseases of anus or rectum and there is possibility of his suffering from enlargement of scrotum.

Unhappy or painful end of life

1. If the 8th lord is in Pasa or Sarpa Drekkān the native may die of snake bite or may commit suicide by hanging.

(The 1st and the last drekkān of Karkata, Vṛścika and Mīnāṛasī are termed as Pāsa or Sarpa drekkān).

2. If the 8th house or the lord is aspected by any powerful planet the native may die due to disease caused by that planet..

(It may be noted that Ravi and Mangal indicate bile, Chandra rheumatism, wind and phlegm, Budha indicates bile and phlegm, Vṛhaspathi phlegm, Sukra Pneumatics and phlegm, Śani pneumatics and rheumatism, and Rahu signifies pneumatics only).

The native may die when the humour indicated by death-inflicting planet is irritated or the state of the bodily humours become unbalanced.

(a) If the 8th place is aspected by Ravi death due to fire,

(b) If the 8th place is aspected by Chandra watery disease,

(c) If the 8th place is aspected by Mangal death may be caused by any kind of weapon, or surgical operation.

(d) If that house is aspected by Budha it may be a serious type of fever that cannot be easily diagnosed,

(e) If Vrhaspathi is the cause of death the suffering will be due to cough and cold or any such disease relating to phlegm or digestive organ.

3. If the waning Chandra be posited in the 8th place and is aspected (drishta) by powerful Sani the native may die of disease of anus, eye or any wound caused by a weapon.

Planets in the Eighth house

Astrological savants are of opinion that there should not be any planet favourable or unfavourable, in the 8th house. Because any planet whether he is a natural Subha (benefic) or asubha (malefic) may produce unfavourable result in one way or other. This is also a fact that the standard of beneficial or malicious result depends on the nature and strength of each planet. There is no doubt about it that the result will vary according to strength of planets positing in the 8th house.

Ravi in the 8th house

1. It is needless to repeat here that Ravi signifies father, soul, head, nobility etc. (please see the Karakata chapter). When he is situated in the 8th house the native may suffer from bilious ailments, he may lack personality, vitality, energy and vigour, because Ravi naturally stands for energy, vitality, pomp, grandeur, greatness and nobility. Naturally when this planet is in the 8th house he will be afflicted, in consequence the native will be narrow-minded, mentally weak and sickly, he may die of epilepsy, paralysis or sunstroke. An afflicted Ravi may be the cause of loss of brain power.

When Ravi occupies the 8th house and is aspected by Sani and there is no aspect of any benefic on Ravi the native under that circumstance will pass through many vicissitudes of life, may suffer from worries and anxieties almost all through his life. His professional career may be adversely effected.

In a female horoscope the planet seated in the 8th house may cause widowhood.

Chandra in the 8th house

2. Chandra represents mother, mind, lungs nutrition, morality, etc. If the planet is situated in the 8th house the native is likely to be sickly, his mother may not live long or she may die during the childhood of the native. If Chandra in the 8th house is aspected by 3 papas (malefics) or is situated between malicious planets the child's mother and child itself may die at an early age. This is called Bālā-ristha. (See Bālā-ristha).

Chandra may be the cause of lunacy if he is aspected by powerful Sani, Mangal or Rahu, this configuration of planets (viz., Chandra's relation with Sani, Mangal and Rahu) may be the cause of epilepsy, piles and indigestion.

If the 8th house is a watery sign and Chandra is posited there with Vṛhaspathi being unfavourable due to ownership of a malefic house the native may suffer from asthma, phthisis, consumption etc. He may be susceptible to cough and cold only in case lagna and its lord are well-disposed in a favourable sign.

Mangal in the 8th house

3. Mangal among other things denotes physical strength and energy, activity, effort, brothers and sisters, sinews, muscular tissues, weapons, strife, war, litigation, accidents, etc.

If Mangal is situated in 8th house it indicates sudden death owing to surgical operation, piles, fissure, plague, cholera, dysentery, small pox, meningitis etc. He may be involved in a litigation or debt.

Mangal in the 8th house may cause wife's death in case of a male and if he is associated with 8th house in a woman's horoscope the husband may die.

If Mangal in the 8th house is conjoined with a malefic the native may be fond of women of bad repute, in case of a woman the lady may be illegally attached to a paramour by discarding her husband. This is also termed as Koja dosh.

Budha in the 8th house

4. Budha represents learning, education, wisdom, intelligence, art, tongue, power of speech, nerves, humour etc

When the planet is situated in the 8th house the native may be dull, his educational career will not be smooth running (there may be many obstructions), his manner of talk or conversation may not be convincing, he may be attacked with such diseases that can not be diagnosed easily.

When Budha in the 8th house is strong and is not associated with or aspected by any malefic the native may be wise, prudent, well-mannered, but afflicted Budha in the 8th house may be the cause of many evils and worries.

In the horoscope of a woman afflicted Budha in the 8th house causes unhappy incidents in the family and her husband may have to bear the brunt of those evil events.

Vrhaspathi in the 8th house

5. Vrhaspathi in the 8th house is not a benefactor for the native. He may not have any child at all or his children may die premature death. In a woman's horoscope Vrhaspathi in the 8th house may cause abortions, or her children may die early. The native may be mean-minded, he may earn his livelihood as a menial, he will be untruthful and a religious hypocrite, he may be dependant on others and lead a miserable life. But Vrhaspathi in the 8th house gives long life to the native.

Sukra in the 8th house

6. Sukra is a significator of marriage, wife or husband, attachment, material pleasure, sexual act, passion, love, beauty, elegant eyes, fine arts, scandals, venereal diseases etc.

Phala dipika writes that Sukra in the 8th house makes the native a longlived and rich, and a ruler of earth. Astrological savants are of opinion that only powerful Sukra in the 8th house can give the aforesaid good results. If he is weak the native may have to face scandals, he may be adulterous, may visit public women, may be addicted to wine and women, may suffer from venereal disease etc.

When the planet is in conjunction with Mangal or they are related to each other in any other way there may be loss of life partner at his or her premature age and the native may be a man of loose morals.

Sukra with Sani in the 8th house may make the native impotent.

In the horoscope of a woman when Sukra is posited in the 8th house and the 7th house and its lord are not favourable the native's conjugal life is totally marred. This is also a sign of premature death of the husband (or wife).

Presence of Sukra and Sani in the 8th house may cause diabetes, kidney trouble or inflammation of prostate gland.

In the horoscope of a woman the native may suffer from diseases of ovary or uterus or both if Sukra is situated in the 8th house.

If Mangal is conjoined with Sukra, she may have to undergo surgical operation due to those ailments.

Sani in the 8th house

7. Primarily Sani is the indicator of death. He signifies sorrows, afflictions, disappointment, miseries, meanness, demoralization. (To get elaborate idea of Sani's significance please read 'Karakata' chapter).

Eighth house is astrologically termed as 'Randhra'. The term means a hole or a bore of a tube through which all poisonous substance may get in or get out. Sani controls that hole or bore. If he is in joyful mood he allows the vicious instincts in a man to get into that bore and sends back the same after proper sterilization, thereby the planet takes the responsibility of moulding a sinful person into a 'sadhaka' i.e. a true devotee. So, a beneficial Sani is a blessing in disguise. He withholds at first, later to deal in double measure. When Sani is the ruler in the horoscope he makes slow plodding ascent and the promise of success early in life is scant. But as the years roll by the arc begins to curve upward the native rises to prominence in life.

Initially Sani stands for worries and anxieties, impurity, insincerity and sinful acts. So, when he is in the 8th house the native may have to suffer from serious type of miseries and worries, he is to struggle hard to ward off obstacles that beset on his way to prosperity, he faces monetary stringency, develops nasty habits, every effort in his life may be thwarted by enemies or by some sort of impediments about which he never thought of before their exact appearance in the field of action. Sani in the 8th place makes a man cruel, peevish, dishonest. Afflicted Sani in the 8th house may be the cause of suffering from colic pain, gout or rheumatism, idiosyncracies, windy ailments, defective eyesight (vision) and tooth trouble.

When Sani is afflicted by Ravi the man becomes depraved and dishonest and struggle in his life knows no bound.

Sani in the 8th house gives long life to the native but if the planet is conjoined with Mangal death may occur due to surgical operation, if he is in conjunction with Sukra the native may be impotent. Of course if Sani and Sukra are aspected by a benefic the native may be sexually normal.

In the horoscope of a woman Sani in the 8th house deprives the native of mental peace in conjugal or family life. Moreover she may be a widow. This unfavourable result more often is experienced when that Sani and Sukra are in conjunction with Mangal.

Rahu in the 8th house

8. Rahu represents litigation, corruption, thieves, serpents, duplicity, quarrelsome habit etc.

When Rahu is posited in the 8th house the native becomes dishonest, mean, degraded and quarrelsome. Rahu in the 8th house gives the native ample opportunities to earn money through dishonest method, he is unscrupulous and does not hesitate to cheat his friends and near and dear ones.

Rahu along with weak Chandra when seated in the 8th house brings about premature death of the life partner. In the birthchart of a woman this yoga is very unfavourable and the lady may lose her husband at her early age.

Death is possible due to snakebite if Rahu in conjunction with Mangal occupies the 8th house. Combination of these two planets may also cause death by poison.

The native himself may be responsible for loss of domestic peace in whose horoscope Rahu is situated in the 8th house but if Rahu is favoured by a benefic the unfavourable result may to some extent be mitigated.

Ketu in the 8th house

9. Ketu signifies quarrels, selfishness, secret intrigues and company, backbiting, vicious tendencies, mendicancy, resignation and surrender to God and salvation.

Ketu in the 8th house does not give domestic peace, he is the cause of unfriendly relation or quarrel with relatives. If the planet is situated in the 8th house and Mangal also is there the native may suffer from piles, hernia, or any other secret disease. In the horoscope of a female the native may be a widow early in life if Ketu is in the 8th place from lagna. In case the planet is conjoined with or aspected by a powerful benefic the evil result as said above may seldom be expected.

Ketu in the 8th place indicates disappointment, shift from one place to another, struggle in life.

Cancellation of Ristha yoga

Ristha yogas—bālāristha, Pitiristha or Matriristhas are considered to be cancelled under the following configuration of planets :

1. A powerful Vṛhaspathi rising in Lagna cancels all kinds of risthas.

2. If the lagna-lord is powerful, posited in any kendra and is aspected by a benefic without being aspected by any malefic the child in spite of bālāristha is blessed with long life and he is lucky.

3. When any one of Chandra, Budha, Vṛhaspathi and Sukra is strong and occupies a Kendra or Kona position ristha yogas are taken to be nullified.

4. When malefic planets that bring forth ristha yogas are posited in a favourable house in navamsa chart, or favourably situated in majority of Sada or Dasa-Vargas and also at the same time are aspected by favourable planet or planets in the birth chart the ristha yogas are deemed to be cancelled.

5. When any one among Chandra, Budha, Vrhaspathi and Sukra occupies a favourable house, favourable navamsa and Drekkā—all kinds of rishtha yogas lose their baneful stings and the child lives long.

6. When all the planets are situated in Shirsodaya rasis rishtha yogas can not do any harm to the baby. [Mesa, Vrsa, Karkata, Dhanu and Makara rasis are called Pristhodaya rasis, all other six rasis (Mithuna, Simha, Kanya, Tula, Vrscika and Kumbha) are Shirsodaya rasis. Mina rasi is called Woovayodaya rasi meaning both Pristhodaya and Shirsodaya rasi].

7. When at birth Chandra is posited in Budha, Vrhaspathi or Sukra's drekkā rishtha yoga is cancelled. Even if Chandra under the aforesaid circumstance is situated in the 8th house rishtha yoga is to be taken as cancelled.

8. Rishtha yogas will be of no importance if the full Moon (Purna Chandra) is posited in a favourable house, Navamsa or is situated between favourable planets or she is conjoined with any benefic.

9. Rishtha yogas are nullified when Rahu occupies Mesa, Vrsa or Karkata identical with 3rd, 6th or 11th house from lagna.

10. When lagna rises in Tula, Dhanu, or Mina rasi and Sani is there in lagna all the bālā-rishthas are considered to be cancelled.

11. If Rahu is posited in Simha lagna all kinds of rishtha are to be taken as cancelled. A child born with Rahu in Simha lagna will be lucky and prosperous.

12. All the rishthas are nullified if Sukra occupies 3rd, 5th, 9th or 11th house and Vrhaspathi is posited in even rasi identical with the 7th house from lagna (Vrsa, Karkata, Kanya, Vrscika, Makara and Mina rasis are even rasis. Even rasi is a synonym of Sama rasi, other six rasis are odd or Visama rasis).

13. Parents of the baby will be happy to see the prosperity of their child when in his or her birthchart the 4th house is occupied by a benefic and Vrhaspathi is posited in any kendra or kona house, rishtha yogas in the chart of the baby will be of no avail.

14. If Ravi in case of birth at day time or Chandra in case of birth at night is powerful and is seated in the 11th place from lagna innumerable faults arising out of ristha yogas are vanished.

15. If the 3rd, 6th or 11th house is occupied by any one of Sani, Mangal and Ravi ristha yogas are considered to be dispelled.

16. If Chandra is posited in a favourable house and is aspected by the lagnapathi (lagna-lord) all ristha yogas are deemed to be cancelled.

17. If the lord of the rasi where Chandra is situated is powerful and is aspected by or conjoined with a benefic all ristha yogas are deemed to be cancelled.

18. The 8th lord positing in the 6th or 12th house may make the native sickly. In his early life there is danger from water or snake.

A few instances of ristha yogas that are nullified under special conditions

1. Lagna in Dhanu rasi, Kumbha is occupied by Sani, Ravi, Budha and Ketu, Vrhaspathi in Mesa, Rahu in Simha, and Tula (the 11th house from lagna) is occupied by Mangal.

The native inspite of serious illness or accident on more than one occasion was saved. For Chandra is powerful due to aspect of lagna-lord Vrhaspathi, he is in the 11th house from lagna and Vrhaspathi is situated in Kona from lagna. Further, Sukra, the lord of Chandra rasi is powerful in his exalted house and posited in a Kendra position from lagna.

2. Lagna rises at Karkata rasi, Vrhaspathi and Rahu are in lagna, Chandra in Simha, Ketu in Makara, Ravi and Sukra in Mina, Budha in Mesa, Sani in Vrsa and Mangal in Mithuna.

This lady was seriously ill at the age of 10 and 22 years. On both occasions, her relatives lost all hope of life and doctors also were at their wit's end and seemed to be puzzled. Dr. B. C. Roy was consulted and the lady came round after a few days.

In this case also lagna falls in Vrhaspathi's Navamsa, Chandra in his own Navamsa and Sani is situated in the 11th house from lagna.

Longevity or Ayu

It is one of the most difficult thing to predict the exact span of life. One can master over mathematical process of calculation of longevity but that is not all to determine one's longevity. Of all methods enumerated by learned Rishis, such as, Jaimini, Parasara, Barahamihira, majority of modern astrological Pandits of India generally prefer Parasara's method of calculation of longevity, which is almost the same as Jaimini.

Let us now discuss Maharshi Parasara's Method of calculation of longevity. This Rishi has in his Parasari Hora explained more than one method of calculation and we shall try to explain some of them one after another.

There are three kinds of longevity, viz., long life, medium life and short life. Span of long life extends from 80 years to 120 years. Medium from after 40 years to 80 years and upto 40 years of age short life is indicated.

Longevity is to be determined from three pairs separately i.e. (i) Lords of lagna and the Eighth house, (ii) Sani and Chandra, (iii) Lagna and Hora lagna. If two pairs agree to each other longevity will be determined from those pairs. If three pairs indicate different span of life the longevity indicated by Hora-lagna will tell us which kind of longevity the native shall enjoy.

There is a special rule in case of the pair consisting of Sani and Chandra. If Chandra is situated in lagna or the 7th place from lagna longevity is to be calculated from lagna and Chandra, otherwise calculation of longevity is to be relied upon Sani and Chandra.

Rasis are divided into Chara (moveable). Sthira (fixed) and Dwatyaka (dual). Mesa, Karkata, Tula and Makara are Chara rasis; Vrsa, Simha, Vrscika and Kumbha are Sthira rasis and Mithuna, Kanya, Dhanu and Mina are Dwatyaka rasis.

These terms Chara, Sthira and Dwatyaka rasis are symbolically noted as 1, 2, 3 respectively. Now mode of calculation is as follows, of the first pair Lagna and 8th Lord :

(i) If Lagna is posited in Sthira rasi (which means 2) and Eighth lord in Dwatyaka rasi (which means 3) total number is 5, there is only 3 in all (i.e. Chara, Sthira and Dwatyaka or we may term it as 1, 2 and 3). Therefore $5 - 3 = 2$ which means long life.

(ii) If of the next pair—Sani and Chandra or Lagna and Chandra, one is in number 1 and another is in number 2, the total is 3. This means medium life.

(iii) If of the last pair one is in No. 1 and another is in No. 3 the total is 4 which is equivalent to 1. This means short life.

We may show this result in the following table :

Long life	Medium life	Short life
Lagnapathi—Chara 1	Lagnapathi Chara 1	Lagnapathi Chara 1
Eighth lord— " 1	Eighth lord Sthira 2	Eighth lord Dwatyaka 3
Lagnapathi—Sthira 2	Lagnapathi Sthira 2	Lagnapathi Sthira 2
Eighth lord—Dwatyaka 3	Eighth lord Chara 1	Eighth lord " 2
Lagnapathi—Dwatyaka 3	Lagnapathi Dwatyaka 3	Lagnapathi Dwatyaka 3
Eighth lord—Sthira 2	Eighth lord " 3	Eighth lord Chara 1

The table shows that number 1 means short life, number 2 long life and number 3 medium life.

By this process other two pairs may be examined. Of these three pairs if two pairs agree the span of life such as long, medium or short is to be determined according to the result shown by Lagna and Hora Lagna.

Span of short life —32, 36, 40 years of age

" " medium life—64, 72, 80 " " "

" " long life —96, 108, 120 " " "

Minute calculation of longevity is to be done in the following manner :

There are 3 significators of ayurmān viz., 40, 36, and 32.

When ayurdaya (span of life) is indicated by lagnapathi and Eighth lord 40 is the significator's years.

When it is indicated by Sani and Chandra or lagna & Chandra 36 is the significating years (in such a case lagnapathi & 8th lord should not be an indicator of longevity).

In the pair of Lagna and Hora lagna which is the indicator of span of life, 32 is the significating years. Now, by rule of three, the total span of life is to be calculated. For instance—a native's longevity is determined by the pair of Lagnapathi and Eighth lord and also Sani and Chandra.

In this case, as the pair of lagnapathi and Eighth lord is the determining factor of longevity significating year is 40.

Say, Lagnapathi denotes No. 1, Eighth lord also No. 1, it indicates long life. So significating year will be 40.

Sani is in Kumbha $2^{\circ} 23'$, Chandra in Tula $22^{\circ} 35'$ Kumbha (Sthira) means 2, Tula (Chara) denotes 1, the total is 3, hence medium life. Two groups show different results, the 1st one indicates long life, the 2nd group indicates medium life. Therefore the pair of lagna and hora lagna will decide the span of life.

Say, Lagna in Dhanu $5^{\circ} 16'$, Hora lagna in Tula $4^{\circ} 38'$. Now, mathematical process to determine longevity is to be worked out by rule of three. We are now certain that by lagna and hora lagna (3+1 means short life) native has short life and because as group of lagna and hora lagna indicates span of life the significating year is 32. This is also to be noted that 30 degree makes a rasi. Now in Dhanu lagna $3^{\circ} 16'$ has already been used up at the time of birth and remaining degrees out of 30 are yet to be consumed. The process of rule of three is as follows: Lagna sphuta is $3^{\circ} 16'$. Therefore $30^{\circ} - 3^{\circ} 16' = 26^{\circ} 44'$ is to be used up. Similarly horalagnasphuta is $4^{\circ} 38'$ in Tula. The remaining degrees to be used up out of 30 degree are $25^{\circ} 22'$

The significating year is 32

Lagna to be consumed is $26^{\circ} 44'$

Horalagna to be consumed is $25^{\circ} 22'$

$26^{\circ} 44' = 1604$ Kalā or min.

$25^{\circ} 22' = 1522$ „ „ „

The significating year is 32

By rule of three 30 degree : 1604 : 32 year : x

1800 Kalā 1544 : 32 „ : x

$$x = \frac{1604 \times 32}{1800} = 28 \text{ years } 6 \text{ m } 1 \text{ day.}$$

Similarly 30 degrees : $25^{\circ} 22'$: 32 : x

1800 kalā : 1522 : 32 : x

$$x = \frac{1522 \times 32}{1800} = 27 \text{ years } 0 \text{ m } 21 \text{ days}$$

By addition 28 yrs 6 m 1 day + 27 yrs 0 m 21 days
= 55 yrs 6 m 22 days

This is to be divided by 2 which is equal to 27 yrs 9 m. 11 days.

This is the span of life of the native. If the span of life thus found happens to be medium, significating year is to be added with this figure. If it is long life significating year is to be added twice with this figure.

Let us summarize the rules in the following manner :

1. The significating year will be 40 if Lagnapathi and 8th lord decide the span of life.

2. The significating year will be 36 if Sani and Chandra or Lagna and Chandra decide the span of life (if the pair of Lagnapathi and 8th lord is not the deciding factor).

3. If lagna and Hora lagna decide the span of life the significating year is 32. In case the three groups do not agree with one another 32 year is the significating year.

There is one anomaly in these rules. For, there will be no chance of using 36 as significating year. Because of the three groups one will be either Lagnapathi and Eighth lord or lagna and Horalagna. For no single group excepting Lagna and Horalagna can decide the issue.

Some of the commentators are of opinion that when Lagnapathi and Eighth lord and Sani and Chandra or Chandra and Lagna decide the span of life, significating year will be 40 and 36 respectively at the time of calculation.

However there are a few more points in respect of calculating the span of life.

We have seen earlier the process of calculating longevity by rule of three. Now, if the span of life is long and the year of longevity found after dividing the figure obtained by addition of two results and division of the same by two, the significating year is to be added twice and the result will be the span of long life. If it is medium life significating year will be added once only.

Reduction or increase of zone of longevity

Zone of longevity is reduced or increased according to the position and strength of Sani.

Condition of reduction of longevity is as follows :

1. If Sani is weak and associated with or aspected by the 8th lord span of life is to be reduced in the following manner :

(a) If Sani is conjoined with or aspected by the 8th lord—in case the span of life is long, longevity is to be reduced to medium.

(b) In case of medium life longevity will be short and if it is short life span of life will be very short. If short life is found the native may die at a very early age.

2. If Sani is strong occupying his exalted or own house the span of life is increased. It means that if the native has short life it will be medium, if it is medium longevity will be long and if long life is indicated longevity will be very long.

This is also to be noted that reduction of longevity is to be thought of in case Sani is debilitated, positioned in the inimical house and at the same time aspected by or conjoined with a malefic planet.

Only aspected by or conjoined with a malefic Sani will not be responsible for reduction of the span of life unless and until he is situated in his enemy-house or positioned at the house of debilitation.

3. Similarly when Sani occupies a favourable house and is aspected by or associated with a benefic or he is posited in his own house or house of exaltation identical with a favourable bhava, increase of zone of longevity is to be thought of.

Role of Vrhaspathi with regard to increase of the Zone of longevity :

After considering the position, strength etc. of Sani Vrhaspathi's position is to be examined.

Vrhaspathi does not reduce the Zone of longevity. He can rather increase the span of life when he is positioned in lagna or 7th place from lagna. If he is situated in a favourable house aspected by a benefic or he occupies his own, mooltrikona or exalted house without being aspected by or conjoined with a malefic, span of life will be enhanced. In that case the native with the yoga of short life will be endowed with medium life and he having been born with medium life will have long life.

Another method of determining span of life :

In Atmakaraka Navamsa chart the lord of the 8th house from lagna and the lord of the 8th house from the 7th place (from lagna) may be indicators of span of life.

(i) If the stronger of these two planets is situated in any Kendra it is indication of long life.

(ii) If the stronger planet is posited in 'Upakendra' (i.e. 2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th houses) it is the indication of medium life.

(iii) If he is in 'Anukendra' (i.e. 3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th houses) it is short life.

(iv) Further if these two planets are equally strong and are placed in a Kendra it is short life, if they are in 'Upakendra' medium life and if they are situated in 'Anukendra' it is an indication of long life.

Death inflicting dasa and antardasa :

1. According to Maharshi Parasara both the lords of the 2nd and the 7th houses are mārakas (death inflicting planets) of which the lord of the 7th house is the most powerful māraka.

Laghu Parasara holds a different view. According to this treatise the 2nd lord as a māraka is stronger than the 7th lord.

2. Whatever may be the opinion of different authors it is an admitted fact that determination of death inflicting capacity of these two planets—2nd and 7th lords depend on their position, strength or weakness and mālēfic or beneficial aspects on them by favourable or unfavourable planets.

3. The lord of the 8th house also under certain conditions is considered as a principal māraka.

4. When the native is born with the yoga of medium life dasa of the planet owning 6th or 8th house inflicts death but if the 6th house is occupied by many malefics—at least more than two planets, 6th lord is considered as the most powerful māraka.

(5). (i) Lords of the death inflicting houses (viz., the 2nd and the 7th houses).

(ii) Natural pāpas (unfavourable planets) occupying mārakasthanas i.e. 2nd and 7th places,

(iii) Pāpa planets associated with those unfavourable planets situated in the mārakasthanas.

These planets may be inflicting death to the native. If the native does not enjoy the dasa of the No. 1 planets, No. 2 planets may cause death and if the native has least chance of enjoying the dasa of planets mentioned in No. 2, the native shall die in the dasa period of No. 3 planets. If per chance the native may not enjoy the dasa of any one of those planets, the planet related to the 12th lord may bring about death of the native.

Sani as a Maraka (death inflicting planet) :

In this respect Sani has a different role. He is a natural malefic. Though he is a significator of longevity he acts as a principal māraka if he is in any way related to any other māraka planet. In that case he surpasses all other māraka planets and will kill the native in his dasa or antardasa.

Of course if a native is born with the yoga of long or medium life he can not die before he reaches the respective zone and māraka Sani may give serious illness and not death in his dasa and antardasa.

Maharshi Parasara enumerated a few more methods of determining zone of longevity. Some of them are as follows :

(i) In the birth chart the lord of the 8th house from lagna and the lord of the 8th house from the 7th place from lagna may be indicators of span of life. The stronger of these two lords will actually determine the zone of longevity by its position in the chart. Such as, if the stronger planet is situated in a kendra it is the indication of long life.

If he is situated in any Upa-kendra (i.e. next to kendra—2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th) it is medium life.

If he is in an Anu-kendra (i.e. 3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th) it is an indication of short life.

If these two lords are equally strong, zone of longevity will have to be ascertained in reverse order which means if they are in kendra it indicates short life, if they are in Upakendra it is medium life and in case of their position in Anukendra it is an indication of long life.

6. Maharshi Parasara's other methods are stated herebelow :

(i) If the lords of the 8th house and lagna together are situated in the 8th place from lagna with any other pāpa (naturally unfavourable planet) it is an indication of short life.

(ii) If the 8th places from the positions of Sani and the 10th lord are occupied by any pāpa short life is indicated.

N. B. Readers must be cautious in ascertaining span of life because if the lagnapathi (lord of lagna), lord of the 8th house and Sani are strong and lagna is aspected by or conjoined with strong lagna-lord the native inspite of short life-yoga will not die at an early age.

The case of the author (of this book) himself is a specific instance. Inspite of Alpāyu yoga he did not die at a very early age and is still alive at 74/75 years of age, because his lagna and Chandra are aspected by Vrhaspathi who is lagnapathi and Sani both in natal and navamsa chart is strong.

7. A few important hints given by Maharshi Parasara :

These hints or yogas as we may call them, are said to be easier in determining span of life.

(i) If retrograde Sani and retrograde Mangal exchange each other's houses it is an indication of short life.

(ii) If waning moon, lagnapathi and the lord of the 8th house occupy 4th, 6th, 8th and/or 12th places, or when the waning moon and lagnapathi in combination with the lord of the 8th house are posited in the 8th place from lagna the yoga thus found is Alpāyu (short life).

(iii) Again if the aforesaid three planets unaspected by any beneficial planet are aspected by or conjoined with any pāpa (malefic) and are situated in either Sani or Mangal's sign (house) short life is indicated.

8. Long life :

(i) When all the benefics are placed in kendra or kona i.e. some of them in kendra and others in kona, pāpas are placed in the 3rd or 6th house and 8th house remains unoccupied by any planet the native shall live 90 years of age.

(ii) If Vrhaspathi, Sukra, Budha and Ravi occupy respectively lagna, 4th, 5th and 6th houses and the remaining planets are not placed in the 8th or their enemy houses longevity of the native will be 96 years of age.

(iii) A native's longevity will be 76 years of age when the 4th house from lagna is occupied by Vrhaspathi, 5th house from Vrhaspathi is posited by Budha, and Sukra is placed in the 6th house from Vrhaspathi.

(iv) If Vrhaspathi is situated in the 7th house from lagna, Budha and Sukra occupy 5th and 6th places respectively from Vrhaspathi the native's longevity will be 88 years of age.

(v) Similarly if 10th house is occupied by Vrhaspathi, and Budha and Sukra occupy 5th and 6th places respectively from Vṛhaspathi the longevity will be 81 years of age.

(iv) Longevity will be 100 years of age if all the planets are in kendra, it will be 90 years if all of them are situated in apakendra (2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th houses) and when apoklima houses (3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th houses) are occupied by all the planets, longevity will be 80 years of age.

There are few more yogas, stated by Maharshi Parasara to ascertain longevity of a native. They are as follows :

9. Alpayu (short life) :

(a) When the lord of the 8th house is situated in any kendra and lagnapathi is weak the native's longevity will be 23 or 32 years of age.

(b) If the 8th place and its lord are associated with any pāpa and lagnapathi is weak it is an Alpayu-yoga.

(c) If the 8th place and its lord are associated with any pāpa and the 12th place is occupied by 'Krura' (cruel or very malefic) planets the native dies just after his birth.

Ravi, Mangal, Sani and Rahu are generally termed as Krura planets.

(d) The lord of the 8th house is debilitated, the 8th house is occupied by malefics and lord of lagna is weak. The native who owns such a birthchart shall die at an early age.

(e) It is an indication of Alpayu when the 5th and 8th places and the lord of the 8th house are conjoined with malefic planets.

(f) If the lord of the 8th house is in the 8th place from lagna and Chandra is associated with any malefic and is not aspected by any beneficial planet it is the sign of Alpayu.

A few formulas stated by Maharshi Parasara by which Zone of long life may be ascertained :

(g) When lagnapathi is posited in his exalted house, Chandra in the 11th place and Vṛhaspathi occupies the 8th house the native shall have long life.

Exactly such configuration of planets is seldom found in a birthchart, so the following points are to be noted carefully before a verdict of long life is pronounced :

(i) If lagnapathi, lords of the 8th and 10th houses and Sani are strong.

(ii) If the 8th house is aspected by a benefic and is not associated with any pāpa.

(iii) If the lords of lagna and the 8th house are strong and they are posited in a Kendra or Kona.

It is needless to repeat that the aforesaid yogas will enhance span of life.

10. A few formulæ of Uttara Kalamrita, a famous treatise on astrology written by Mahakavi (the greatest Indian poet) Kalidasa are stated herebelow :

(i) If any favourable planet occupying any kendra or kona house does not cast aspect on lagnapathi, or the lord of the rasi where lagnapathi is situated and lagna itself are not aspected by a favourable planet Alpayu is indicated. (aspect here means probably full aspect).

(ii) If lagna or janmarasi (where Chandra is situated in the birthchart) is aspected by the 8th lord, or the 8th lord or Chandra is aspected by either Sani or Mangal, and in both the cases lagna and the lord of rasi where lagnapathi is posited are not aspected by any benefic the native is short-lived.

(iii) If lagna-sphuta (i.e. degree and minute of lagna) or the janmarasi is aspected by the 8th lord, or the 8th place from lagna or Chandra is aspected by Sani and Mangal and in both the cases lagna-sphuta and Chandra are not aspected by any beneficial planet the native shall die at a very early age.

11. Some of the experienced astrologers have found the following configuration of planets as very effective in ascertaining the zone of longevity.

(i) Divide the 12 houses by 3 (count either from lagna or Chandra) 1st to 4th houses belong to first group, fifth to eighth houses belong to second group and ninth to twelfth houses belong to third group.

If majority of planets out of 9 are posited in the 1st group indication is long life.

If majority of planets are placed in the 2nd group it is medium life and if they are in the 3rd group it indicates short life.

12. A very important clue to find out zone of longevity :

(i) If Navamsa lords of lagna, lagnapathi and Chandra are friendly to lagna-lord it indicates long life.

(ii) If they are neutral to the lord of lagna it is mediuna life.

(iii) If they are inimical to the lagnapathi short life is indicated.

It is not possible to state all yogas regarding determination of longevity in a small book like this. Inquisitive readers may consult Brihat-jataka, Phaladipika, Jataka Parijat, Sarvartha Chintamani, Sarabally and many other important authoritative books on astrology where further detailed yogas of longevity have been discussed by eminent authors.

CHAPTER—IX

BHAGYA BHAVA

The Ninth house

The bhavas that are most essential to the determination of the quality and character of the horoscope are (1) Lagna, (2) Bhagya and (3) Karma bhavas.

The three go together, they are integrated. For, it is easy enough to perceive that as there has to be a wall before there is a good painting on it, so, there has to be a strong lagna to have a good Bhagya and good Karma. And since Bhagya and Karma are really the same thing in the circular order karma determining the bhagya (destiny) and bhagya determining the karma—they would always go together with the lagna. In fact the trio are inseparable. Every lagna has its bhagya and every bhagya has its karma. The karma determines the bhagya and both effect the individual that is lagna.

Graha Yamal an authoritative ancient text sets forth the sovereign importance of karma bhava and bhagya bhava in these words "The Karmasthana is very important and has to be studied very carefully. If there is no graha (planet) here or this house is not aspected by any graha the native roams about in abject poverty. Also when the bhagyasthana and the karmasthana are without any planet or unaspected, the result is deplorable". So, the dharma bhava (bhagya, dharma and 9th house are synonymous) and the karma bhava have to be rightly evaluated in a horoscope. The sage Parasara also has emphasized the importance of bhagya and karma.

Another name for bhagya bhava is Purba Janma (previous birth). 'Daiva', 'Punya', 'Dharma' and 'Swavaba' are astrological synonyms. A favourable 'daiva' helps the individual to take all hurdles without much difficulty. An unfavourable 'daiva' raises obstacles at every step. It is only when the individual is exceptionally favoured with a strong karmasthana, that he can take all the obstacles in his stride and make satisfactory progress in life. We are all very finite beings, bounded by mortality on one side and birth on the other.

Not all of us can duplicate the eminence of Shri Rama Chandra or the knowledge, competence and devotion of Arjuna. Nor are we blessed with advice such as Srikrishna's at Kurukshetra and that is why we are supplicants to 'daiva' for favours.

"O life as futile then as fail
O for thy voice to soothe and bless
What hope of answer and redress
Behind the veil, behind the veil."

Our fate in this life at least as far as we can determine, is determined by the law of Karma. Our destiny is our Will and Effort in previous birth. The great sage Vasistha tells Sri Rama Chandra that even the mightiest mountain like Sumeru can be conquered by determined effort, human will, and wisdom born of experience. So, it is nothing strange that Will Power can neutralise the result of evil deeds in the previous existence.

Strong Will conquers destiny as easily as the strong person defeats the weaker one. In other words if 'bhagya' and 'karma' bhavas together with their lords are favourable, luck favours the native, otherwise the native has to go through against heavy odds. To overcome unfavourable destiny, continued and persevering effort is necessary.

The 'Strong Will' itself is also the result of 'Karma', whether in this or in previous birth. A native would not have the strength to develop his Will or opportunities of doing it if previous births or this birth tilt the balance against him. But, since the greater part of the determinant is and will always remain unknown, like the submarine part of an iceberg, we are concentrating only on the visible part.

The dhana bhava and karma bhava both are also included in bhagya bhava. The native's wealth, name and fame and distinction may be at their best if there is favourable bhagya yoga in the horoscope. As told before there is a link between previous birth and the worldly happiness and exuberant career of the present birth. In judging the beneficial condition of the bhagya-lord we must note the condition of bhagya-karta, which is the secondary ruler of destiny. The lord of the rasi where bhagyapathi is situated is the ruler or controller of the native's destiny. If the bhagya-karta planet is happily disposed, aspected by or conjoined with benefic planet or planets the native shall also be lucky. Of course, we must not overlook the quality of the 9th lord ; both bhagyapathi and bhagya-karta being favourable will do immense good to the native.

The following configuration of planets may constitute good bhagya yogas :

1. If lagna or Chandra is in Vargottam Navamsa and the second house from Ravi is occupied by a benefic planet, or if the atma-karaka planet is placed in any kendra from lagna and kendra position is not vacant.

. If kendra position or positions are occupied by benefic planets, bhagyapathi is aspected by or is in conjunction with benefics, and again bhagyapathi is in benefic Navamsa and has attained favourable Vargas the native will be blessed with good luck.

3. According to rules stated earlier if the lord of the 9th house is strong and favourable, Vrhaspathi the natural indicator of fortune is placed favourably in Sada-Varga, the bhagyakarta is not placed in any malefic house, not aspected by or conjoined with malefic planets, or bhagyapathi is not combust or debilitated the native will be very fortunate.

4. On the whole a favourable bhagyapathi occupying kendra or kona houses from lagna will raise the native from ordinary position to a higher status in life.

5. It is better for lagnapathi to be posited in lagna or in any place from within lagna and the 7th house ; under that circumstance (a) the best yoga will be if Vrhaspathi and both 9th and 10th lords are favourably related to each other. (b) Again bhagyapathi, bhagya-karta and Sukra occupying kendra or kona position will impart very favourable result in improving the native's fortune. (c) When the strong lord of luck is posited in lagna and receives the full aspect of Vrhaspathi the native will be held in high esteem by the king of the land and he will be very fortunate.

6. Excepting the 7th lord if other lord or lords of kendra-asthanas, the lord of the 5th house and lagna-lord are related to the lord of luck the native shall be lucky and shall prosper in life. This is also a bhagya yoga (wealth giving yoga) which was narrated while dealing with dhana bhava.

7. When all the planets occupy six places serially or in any other manner in houses in-between lagna and the 7th house it is called "Ekabali" yoga. This yoga is highly auspicious and brilliant. Rahu and Ketu have no place in forming this yoga. Pandit Jahawarlal Nehru's chart shows this yoga (some astrologers call it 'Samrat yoga').

8. When the full moon conjoins with Mangal or Sani and occupy the 9th house from lagna the native flourishes in many ways. The age of the beginning of prosperity may be reckoned from the period of dasa-antardasa of that planet who is strong and favourable and denotes luck. The age indicated by that planet may also be the age at which the native will be blessed with good fortune.

9. (a) When Vrhaspathi being in the house of luck is aspected by all other planets (Rahu and Ketu are not considered as planets); or

(b) When all the planets aspect lagna or Chandra the exaltation of bhagya bhava is indicated. When lagna or Chandra receives the aspect of all the planets it is 'Maha bhagya yoga'. This yoga is found in the birth-chart of Mahapravru Shri Chaitanya. He is called God-in-Carnate.

10. Lord of the rasi occupied by Chandra when placed in an auspicious bhava, in his exalted or own house or otherwise favourable the native will be fortunate.

11. The following configuration of planets and bhava-lords indicate prosperous life in different ages of the native, viz.,

(a), When Vrhaspathi occupies the 9th house, and the 9th lord is posited in a Kendra the native is favoured with good luck at the age of 20 years.

(b) When the lord of luck is in the 2nd place and the 2nd lord is in the 9th prosperity of the native is indicated after 32 years of age.

(c) When the natural benefics are exalted and strong 9th lord is in the 9th the native is favoured with luck in many ways after his 36 years of age. The age of the planet that indicates the increase of prosperity vis-a-vis fortune is the actual period of the beginning of good time.

Religious inclination :

When the full moon is posited in the house of religion (synonym of the house of luck or 9th house) the subject becomes highly religious minded, he enjoys in his young age the material happiness, wealth, name and fame and people call him a man of great fortune. If the waning moon be in the 9th house the result will be just the reverse.

(Mangal in the 9th house has a destructive influence over luck).

Religious inclination (Punya or Virtue) and Emancipation (or Salvation) :

1. If the 10th lord occupies the 9th house and strong 9th lord is aspected by or in conjunction with Vrhaspathi and Sukra the subject is a great devotee of God ; by persevering effort to realise God Almighty he can attain a place of high order among great sages.

2. If the lord of Karmasthana is conjoined with 4 planets the subject attains salvation.

3. 4 or more planets in a rasi make a man a 'Sannyasi' (an ascetic).

4. When lord of lagna unaspected by any other planet aspects Sani or Sani unaspected by any other planet aspects lord of lagna the native becomes a mendicant.

5. In spite of Sannyas Yoga (Yoga of asceticism) if the 10th lord is aspected by Rahu Sannyas yoga is nullified.

Occupation of 9th lord in different bhava :

In the 1st house : When the 9th lord occupies the lagna the subject is pious, intelligent, always cheerful, and devoted to brahmins and gods.

In the 2nd house : If the 9th lord is posited in the 2nd house the native becomes rich, learned, famous and he is held in high esteem by many.

In the 3rd house : The native has affinity for his friends and associates, has many good friends and he has happy conjugal life.

In the 4th house : The native is very respectful to his father, inherits good wealth from his father, possesses landed property. He is benevolent to his friends and earns name and fame.

In the 5th house : The native is very beautiful to look at, lucky and a son of an illustrious father.

In the 6th house : The native is inclined to sinful acts, and meets with great obstacles on his way to prosperity.

In the 7th house : The native's wife is beautiful, pious, and lucky, and he prospers through business pursuits.

In the 8th house : The subject may be dishonest, unlucky and may be a man of wicked character.

In the 9th house : The subject is very lucky, may earn name and fame for his religious deeds ; he is truthful, devoted to God and is respectful to brahmins and superiors.

In the 10th house : This is a favourable yoga of a very high order. Indian astrologers call it 'Kshetra simhasana yoga'. Due to the presence of this brilliant yoga the subject will be prosperous, wealthy and honest ; he is respected by the king of the land. His mother is also fortunate.

In the 11th house : The native will be wealthy, pious, favoured by king and is blessed with long life.

In the 12th house : The native has good academic career, he will be learned. If the 9th lord is a natural benefic the native will be a noted personality in the society and popular. If the planet is a natural malefic the native is cunning, extravagant, and is a man of bad conduct.

The Tenth or Karma bhava

The tenth bhava signifies profession, vocation, supremacy, honour, environment, father (particularly father's prosperity and wealth). The career of the native is to be judged from the 10th house and its lord. The characteristic of that planet (10th lord) may give a clue for finding out the nature of profession or vocation, though there are other factors too which will be discussed in the following paragraphs.

But nevertheless it must be admitted that it is very difficult to give a decisive verdict about the nature of a man's professional career. Easy approaches and easy answers are seldom correct.

We have described the speciality of the 10th bhava at the time of delineation of the 9th house. We may elaborate those points here again.

Karma starts as soon as one is born, breathing itself is one form of it and there are of course many others. It is "Karma" that co-exists with an individual, at every stage of this multifaceted life. The nature of it may be good, bad or indifferent, but karma and the individual are almost synonymous. One does not exist without the other. A man rises and falls, enjoys or suffers according to the kind of 'Karma' he does. The nature of 'Karma' again is determined by the nature of his personality itself which again is another name 'Bhagya'. In this sense destiny is character and character is destiny. To understand it better, it is only necessary to explain it this way. Given any particular conjunction of circumstances in life it should be evident that one person would not react to it exactly the same way as another. Various people would react variously. What makes this difference? Obviously the varying characters or make-ups of different people. The situation that confronts them is substantially the same, it is only the different character of the different people that brings about that different reaction.

The Tenth house in a horoscope has been affirmed as a symbol of Karma and naturally it is a most important house. Of course all the twelve houses are inter-related, they are like a complex web. Each house contains everything that relates to man; and if one follows and analyses each item of life, that is to say each event upto its most delicate and subtle filaments at the source, one would get lost at the intricacies in the interrelationships. For practical purposes however, certain features in each house have been emphasised and those points of emphasis determine the significance of each house, as also with the planets. Each one of the planets is capable of giving and destroying, affecting events and determining the character of composite results. It is only the emphasis that make the difference. Against twelve houses there are the nine 'Grahas'; and there are minute subdivisions in placing. This is the mathematical background.

The Tenth considered as said above is a most important house. It is contiguous to the 9th which is considered as bhagya. The 9th and the 10th houses intertwine, that is to say, 'bhagya' and 'karma' intertwine are quite a good basis for correct predictions. Some assert that the fifth house also is important. But then the lagna is the most important house, it takes precedence over the rest and the rasi (the house where moon is posited comes next. It is again a matter of emphasis—all the twelve houses are important and should be reckoned within any complete work-out.

If the Tenth bhava and its lord are good, good karma follows. As has been explained previously if the 10th house is occupied by benefics or aspected by them it is good, if otherwise it is bad or weak.

Ravi: Ravi is also a factor in promoting a man's karma because he indicates progress in one's career, supremacy, administrative distinction etc. So, we must discuss how and when Ravi helps rise a native.

1. When strong Ravi aspected by a benefic occupies the 10th house he paves the way for even a poor man or a man who comes of very low social status to affluence and prosperity in life. Even a fourth grade servant of an Institution rises to a very high position on account of powerful Ravi. Some eminent astrologers are of opinion that as an indicator of karma-bhava Ravi's presence in the bhagyasthan (9th place) will act adversely if the planet is not aspected by or associated with a benefic planet.

In case of Dhanu lagna and Vrschika lagna Ravi will react favourably if he is in the 10th house. Readers would certainly appreciate the reason of this deviation. For Dhanu lagna Ravi being the 9th lord is very favourable in the 10th house, it is 'Kshetra Simhasana yoga' and in case of Vrschika lagna, Ravi himself is the lord of the 10th house.

2. A weak Ravi when aspected by or is in conjunction with malefic (or when he occupies any dusthana) gives unfavourable result and the subject has to cross many hurdles on his way to progress. Sometimes the native's strenuous efforts to ward off those obstacles do not yield satisfactory result.

3. When Ravi is associated with Sani² or both the planets oppose each other (i.e. one of them is in the 7th house from the other) even the best Raja yogas (very favourable yogas—we shall explain the term later on) do not give satisfactory result.

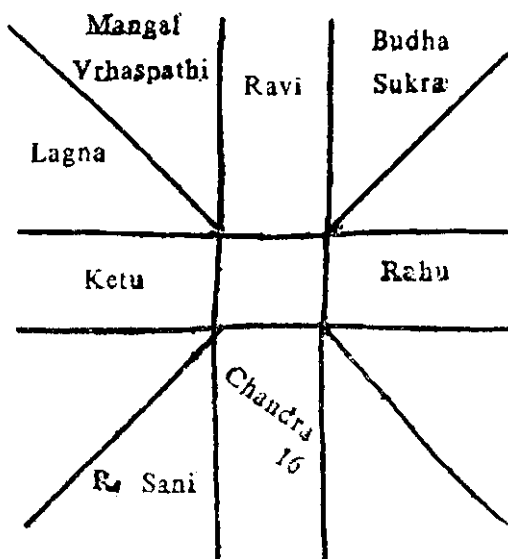

4. When Ravi and Sani are situated within $7\frac{1}{2}$ degrees from each other even the most favourable yogas become less effective or we may say, in spite of best Raja yogas the subject can not thrive well.

Positions of some of the indicator of Karma bhava and of the 10th lord and results thereby are related herebelow :

When the lord of the tenth house in a birth chart is without any strength and indicators of Karmabhava, viz., Ravi, Vrhaspathi and Sukra also are weak the subject is apt to change his mind off and on and cannot come to any decision while occasion demands, and at the same time he indulges in anti-social activities.

How to judge Karma bhava ?

in judging the merit of Karma bhava positional strength of Ravi, Vrhaspathi and Sukra and also their strength acquired through different Vargas, their relation with other planets are to be considered. Of these three planets Ravi's role is very important and next are Vrhaspathi and Sukra. Again, while giving judgment about one's Karma the 10th bhava and its lord are to be taken into consideration. At the same time Ravi, Vrhaspathi and Sukra are to be considered as different lagnas; from those lagnas conditions of the 10th houses and their lords are also to be examined. Furthermore, the 10th bhava is to be taken as lagna and from that lagna too the strength or weakness of the 9th and 10th houses and of their lords are to be scrutinised. Let us elaborately explain these rules through an example.

* The above birth chart belongs to the boy born on the 17th Vaisak 1360 B. S. (See Chapter I). The chart is analysed in the next page.

Let us examine the birth chart of the native who was born on the 17th Vaisak 1360 B.S.—30th April, 1953 (See Chapter I).

First point is whether Lagnapathi Budha is strong or weak. Answer is he is in his debilitated house but is associated with Sukra who is exalted. So, Lagnapathi positionally is not weak. Aspect—he is aspected by Sani who is the 8th and 9th lord. Therefore his aspect on Budha is not all bad or all good. Both Sukra and Sani are friends to Budha. They are also temporary enemies to Budha. There is no other aspect on Budha. Hence, Budha has acquired medium strength. Budha is also the lord of the 4th house and Sukra the lord of the 5th place. So, the native may have fairly good education.

There is another very favourable yoga. From Chandra Sukra and Budha are in the 6th place and Vrhaspathi is in the 8th house. (Of course Vrhaspathi is in conjunction with Mangal). This is Adhi yoga—but the full favourable effect of this auspicious yoga is not possible on account of conjunction of Vrhaspathi and Mangal. The next point—Ravi is situated in the house of exaltation. Therefore position of Ravi the principal indicator of 10th bhava is good. From Ravi the 10th place is occupied by Rahu, this is not good, and the lord of that 10th bhava, viz., Sani is in the 6th place from Ravi. This is also not favourable. In this manner the other indicators of 10th bhava, viz., Vrhaspathi and Sukra are to be examined. Apparently the chart is to some extent powerful as there are other yogas such as Sunapha and Anapha yogas. The native has passed creditably Indian Administrative Service (I. A. S.) Examination and is now posted as Deputy Magistrate in West Bengal. On account of the presence of Sukra and Budha in the 10th house from lagna the father of the native held a high post in a private Company. Formerly he was a major under Indian Military Service.

This is how the 10th house is to be judged.

Further informations about 10th house, its lord and Ravi :

We have already told above that the 10th house indicates Father and his prosperity. In an anthropomorphical or physical sense, thigh is also indicated by Ravi.

If the 10th bhava or its lord, or the natural indicator of 10th bhava, i.e. Ravi becomes unfavourable due to unfavourable situation (position in a house), aspect by or conjunction with malefic planets the health of the native's father may go wrong, his progress in vocational career may be thwarted, at the same time the native himself may be attacked with any kind of disease in his thigh.

If Mangal is there in the 10th house the native may be involved in any kind of accident (through fire, weapon or fall etc.) or may have painful pimples over face.

Sani in the 10th house causes morbid affection of the nervous system. The native may be injured owing to fall from a tree, or high place or he may be wounded by a fourfooted animal, or by a wooden log or club.

If Rahu and Sani or Ravi and Sani are posited in the 10th house some of the nearest relatives of the native's own family may commit suicide by hanging.

Death of Parents :

When birth is at day time Sukra is indicator of mother, if it is night the indicator of mother is Chandra. So, if Sukra is aspected by or is in conjunction with malefic planets the mother of the native may die a premature death when the birth takes place at day time. Similarly Chandra under the above circumstance may kill the mother if the birth is at night. Only on the basis of these rules the native's mother's death should not be prophesied. Mother cannot die if she has long or comparatively good medium life. In such cases she may fall badly ill.

If Ravi is posited in the 10th place from lagna and is aspected by Sani and Rahu ; or if Ravi or Sani being in the 8th house is aspected by Mangal death of the father is possible.

Following planetary configuration may be the cause of father's death :

(a) If the subject is born at night, and Sani and Mangal are posited in the 7th place from Ravi ; or

(b) Ravi while associated with Mangal is aspected by Sani ; or

(c) Sani and Mangal are conjoined together and are aspected by Ravi ; or

(d) When Ravi is hemmed in between two malefics, or the is associated with a malefic, and from Ravi the 7th place is occupied by any other malefic planet.

Earning of Money :

(a) If both the lagna and the 10th house are owned by one and the same planet (in case of Kanya & Mina lagnas it is possible) or the lords of lagna and the 10th house are posited in one and the same rasi the native earns good amount of money by dint of honest labour.

(b) If lords of lagna and the 10th house are conjoined with each other the native earns money with the help of a Sudra (low caste man).

(c) If the above two lords are in conjunction with Rahu (ascending node) or Ketu (descending node) the subject earns money with the help of a Mlechha (a man who is not a Hindu and at the same time is considered to be a non-believer in Vedas).

(d) If the aforesaid lords are associated with Vrhaspathi the native is favoured with employment by the king of the land, earns good money and holds a respectable status in society.

Position, distinction in Social life and in professional career :

1. If the 10th lords of these trio viz., Lagna, Ravi and Chandra are strong and related to each other favourably, they give beneficial result during their dasa-antardasas in the following manner :

(a) The native may earn good amount of money, or may prosper in his vocational career.

(b) he attains distinctive position in his profession or vocation, or

(c) he attains respectable status in society.

2. If Ravi in the 10th place is exalted, or is in his mool-trikona house the native attains high status in his professional career and also in society by dint of his merit and efficiency.

3. If lagna, dhana (2nd place) and the 11th houses are occupied by strong beneficial planets the native thrives well financially and leads a happy life. These good results may occur during the dasa-antardasas of those planets.

Means of livelihood or nature of profession :

Determination of the means of livelihood is as may be expected, the most common hurdle that an astrologer has to take. The effects of planets and houses have been set forth in detail in various books on astrology but in actual practice it is not easy to reach a definite finding.

With the advancement of Science immense scope of various types of professions have opened to the people. We may classify them as far as practicable in the following manner :

1. Intelligentsia class : lawyer, professor, teacher, priest, philosopher, judge, attorney, astrologer, astronomer, psycho-analyst etc.

2. Profession regarding Economics & Finance :—Banker, Auditor, Insurance worker, Financial adviser etc.

3. Profession relating to Fine Arts etc. :—Musician, actor, dancer, dramatist, painter, poet, story or fiction writer, etc.

4. Profession relating to machineries, industry, factory, electricity and other technical works etc. :—Engineer, Mechanic, Industrialist, Manufacturer, Organiser of Electrical works.

5. Profession of a physician, doctor, surgeon etc.

6. Besides there are innumerable professions such as horticulturist, clerks, servants in a shop, day labourers, etc.

7. Military men and police etc.

Now, Budha and Vrhspathi are the two planets that principally indicate Intelligentsia class.

Sukra controls art, artistic talent, acting, music, drama and dramatist, painting, poetry-writing, physician, Engineer. Again, Budha indicates clerkship, business, education. Vrhspathi also stands for education, so also Sukra. Sani's indications are analytical work, day labourer, labourer in general. Rahu and Ketu generally indicate clerkship, conventional work etc. Mangal stands for soldier, police, surgeon, archæologist, geologist, etc.

It is clear to our intelligent readers that the list of professions as said above is incomplete, we simply give an idea about the manner of classifications and indication of some professions ruled by different planets.

We again draw the attention of our readers about some other important points to enable them to judge the Karma bhava and profession of a native.

(a) Whether the 10th house is occupied by any planet.

(b) Whether the 10th house is aspected by any planet or remains unaspected.

(c) Whether there is more than one planet in the 10th house.

1. If the 10th house is occupied by any planet we shall have to find out the Navamsa lord of that planet occupying the 10th place. Now, the stronger of these two planets (i.e. the planet that occupies the 10th place and his Navamsa lord) will be the indicator of native's profession.

2. If the 10th place remains unoccupied by any planet the stronger one between the 10th lord and his Navamsa-lord will indicate the profession of the native.

3. If the 10th place is occupied by two or more than two planets and they are equally strong then the native may pursue more than one profession.

Strength of a planet is to be judged according to positional and directional strength, strength of aspect and also strength acquired through different vargas.

There are different opinions of different schools of thought. No one class of astrologers agree with another. Commonly prevalent and almost dependable opinions of eminent persons are related herebelow. On the basis of these rules our readers may experiment them and find out satisfactory solutions.

Besides the rules explained earlier in this chapter the following rules should also be applied.

We give below some of the rules.

1. The strongest planet among Ravi, Chandra and Lagnapathi will denote the nature of profession of the native.

2. Strongest Navamsa lord of Ravi, Chandra and Lagna may indicate one's profession.

3. We shall have to find out the strongest planet among lords of the 10th house from Ravi, Chandra and Lagna. Then the Navamsa lord of that planet will indicate the profession of the subject.

These rules are approved to be a dependable by majority of astrologers.

4. Further it is said by astrologers of high reputation that if Ravi and Chandra are situated in lagna the Navamsa lord of the Karmapathi (i.e. the lord of the 10th house from lagna) will be a determining factor in matter of profession.

5. Another opinion supported by majority of astrologers :— Find out the Navamsa lords of Ravi, Chandra and Lagna. The strongest of these planets, in their dasa-antardasa will give the clue about one's profession. If all the Navamsa lords are equally strong the native may undertake the vocation indicated by all of them during their dasa and antardasas.

The weakest planet of these three Navamsa lords if adversely influenced by any malefic the native shall sustain monetary loss, and that weak planet will not signify any profession at all.

There is a very important point which should not be overlooked. If the birth chart does not show any yoga for change of profession or vocational career it is hardly believable that the strongest or equally strong planets referred to above will help the native pursue any new profession of that indicator planet.

Our experience is that where there are signs of changes (in the birth chart) in a vocational career the native earns money through the profession indicated by that or those planets during their dasa-antardasas. Even lords of the 2nd, 7th, 11th and other Kendra and Kona houses, if favourably disposed will give the same result.

6. Eminent astrologers are of opinion that planets forming specially favourable yogas (such as Raja yoga, Dhana yoga) and also the planets related to those favourable yogas will signify the nature of native's career.

Let us take an instance of 'Adhi yoga', a very favourable yoga that makes a man highly prosperous. The subject who is born under this yoga may rise to a very high position both socially, politically and professionally.

The yoga is formed by favourable Budha, Vrhaspathi and Sukra being in the 6th, 7th or 8th separately or together from Chandra or lagna. The first one is called Chandradhi yoga and latter one is Lagnadhi yoga. This yoga is found in the birth chart of Late Dr. Rajendra Prasad, the first President of Indian Union. There are some other important favourable yogas such as Sunapha and Anapha yogas. These yogas will be discussed elaborately later on. The planets forming these yogas will help the native choose his vocational career according to their significations.

Descriptions of planetary combinations and indications of vocation are briefly described herebelow :

(a) When favourable Mangal and Vrhaspathi are combined together or related to each other by aspect or exchange of places the native holds a very respectable post in police Department, or as Mangal is one of the yogakarakas he may hold a high office in military organisation too.

(b) If Mangal and Budha are related in the same manner the native may be a mathematician.

(c) If yogakaraka planets are Ravi and Budha and they are strong the subject may be a good lawyer, Advocate or Barrister, Attorney or Accountant.

(d) If favourable yoga is formed by Budha and Sukra the native may be an Engineer, Medical practitioner, a successful Chemist of great repute.

(e) Combination of Budha and favourable Sani makes the native a responsible officer in any chemical institution.

(f) Relation between Chandra and Vrhaspathi is a specially beneficial yoga that gives the native a chance to become king's minister, a great educationist, a noted officer in any Governmental department and famous politician.

(g) Due to combination of Chandra, Budha and Sukra the subject may be a literary person, a journalist, poet or an artist.

(h) Again, combination of Ravi, Budha and Sukra makes a man a great artist, a renowned poet, and an illustrious writer. See the horoscope of the great poet Rabindranath Tagore.

(i) Relation between Sukra and Budha is a powerful yoga that makes the native a successful Engineer, a very good photographer or a contractor.

(j) Relation between Chandra and Sukra is also an equally good yoga that makes the native a successful actor, dramatist or a cinema director.

This is also to be remembered that planets, Rasi and Nakshatra

—all of them have different roles in deciding the nature of profession and prediction will be accurate if the learned astrologer makes proper cohesion of the qualities of these trio.

Occupation of 10th lord in different bhavas and results thereof :

1st house—If the lord of the 10th house (Karmapathi) is situated in lagna the native may be sickly in his childhood, at young age, he will be healthy and by and by he will be prosperous.

2nd, 3rd & 7th houses—The native will be meritorious, efficient, a good speaker and truthful.

4th house—The native will be learned and wise, valorous, devoted to gods, pious and may be favoured by king.

5th & 11th houses—The native will be always cheerful ; he will be truthful, happy and rich and may be blessed with sons.

6th & 12th houses—The native may suffer much due to activities of enemies, may be cunning and be seldom happy.

8th house—The native will be cunning, wicked, a thief, a liar and may torture his mother.

9th house—The native will be lucky, educated, wealthy and longlived.

10th house—The native will be financially very affluent, prosperous, honourable and may make name and fame.

Eleventh house

(Āya bhava)

Eleventh house signifies gain in every way, all kinds of receipts, acquisition of gold and wealth, paternal prosperity, eldest brother or sister, paternal uncle, daughter-in-law, son-in-law, brother-in-law (sister-in-law too), knee, shank, ear, skill in practical arts etc.

Difference between āya (11th) and dhana (2nd) bhavas is, from the 11th house we know whether income is easy or not, how or in what manner—honest or dishonest the native shall earn money. All these are to be found out from the 11th bhava. Dhana bhava indicates amount of income, accumulation of wealth ; source of income can be determined from dhana and Āya bhavas. Both the bhavas are complementary to each other. If the dhana bhava or its lord is afflicted due to aspect or conjunction of malefic planets gain of money will not be easy, there must be some sort of difficulties in earning, so also the case with the 11th bhava. Thorough judgment of Āya bhava is to be made according to instructions noted in case of other bhavas.

At the present time material values or to put it more directly, money values, the profit-and-loss nexus rules out nearly every other value. This in itself is the result of planetary evolution ; but into cosmic scheme, we do not pretend to enter. The day-to-day effects are however concretely appreciable, for they affect us at every step. And eminent astrologers reinforce their theoretical inferences and conclusions by references to experience when they assert that the malefics so called have the power of bestowing on the native much greater wealth and importance to a very much greater extent than the so called benefic planets. The latter might have been more powerful in their own time, the Golden Age ; but now the Ages of lead and evil ones are more powerful.

Not that benefics utterly fail to redeem their promises in terms of money and influences, but the native gets only the irreducible minimum from them and hardly more. The malefics on the other hand, if they are well-placed, that is, in giving mood, usually give a lot more than the benefics do in money and influence.

Occupation of the lord of 11th house in different bhavas and results thereof :

1. If the lord of the 11th house occupy lagna the native becomes pious, generous, joyful, good orator and a valorous person. But he may be short lived.
2. If the 11th lord is posited either in the 2nd or 3rd house the native visits holy places. He is tactful, generous and highly expensive and may suffer from any kind of colic pain.
3. If the 11th lord occupies 4th or 5th house the native attains success in all his endeavours, he is blessed with sons and leads a happy life but he may be an impious man.
4. If the 11th lord is situated in the 6th place the native is sickly, lives in a foreign land, often troubled by enemies, and is an humble servant of others.
5. If the lord of the 11th place is in the 7th or 8th house the native may have many virtues, he is active and noble minded. His wife dies a premature death or he has no peace in conjugal life. This is particularly true if in the birth chart of a Kanya-lagna Jataka Chandra (11th lord) is situated in the 7th place.

6. When the 11th lord is posited in the 9th or 10th place the native is honoured by the king of the land. He is intelligent, clever, truthful, wealthy and always sticks to his own religious belief.

7. If the 11th lord is situated in the 11th place the native becomes an orator, a poet and a learned man.

8. If the lord of the 11th house be in the 12th place the native likes the company of followers of different religion. He is lascivious, debauch and poor.

Twelfth house

(Vyaya bhava)

Twelfth house signifies expenditure, monetary loss, debt, punishment pronounced by lawful court, enjoyment and suffering, information about enemy, bedroom enjoyment, expenditure for just cause, salvation etc.

1. A benefic planet occupying the 12th place makes the native live happily, he earns name and fame, he spends money for just cause.

2. Ketu in the 12th is the cause of salvation.

3. Sani, Ravi and Mangal being in the 12th make the native extravagant. He seldom enjoys material happiness, may not get family peace, and there is chance of his suffering from various ailments including disease in anus and eye.

4. If the 12th bhava falls in a movable sign (rasi) and swift moving planets or lords of dusthanas (6th, 8th and 12th places) are there or the bhava is conjoined with or aspected by Sani the native aimlessly travels over forests and many countries.

5. If Sani and Rahu are in the 12th and aspected by a benefic planet the native earns money by dishonest means. The native may be involved in an accident through fire, may suffer from boils and disease in ears or left leg, particularly if Mangal is posited in the 12th house.

6. (i) If Chandra be in the 12th place there is chance of drowning.

(ii) If Ravi and Mangal be in the 12th place there is chance of accident through fire.

(iii) If Sukra be in the 12th place there is chance of courting insult due to illegal association with other's wife. But Sukra in the 12th place makes a man prosperous.

(iv) If Budha be in the 12th place there is chance of loss of money due to activities of enemies.

(v) When a powerful malefic be posited in the 12th place the native rules over his enemies.

(vi) When a powerful planet owning any dusthana, viz., 6th, 8th or 12th house is posited in the 12th place the native prospers in life.

Occupation of the 12th lord in different bhavas and results thereof :

1. If the 12th lord be in lagna or 7th place the native's relation with his wife may not be cordial, or he may lead the life of a bachelor. He may be handsom, sickly, may be suffering from disease of cough and cold and is bereft of education and money.

2. If the 12th lord be in the 2nd or 8th place the native is truthful, sweet-tongued and extravagant and he has many virtues and is devoted to Lord Vishnu.

3. If the lords of lagna and the 12th place together are posited in the 2nd the native develops an extravagant habit due to which he may be involved in debt.

4. When the lord of the 12th place be posited in the 3rd or 9th house the native may be hostile to his wife and is miserly.

5. If the lord of the 12th be in the 10th or 11th house the native's relation with his sons is not cordial and his earning is comparatively small.

6. If the same lord be posited in the 6th or 12th place the native wishes his mother's premature death, he is a sinful man and a debauch.

CHAPTER—X

Beneficial planets according to different Lagna

We have already discussed about peculiarities of Nakshatras (constellation) and planets. We have also seen that each planet signifies many things. To judge a birthchart we must be thoroughly acquainted with signification (karakata) of each planet. Let us take an example :

Ravi is a natural significator of Karma (action), vocation, father etc. Vrhaspathi signifies learning, intellect, children etc. and so on.

If these planets are afflicted their virtues may be lost for the native or if they are well disposed and strong the native will be endowed with qualities of those planets.

Maharshi Parasara has introduced a new chapter to show that a planet under certain conditions may be a karaka (significator) of another if both of them are in kendra from each other and also from lagna. But to produce result of the karaka planet both of them should be placed in their own, exalted, mooltrikona or friendly house.

Say, Vrhaspathi is in Karkata, Sani in Tula, Mangal in Makar, Ravi in Mesa and Lagna in Karkata. Each of them is in his exalted house and is in Kendra from Lagna. They are also co-related by being placed in Kendra from each other. Therefore each of them will signify each other qualities in their dasa and antardasa. Such as, though Sani is the 8th lord and Vrhaspathi the lord of the 9th the native will be lucky and prosperous during Sani's antardasa under the major dasa of Vrhaspathi.

Here Sani's karakata is identical with that of Vrhaspathi. It means Sani will produce the result of Vrhaspathi in Vrhaspathi-Sani's dasa-antardasa. Similar is the case with Mangal and Sani, and Ravi and Mangal.

Kendra and Kona : Of the 4 kendras (viz., lagna, 4th, 7th and 10th places from lagna) 4th place is stronger than lagna, 7th is stronger than the 4th, and the 10th is stronger than the 7th bhava. So, a planet in the 10th place from lagna will be most effective among other planets in any other kendra.

Benefic or malefic bhavas and their lords :

1. The 5th and the 9th bhavas are specially called 'dhanasthanas' (wealth giving bhavas) and the 4th and the 10th bhavas are 'Sukha-sthanas' (sukha=happiness, sukha-sthana means place of happiness).

These four bhavas (5th, 9th, 4th and 10th) are favourable. Lagna is both kendra and kona. It is not as powerful as any one of those kendra-kona houses and the 7th bhava being a māraka-sthana (death inflicting bhava) is not very favourable.

2. The 2nd and the 7th bhavas are called māraka-sthanas (death inflicting bhavas) and so lords of those places are taken as mārakas. Excepting Ravi and Chandra all other planets may bring about death of a native. Rahu and Ketu, and also lords of the 6th, 8th and 12th can be mārakas.

If Ravi and Chandra are related to any other māraka planet by combination, conjunction and aspect they may act as death inflicting planets.

3. Natural benefic planets when own any kendra are taken to be unfavourable and natural malefics also will be considered as inauspicious if they are lords of any kendra.

* This sloka of Parasari Hora is said to be misquoted by some authors and commentators. The Sloka reads thus :—

"Kendradhipathyas soumya suvam naiba dishanti cha Cruras naiba suvam kuryus konapau suvadayakou"

Some eminent commentators say that the reading will be "naibāsuvam" meaning not asuvam—that is 'not unfavourable'. Their contention is that natural favourable planets owning any kendra are inauspicious and natural unfavourable planets owning any kendra will be considered as auspicious. Generally this version is supported by many experienced astrologers. The author of Laghu Parāsari (or Ududaya Pradip) says that natural malefics owning kendra are beneficial. Regarding natural benefics the author supports Parāsari Hora.

* * Natural benefics—Vrhaspathi, Sukra, Budha and waxing Moon.

Natural malefics—Ravi, Mangal, Sani, Rahu, Ketu and waning Moon. Budha is malefic when conjoined with other malefics.

4. The lords of the 2nd and 12th houses are called 'Para-tantras' (meaning their good or evil effect is subject to their position in favourable or unfavourable bhavas or relation with other benefic or unfavourable planets).

5. The lords of the 3rd, 6th and 11th bhavas and also the 8th lord are inauspicious planets.

6. The lords of the 2nd and 7th houses are mārakas. Of these two 7th lord is a more powerful māraka than the 2nd lord. According to Laghu Parāsari 2nd lord as a māraka is more powerful than the lord of the 7th.

It is said that the lords of the 2nd and 12th houses are 'para-tantras'. Let us elaborate this version by citing an example. Say, 2nd lord associated with the lord of the 9th or 10th house will give good result; on the other hand if he is associated with an unfavourable planet or is posited in any inauspicious house the result will be bad.

7. Natural beneficial planets become malefic if they own 3rd, 6th or 11th house. The lords of these three houses are called "Trisadāyādhipathi" ('tri' means three, 'Sadā' means six, 'Āyā' means Eleventh). Of these trio 11th is the worst, 6th worse and the 3rd is bad.

8. Eighth house is the twelfth place from the house of luck (i.e. 9th house). Hence the 8th lord is inauspicious but if he is the lord of lagna he will not be considered very unfavourable.

It is so in case of Mesa lagna. Mangal is the lord of lagna and 8th place and he is not considered as an unfavourable planet. But in case of Sukra of Tula lagna, who is also the lord of the 8th house was not directly declared as a pāpa in Parasari Hora but commentators are of opinion that Sukra of Tula lagna is not favourable.

However, of the natural benefics owning any kendra Vṛhaspathi is the most powerful pāpa, next is Sukra; next to Sukra is Budha and Chandra's fault as a pāpa is negligible or very less.

9. Therefore, if Vṛhaspathi being the lord of a kendra is also the lord of any māraka-sthan (2nd or 7th place) his death inflicting power is the highest and next is Sukra. Budha as a māraka is less powerful in comparison to Vṛhaspathi and Sukra.

10. The planet—be he a natural benefic or malefic, will be considered as inauspicious if he is the lord of a kendra and at the same time owns any one of the 3rd, 6th and 11th houses.

11. The lord of the 9th even if he is a natural malefic or lord of any du-sthana (6th, 8th and 12th places) is deemed to be favourable.

We shall see later on that of Mithune lagna Sani the lord of the 8th and 9th houses is not considered all good and his relation with the 10th lord Vrhaspathi will not produce Rajayoga.

Similarly in case of Simha lagna Vrhaspathi being the lord of 5th (another 'kona') and 8th houses will not form any Rajayoga owing to his 8th lordship.

Sthirakaraka : Sthira-karaka means under all circumstances karakata ascribed to each planet is fixed. This has been elaborated by Maharshi Parasara in the following manner :

Between Ravi and Sukra the stronger one is Pitrikaraka (signifies father).

Between Chandra and Mangal the stronger one is Matrikaraka (signifies mother).

Now there is a special significance of each planet and bhava according to the situation of that planet as a bhava-lord under consideration. Let us explain :—

(i) Specially Chandra denotes mother and 4th bhava from Chandra also signifies mother.

(ii) Ravi is an indicator of father and also the 9th place from Ravi signifies father.

(iii) Mangal denotes sister and brother and also brother of the native's wife and the 3rd bhava from Mangal indicates brother etc.

(iv) Budha denotes maternal uncle, mother's sister, wife of father's younger brother, wife of maternal uncle, stepmother etc. and the 6th bhava from Budha signifies maternal uncle etc.

(v) Vrhaspathi signifies son and daughter, master, grandfather and 5th bhava from Vrhaspathi denotes children.

(vi) Sukra denotes wife, parents, maternal grandmother etc. and also the 7th bhava from Sukra indicates wife.

(Sukra's sthirakarakata denoting parents and maternal grandmother sounds queer to us.)

(vii) The 8th bhava from Sani indicates death.

The 'Karakata' noted above is to be considered specially in judging a horoscope and also Astha Varga chakras.

Mesa Lagna—Sani being the lord of the 10th and 11th houses is unfavourable and is considered as a bhādhak planet (planet of obstruction).

Budha being the lord of the 6th house and Sukra a natural benefic being lord of the 7th house (a kendra) are unfavourable.

Ravi is a benefic. Nothing has been said about Chandra and Mangal.

Chandra is considered as ksheena (lean) after 8th day from the beginning of the day of the new moon. So, Chandra being the lord of the 4th house from Mesa will be considered as favourable if she is ksheena (lean or waning moon), and Chandra of the bright half owning a kendra will be unfavourable.

Mangal though the lord of the 8th place will not be unfavourable as he is the lord of (Mesa) lagna.

Vrhaspathi is the lord of the 9th and 12th places. As he is the lord of the 12th place, his good effect depends on some conditions in spite of 9th lordship. He will be beneficially effective if he is related to any other favourable planet.

Sukra is the principal māraka (death inflicting planet) on account of his ownership of the 2nd and 7th places. If any other malefic planet occupies any māraka-sthan (death denoting place such as 2nd, 7th, 8th places etc.) or any malefic is related to Sukra that planet will also be a māraka.

The author of Bhavartha Ratnakara, a very old but short treatise on astrology is of opinion that Sukra being the lord of the 2nd and 7th places can not himself be a māraka (death inflicting planet) until and unless he is conjoined with other unfavourable planets such as Sani and Budha. This opinion is not supported by Parasari Hora.

Vrsa Lagna—Vrhaspathi, Sukra and Chandra are pāpas (malefics). Ravi and Sani are favourable. Sani being lord of 9th and 10th himself alone is a Rājayogakaraka planet. Vrhaspathi is capable of inflicting death if he is posited in the 2nd or 7th place or is related to the lord of the 2nd or 7th houses.

As Mangal is the lord of the 7th house his capability of inflicting death should be stronger than any other malefic. But there is no remark about Mangal in Parasari Hora.

Maharshi Parasara did not also mention any thing about Budha. Ududhaya Pradipa (or Laghu Parasari) mentioned that Budha is a paratantra (subservient to some condition) as he owns the 2nd place and he too may be a māraka if he is related to any other māraka planet. This is supported by many commentators.

Experienced astrologers of wide reputation are of opinion that though Sani is the lord of the 9th and 10th does not produce favourable result until and unless he is conjoined with any other yogakaraka or favourable planet, or unless he is situated in the 10th place from lagna. If he is in the 2nd place the native no doubt becomes financially affluent and popular, but in the long run Sani ruins the native financially and he becomes isolated from his near and dear ones. According to Bhavartha Ratnakara dhanayoga is caused by combination of Vrhaspathi and Budha, but this yoga will be defunct if Mangal joins or aspects them.

Mithuna Lagna—Ravi, Mangal and Vrhaspathi are pāpas. Only benefic planet is Sukra being the lord of the 5th.

Relation between Vrhaspathi, the lord of the 7th as well as 10th and Sani the lord of the 8th and 9th houses will not produce any Rajayoga until any other benefic planet joins them by aspect or combination in which case Rajayoga will be effective.

Chandra the lord of the 2nd is not capable of inflicting death unless some other pāpa planet is related to Chandra.

According to Bhavartha Ratnakara a brilliant dhanayoga will be caused when Chandra and Mangal together are posited in the 11th and Sani in the 9th place from Lagna. The author stresses much importance on the combination of Sukra, Chandra and Mangal being in the 2nd and is of opinion that the native becomes a wealthy man during Sukra dasa. Neither in Parasari Hora nor Ududhaya Pradipa (Laghu Pārāsari) there is any remark about Budha.

Karkata Lagna—Sukra and Budha are malefic planets, and Mangal and Vrhaspathi are benefics. Mangal alone is a Rajayogakaraka planet but he himself alone is not capable of yielding favourable result unless he is related to any other favourable planet. Vrhaspathi is the lord of the 6th but the fault due to the 6th house-lordship is not taken into consideration as he is also the lord of the 9th place. Sani is the principal māraka on account of his ownership of 7th and 8th houses. Other malefic planets also can be mārakas if they are related to Sani.

As Vrhaspathi is the lord of both 6th and 9th houses he shall give mixed result during his dasa.

Some astrological savants are of opinion that in case of Karkata Lagna if Vrhaspathi is in Lagna, Ravi in the 10th and Budha and Sukra are seated in the 11th place the native becomes a famous king of good moral character. The yoga is termed as 'Maharajayoga' in Brihata-Jataka.

Though Sukra and Budha are said to be malefic some astrologers of high order say that Karkata-Lagna-Jataka becomes very rich during Sukra-dasa if Sukra and Budha are posited in the 12th house. Similarly they are of opinion that Rajayoga is caused if Chandra and Vrhaspathi are posited in lagna.

Simha Lagna—Sukra and Budha are unfavourable. They become mārakas if related to other pāpas.

Mangal and Vrhaspathi are beneficial planets. Relation between Vrhaspathi (5th lord) and Sukra (10th lord) does not cause Rajayoga because Sukra is the lord of the 3rd and Vrhaspathi the lord of the 8th. If other favourable planet is related to Sukra and Vrhaspathi Rajayoga result is expected.

Chandra will give favourable result if she is related to any beneficial planet and the result will be bad if she is related to any unfavourable planet.

According to Parasari Hora Sani being the lord of the 7th is the most powerful māraka but according to Laghu Pārāsari Budha as a death inflicting planet is stronger than any other māraka.

Nothing has been said about Ravi.

Kanya Lagna—Mangal, Vrhaspathi and Chandra are pāpas. Sukra alone is favourable and relation between Sukra and Budha will cause Rajayoga. Sukra is a māraka and next to Sukra death inflicting planet is Mangal. It is surprising that Vrhaspathi's ownership of two kendras of which one is the 7th house has been overlooked by Maharshi Parasara and he is not declared as a māraka. Even he is not placed in the second category of mārakas. No commentators thought it right to discuss this point. However, experience shows Sukra being the principal māraka cannot give favourable result in spite of his lordship of the 9th, during his dasa—particularly his antardasa under the major dasa of any other pāpa planet. During such dasa and antardasa Sukra may do immense mischief to the native in many respects.

Relation between Sukra, the 9th lord and Vṛhaspathi, the 4th lord and their positions in the 2nd house will not cause any dhana-yoga.

Shri B. V. Raman a very eminent astrologer in India in his comment said, “.....in actual practice it is found that Venus dasa will be more beneficial than that of Jupiter because Jupiter becomes afflicted, being lord of a kendra.” Vṛhaspathi's fault as a lord of two kendras is no doubt great but Sukra's death inflicting effect is no less important.

Readers may test the veracity of this statement and come to a decision.

As an example, a birth chart is given herebelow :

Lagna is in Kanya, Sani is in Lagna, Rahu and Chandra in the 5th, Vṛhaspathi and Sukra in the 9th and in the 11th house there are Ravi, Budha, Ketu and Mangal.

The native is a fallen man. In spite of merit his education remained incomplete and during Vṛhaspathi's antardasa under the major period of Sukra he suffered from extreme poverty.

Another example :

Lagna is in Kanya associated with Sani and Rahu, Vṛhaspathi and Sukra in the 2nd place, Ravi and Budha in the 3rd, Mangal in the 5th and Chandra and Ketu in the 7th house.

The gentleman is an M. A. in Economics from Calcutta University and got degree from London School of Economics. He became a pauper during the dasa of Sukra and antardasa of Vṛhaspathi.

Tula Lagna—Vṛhaspathi, Ravi and Mangal are pāpas. Relation between Chandra and Budha causes powerful Rajayoga. Sani being the lord of the 4th and the 5th is Rajayoga-karaka and Budha as the lord of the 9th is favourable. Sukra is not a māraka but not favourable owing to ownership of the 8th house.

Vṛhaspathi is the lord of the 3rd and the 6th house. If he is situated in Lagna he does not permit the native to pass a single day peacefully due to this or that ailment. I have seen number of horoscopes where Vṛhaspathi is posited in Tula Lagna and the native almost everyday complains of this or that disease, sometimes minor and at other times very troublesome. Maharshi Parasara said, "Of Tula Lagna Vrhaspathi is a 'khala' (meaning wicked). This is exactly what I saw in many cases."

For this Lagna Mangal being the lord of the 2nd and 7th is a māraka. But if Ravi, Budha and Sani are related to Mangal either by combination or mutual aspect Mangal will be favourable to the native. Again, combination of Ravi, Budha and Sani with Chandra will do immense good to the native.

This is also to be noted that Vrhaspathi also may be a māraka if related to māraka planets or posited in a malefic house.

Vrscika Lagna—Budha, Mangal and Sukra are malefics. Vrhaspathi being the 2nd and 5th lord and Chandra the lord of the 9th house are benefic planets. Rajayoga is caused by the relation between Ravi and Chandra.

According to Parasari Hora Budha, Mangal and Sukra are mārakas. But Laghu Parasari's version is that Vrhaspathi is the principal māraka and Budha and other pāpa planets also may be death-inflicting under certain circumstance. Maharshi Parasara said in the chapter dealing in longevity that Rahu is considered the principal māraka in case of Vrscika and Makar lagnas.

Sani being the 3rd and 4th lord is no doubt unfavourable. The 3rd house is not favourable but it is a upachayasthan. Sani being a natural malefic should not be considered as unfavourable as he owns a kendra. So, Sani should not be declared as pāpa.

Some commentators are of opinion that though strictly speaking Sani is not very unfavourable even then he can not produce good result.

Parasara and other eminent authors opine that Vrhaspathi is beneficial due to his 5th house ownership but our experience is that Vrhaspathi being a māraka gives awefully unfavourable result and makes the native stranded financially. Of course this is also to be noted that Vrhaspathi gives brilliant result if he is related to any yogakaraka planet.

To quote Bhavartha Ratnakara we may cite the following yoga caused by Vrhaspathi, Chandra and Budha. According to that treatise, "The native will be very fortunate and rich if Vrhaspathi and Budha are in the 5th and Chandra in the 11th house."

Dhanu Lagna—According to Pārāsari Hora Vrhaspathi, Sukra, Sani, Budha and Chandra are malefic planets. Vrhaspathi due to lordship of kendra, Sani being the lord of the 2nd and the 3rd, Sukra as a lord of 6th and 11th, Budha being the lord of 7th and Chandra as lord of the 8th house are considered as pāpas. Sani is said to be death inflicting planet but why Budha has not been mentioned as māraka as he is the lord of the 7th is not explained.

Parasara's verdict in the beginning is that 7th lord as a māraka is more powerful than the 2nd lord. Here he has not even mentioned Budha as a māraka.

But in this respect Laghu Parasari has maintained consistency. The author has not ever mentioned 7th lord as a māraka in preference to the 2nd lord.

According to Laghu Parasari (or Ududhaya Pradipa) the 2nd lord Sani is māraka, Ravi and Budha are benefics and their relation by combination, aspect or exchange of houses etc. will produce Rajayoga. Maharshi Parasara also said, relation between these two planets will give Rajayoga effect; also Rajayoga will be caused owing to relation between Ravi and Mangal.

Though Vrhaspathi being the lord of a kendra may do immense good under certain circumstance.

A native having his lagna in Dhanu, Vrhaspathi in the 5th and Sukra in the 4th place from lagna got immensely good result during the major period of Sukra and sub-period of Vrhaspathi as Vrhaspathi being the lagna-lord is placed in the 5th and aspects lagna. In latter chapter Maharshi said that any planet aspecting lagna will have to be deemed as Yogakaraka and lord of lagna and the 4th house being in the 5th place will produce beneficial result. So, in case of Dhanu Lagna Vrhaspathi should not be summarily dismissed as an evil planet.

Makar Lagna—Chandra, Mangal and Vrhaspathi are malefics. Budha and Sukra are favourable planets. Ravi also is pāpa and Sani is the principal māraka. Mangal and other pāpas also can be māraka as and when Sani is powerful and well-disposed. In that case Sani's death inflicting power will be much minimised.

Sukra being the lord of the 5th and 10th is the only Rajayoga-karaka planet. Truly speaking Sukra is capable of producing Rajayoga result only when he is in the 5th house. His position in the 10th will not help the native acquire money, name and fame and vocational career of the native will be most ordinary. This is due to Sukra's ownership of a kendra. But my experience is that when Sukra is related to any other Yogakaraka planet and is posited in the 10th he is capable of conferring Rajayoga-result. According to Laghu Parasari Ravi in spite of 8th house ownership and Chandra 7th house lordship are not unfavourable.

In case of Makar Lagna Rahu is a powerful māraka. This was specially mentioned by Maharshi Parasara in case of Vrscika and Makar Lagna.

Kumbha Lagna—Chandra, Mangal and Vrhaspathi are malefics. Rajayoga is caused by the relation between Sukra and Mangal. Vrhaspathi is the death inflicting planet, Budha and other unfavourable planets also may become mārakas. Ravi and Sani are unfavourable. Sukra though the lord of the 4th and 9th may not confer Rajayoga effect if he is posited in the 4th. Though Mangal is declared as a pāpa relation between Mangal (10th lord) and Sukra (4th and 9th lord) will produce Rajayoga. Ravi is the lord of the 7th house. He will not be a māraka but he may be responsible for suffering of the native due to bad health.

Mina Lagna—Sani, Sukra, Ravi and Budha are unfavourable planets. Mangal and Chandra are benefics. Mangal though lord of the 2nd house is not a māraka. Neither Maharshi Parasara nor author of Laghu Pārāsari has declared Budha as a māraka though he owns the 7th house. On the other hand it is said that Sani and other unfavourable planets may be mārakas.

Relation between Mangal and Vrhaspathi will produce Rājayoga. It is very interesting to note that though Vrhaspathi of Mina Lagna owns two kendras he has not been mentioned as a pāpa but in case of Dhanu Lagna Vrhaspathi has been classified in the same rank with other pāpa planets such as Sani, Sukra, Chandra and Budha. Why this differentiation was not discussed by any known commentator ?

We have seen when a natural benefic acts as a malefic under special circumstances. Are we then to take it for granted that beneficent qualities of a natural Suva (favourable) planet are wiped out because of ownership of a kendra and of any of the 3rd, 6th and 11th houses ?

Vrhaspathi is a natural suva (favourable) planet. In case of Mithune Lagna Vrhaspathi's fault as a lord of kendra has been magnified by all eminent followers of Maharshi Parasara. Malefic Vrhaspathi occupying 10th place which is his own house is said to be unfavourable. In such case our decision should be that career of the native will be very much disturbed due to presence of a malefic planet no less important than Vrhaspathi. If any astrologer comes to such a conclusion it is bound to be wrong. Because good effect of a natural benefic can not be wiped out owing to his ownership of a kendra. So, in the above instance Vrhaspathi though has acquired fault as a kendrapathi will not be an obstructive factor in a native's career. But his fault as a kendrapathi will be manifested during his dasa and antardasa and also during the dasa and antardasa of Vrhaspathi and any other malefic planets. The vocational interest of the native will be hampered at that period.

But this is also a fact that if an auspicious planet be the lord of the 6th, 8th or 12th house his malefic effect will be prominently felt by the native for all the time when the planet occupies any kendra, kona, 2nd or 11th place etc. If a planet owns both 6th and 9th houses his fault due to ownership of any dusthana (malefic bhavas) may be negligible.

* [Brihat-jataka has not enunciated any such theory. According to that treatise lords of 6th, 8th and 12th houses as well as natural pāpa (malefic) planets are always inauspicious. Vrhaspathi, Sukra, waxing Moon and Budha when seated alone or conjoined with natural benefic are always auspicious planets. Again lords of kendra, kona are also favourable.]

CHAPTER—XI

Vimsottari Dasa and Antardasa or Bhukti

Or Period and Sub-Period

Dasa and antardasa is a method devised by ancient Hindu Rishies to solve the question of timing events. It is yet a moot point to us to tell our readers definitely upon what basis each planet is attached a certain number of years as its term of dasa. But this also we cannot deny that in actual practice "dasa and antardasa" system gives very satisfactory result in making prophecies about period of events.

There are more than 40/41 dasa systems in Parasari Hora. We have given in the following Paragraphs the names of all these systems which may interest some of our esteemed readers.

The Names of Dasa systems according to Parasari Hora :

- | | |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1. Vimsottari (120 yrs.) | 21. Kendra dasa |
| 2. Sorasottari (116 ,,) | 22. Kārakendra dasa |
| 3. Dwadasottari (112 ,,) | 23. Kāraka graha dasa |
| 4. Asthottari (108 ,,) | 24. Manduka dasa |
| 5. Panchottari (105 ,,) | 25. Shula dasa |
| 6. Satābdikā (100 ,,) | 26. Nakshatra dasa |
| 7. Chaturashiti (84 ,,) | 27. Yogārdha dasa |
| 8. Dwisaptati (72 ,,) | 28. Drig dasa |
| 9. Sasthihayain (60 ,,) | 29. Trikona dasa |
| 10. Sat-trimsati (36 ,,) | 30. Nakshatrat-rasi dasa |
| 11. Navamsa-Nava dasa (108) | 31. Tāra dasa |
| 12. Rāsyamsa dasa | 32. Varnada dasa |
| 13. Kāla dasa | 33. Panchaswarā dasa |
| 14. Chakra dasa | 34. Yogini dasa |
| 15. Sudarsana Chakra dasa | 35. Pinda dasa |
| 16. Charaparyaya dasa | 36. Amsa dasa |
| 17. Navamamsasthira dasa | 37. Rashmi dasa |
| 18. Sthira dasa | 38. Nisarga dasa |
| 19. Chatturvida-uttara dasa | 39. Asthavarga dasa |
| 20. Brahmagrahāshrita dasa | 40. Sandyā dasa |
| 41. Panchaka dasa. | |

All these dasa systems have been explained by Maharshi Parāsara in his Parasari Hora. Inquisitive students of astrology may try to apply some of them in predicting time of events with the help of any system other than Vimsottari and Asthottari systems which are in vogue in India. Most of the Indian astrologers rely on either Vimsottari or Asthottari dasa system and period of events in a man's life is calculated on the basis of any one of these two systems.

In the Eastern part of India we have seen that some eminent professional astrologers have drawn Asthottari as well as Yogini dasa and mentioned the period of events on the basis of these two dasa systems only. But we shall in this book deal with Vimsottari dasa as elaborately as possible and draw tables of dasa and antardasa of both Vimsottari and Asthottari systems.

Now we explain herebelow the method of calculation of Vimsottari dasa and bhukti. The method of calculation of dasas depends mainly on the position of Chandra in the birth chart and Nakshatra attached with this planet.

We know each Nakshatra (constellation) covers 13° degree 20' minute (or kala). Each Nakshatra has a lord of its own and the dasa is to be calculated according to degree of Nakshatra consumed at the time of birth.

Before we explain in detail the method of calculation of dasa and bhukti we draw herebelow the table of dasas indicated by each nakshatra. We shall mention the number of nakshatras instead of naming them one by one. The number of nakshatra means Aswini 1, Bharani 2, Krittika 3 etc.

Table of dasas ruled by each planet according to nakshatra :

Table of Vimsottari Dasa

No. of Nakshatras	Dasa Lords	Years
3, 12, 21	Ravi	6
4, 13, 22	Chandra	10
5, 14, 23	Mangal	7
6, 15, 24	Rahu	18
7, 16, 25	Vrhaspathi	16
8, 17, 26	Sani	19
9, 18, 27	Budha	17
10, 19, 1	Ketu	7
11, 20, 2	Sukra	20
		120 yrs.

Total of these years is 120 which is considered as the maximum longevity of a man. But this is not always correct

We heard of many men who lived more than 120 years of age. We shall work out the process of calculation of (Vimsottari dasa) dasa-bhukti at the time of birth of the child who was born on the 30th April, 1953 at 10 A. M. (L. M. T), Calcutta (See p. 69, Ch. III).

Chandra is in Tula, Chandrasphuta $27^{\circ}-52'$. This means that Chandra is in Visakha Nakshatra No. 16. Visakha Nakshatra begins at 20° degree Tula and is extended upto $3^{\circ}-20'$ Vrschika.

At the time of birth Chandrasphuta— $6s-27^{\circ}-52'$ duration of Nakshatra— $7s^{\circ} 3^{\circ}-20'$

Therefore, $7s-3^{\circ}-20'$ minus $6s-27^{\circ}-52'$

= $0-5^{\circ}-28'$ Visakha left unconsumed at the time of birth.

Next step—If $13^{\circ}-20'$ gives 16 yrs. (duration of dasa period of Vrhspathi), what will be years for $5^{\circ}-28'$

$13^{\circ}-20' = 800$ Kala or minute, $5^{\circ}-28' = 328$ Kala (min)

$\therefore (328 \times 16) \div 800 = 6$ yrs 6m $21\frac{1}{2}$ days or 22 days.

Therefore balance of Vrhspathi's dasa—6 yrs 6m 22 days. Similar results can be worked out in a different way. As per Jogajjoti Panjika edited by Shri N. C. Lahiri the Nakshatramān (duration of Nakshatra) is taken for calculation.

The child was born on the 30th April Visakha Nakshatra covered only 36 danda 54 Pala 30 bipala. This means, the nakshatra began on the previous day.

Let us consult the Panjika. We find Swati nakshatra terminated on the 29th April at 33 danda 55 Pala 38 bipala. (60 dandas make a day—1 day means 24 hrs.) So, 60 danda minus 33 danda 55 Pala 38 bipala = 26 danda 4 Pala 22 bipala.

Duration of Visakha Nakshatra (on 29th April)—26 danda 4 Pala 22 bipala + 36 danda 54 Pala 32 bipala (duration of Nakshatra on the beirth-day) = 62 danda 58 Pala 54 bipala

Or we should say, the total period of Visakha Nakshatra is 62 danda 58 Pala 54 bipala

Istha danda is 11 danda 8 Pala 12 bipala +

26 " 4 " 22 "
= 37 " 12 " 34 "

(Nakshatra already consumed on the previous day)

Total period of Nakshatra = 62 danda 58 Pala 54 bipala

Minus 37 " 12 " 34 "

(Nakshatra already consumed)

= 25 " 46 " 20 "

(balance of Nakshatra to be consumed)

62 danda 58 Pala 54 bipala = 226734 bipala

25 " 46 " 34 " = 92794 "

∴ 226734 : 92794 :: 16 yrs : x

$x = (92794 \times 16) \div 226734 = 6 \text{ yrs } 6\text{m } 17 \text{ days.}$

= Balance of Vṛhaspathi's dasa.

There is a difference of 5 days between dasa bhukti worked out according to Chandrasphuta and Nakshatra-mān. Such difference is possible.

Calculation of antardasa :

There are more than one method of calculation of antardasa (sub-period). We give herebelow a few easy methods :

1. Multiply the number of years of dasa of a planet by the number of years of the dasa of that planet whose antardasa is to be determined. Divide the product by 10, the quotient will indicate months and the remainder is to be multiplied by 30, the product is to be divided by 10, the result will indicate days.

Example—Vṛhaspathi's major dasa and his antardasa to be worked out.

$16 \times 16 = 256 \div 10 = 25 \text{ months or } 2 \text{ yrs } 1 \text{ month}$

Remainder $6 \times 30 = 180 \div 10 = 18 \text{ days.}$

Therefore, Vṛhaspathi's subperiod under Vṛhaspathi's major period = 2 yrs 1m 12 days.

2. Multiply the number of years of major dasa-lord by the number of years of the dasa period of antardasa-lord. Divide the product by 120, the quotient will be years. The remainder is to be multiplied by 12 and the product to be divided by 120. The quotient will indicate months. The remainder is again to be multiplied by 30 and the product is to be divided by 120. The quotient stands for days.

If the product obtained by multiplication of number of years of dasa lord by the number of years of antardasa lord is less than 120, the product is to be multiplied by 12 and the result thus obtained is to be divided by 120. The quotient will indicate months. Other process is the same as the previous method.

Example—To find out period of Vṛhaspathi's dasa and Sani's antardasa.

$16 \times 19 = 304 \div 120 = 2 \text{ yrs}$

remainder $64 \times 12 = 768 \div 120 = 6\text{m}$

" $48 \times 30 = 1440 \div 120 = 12 \text{ days.}$

Dasa-antardasa period of Vṛhaspathi and Sani = 2 yrs 6m 12 days.

3. Multiply the dasa period of major dasa-lord by the dasa period of the planet whose antardasa is to be determined. Then the last figure of the product is to be cut out and it is to be multiplied by 3, the product thus found will indicate days and the figure that is left out undisturbed will indicate months.

Example—Dasa and antardasa period of Vṛhaspathi and Sani— $16 \times 19 = 304$. The last figure $4 \times 3 = 12$ days.

The figure left out is 30 which indicates months.

Therefore Vṛhaspathi and Sani's dasa-antardasa period is 30 months 12 days = 2 yrs 6m 12 days.

Antardasa bhukties may be subdivided into 'Pratyantar' dasa (English equivalent is inter period). Method of calculation is as follows.

To find out Pratyantar dasa under the sub period of Chandra and major period of Ravi and interperiod of Mangal.

Example—Ravi's dasa $\times$ Chandra's dasa

$$= (6 \times 10) \div 120 = 6 \text{ months}$$

$$6 \times 7 \text{ (Mangal's dasa period)}$$

$$(42 \times 30) \div 120 \text{ days} = 10 \text{ days } 30 \text{ dandas.}$$

(Period of Mangal's Pratyantar under Chandra's antardasa under Ravi's major dasa).

The child was born during Vṛhaspathi's dasa when the balance of this dasa was 6 yrs 6m 22 days. This means that out of 16 years of Vṛhaspathi's dasa period 9 yrs 6 months 8 days already expired when the child was born. We can now find out what antardasa under Vṛhaspathi's major dasa was ruling at the time of birth.

Vṛhaspathi's major dasa and its antardasa period—2 yrs 1m 18 days

“	“	“	Sani's	“	“	+2	“	6	“	12	“
						4	—	8	—	0
“	“	“	Budha's	“	“	2	—	3	—	6
						6	—	11	—	6
“	“	“	Ketu's	“	“	0	—	11	—	6
						7	—	10	—	12
“	“	“	Sukra's	“	“	2	—	8	—	0
						10	—	6	—	12

This shows that at the time of birth Budha's antardasa under the major dasa of Vṛhaspathi was running.

Vimsottari Dasa and Antardasa Table

Ravi's Dasa—6 yrs antardasas (bhukties)				Chandra's Dasa—10 yrs antardasas (bhukties)
	yr.	m.	d.		yr.	m.	d.
Ravi	0	3	18	Chandra	0	10	0
Chandra	0	6	0	Mangal	0	7	0
Mangal	0	4	6	Rahu	1	6	0
Rahu	0	10	24	Vrhaspathi	1	4	0
Vrhaspathi	0	9	18	Sani	1	7	0
Sani	0	11	12	Budha	1	5	0
Budha	0	10	6	Ketu	0	7	0
Ketu	0	4	6	Sukra	1	8	0
Sukra	1	0	0	Ravi	0	6	0
	6	0	0		10	0	0

Mangal's Dasa—7 yrs antardasas (bhukties)				Rahu's Dasa—18 yrs antardasas (bhukties)
	yr.	m.	d.		yr.	m.	d.
Mangal	0	4	27	Rahu	2	8	12
Rahu	1	0	18	Vrhaspathi	2	4	24
Vrhaspathi	0	11	6	Sani	2	10	6
Sani	1	1	9	Budha	2	6	18
Budha	0	11	27	Ketu	1	0	18
Ketu	0	4	27	Sukra	3	0	0
Sukra	1	2	0	Ravi	0	10	24
Ravi	0	4	6	Chandra	1	6	0
Chandra	0	7	0	Mangal	1	0	18
	7	0	0		18	0	0

Vimsottari Dasa and Antardasa Table

Vrhaspathi's Dasa—16 yrs antardasas (bhukties)				Sani's Dasa—19 yrs antardasas (bhukties)
	yr.	m.	d.		yr.	m.	d.
Vrhaspathi	2	1	18	Sani	3	0	3
Sani	2	6	12	Budha	2	8	9
Budha	2	3	6	Ketu	1	1	9
Ketu	0	11	6	Sukra	3	2	0
Sukra	2	8	0	Ravi	0	11	12
Ravi	0	9	18	Chandra	1	7	0
Chandra	1	4	0	Mangal	1	1	9
Mangal	0	11	6	Rahu	2	10	6
Rahu	2	4	24	Vrhaspathi	2	6	12
	16	0	0		19	0	0

Budha's Dasa—17 yrs antardasas (bhukties)				Ketu's Dasa—7 yrs antardasas (bhukties)
	yr.	m.	d.		yr.	m.	d.
Budha	2	4	27	Ketu	0	4	27
Ketu	0	11	27	Sukra	1	2	0
Sukra	2	10	0	Ravi	0	4	6
Ravi	0	10	6	Chandra	0	7	0
Chandra	1	5	0	Mangal	0	4	27
Mangal	0	11	27	Rahu	1	0	18
Rahu	2	6	18	Vrhaspathi	0	11	6
Vrhaspathi	2	3	6	Sani	1	1	9
Sani	2	8	9	Budha	0	11	27
	17	0	0		7	0	0

Vimsottari Dasa and Antardasa table

Sukra's Dasa—20 yrs antardasas (bhukties)

	yr.	m.	d.
Sukra	3	4	0
Ravi	1	0	0
Chandra	1	8	0
Mangal	1	2	0
Rahu	3	0	0
Vrhaspathi	2	8	0
Sani	3	2	0
Budha	2	10	0
Ketu	1	2	0
	20	0	0

Fundamental principles of judging dasa and antardasa in predicting events.

It is an admitted fact that determination of timing events is really a problem to astrologers. Dasa System devised by Hindu Rishies is really a great step to solve this problem. But though the system is there we must know many things before we venture to make any prophecy regarding period of events. We shall give in the following paragraphs some clues which may be of much help to our readers in this matter.

Fundamental rules for determining time of events through dasa and antardasa. They are by no means exhaustive :

1. We know that each planet has his own significance. So, it is expected that a planet during his own dasa and antardasa will yield result good or bad according to his own significance. But actually this is not the case. A planet in his own dasa and antardasa will give his own significant results, but tempered modified or effected by its relations with other planets by co-existence, aspecting or exchange of places.

If there is none of these relations the planet during his dasa and antardasa will produce the result of such other planet as has similar characteristics with him.

To cite an example let us take the case of Mangal of Karkat lagna. If Mangal is not related to any other planet he will give the result of Vrhaspathi during his dasa and antardasa. Because Mangal is a 'Raja yoga Karaka' planet and Vrhaspathi is the lord of luck (9th house). Further both the planets are friendly to each other and have been classified in the same rank.

2. When dasapathi (Major dasa-lord) and antardasapathi (the lord of the subperiod) are inimical or antagonistic to each other (such as, major dasa lord is the owner of the 9th house and antardasa lord owns any malefic bhavas) the dasapathi in his dasa and antardasa of malefic planet will yield unfavourable result.

In such a case we cannot expect a favourable result but if the dasa-lord is strong and favourably disposed result will not be very unfavourable.

3. If kendrapathi (lord of kendra) or konapathi (lord of kona) are not related to each other the result of their dasa and antardasa will not be favourable. There are exceptions :

(i) If either of the 5th or 10th lord is not very unfavourably disposed or any one of the two is not very maliciously related to any malefic planet the dasa and antardasa of the 5th and the 10th lord will yield good result provided the 5th lord is conjoined with the lord of the 9th house.

(ii) If the lords of the 5th and the 9th houses are conjoined with each other subperiod of 4th or 10th lord under the major period of 5th or 9th lord will yield favourable result even if there is no relation between dasa and antardasa lords.

(iii) Antardasa of the 5th lord under the major period of the 10th lord or the dasa and antardasa of the 9th and the 4th or 4th and 9th lords will give beneficial result. Of course if these planets are related to each other the result will be very good.

(iv) The lord of the 10th house when posited in the 5th place and also when lord of the 10th house is conjoined with the 4th lord their dasa and antardasa are beneficial to the native.

(v) If the lords of the 5th, 10th, 4th and 9th places together occupy any bhava their dasas and antardasas are favourable. Even if the lord of any other bhava is conjoined with them the dasa and antardasa of that planet also will produce beneficial result.

4. If a malefic is related to any Rajayogakaraka planet during the antardasa of the yogakaraka planet under the major dasa of the malefic dasa-antardasa result will be favourable.

5. It is said in Pārāsariya Su-sloka Satakam (hundred best-Slokas of Maharshi Parasara) that Sani of Mesa or Mithune lagna will not produce any Rajayoga.

But according to that valuable book if a planet owns 6th and at the same time 7th house and is placed in the 10th place from lagna and he is conjoined with any other planet his dasa and antardasa and also antardasa of that planet who is combined with the aforesaid lord of the 6th and 7th houses will produce favourable result.

Sani of Simha lagna occupying Vrsa rasi will cause this yoga.

6. If one and the same planet be the owner of the 2nd and the 7th houses and occupies the 4th place from lagna his major dasa and antardasa of that planet combined with the dasapathi (lord of the major dasa) will be favourable.

7. If a lord of any dusthana (6th, 8th and 12th places) be associated with the 5th lord the dasa and antardasa of those planets will be favourable.

8. If the lord of the 4th is situated in the 10th and the 10th lord is in the 4th place their dasas and antardasas are favourable.

9. When the 9th lord is in the 4th and the 4th lord is situated in the 10th their dasas and antardasas are auspicious.

10. If the 5th or the 9th lord is in the 10th place their dasas and antardasas are favourable.

11. If the lord of the antardasa is placed in the 12th place from the dasa-lord the native shall get unfavourable result during the period of antardasa lord under the major period of dasa-lord. If the lord of antardasa be the owner of 5th or 9th house the unfavourable result will be much less.

12. If the 5th and 9th places from the dasa-lord are occupied by Sani, Mangal, Rahu, Ketu or Ravi the native suffers from mental worries and anxieties during the dasa-lord and sub-period of anyone of these natural pāpas. The native shall have no peace of mind.

If these natural pāpas are benefic owing to lordship of auspicious bhavas the first part of the antardasa will be bad and the last part will be favourable.

13. If the 6th, 8th or 12th place from a planet is occupied by 'Krura' planets (Mangal, Sani, Ravi, Rahu are Krura planets. 'Krura' means cruel or very malefic) or anyone of those dusthanas (6th, 8th and 12th places) is occupied by either debilitated or combust planet during the dasa of the first named planet and antardasa of any 'Krura' planet enemies of the native will be very active to pull him down or to injure his interest, and the native shall incur displeasure of the head of the state, and suffer monetary loss.

14. If the 4th place from a planet is occupied by any 'Krura' planet during the major dasa of that planet and antardasa of 'Krura' planet loss of native's house and landed properties may be apprehended.

(i) If Mangal occupies that 4th place there is possibility of arson, crash of thunder, sudden death of cattle, accident, or any other sudden danger.

(ii) If Sani is there in the 4th place the native shall suffer from heartache, pain in the chest, rheumatism, or any other disease owing to morbid affection of the nervous system.

(iii) If weak Ravi is posited in the 4th place from that planet during the dasa and antardasa period of those planets the native shall incur royal displeasure, he shall suffer from loss of money or any other property and there is chance of disturbance in vocational career.

(iv) If Rahu is in the 4th place from a planet there is chance of theft of money or valuable articles, disease due to effect of any kind of poison or poisonous drug.

15. If Rahu is posited in the 10th place from a planet during dasa and antardasa of that planet and Rahu there is chance of going on pilgrimage to holy places, of visiting foreign lands or distant countries.

(i) Again if the 9th, 10th or 11th place from a planet is occupied by a benefic their dasas and antardasas are favourable. The native acquires name and fame, earns money and gets education.

16. If the 5th, 6th and 7th places from a planet are occupied by an exalted or auspicious planet the native is blessed with wife, children and royal favour during their dasas and antardasas.

17. If the 4th place from a planet is occupied by an exalted planet or if that 4th house is the own or mooltrikona sign of the occupant the native possesses conveyances, builds his own house and earns good money during their dasas and antardasas.

18. If the lord of the rasi where Chandra is situated is posited in the house of exaltation and is in kendra from lagna the native shall prosper, be wealthy, gain money through agricultural enterprise during the dasa of that exalted planet. I think, the native shall get beneficial result according to signification of that exalted planet.

19. If lagnapathi is in his own Navamsa, Dwadasamsa or drekkan his dasa will be favourable.

(i) If Navamsa lord of lagnapathi is posited in friendly navamsa, drekkan or in his own navamsa, or lagnapathi is aspected by a friendly planet who is posited in his own, friendly navamsa, drekkan or dwadasamsa dasa of the lagnapathi is beneficial.

A few important points should be noted carefully :—

(1) If an exalted planet crosses his highest point of exaltation at the time of birth the first part of his dasa is favourable and the latter part will not be as favourable as the first one.

(2) Similarly if a debilitated planet in the birth chart crosses the lowest point of debilitation the first of his dasa is unfavourable and the last part is favourable.

(3) If a planet in exaltation in the birth chart is posited in the lowest point of debilitation the first part of his dasa is unfavourable strength to impart good result and gives favourable result in the beginning of the dasa and at the end the result will be unfavourable.

Reverse will be the result of the dasa of a debilitated planet occupying the house of exaltation in the navamsa chakra.

(4) A planet loses his strength if he is combust, conjoined with a papa or an enemy planet positioned in an inimical house or if he occupies any dusthana (6th, 8th or 12th house).

(5) The planet who is inimical to lagnapathi cannot give good in his dasa and antardasa of lagnapathi.

The dasa of such a planet will not be very unfavourable if he is a temporary friend to the lagnapathi.

(6) Those planets who occupy 4th, 9th or 10th place from lagnapathi cannot give favourable result if they are inimical to the lord of lagna, but if they are friendly to lagnapathi the dasa and antardasa of lagnapathi will be favourable.

(7) When two planets are situated in the 7th place from each other their dasa and antardasa will not be favourable. But in cases of 'jeeba' yoga, 'Souri-Guru' yoga, 'Guru-Vauma' yoga and Chandra being in the 7th place from Mangal or vice-versa their dasas and antardasas will produce beneficial result.

[Jeeba yoga=Chandra and Vrhaspathi being in the 7th place from each other. Souri-Guru yoga=Sani and Vrhaspathi being in the 7th place from each other and Guru-Vauma yoga=Vrhaspathi and Mangal being in the 7th place from each other].

We have spoken very highly of Rajayogas but this is to be remembered that a simple favourable yoga will be of no use or of less importance if yogakaraka planets do not gain strength. Their dasas and antardasas will really be productive of good results if they (yoga karaka planets) are strong and favourably disposed.

We have said earlier that if the 4th lord is in the 10th and the 10th lord in the 4th the result of their dasa and antardasa will be beneficial but if those planets are aspected by lords of the 5th and 9th places this will be a very powerful Rajayoga and their dasa and antardasa will be very beneficent. Here also the planets must be strong, otherwise Rajayoga will produce medium result.

Once the dasa and antardasa have been established, the process of deciding about their effects becomes the most important matter. And in this, it is difficult to set down mechanical guide lines. One has to assess and value the power, the attitude, the proclivity and mood of each planet. And then the joined effect as the influences of other planets converge on the lords of the dasa and antardasa, where each is placed with reference to lagna and rasi, who aspects whom, who is friendly, who hostile and who neutral, and to what extent—all this has to be considered not merely 'a priori', but with reference to some facts known to have actually occurred during the native's life.

It is a matter also of the astrologers' own ability and experience and of largely on intuition which operates only on the subconscious of extensive and intensive reading and hard diligent work.

Another point of capital importance—alas, so often forgotten—is that the contexts of modern society, of changed social conditions, of the impact of day-to-day scientific and mechanical adjustments in daily life etc. is the bed-rock on which all current and contemporary predictive astrology is based. The astrologer himself can not get away from his contemporary sheet anchor of his own life and escape to a vacuum and to make predictions in the 20th century with mechanical accuracy consistent with the shastras, but which would be apposite to the sixth and seventh century or to some such time when the shastras were written or compiled.

To take a certain example off the beat. Suppose the ancient texts lay that in a certain conjunction of planets in their dasa and antardasa the native would be afflicted by swarms of wild four or many-footed animals. Now if the predictive astrologer true to his texts and mechanically quite accurate deduces about a native who lives in a modern metropolis that he would be harassed by elephants or some such animals, he would be ridiculed and rightly. If he is a man of intelligence and experience, which are by no means ruled out by ancient texts, he might find the answer in mosquitoes. So, warning is that contemporary contexts should never be ignored.

CHAPTER—XII

Astottary Dasa and Antardasa

We have already said that in Eastern part of India eminent astrologers would rely more on Astottary System than Vimsottary in predicting events. Now-a-days the system is not as popular as Vimsottary among most of the modern astrologers in Eastern part of India too on account of various reasons. Most of them put forward the argument that in 'Kaliyoga' Vimsottary dasa is more effective than Astottary. However as the Astottary System is still in vogue readers should know something about the system.

Order of dasa lords under this system is as follows :

Dasa Lord	Span of dasa
1. Ravi	6 years
2. Chandra	15 „
3. Mangal	8 „
4. Budha	17 „
5. Sani	10 „
6. Vrhaspathi	19 „
7. Rahu	12 „
8. Sukra	21 „

Total=108 years

Please note that Vimsottary dasa-lords are 9, astottary dasa lords are 8. According to Vimsottary System generally a man's longevity is taken to be 120 yrs. and according to astottary System generally maximum longevity of a man does not exceed 108 yrs.

Method of calculation of Antardasa :

Multiply Span of dasa of both dasa and antardasa, divide the result by 9. The quotient is taken to be months. The remainder is to be reduced to days (of course multiplying the remainder by 30) and the result to be divided again by 9. The quotient will be days. If there is any remainder it is to be reduced to danda and the result is to be divided by 9. The quotient will denote danda.

Example : 1. Chandra's major dasa and Mangal's antardasa to be calculated : Chandra's dasa=15 yrs. Mangal's dasa=8 yrs.

So, $15 \times 8 = 120$ months $\div 9 = 13$ months.

remainder 3 months to be reduced to days, i.e. $3 \times 30 = 90 \div 9 = 10$ days.

Therefore, 13 months 10 days=1 yr. 1 m. 10 days.

2. Mangal's major dasa and Sani's antardasa :

Mangal's major dasa=8 yrs. Sani's major dasa=10 yrs.

So, $8 \times 10 = 80 \div 9 = 8$ months, remainder 8 months

$8 \times 30 = 240$ days $\div 9 = 26$ days, remainder 6 days,

$6 \times 60 = 360$ danda $\div 9 = 40$ danda.

Therefore, 8 months 26 days 40 danda.

Astottary Dasa Table

No. of Nakshatras	Dasa Lord	Span of dasa-period denoted by each Nakshatra
3. Krithika	Ravi	2 yrs.
4. Rohini	"	2 "
5. Mrigasira	"	2 "
		Total 6 yrs.
6. Adra	Chandra	3 yrs. 9 months
7. Punarvasu	"	3 " 9 "
8. Pusya	"	3 " 9 "
9. Aslesha	"	3 " 9 "
		Total 15 yrs.
10. Magha	Mangal	2 yrs. 8 months
11. Poorva Falguni	"	2 " 8 "
12. Uttar Falguni	"	2 " 8 "
		Total 8 yrs.
13. Hasta	Budha	4 yrs. 3 months
14. Chitra	"	4 " 3 "
15. Swati	"	4 " 3 "
16. Visakha	"	4 " 3 "
		Total 17 yrs.

17. Anuradha	Sani	3 yrs. 4 months
18. Jestha	"	3 " 4 "
19. Moola	"	3 " 4 "
		Total 10 yrs.
20. Poorbasarha	Vrhaspathi	4 yrs. 9 months
21. Uttarasarha	"	7 yrs. 1 month 15 days
22. Sravana	"	7 " 1 " 15 "
		Total 19 yrs.
23. Dhanistha	Rahu	4 yrs.
24. Satavisa	"	4 "
25. Purva bhadrapada	"	4 "
		Total 12 yrs.
26. Uttarbhadrapada	Sukra	5 yrs. 3 months
27. Revati	"	5 " 3 "
1. Aswini	"	5 " 3 "
2. Bharani	"	5 " 3 "
		Total 21 yrs.

Method of Calculation of the Balance of Dasa at the time of birth of a native

Let us explain this by an example :

Illustration No. I. Readers will kindly look to the birth chart of the boy born on the 30th April 1953 (See p. 69). His birth star is Visakha. This means, at the time of birth Chandra was associated with Visakha Nakshatra. This indicates that the boy was born in Budha's dasa (See table). Dasa-Māna (Span of dasa-period) under this Nakshatra is 4 yrs. 3 months. Isthadanda is 11 danda 8 pala 12 bipala (omit 30 anupala).

Total span of Visakha Nakshatra (of the birth-date) is 62 danda 58 pala 56 bipala

Nakshatra bhukti	...	...	37	"	12	"	36	"
" bhogya	...	...	25	"	46	"	20	"
* {bhukti means period consumed }
{bhogya " " to be consumed }

To find out Nakshatra-mān, bhukti and bhogya please consult the panchanga of 1860 B.S. dated 17th Baisakh, Thursday. We took the help of Su-Siddhanta Panjika of that year.

62 danda 58 pala 56 bipala = 226736 bipala

25 „ 46 „ 20 „ = 92760 „

Now by Rule of three,

226736 bipala gives 4 yrs. 3 months or 51 months

92760 „ „ how many years, months etc. ?

$$\text{i.e. } \frac{92760 \times 51}{226736} \text{ months}$$

= 20 months 26 days and 4 dandas or 1 yr. 8 months 26 days and 4 dandas being the period of Budha-dasa at the time of birth.

Illustration No. II. If the birth star of the boy would have been 'Swati' nakshatra then nakshatramān of Swati nakshatra, its bhukti and bhogyamān are to be calculated first. Budha-dasa bhogya is to be found out according to the method shown above and after that the period of dasa indicated by Visakha nakshatra is to be added.

Illustration : Say the boy was born on the 16th Baisakh, Wednesday at 10 A. M. (Calcutta local time). 10 hr. (L.M.T.) = 9 hr. 36 min. (I.S.T.). According to Susiddhanta Panjika :

Sunrise is at 5 hrs. 9 m. 24 Secs (I.S.T.)

Isthadanda is 11 danda 6 pala 30 bipala.

The day was ruled by Swati nakshatra, Nakshatramān is 64 danda 2 pala 13 bipala, bhogyamān is 22 danda 49 pala 8 bipala. Budha-dasa under Swati Nakshatra is 4 yrs. 3 months = 51 months
64 danda 2 pala 13 bipala = 230533

22 „ 49 „ 8 „ = 82148

Budha's dasa-period under Swati Nakshatra is 4 yrs. 3 m. or 51 months.

$$\frac{82148 \times 51}{230533} = 18 \text{ months 5 days 12 danda}$$

$$= 1 \text{ yr. 6 m. 5 days 12 danda}$$

add dasa period under

Visakha Nakshatra = 4 yrs. 3 m.

= 5 yrs. 9 m. 5 days 12 danda being the balance of Budha-dasa at the time of birth.

We can find out dasa bhogya by Chandra-sphuta also.

In case of illustration No. I of the boy born on the 30th April 1953 Chandra-sphuta in that chart is 6s-27°-52' This means Chandra in Tula rasi is $27^{\circ}-52'$ and is associated with Visakha Nakshatra which extends upto $3^{\circ}-20'$ in Vrschika rasi.

So, $7s-3^{\circ}-20'$ minus $6s-27^{\circ}-52' = 5^{\circ}-28'$ Visakha is yet to be consumed. Span of each nakshatra is $13^{\circ}-20' = 800'$ min. or kala.

$5^{\circ}-28' = 328$ kala. So, by rule of three,

$$\frac{328 \times 51}{800} = 20 \text{ months } 27 \text{ days.}$$

$$= 1 \text{ yr. } 8 \text{ m. } 27 \text{ days } 18 \text{ danda.}$$

There is a difference of 2 months 22 days 18 danda between the period calculated by nakshatramān and bhogya, and Chandra-sphuta which is possible.

Astottari Dasa-Antardasa Table

Ravi's dasa-antardasa division					Chandra's dasa-antardasa division
	yr.	m.	day	d.		yr.	m.	day	d.
Ravi-Ravi	0	4	0	0	Chandra-Chandra	2	1	0	0
" -Chandra	0	10	0	0	" -Mangal	1	1	10	0
" -Mangal	0	5	10	0	" -Budha	2	4	10	0
" -Budha	0	11	10	0	" -Sani	1	4	20	0
" -Sani	0	6	20	0	" -Vrhas.	2	7	20	0
" -Vrhas.	1	0	20	0	" -Rahu	1	8	0	0
" -Rahu	0	8	0	0	" -Sukra	2	11	0	0
" -Sukra	1	2	0	0	" -Ravi	0	10	0	0
Ravi's total dasa period 6 yrs.					Chandra's total dasa period 15 yrs.

Mangal's dasa-antardasa division					Budha's dasa-antardasa division
	yr.	m.	day	d.		yr.	m.	day	d.
Mangal-Mangal	0	7	3	20	Budha-Budha	2	8	3	20
" -Budha	1	3	3	20	" -Sani	1	6	26	40
" -Sani	0	8	26	40	" -Vrhas.	2	11	26	40
" -Vrhas.	1	4	26	40	" -Rahu	1	10	20	0
" -Rahu	0	10	20	0	" -Sukra	3	3	20	0
" -Sukra	1	6	20	0	" -Ravi	0	11	10	0
" -Ravi	0	5	10	0	" -Chandra	2	4	10	0
" -Chandra	1	1	10	0	" -Mangal	1	3	3	20
Mangal's total dasa period 8 yrs.					Budha's total dasa period 17 yrs.

Sani's dasa-antardasa division					Vrhaspathi's dasa-antardasa division
	yr.	m.	day	d.		yr.	m.	day	d.
Sani-Sani	0	11	3	20	Vrhas.-Vrhas.	3	4	3	20
" -Vrhas.	1	9	3	20	" -Rahu	2	1	10	0
" -Rahu	1	1	10	0	" -Sukra	3	8	10	0
" -Sukra	1	11	10	0	" -Ravi	1	0	20	0
" -Ravi	0	6	20	0	" -Chandra	2	7	20	0
" -Chandra	1	4	20	0	" -Mangal	1	4	26	40
" -Mangal	0	8	26	40	" -Budha	2	11	26	40
" -Budha	1	6	26	40	" -Sani	1	9	3	20
Sani's total dasa period 10 yrs.					Vrhaspathi's total dasa period 19 yrs.

Rahu's dasa-antardasa division					Sukra's dasa-antardasa division
	yr.	m.	day	d.		yr.	m.	day	d.
Rahu-Rahu	1	4	0	0	Sukra-Sukra	4	1	0	0
" -Sukra	2	4	0	0	" -Ravi	1	2	0	0
" -Ravi	0	8	0	0	" -Chandra	2	11	0	0
" -Chandra	1	8	0	0	" -Mangal	1	6	20	0
" -Mangal	0	10	20	0	" -Budha	3	3	20	0
" -Budha	1	10	20	0	" -Sani	1	11	10	0
" -Sani	1	1	10	0	" -Vrhas.	3	8	10	0
" -Vrhas.	2	1	10	0	" -Rahu	2	4	0	0
Rahu's total dasa period 12 yrs.					Sukra's total dasa period 21 yrs.

CHAPTER—XIII

Judgment of dasa and antardasa according to Uttarakalamrita

Dasa of Ravi :

(i) If Ravi is strong and well-disposed the native shall be blessed with a son, there will be increase of knowledge and intellect, prosperity, pomp and power, gain of position, status and good luck etc.

(ii) If Ravi is unfavourable due to conjunction with or aspect by malefic or if he is an owner of an inauspicious house the following results during Ravi's dasa may be expected :

Worries and anxieties, mental or physical agony, unsuccess, demotion in or dismissal from service, loss of money, illness, displeasure of the king of the land, illness of father and other unfavourable results.

Dasa of Chandra :

(i) When Chandra is benefic, strong and well-disposed the following results may be thought of, such as ;—affinity with and happiness of mother, digging a well or pond, acquisition of landed property, flower-gardening, blessings of brahmins, gain of wealth and happiness etc.

Dasa of Mangal :

(i) If Mangal is strong and favourably posited following results are indicated, such as :—

Acquisition of land, fulfilment of desire, increase of knowledge and intellect, gain of power and status, birth of a brother etc.

(ii) If Mangal is unfavourable—illness of brother and sister, creation of enemies due to misunderstanding and misbehaviour, quarrel, dispute relating to landed property, fear from fire and weapon, defective eye sight, displeasure of the king of the land, accident etc.

Dasa of Budha :

(i) When Budha is favourable and strong the following results may be expected such as—gain of wealth, knowledge, good education, honour, good relation with relatives, success upto expectation, building of house, good name in service career etc.

(ii) If Budha is malefic and weak his dasa is not favourable. Results of his dasa are as follows :—

Living in a foreign land (now-a-days it is a boon to a person to have the opportunity of living in a foreign country. In ancient days it was a curse for him to live far away from his birth place), death of near and dear ones, misuse of intelligence, loss in business, inimical act of a business colleague, loss of money and landed property, worries and anxieties, miseries etc.

Dasa of Vrhaspathi :

(i) If Vrhaspathi is strong and favourably disposed the results of his dasa will be as follows :—

A leader of a village or city, may be first rate leader in the country, development of religious inclination, intellectual yearning, gain of wealth, name and fame, devotion to Brahmin and God etc.

(ii) If Vrhaspathi is weak and unfavourable his dasa will indicate the following :—to incur king's displeasure, mental agony, enmity of Brahmins, monetary stringency, dispute with father, disease of consumption or phthisis etc.

Dasa of Sukra :

(i) When she is favourable and strong good luck, gain of high position and status, gain of wealth in kind or coin, an attempt to establish in a higher position among religious Pandits, an expert in many kinds of arts, to perform successfully a ceremonious festival, culture of music etc.

(ii) If Sukra is unfavourable :—to be guided by wicked intellect, loss of money and property, to be addicted to carnal pleasure, to be a man of loose morals, to be addicted to wine and women, secret disease, to visit brothel etc.

Dasa of Sani :

(i) If Sani is favourable and strong :—to do sacrificial rites, increase of happiness, to be prosperous, abundance of wealth, increase of wealth by skilful means in business, gain of leadership among common men etc.

(ii) If Sani is unfavourable his dasa will prove notoriously evil, such as :—Ill health owing to attack of various sorts of diseases, liking for prohibited works, suffering from rheumatism or gout, loss of money, mental agony etc.

Dasa of Rahu :

(i) When Rahu is favourable and strong—all round progress, to get an exalted position in service, to attain spiritual knowledge, increase of power and authority etc.

(ii) If Rahu is unfavourable—fear from snake and four-footed animal, weapon and fire, to be troubled by enemies, loss of money etc.

Dasa of Ketu :

(i) When ketu is favourable—gain of money through works fraught with danger or beset with difficulties, increase of fortune with the help of a king of a foreign country, development of poetic faculties etc.

(ii) If ketu is unfavourable—to be involved in danger, unsuccess in all endeavours, to be attacked with rheumatic disease, heartache, heart-throbbing, tremoring sensation throughout the whole body, disagreement with Brahmins, to foil down any work through mistake etc.

Special rules for dasas of Rahu and Ketu :

1. If Rahu or Ketu is posited in any Trikonasthana (5th or 9th house from lagna) and is associated with or aspected by the lord of the 2nd or 7th house their dasas may be considered as marakas (death-inflicting).

2. On the other hand if any of those planets is situated in the 2nd or 7th house and aspected by or conjoined with 5th or 9th lord Rahu or Ketu may bestow long life and good wealth.

But if the 2nd or the 9th lord is associated with any natural malefic death of the native during the dasa of Rahu or Ketu is possible.

Some commentators are of opinion that if Rahu or Ketu occupying any of those trikona houses and the lord of that trikona house is conjoined with any natural malefic, in that case also death-inflicting effect of the dasa of Rahu or Ketu is possible.

3. If Rahu and Ketu are posited in a dual Rasi and also the lord of that dual sign or Rahu and Ketu are associated with a lord of kendra or kona then during dasa period of the lord of kendra or kona the native may earn name and fame, gain much wealth, pomp and power.

4. If these two planets (Rahu and Ketu) or lords of the houses where they are posited are associated with the lord of kendra or kona and at the same time they are aspected by the lord of the 6th, 8th or 12th house the native will not get any good result indicated above, on the other hand, death may overtake his mother or any one of her relatives.

5. If these two planets are posited in chara (movable) or sthira (fixed) Rasi and are related to the lord of kendra or kona their dasa will produce good luck, but if they are placed in any dusthana (6th, 8th or 12th house) or in a malefic house their dasa will not be productive of favourable results; but there are a few learned astrologers who are of opinion that under that circumstance also the native shall get favourable results. Other commentators say that Rahu and Ketu being in unfavourable houses will endanger the life of the native, even if they are associated with a natural benefic.

6. If these planets are seated in any dusthana (6th, 8th or 12th house) and are conjoined with or aspected by the lord of that dusthana their dasas are very very unfavourable.

(i) Again if these planets be posited in any dusthana and are aspected by or conjoined with any maraka planet they may be treated as death inflicting.

(ii) If they being in any dusthana are related to a lord of kendra or kona undoubtedly their dasas will be productive of some good results, but ultimately their dasas will prove very unfavourable for the native. He may be involved into accident, may be wounded by a weapon or may be drowned or he may commit suicide or may pass through miserable days.

7. If Rahu and Ketu being strong occupy a bhava and establish relation with that bhava-lord or if they are related to any other bhava lord they will produce the result of that planet with which they are connected. The intensity of such result depends on the strength or weakness of that planet with which they are connected. They will not be influenced by any other planet.

A few more instructions about judgment of dasa :

8. While explaining the results of dasa and bhukti of two planets Uttarakālāmrita codifies a few rules. They are as follows:—(i) It is imperative for an astrologer to see the positions of the lords of dasa and antardasa from lagna.

(ii) Their strength must be ascertained (strength means sthana-bala, dik-bala, drishti-bala) and relation between dasa and antardasa lords and also their relation with other planets must be looked into.

(iii) After judging all these things next thing is to see whether dasa and antardasa lords are posited in kendra from each other. If so, the results of dasa and antardasa will be favourable provided they do not own any dusthana.

(iv) The bhava i.e. the house where dasa and antardasa-lords are situated should be taken as lagna. From that position the astrologer is to see the nature of results they will give. Further it is to be examined whether the planets are capable of imparting those results at all, this may be determined according to their strength, association with or aspect by other planets. Moreover relation between dasa and antardasa-lords are also to be considered.

9. If dasa and antardasa lords do not own any dusthana or are not situated in any unfavourable place from lagna their dasa and antardasa give favourable result provided both of them are placed in kendra or kona position from each other.

(i) If they are placed in the 2nd, 3rd or 11th place from each other their dasa and antardasa will be fairly good and if they are in the 6th and 8th places from each other no beneficial result should be expected.

10. If the lord of antardasa is placed in the 6th, 8th or 12th place from dasa-lord the former is to be considered as enemy to the latter.

(i) If the antardasa-lord is posited in the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 9th, 10th and 11th place from the dasa-lord the antardasa lord gives maximum good result.

(ii) If the lord of dasa owns a malefic house and does not associate with a benefic antardasa-lord the result of their dasa and antardasa is unfavourable.

(iii) If both of them are malefic and be seated together results of their dasa and antardasa are unfavourable.

(iv) The antardasa result will be unfavourable even if the lord of the antardasa is rajayogakaraka but not conjoined with any benefic dasa-lord.

(v) If the lord of major dasa is rajayogakaraka and at the same time a 'maraka' the first part of his antardasa yields good result and the second part gives almost death-inflicting result.

11. When dasa-lord is rajayogakaraka and antardasa-lord though malefic is favourable owing to position, aspect, association and in various other considerations he is strong and yogakaraka antardasa-results under that major dasa-lord in spite of his death-inflicting character should not be considered as endangering the life of the native.

12. During the dasa and antardasa of Vṛhaspathi and Sukra or vice versa the native is expected to be prosperous, he may be engaged in religious ceremonies and gets wealth. He may be the leader of the country with pomp and power but the planets must own favourable houses and gain strength.

(i) If those two planets are situated in the 6th and 8th places or 2nd and 12th places from each other and also combined with malefic and do not acquire positional strength the native may have dispute with his wife and children, there may be scandalous relation with women, fear from the head of administration, may be attacked with apoplexy etc.

Interesting results of the dasa and antardasa of Sukra and Sani :

13. If both these planets being strong become yogakarakas, results of their dasa and antardasa are very unfavourable.

(Here strength of the planets means, the planets may be in Vargottam navamsa, in their exalted house, swakshetra or mooltrikona-house)

Under such conditions of planets the native will be as good as a beggar in their dasa and antardasa even though he is fabulously rich like Kuver.

But of these dasa and antardasa-lords if one is strong and another is weak the native will enjoy good results according to character and strength of the stronger planet.

14. If both of them be weak and are posited in the 6th, 8th or 12th house or one of them is situated in the 6th or 8th place from another, or they own any of the dusthanas and be seated in those houses or be associated with the lord of dusthana the results of their dasa and antardasa will be exceptionally favourable.

15. Dasa and antardasa of Sani and Ravi :

If these two planets qualify themselves as strong and fortified due to ownership of their own or exalted houses and at the same time occupy any kendra or kona, or they are owners of any kendra and kona the native is highly fortunate and is favoured by the king of the land (now-a-days kingship is abolished so it should be construed as Head of the State) the native earns sufficient money during the dasa and antardasa of Ravi and Sani or Sani and Ravi.

If both of them are unfavourable their dasa and antardasa will be maliciously evil.

16. Dasa and antardasa of Vrhaspathi and Mangal :

Similarly if these two planets are strong and occupy any kendra or kona or they are owners of any kendra or kona and be yogakarakas and aspected by or combined with any favourable bhava-lord they confer on the native power, pomp and wealth and he passes his days happily with his wife and children, otherwise (i.e. if they are unfavourable) the results of their dasa and antardasa are very bad.

Dasa and antardasa of Vrhaspathi and Budha :

Here also the same rule is applicable, if they are strong and well-disposed and are placed in a kendra or kona from each other their dasa and antardasa will produce favourable result. The native may be successful in business enterprises, his academic career will be good, and his family life will be peaceful and he shall pass his days happily.

Similar will be results of dasas and antardasas of Sukra and Budha, Vrhaspathi and Ravi, and Vrhaspathi and Chandra,

Maharshi Parasara's instructions about judgment of Dasa and Antardasa

1. Maharshi Parasara laid down a few rules to assume an antardasa-lord as benefic or malefic under certain conditions. These rules may be treated as hints in rendering proper and accurate judgment of dasa and antardasa-results. But basic rules of determining favourable or unfavourable lord of a house according to lagna as noted down earlier must not be forgotten or misused:

Determination of favourable antardasa :

1. If lagnapathi is posited in his own navamsa, dwadasamsa, or drekkan his antardasa is favourable.

2. When lagnapathi is posited in his own or friendly 'trimsamsa', friendly navamsa or dwadasamsa, or he is situated in the navamsa or dwadasamsa of the 5th lord his antardasa is favourable.

3. The planet who is posited in the navamsa or dwadasamsa of the 4th or 9th lord produces favourable results in his antardasa.

4. The lagnapathi when posited in the navamsa, dwadasamsa, or drekkan of the lord of the sign where he (lagnapathi) is situated will do good to the native in his antardasa.

Similar favourable result is possible if lagnapathi is situated in the friendly navamsa, dwadasamsa or drekkan of the lord of the sign where lagnapathi is posited.

Unfavourable antardasa :

1. The antardasas of the lords of the 6th, 8th and 12th houses are productive of evil results and miseries.

2. If the lords of the 6th, 1st and marakasthanas (2nd & 7th places) sit together in a house the antardasa of the 6th lord is very unfavourable.

3. Even if the 6th lord and lagnapathi together be conjoined with Chandra in Sadavarga the native suffers from indigestion and other stomach-trouble in the antardasa of the 6th lord. Over and above he has fear from water.

4. If lagnapathi and the lord of the 6th house together are combined with Budha in Sadavarga the native suffers from rheumatism or gout, phlegmatic ailments and physical inertia during the antardasa of the 6th lord.

5. If the aforesaid planets together are associated with Vrhspathi in Sadavarga the native is attacked with many kinds of diseases during the antardasa of the 6th lord.

6. If those two planets (viz., lagnapathi and the lord of the 6th house) are combined with Sukra or Sani in Sadavarga the native falls ill due to excessive co-habitation with women, during the antardasa of the 6th lord.

7. Even if Sani is favourable in Sadavarga the native cannot escape this unfavourable result.

8. If it is Mangal conjoined with lagnapathi and the lord of the 6th house in Sadavarga during the antardasa of the 6th lord the native is attacked with either rheumatism or typhoid fever.

Laghu Parasari has directed to look into 9 stages or avasthas of a planet before judging the dasa and antardasa.

These 9 stages are as follows :—

1. When a planet is in the house of exaltation it is the stage of "dipta" (blazing).
2. When a planet is in his own house it is the stage of "swastha" (healthy).
3. When a planet is in the most friendly house it is the stage of "Pramudita" (cheerful).
4. When a planet is in a friendly house it is the stage of "Santa" (peaceful).
5. When a planet is in the neutral house it is the stage of "dina" (distressed).

When a planet is in an enemy house it is the stage of "atidookshita" (very afflicted).

7. When a planet is conjoined with a malefic it is the stage of "bikala" (physically handicapped).
8. When a planet is situated in the house of a malefic it is the stage of khala (wicked).
9. When a planet is associated with sun or eclipsed by sun's rays it is the stage of kupita (angry).

Results of dasa and antardasas of planets of different stages :

1. During the dasa and antardasa of a 'dipta' planet the native becomes very active and energetic, there is increase of wealth, courage and power, possession of conveyance, gain of friends, influence, name and fame and authority etc.

2. During the dasa and antardasa of "swastha" planet results are almost the same as before but intensity of good effect is slightly less than the 'dipta' planet's dasa and antardasa.

3. During the dasa and antardasa of a 'pramudita' planet results are as follows :—gain of money, land, perfumes, clothes and ornaments etc. The native becomes sober and he takes delight in listening and reading the puranas.

4. During the dasa and antardasa of a 'santa' planet the native acquires knowledge from religious scriptures and becomes highly educated and learned, he gets royal reception and wealth and happiness.

The first four stages of planets noted above are favourable. Of these four stages result of dasa-antardasa of 'Pramudita' planet is more favourable than 'santa' planet's dasa-antardasa.

Results of 'swastha' planets' dasa-antardasa is more favourable than Pramudita and 'dipta' planet's dasa-antardasa is more favourable than 'swastha' planet's dasa-antardasa.

5. During the dasa and antardasa of a 'dina' planet—dislodgement from residence or place of occupation, dispute with and separation from friend, bodily affliction due to prolonged illness.

6. Dasa and antardasa of 'ati-dookshita' planet—suffering from too much miseries, fear from king and thief, friendlessness, sojourn to a foreign land.

7. Dasa and antardasa of 'bikala' planet—physical inertia, bad health, loss of friends, conveyance and clothings, bad time of native's wife and children, fear from thief etc.

8. Dasa and antardasa of a 'khala' planet—quarrel, death of a friend and a superior person, loss of mental peace due to activities of enemies, loss of wealth and land, to be defamed by the native's own men.

9. Dasa and antardasa of 'kupita' planet—to be engaged in sinful acts, bad results regarding education and money, bad time for wife and children, loss of friends.

Here also results of 'dookshita' planet is worse than 'dina' planet:

„	„	bikala	„	„	„	„	'dookshita' planet
„	„	khala	„	„	„	„	'bikala' planet
„	„	kupita	„	„	„	„	'bikala' planet

Results of Mahadasa and Antardasa

(According to Sarvartha Chintamani)

General Rules : When planets are in their exalted house, attain exalted navamsa, or posited in their own house results of their Mahadasa vis-a-vis dasa and antardasa are favourable.

Ravi's mahadasa—When Ravi is in 10 degree in Mesa rasi he is in his highest exalted point. In his mahadasa the native may get Government service, he may be favoured and honoured by Government. There is possibility of increase of wealth and cattle.

There are possibilities of unfavourable results too, such as dispute and quarrel with kith and kin, being disgusted the native may leave his houseland, moral degradation and enmity with others.

When Ravi is 'Arohi' ('Arohi' means ascending)—Ravi's maximum debilitated point is 10 degree in Tula rasi. When he goes beyond 10 degree he is 'Arohi', 'Arohi' (ascending) Ravi in his dasa will give the native name and fame, luck will favour him, besides he will earn money in exchange of agricultural products. Though technically an ascending planet Ravi is said to be able to confer these good results. In practical instance planets when ascending can not impart favourable results in all cases unless they are otherwise strong. The first part of the dasa of an ascending planet can not give favourable results but the second part is much better than the first part.

When Ravi is debilitated—The native shall incur displeasure of the king (head of the state) and he sustains loss of money and prestige. Other results are—bereavement, miseries, worries, loss of superior persons or wife and children, dislodgement from home-stead, dispute with others.

Ravi will give similar results if he is debilitated in navamsa chart. Even if exalted Ravi in the natal chart be posited in the house of debilitation in the navamsa chart he gives unfavourable results in the second part of the dasa.

Ravi's antardasa under Ravi's mahadasa—If Ravi is strong during his antardasa the native shall get royal favour, he will succeed in all his endeavours. If Ravi is weak the results will be unfavourable such as:—The native shall wander through wild and hilly countries, he shall have disappointing results in all enterprises and lose name and fame.

Chandra's antardasa under Ravi's dasa—When Chandra has her antardasa during the progress of Ravi's mahadasa the native shall earn money through agricultural pursuits, he will vanquish his enemies, overcome his miseries, and get more friends.

The native will get those favourable results under the following conditions :

(a) Chandra is positionally strong, (b) She is waxing, (c) is posited in a benefic rasi, and (d) aspected by or conjoined with a benefic. If it is otherwise—that is, if Chandra is weak positionally, either in birth or navamsa chart, aspected by or associated with a malefic the results of her antardasa will be unfavourable. The native may be attacked with cough and cold, consumption, indigestion, disease arising from water, he shall lose mental peace and suffer from miseries.

According to Parasari Hora—If Chandra is situated in dusthana the native shall suffer from mental agony, possibility of dislodgement from his permanent house, dispute and quarrel with relatives, he may suffer from painful micturition and he may have fear from king and thief.

If benefic Chandra is situated in the 9th, 11th or in any kendra during Chandra's antardasa (or bhukti) the native shall enjoy his days happily, shall make new friends, shall get money, position and status. He shall be blessed with children, grand children etc. If Chandra is the lord of the 2nd or 7th place from lagna and is posited in any dusthana during Chandra's antardasa death of the native may be possible.

Mangal's antardasa under Ravi's Mahadasa—First and foremost thing is to look after is whether Mangal is strong, yogakaraka and posited in kendra or kona from Ravi, and he is not posited in any dusthana from lagna. Then Mangal will produce very good results, such as,—the native shall acquire landed property, may build a house of his own, he shall be appreciated by all for his valour, and energetic and manly performances. As a yogakaraka Mangal in his antardasa may help the native attain a very high position, earn good money and name and fame. Such a strong and yogakaraka Mangal may make the native a leader of the country during his antardasa.

If Mangal is weak, posited in a dusthana, aspected by or in any other way related with a malefic the native may suffer from wounds and various diseases, such as—dysentery, piles, or ailments effected by poisonous drugs. He may have to court imprisonment, may have quarrel with his brother or sister and may lose his service.

Rahu's antardasa under Ravi's Mahadasa—Rahu's antardasa will be favourable under the following conditions :—

(i) If he is well-disposed in the natal chart and also posited in favourable navamsa, and associated with a favourable planet, (ii) if he occupies any upachayasthana (3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th houses) or being in any kendra he is associated with lord of the 5th or 9th houses, or being in a kona he is associated with lord of any kendra.

Under these circumstances if Rahu is not situated in 6th, 8th or 12th place from Ravi the native, during the antardasa of Rahu shall get opportunity to prosper brilliantly, he shall get royal favour, shall be appreciated by all for his glorious deeds. The antardasa of a favourable Rahu will bring fortune to the native and his house will look bright due to performances of ceremonious festivals.

Rahu when weak—If Rahu is weak or posited in any dusthana from Ravi, following unfavourable results are possible, such as creation of new enemies on account of misdeeds of the native, loss of money and accumulated wealth, the native may have to face various troubles, there may be danger from poison and snake, fear from thief, possibility of destruction of domestic cattle, house and land. The native shall have strong desire to appease sensual pleasure. He may be attacked with strong diarrhoea, may suffer from chronic disease due to enlargement of spleen, abdominal tumour or consumption etc.

If weak Rahu is posited in the 2nd or 7th place from lagna or he is combined with the lord of the 2nd or 7th place there is danger of accidental death or snake-bite.

Vrhaspathi's antardasa under Ravi's Mahadasa—Vrhaspathi is the only planet out of 9, who can do immense good to the native if he is well-disposed, strong, and posited in kendra or kona from the lord of Mahadasa.

When is Vrhaspathi strong? He is considered as strong when he occupies his own house, house of exaltation, mooltrikona house or is posited in exalted or friendly navamsa, or aspected by or conjoined with a friendly planet. If strong Vrhaspathi is situated in kendra or kona from lagna or Ravi or from both, the results of Vrhaspathi's antardasa under the major period of Ravi will be favourable. The native shall earn good money, shall take pleasure to worship gods and adore brahmins. He shall attain success in all works with the help of the state. During the progress of Vrhaspathi's antardasa there is possibility of marriage and birth of a son.

If Vrhaspathi owns the 9th or 10th house the native shall attain a very high position and shall make friends with men of high social standing. He shall be very lucky and shall get respect and honour from all. He may visit holy shrines and shall be in the company of pious and religious-minded men.

Weak Vrhaspathi when posited in the 6th, 8th and 12th place from Ravi—His antardasa will be very unfavourable, such as :—the native may fall very badly ill, may be attacked with indigestion, stomach-ache, consumptive disease, disease in ears; his children may fall ill, he may be a victim of wrath of the head of the state, may sustain loss of wealth due to sinful acts.

Sani's antardasa under Ravi's Mahadasa—Readers are requested first to go through the results contemplated by the author of Uttarakalamrita, such as, the native may fall badly ill, may be attacked with stomach-ache, indigestion, consumptive disease, disease of the ear, native's children too may fall ill, he may be a victim of wrath of the head of the state, loss of wealth due to sinful acts etc. In Phaladipika the author mentioned only malefic results to be enjoyed by the native but in Parasari Hora the results are as follows :—

If Sani is in kendra or kona position, there is possibility of destruction of enemies and gain of little money. The native, according to that book shall enjoy his days very happily. If Sani is situated in the house of exaltation, friendly house or his own house or accompanied by a friend, there is possibility of marriage-ceremony in his house, he gets royal favour and earns name and fame. The author further says that if Sani is weak and is posited in any dusthana the native shall sustain loss of money, may be hard hit due to excessive expenditure, may lose his belongings, he may be attacked with various diseases, such as, diarrhoea, rheumatism, colic pain, and phlegmatic ailments. There is possibility of sudden quarrel with his own kinsmen or any other person, even the native may have to court imprisonment.

Uttarakalamrita endorses the view of Maharshi Parasara but has not stated the results in detail. The author only said that the native shall be favoured by the king (i.e. Head of the State) and he shall be lucky if Sani and Ravi are situated in their exalted houses or own houses etc. (Even if the planets are well-placed in navamsa chakra beneficial result will be possible). But if these two planets are weak and are placed in an unfavourable house the native will enjoy very unfavourable result.

Dasa and antardasa of Vrhaspathi and Mangal—When Vrhaspathi and Mangal acquire strength and be placed in kendra and kona, or they may own any kendra or kona house and related to each other and be yogakarakas, or they being lords of favourable houses are conjoined with or aspected by benefics during their dasa and antardasa the native may be endowed with very many favourable results, such as, earning much wealth, exercising authority over many, be dignified etc. He is happy with his wife and children. If the planets are ill-disposed, weak and have other faults the results will be the reverse.

Dasa and antardasa of Vrhaspathi and Budha : In case of these two planets if they are strong, well-disposed, be placed in kendra or kona, or qualify themselves as favourable the native gets good education, learned friends, prosperity in business and be happy. Otherwise results will be very unfavourable.

CHAPTER XIV

RAJAYOGAS

Raja means king, yoga means relation by combination, aspect, exchange of houses etc. So, Rajayoga should literarily signify a yoga that makes a person king. But truly speaking the word Rajayoga does not carry any such meaning. It is needless to mention here that the term denotes a very beneficial relation between one planet with another or relation between lords of different bhavas that may confer fortune, money, prestige, social status, pomp and power.

In Parasari Hora there are four kinds of Rajayogas. They are described as hereunder :—

Rajayoga is produced—

1. When lord of a kendra is related to the lord of a kona (We already know that there are four kendras and three konas, viz., lagna, the 4th, the 7th and the 10th houses or bhavas are four kendras. Again lagna, the 5th and the 9th houses are konas). Lagna is both a kendra and a kona.

Formation of this auspicious yoga is subject to a few conditions which will be explained one by one.

Relation between lords of kendra and kona will be very effective when

(a) The two planets exchange their houses. This is the major Rajayoga. Please note that excepting Ravi and Chandra each planet owns two houses. Say, Lagna is in Mithune, the 4th lord (who himself is Lagnadhipathi) is in Tula, the 5th house and the lord of the 5th house Sukra occupies the 4th. So, there is an exchange of houses between lord of the 4th house (a kendra) and the lord of the 5th (a kona). Now Budha owns Mithuna and Kanya, and Sukra, the lord of Tula and Vrsa. If Budha is in Vrsa and Sukra is in Mithuna, the Rajayoga is not produced as it is an exchange of houses between Lagna-lord and the lord of the 12th house which is neither a kendra nor a kona.

(b) If one yogakaraka planet is seated in the house owned by another yogakaraka planet and the latter is aspected by the former and there is no aspect of the latter planet on the former Rajayoga is produced. As for instance, Mangal is posited in Kumbha the house of Sani being in Kanya, here Mangal occupying Sani's house aspects Sani who has no aspect on Mangal. Of these two planets one must be the lord of a kendra the other the lord of a kona.

(c) It will be a Rajayoga when there is mutual aspect between kendrapathi and konapathi.

(d) When kendrapathi and konapathi are associated with one another it will also be a Rajayoga. Further, when these two are posited in one varga Rajayoga will be the result.

Any of these four kinds of Rajayogas may do good to the native during the dasa and antardasa of yogakaraka planets.

When Rajayoga is considered defunct ?

1. If a natural benefic is the lord of a kendrasthana (i.e. 4th, 7th, 10th & the 1st) that benefic planet becomes a pāpa (malefic). When a natural malefic is the lord of any kendra he is considered as a favourable planet.

Vrhaspathi, Sukra, waxing Moon and Budha when are not associated with any malefic are naturally beneficial planets. If these planets are lords of any kendra they are taken to be as malefics.

2. Sani, Ravi, Mangal, waning Moon and pāpa Budha (when he is associated with any malefic) are natural malefics. They are considered as favourable due to ownership of any kendra.

3. Lords of the 3rd, 6th and 11th are also pāpa (malefic) planets. Of these three lords, the 11th lord is the most powerful malefic and the 6th lord is more powerful than the 3rd.

4. The lords of the 2nd and the 12th have peculiar role to play. They give the effect of those lords of bhavas with whom they are related by way of combination with or aspect by anyone of the four rajayoga-karakas referred to above. Their independent function is not acknowledged by learned astrologers. They are so to say neutral planets neither favourable nor unfavourable. Each planet excepting Ravi and Chandra owns two houses. Of these two houses one may be any one of the 2nd and the 11th and other may be a kendra or kona. If these lords are not related to any other planet, the result good or bad may be determined according to their position. If they are in malefic houses (such as 6th, 8th or 12th place) their result will be unfavourable, again if they are in beneficial houses good will be the result.

Strength of favourable or unfavourable results of the 2nd and the 12th lords may be judged through those planets with whom the former planets are attached by combination, aspect or by any other relationship. In case of Ravi and Chandra effectiveness of good or bad result may be judged from their relation with other bhava-lords.

5. When a planet owns a kendra and also any one of the 3rd, 6th and 11th houses his relation with the lord of the konapathi will not produce any Rajayoga. Vrhaspathi and Sukra being naturally most auspicious planets are the strongest malefics due to their ownership of any kendra. Of these two planets Vrhaspathi is more malefic than Sukra who is more unfavourable than beneficial Budha and Budha is more unfavourable than Chandra.

Therefore Vrhaspathi and Sukra have priority over all other marakas when they are lords of the 2nd or 7th houses or both. This is the reason why for the native of Mesa lagna Sukra is said to be the strongest maraka.

If a planet is the lord of lagna and the 8th house he will not be considered as a pāpa because of his lordship of lagna. Mangal of Mesa lagna-native therefore is not a pāpa and so also the case with Sukra of Tula lagna-native.

For all practical purposes Sukra of Tula lagna is not taken to be a favourable planet by learned astrologers.

6. The lord of the 5th and 9th houses are favourable but Sukra of Kanya lagna and Vrhaspathi of Vrschika lagna do not give auspicious result during their dasa and antardasa due to their lordship of the 2nd house which is a marakasthan. This is explained elaborately later on. This is also to be noted that none of the standard books on Astrology has mentioned anything like that. But this is our practical experience, and we dare claim that their unfortunate result in many horoscopes was a reality.

7. If the 9th and 10th lords become inauspicious due to their ownership of any dusthana 3rd, 6th, 8th, 11th, or 12th houses they will be giving favourable result when they exchange their houses, in other words, if the 9th lord occupies the 10th house and the 10th lord is in the 9th.

8. When lagnapathi and dhanapathi (lord of the dhana—2nd house) are related to each other by one of the 4 kinds of relationship it is a wealth-giving yoga.

(i) Relationship between 4th and 5th lords—it makes a person a minister or an advisor to any institution.

(ii) Relationship between 2nd and 3rd lords—It makes a person a Government officer.

(iii) Relationship between 5th and 6th lords—The person will be engaged in dangerous activities. The birth Chart of "Shivaji" may be consulted.

(iv) Relationship between 10th and 11th lords—The person having such a yoga may acquire land, money etc.

(v) Relationship between Atmakaraka planet and lagna—It is one of the best "Rajayogas" when positioned in one rasi, that makes a man very fortunate.

(vi) Relationship between 5th lord & Putrakaraka—It may make a man intelligent and wealthy. (Maharsi Parasara did not mention the nature of the result).

(vii) When atmakaraka lagna is situated in a kendra from lagna, or atmakaraka planet is situated in any kendra or kona from lagna or from Chandra or the lord of the rasi where Chandra is posited—all these yogas make a man prosperous, popular and wealthy.

9. Maharaja yoga :—

When the lord of lagna or the 7th place occupying lagna, or the 7th house is related to atmakaraka and putrakaraka planet or the latter is aspected by either lagna lord or the lord of the 7th house and the atmakaraka and putrakaraka are aspected by the lord of the 5th house, the native enjoys power, pomp and respect from many.

10. If lagna and atmakaraka planet are situated in the 5th or 7th place from the 9th lord it is a Rajayoga that makes a man prosperous ; he owns many kinds of conveyances and becomes a wealthy person.

11. If the 2nd, 4th and 5th places from atmakaraka planet are occupied by benefics and 3rd and 6th places by malefics the native flourishes in his career, he gets pomp and power in abundance.

If those places are occupied by both benefic and malefic planets the result may not be excellent but his career may be better than average men.

12. If Sukra is placed in the 5th place from either atmakaraka planet, Arudha-lagnapada or Jata-lagna and she is conjoined with or aspected by Vrhaspathi or Chandra the native is born of a royal family or he is intimately related to the king of the land.

13. It is one of the best Rajayogas when Ravi and other planets have aspect on Janma lagna, Hora lagna and Ghati lagna. If those three lagnas are aspected by one planet the native becomes prosperous just like a king.

[The process of finding out ghati lagna :—The jatadanda and pala is to be divided by 12. The remainder danda and pala are to be converted into Rasi and amsa. Each danda is equal to one rasi, every two palas are equal to 1 amsa, and two bipalas are equal to 1 kala. The newly found rasi, amsa and kala are to be added to true lagnasphuta. The result will be ghati lagna. There will be no change of the positions of planets of the jata-chakra.]

14. If an exalted planet casts his aspect over janma lagna, Hora lagna and ghati-lagna or that planet aspects any one of these three lagnas the native becomes the head of the society and a top-man in the institution he serves.

If the planet instead of being in his house of exaltation occupies his own house or own navamsa and aspects on any two lagnas of the aforesaid three lagnas the native becomes one of the top men of the society or of the institution he serves.

15. If arudha-lagna being associated with Chandra is placed in beneficial house and the 2nd place from arudha-lagna is occupied by Vrhaspathi or arudha-lagna when placed in a beneficial house is associated with or aspected by an exalted planet it signifies a great Rajayoga.

Even if Chandra alone is associated with arudha-lagna the native earns name and fame.

16. If the lagna, 2nd and 4th places from lagna are occupied by benefic planets and malefic planet or planets are situated in the 3rd place from lagna the native becomes a king or a prosperous man like a king.

17. The planet even if he is debilitated becomes significator of Rajayoga if he aspects the lagna.

18. If natural beneficial planets own 6th and 8th places and are not combined with any other planet and aspect lagna they are significators of Rajayoga.

[The rules 17 and 18 are contradictory to each other. Rule no. 17 says that any planet even if he is posited in the house of debilitation or owns a dusthana will be a yogakaraka. Rule no. 18 says when natural benefics owning 6th and 8th places aspect the lagna they will be yogakaraka if they are not associated with any other planets. Experience will be proper guide in this matter. I am of the opinion that a benefic planet even if he owns a dusthana will give favourable result if that planet aspects lagna ; but in case of a malefic planet he (the planet) aspecting the lagna does not give favourable result if he owns any one of the 6th, 8th and 12th places.]

19. A planet or planets become "Raja-yogakaraka" under the following conditions :—

- (i) If the 5th place from Chara lagna is aspected by a planet.
- (ii) If the 9th place from Sthira lagna is aspected by a planet.
- (iii) If the 10th place from Dwatyaka lagna is aspected by a planet.

The aspecting planet or planets are Raja-yogakarakas.

(Some astrologers are of opinion, in case of Dwatyaka lagna planets aspecting any kendra (4th, 7th, 10th and 1st) will be Rajayogakarakas.)

20. If a powerful planet occupies the 4th place from lagna he will be a Rajayogakaraka, but if that 4th house falls in dwatyaka rasi the very best Rajayoga result is expected, if the 4th house falls in sthira rasi the result will be better and in case of 4th place being a chara rasi the result will be good.

This means Sthira rasi is better than Chara rasi and Dwatyaka rasi is better than sthira rasi.

21. If a planet occupying 4th or 11th place aspects lagna or dhana bhava—2nd place from lagna—the native will possess conveyances and becomes happy.

Only this yoga will make him a moneyed man if his birth-chart does not contain any other Rajayoga.

This yoga will be highly effective in case of Karkata, Dhanu and Mina lagnas.

In case of Karkata lagna if Sani occupies Tula rasi (4th place from lagna) or Vrsa rasi (11th place from lagna) aspect of Sani upon lagna is possible, hence, Sani is yogakaraka. Mangal in Vrsa rasi also will be a yogakaraka as his aspect falls on the 2nd place from the 11th house.

In case of Dhanu lagna also Sani will be Rajayogakaraka if he is posited in the 4th or 11th house. Mangal also will be yogakaraka being in the 11th house from Dhanu lagna.

In case of Mina lagna both Sani and Mangal will be Rajayogakaraka.

22. Sukha (happiness) yoga :—The native will enjoy material happiness if the 4th lord from lagna or atmakaraka lagna casts his aspect on Jata lagna or atmakaraka planet.

23. If atmakaraka and amatyakaraka planets are combined with or aspected by the 10th lord or the 10th lord is aspected by amatyakaraka planet the native will become a highly placed officer under Govt. of the land.

24. If the atmakaraka planet being conjoined with or aspected by the 9th lord is situated in kendra or kona place from lagna the native becomes a minister.

25. If the rasi-pathi (the lord of the rasi where Chandra is situated in the natal chart) becomes the atmakaraka, being conjoined with a benefic he is posited in lagna the native becomes a minister in old age.

26. The native becomes an illustrious personality and all his endeavours will be successful if atmakaraka planet or Jata-lagna is placed in the 7th or 9th place from the 5th lord.

27. If the bhagyarudhapada (9th pada or bhagyapada) falls in Jata-lagna and the 9th pada (bhagyarudhapada) is in the 9th place from the sign where atmakaraka planet is posited or from the lord of the sign (rasi) where 9th pada is situated configuration of Planets as such will give favourable effect of Rajayoga in dasa and antardasa of that yogakaraka planet or during the dasa and antardasa of other rajayogakaraka or favourable planets.

28. If the lord of the 11th house from lagna unaspected by any malefic is situated in the 11th house and atmakaraka planet is conjoined with a benefic the native acquires wealth through the grace of the king of the land.

29. If Chandra and Sukra jointly are situated in the 4th place from atmakaraka planet the native upto the last day of his life enjoys happiness, wealth, honour and prestige. He is highly placed in society he lives in and is held in high-esteem by others.

Only this yoga is sufficient to make him happy.

30. If atmakaraka planet being in his mooltrikona house is associated with the 5th lord from lagna the native acquires name and fame.

31. If the 9th lord being aspected by or conjoined with atmakaraka planet is placed in the 9th or 11th house and 5th lord is posited in the 5th place the native acquires as much wealth as he likes.

One condition in this yoga must be fulfilled. It is that, both 5th and 9th lords must be either in conjunction with or aspected by the atmakaraka planet.

Some of the commentators are of opinion that of the two lords of the 5th and 9th houses if one is in conjunction with and the other is aspected by the atmakaraka planet this yoga will be fruitful.

32. The famous author, the great Baraha Mihir illustrated a few yogas in his Brihat-Jataka. Those who have any one of such yogas become kings or as prosperous as a king. The yogas are as follows :—

(i) If Sani and Chandra are posited in their houses of exaltation, lagna rises in any one of Tula and Vrsa rasi, Ravi and Budha are in the 6th place from lagna, and Sukra, Mangal and Vrhspathi are seated in Tula, Mesa and Karkata rasis respectively the native becomes a king or a prosperous man like a king.

There is an astronomical error in this yoga. For, if lagna rises in Vrsa the yoga is quite all right, but in case of Tula-lagna when Ravi and Budha are posited in the 6th place i.e. in Mina Rasi Sukra cannot be placed in Tula.

So, astrological savants are of opinion that in the Zodiacal chart the 6th house was meant by the author to be Kanya rasi (not 6th house from lagna of the birth chart) which is the sixth place from the first rasi Mesa.

(ii) If lagna rises in Makar rasi where there are Sani and Mangal, and Ravi and Chandra are situated in the 12th place from lagna the native becomes a king.

(iii) Similarly, when Chandra and Mangal are in Makar-lagna and Ravi in the 12th place from lagna the same result may be prophesied.

(iv) If Ravi, Chandra and Mangal are situated in Mesa lagna and Vrhastpathi is in Dhanu Rasi or Sani and Chandra are posited in the 7th place from Mesa lagna and Vrhastpathi in Dhanu rasi the native becomes a king.

(v) In case of Vrsa-lagna if Chandra occupies lagna, Ravi in the 4th place, Vrhastpathi in the 7th place and Sani is situated in the 10th house from lagna the native is sure to become a king.

(vi) In case of Kanya lagna if Budha and Sukra are placed in lagna, Vrhastpathi and Chandra occupy Dhanu rasi and 5th house is occupied by Sani and Mangal the native becomes a king.

(vii) If lagna is occupied by Budha and Sukra, Mangal and Vrhastpathi are situated in Makar rasi and Chandra is in Dhanu rasi the native becomes a king. This is really a very favourable yoga if lagna rises in any rasi of the Zodiac and planets are placed in different houses as directed by the great author ; but of all lagnas in case of Mina lagna configuration of planets as stated above will signify the best rajayoga.

(viii) If Chandra is associated with Mina lagna, Sani in Kumbha rasi, Mangal in Makar and Ravi in Sinha rasi the native becomes a very powerful king and at the same time he is a man of strong moral character.

(ix) In case of Mesa lagna if Mangal is seated in lagna and Vrhastpathi is in Karkata rasi or if lagna rises in Karkata with Vrhastpathi in lagna and Mangal is posited in Mesa rasi the native becomes a king of strong moral character and commands great power.

This is to be noted that in both the lagnas the lord of the 9th house is powerful. In case of Karkata lagna both the lords of luck and tenth houses are powerful. Ninth house signifies moral character, virtue etc. So, when the 9th lord is powerfully posited in a favourable place from lagna and lagna is not afflicted the native is expected to be possessing strict moral sense. Hence, the yoga is stated to be a sign of strong moral character.

(x) In case of Karkata lagna if Vrhastpathi is posited in lagna, Chandra, Budha and Sukra in the 11th house and Ravi is situated in Mesa rasi the native becomes a very powerful king.

Commentators are of opinion that whatever may be the positions of other planets this yoga shall never fail.

(xi) If powerful Budha is situated in lagna, natural benefics (Vrhaspathi and Sukra) are in the 9th house and remaining planets are posited in upachayasthanas (3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th house) the native born in a royal family becomes a benevolent and pious king.

Here also, Sukra is to be omitted in this yoga, as he cannot be placed in the 9th house if Budha is situated in lagna. Here natural benefics may mean Vrhaspathi and waxing moon and other remaining planets are to be placed in upachayastlanas and Sukra may be posited in the 3rd house which is also a upachayasthanas.

Some commentators are of opinion that if natural benefics occupy the 4th house instead of the 9th the yoga will also be fruitful. If the native is not born in a royal family he may not be a king but he will be a benevolent, wealthy and powerful man.

(xii) In Vrsa lagna if Chandra is in lagna, Vrhaspathi in the 2nd, Sani in the 6th and the remaining planets are posited in the 11th house the native becomes a king.

(xiii) If 4th house from lagna is occupied by Vrhaspathi, 10th house by Ravi and Chandra, Sani is in lagna and other planets are posited in the 11th place from lagna the native becomes a king.

One very important thing in this yoga is to be noted that whatever may be the lagna rasi there will be "Jeeva yoga" or "Gajakesari yoga" and wealth-giving planets in case of almost all lagnas will either be yogakarakas or they will be situated in the 11th place from lagna.

When the yogas stated above will be fruitful ?

The author of Brihat-Jataka pointed out that when the yoga-karaka planet or planets are powerfully posited in lagna or the 10th house the native will enjoy rajayoga result during the dasa-antardasa of those planets.

In case the lagna or the 10th house remains unoccupied by any planet the strongest among rajayogakarakas planets may give beneficial result during their favourable transit.

(xiv) If lagna rises in the houses owned by Budha, Vrhaspathi or Sukra and any one of these planets are situated in lagna, Sani in the 7th house and Ravi occupies the 10th place from lagna the native enjoys happiness all through his life.

33. (i) When all the planets being in the cardinal (movable) signs are situated in kendra-position from lagna the native becomes a wealthy man but he will be a dishonest person and reside in a foreign land. The yoga is termed as Rajju yoga.

(ii) When all the planets being in fixed signs are situated in kendra positions from lagna the native shall be a very rich man with a strong sense of self-respect.

The yoga is termed as Musul yoga.

(iii) Similarly in case of the planets being in dual sign (Dwatyaka rasi) and in the kendra positions from lagna the native may be physically crippled but he will be intelligent, tactful and wealthy.

34. If benefic and malefic planets are placed in all the four kendras the yoga is termed as Kamal yoga. If any kendra is occupied by only malefic the yoga will not be disturbed.

He who has Kamal yoga in his birth-chart becomes illustrious, talented, famous and happy.

Sri Rama Chandra had Kamal yoga in his chart.

35. When all the planets are posited in Panafar (2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th places) or Apoklima houses (3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th houses) the native keeps good health all through his life, he knows the tact of accumulating money and becomes a miser.

36. If from the beginning of lagna upto 7th place each house is occupied by planets the native becomes a famous man no doubt but he is miserly and enjoys unsteady fortune. The yoga is called "Nou yoga".

When a native has sense of decency or aestheticism ?

37. (i) When Chandra is posited in apoklima place (3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th houses) from Ravi, it is named as "Baristha yoga".

(ii) When Chandra is situated in Panafar (2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th places).

(iii) When Chandra is in kendra from Ravi.

Of these three yogas—the 1st one is the best, the 2nd one is the next best and the 3rd one is the weakest. Besides the native's sense of decency the yoga makes a man great in many spheres of life. See birth charts of Einstein, Rajendra

Prasad, Jagadish Chandra Bose, Rabindra Nath Tagore, Balgangadhar Tilak etc.

All these great men's horoscopes contain this Baristha yoga. In this connection, Uttarakalamrita a notable book on astrology said to have been written by Mahakavi Kalidasa has given a very sure and certain clue for testing the effectiveness of Baristha yoga. According to this book if Chandra is posited in his own, friendly or exalted navamsa and conjoined with or aspected by either Sukra or Vṛhaspathi the yoga will be very brilliantly effective.

Of course, Uttarakalamrita said separately in rajayoga chapter that if Chandra is situated in his own, friendly or exalted navamsa and at the same time conjoined with or aspected by Vṛhaspathi or Sukra the native becomes omniscient, highly meritorious and benevolent. He is also a man of strong personality.

38. Adhi Yoga :—If Budha, Vṛhaspathi and Sukra—these three benefics are situated in the 6th, 7th and 8th places from Chandra it is termed as Adhi yoga. This is a highly efficacious yoga which gives a man good health, high education, wealth, position, status and happiness. According to Jataka Parijat it is named as Chandradhi yoga.

The benefic planets may sit together in only one of those houses or they may occupy separately all those three houses.

All the authoritative books agree with Bṛihat-Jataka about the efficacy of Adhiyoga. But some commentators of Jataka-Parijat (a dependable book on astrology) said that if the 7th place from Chandra is occupied by Ravi the yoga may not be as fruitful as it should be.

Kalyan Varma, renowned author of Saravali said that if those benefic planets are not combust or not associated with malefic planets Adhiyoga will be effective.

Uttarakalamrita says that if those benefic planets are accompanied by unfavourable planets Adhiyoga shall not impart favourable result.

Many astrologers of high repute do not agree with Uttarakalamrita. Our experience is that even partial adhiyogas in many cases are found to be fruitful. Readers may see the horoscopes of Deshabandhu Chittaranjan Das, Rajendra Prasad, the first President of India, Swami Sivananda, the great disciple of Ramakrishna etc. In their horoscopes those benefic planets are associated with malefic planets too.

Maharshi Parasara has cited "Lagnadhi yoga" in the following manner.

Lagnadhi yoga :—If benefic planets are situated in the 6th, 7th or 8th houses from lagna it will be named as Lagnadhi yoga.

So, we may differentiate the two yogas by calling the first one as Chandradhi yoga and the second one as Lagnadhi yoga.

39. Sunapha yoga—If any planet or planets other than Ravi are placed in second place from Chandra it is termed as Sunapha yoga. Those who have this yoga may be wealthy, and powerful men like kings. The planets that form the yoga must be strong, otherwise the yoga may not be very effective. Weak planets positing in the second place from Chandra make the native an important man only in the environment he lives and monetary affluency will be moderate.

40. Anapha yoga—If the twelfth house from Chandra is occupied by a planet or planets other than Ravi this Anapha yoga is formed. To make the yoga very effective the yogakaraka planets must be strong.

If a planet or planets situated in the 2nd or 12th house from Chandra are conjoined with Ravi the yogas will not be disturbed. But those yogakaraka planets shall not be combust.

Anapha yoga makes a man materially happy, he is healthy famous and keeps good moral character.

41. Durudhara or Uvachary yoga—If the 2nd and 12th houses from Chandra are occupied by planets other than Ravi it is called Durudhara or Uvachary yoga.

A man having this yoga is really a fortunate man. He is an owner of palatial building, possesses own car or cars, has great wealth and many servants to serve him, and commands over many men.

42. When Sunapha yoga is formed by Mangal (i.e. when Mangal is in the 2nd place from Chandra) the native will be a hypocrite, a man of resolute mind, courageous, wealthy and short-tempered.

(i) When Sunapha yoga is formed by Budha the native becomes highly educated in vedic norms and rules, a great artist, is sweet-tongued and virtuous. He is a man of keen intellect.

(ii) When Vṛhaspathi causes this yoga the native is profoundly learned, born of a high family, prosperous, famous, a favourite person to king, very sympathetic to his own kith and kin and prosperous.

(iii) If Sukra causes this yoga the native is a mighty man, energetic, owns movable and immovable properties and possesses vast landed property. He lives in an ostentatious style.

(iv) If Sani forms Sunapha yoga the native is held in high esteem by men in villages and also in cities; he is meritorious, wealthy and a business magnet.

According to Bṛihat-Jataka the native hankers after other's wealth, is engaged in various types of work and becomes a chairman of an assembly.

43. (i) When Anapha yoga is formed by Mangal (i.e. when Mangal occupies the 12th place from Chandra) the native is an obstinate, head-strong and violent man. He is also a man of irritable temper and becomes a leader of a gang of robbers.

(ii) If Budha is the cause of anapha yoga the native becomes an expert musician, renowned artist, educated, an orator, a distinguished and handsome man. He is honoured by the king of the land.

(iii) If Vṛhaspathi is posited in the 12th place from Chandra the native is scrupulous to follow religious practices. He is energetic and spirited, moral-minded, just, wealthy and a distinguished person of extra-ordinary personality and sharp intellect. He holds a topmost position in the society.

(iv) If Sukra causes anapha yoga the native charms young women, he is a man of keen intellect, master of huge wealth, possesses cattle, horses etc., and passes his days happily.

(v) If Anapha yoga is formed by Sani the native is talented and a owner of cattle. He is a long armed man. He may be one of the leading personalities in the society. His words carry some weight, but he may be attached to women of loose morals. At the same time this is also to be remembered that Sani in the 12th place from Chandra is the cause of worries and anxieties, and loss of mental peace.

44. Durudhara yoga or Uvachary yoga :

(i) If Mangal and Budha are situated in the 2nd and 12th places from Chandra the native becomes meritorious no doubt but he will be a liar, greedy and attached to a young woman of bad character.

(ii) If the yoga is formed by Mangal and Vrhaspathi the native will be a man of name and fame. By dint of his tremendous labour and untiring efforts, he builds his own fortune but he is to face many enemies who create troubles even in his day-to-day activities. His moral-mindedness gives inspiration to his family members also.

(iii) If the yoga is formed by Mangal and Sukra the native may be a wrestler. He is a handsome man, always cheerful, wealthy and is desirous of acquiring religious knowledge. But at times the native indulges in cruel acts.

(iv) If Sani and Mangal are posited in the 12th and 2nd places from Chandra the native is addicted to low cast women, wealthy and a traitor. He remains unperturbed even if he is surrounded by his enemies and ultimately he can subdue them.

(v) If Budha and Sukra cause this yoga the native has great attachment to music and art of dancing. He is a sweet-tongued, very intelligent and sober person.

(vi) If Budha and Sani are the cause of this yoga the native likes to tour over many countries, acquires medium education, wealthy and respected by many but he hates his own kith and kin.

(vii) If Vrhaspathi and Sukra form this yoga the native is a pure-minded man, famous, valourous, gentle, cultured and prosperous. His habit and manner of talk are like that of a king.

(viii) If Sani and Vrhaspathi are posited in the 12th and 2nd places from Chandra the native becomes gentle, modest, wise, learned, meritorious, wealthy, handsome and happy.

(ix) If Sani and Sukra are the cause of Durudhara yoga the native becomes a leader among men of his own class, always follows old customs, highly prosperous and wealthy and dear to the king of the land.

45. Chaturstara yoga—When Mesa, Karkata, Tula and Makar rasis are occupied by planets, this yoga is formed provided Lagna rises in any of these rasis. These rasis are natural kendra positions in the Zodiac. Compare this with Kamala yoga.

Chaturasagara yoga makes a native highly intelligent, vastly learned, glorious and a powerful king.

46. Ekabali yoga—When each planet is situated in a rasi including lagna one after another the yoga thus formed is termed as Ekabali. This sloka is quoted from Somajataka. Similar sloka is found in Bhavakautuhala. Ekabali yoga makes a man a king of kings, pious, and a son of an honest father. He subdues all his enemies.

The following yogas are quoted from Jataka-Parijat :

(I have selected a few important yogas only. Inquisitive students may find vast number of Rajayogas in Jataka-Parijat and other authoritative treatises on astrology).

47. If all the planets are situated in Kanya, Mesa, Tula, Simha and Kumbha the native becomes a king.

48. If the 3rd, 4th and 5th houses are occupied by all the planets the native becomes a king.

49. If all the planets are posited in Chandra's Hora the native becomes a famous king.

50. If all the benefics are in the 9th and 11th houses and malefic planets occupy 6th and 10th houses the native becomes a king.

51. If the 10th lord is posited in the 8th place and occupies his exalted house, own or friendly house in navamsa chakra or that lord of the 10th house acquires "Paravat Varga" the native becomes lord of all kings. A planet is said to be in Paravat Varga if he acquires his own six Vargas.

52. If debilitated Vrhhaspathi be in lagna (this means Vrhhaspathi is in Makara rasi), 8th place is occupied by malefic or malefics and the 8th lord be posited in a malefic house in navamsa chart the native becomes a lord of all kings.

53. There are five kinds of Rajayogas mentioned in Phaladipika and Jataka-Parijat. All the yogas are called by different names, viz. :—

(i) When Mangal being in his own house, house of exaltation or Mooltrikona is posited in any kendra it is called Ruchaka yoga.

(ii) When Budha being in his own, exalted or Mooltrikona house is situated in any kendra it is called Bhadra yoga.

(iii) When Vrhaspatti also be posited in the aforesaid position it is termed as Hamsa yoga.

(iv) Similarly if Sukra be situated in the like manner it is termed as Malavya yoga.

(v) If Sani be placed in kendra and occupies his own, exalted or Mooltrikona house it is termed as Sasa yoga.

Ruchaka yoga—makes a man strong-built, healthy, fortunate, glorious and highly qualified. He who has "Ruchaka" yoga in his birth chart is highly proficient in many branches of science. He knows the secret of "Mantra-sakti" and by enchanting mantras he can possess a great power of incantation. The native is very beautiful to look at, kind, benevolent, wealthy and successful in all his endeavours. He passes his days very happily and lives upto 70 years of age.

Bhadra yoga—The native's face is ferocious like that of a tiger, his movement is like that of an elephant, he has broad chest, muscular arms and manly figure. He is energetic and spirited, he is very much affectionate to his friends and kith and kin. The native will be a famous king, his treasury will be full of precious stones. Longevity will be 80 years of age.

Hamsa yoga—The native has a gracefully tall figure, his face has the lustre of red lotus, he has sharp nose, extraordinarily beautiful feet. His complexion is like that of 'kandarpa' (god of love and beauty), he is endowed with all virtues and has a beautiful wife. He is a true religious-minded man, passes his days by reading Puranas and religious scriptures and lives upto 82 years of age.

Malavya yoga—The native has graceful figure, manner of his movement is very beautiful, he has large beautiful eyes, handsome complexion and his facial cut will also be beautiful. His lower lip is thick. He is highly qualified and powerful and may acquire wide knowledge about religious scriptures. He is energetic and knows the secret of incantation. He enjoys happiness among his own children and grand-children and live upto 77 years of age. He may have illegal attachment with other's wife or wives.

Sasa yoga—Complexion of the native is black, he has ugly and blood-shot eyes; he is brave, energetic, devoted to mother, munificent and charitable but cruel. In order to attain knowledge of metal and mineral he will cheat others. He would like to live in an ostentatious style and will be lascivious and addicted to other's wife. His longevity is 70 years of age.

54. If at least any one of the lords of the 2nd, 9th and 11th houses is situated in kendra position from Chandra and Vṛhaspathi is the lord of the 11th house the native rules over a great empire.

This is quoted from Jataka-Parijat but Phaladipika slightly differs from Jataka-parijat. According to Phaladipika the yoga will be formed if Vṛhaspathi being the lord of the 11th house is combined with the 5th lord. Other conditions are the same as Jataka-parijat.

55. Bhaskar yoga—If Budha is in the 2nd place from Chandra or Chandra in the 11th place from Budha and Vṛhaspathi is posited in 9th place from Chandra the native will be brave, beautiful to look at, resolute, efficient and a very important man in the country or the society. He has sonorous voice and is vastly learned in many shastras and is able to explain correctly the inner meaning of them.

56. Indra yoga—If Mangal is posited in the 3rd place from Chandra, Sani is in the 7th place from Mangal and Vṛhaspathi is in the 7th house from Sukra, the native is modest, gentle, peace-loving and as prosperous as a king. He is powerful, wealthy, earns name and fame.

57. Marut yoga—If Vṛhaspathi is situated in any trikona place (5th & 9th house) from Sukra, Chandra is in the 5th place from Vṛhaspathi and Ravi is in kendra from Chandra the native is a renowned orator, learned in many shastras, and prosperous like a king. He has bulky belly, broad chest and is highly successful in trade.

Budha yoga—If Vṛhaspathi is associated with lagna, Chandra is in a kendra from Vṛhaspathi, Rahu is posited in the 2nd place from Chandra and Ravi and Mangal occupy the 3rd place from Chandra the native is a very powerful man, he is very talented, learned in many shastras, famous and very expert in automobile engineering.

59. Lagnadhi yoga—If benefic planets are posited in the 6th, 7th and 8th places from lagna and they are not aspected by or associated with any malefics and also the 4th house from lagna is not associated with any malefic this yoga makes a man noble-minded, benevolent, unprejudiced and a philosopher. His name and fame spreads throughout the world and he is widely known as a wealthy man. He will be author of many treatises on science.*

This sloka is quoted from Parasari Hora. Jataka-Parijat also has given much importance to this yoga but there are a few commentators who hold this opinion that the yoga will be very much effective if unfavourable planets from their positions in any house other than the 4th place do not aspect or combine with those benefic planets.

60. Gajakeshari yoga—If Vrishaspathi is posited in any kendra (angular place) from Chandra, or when Vrishaspathi, Sukra and Budha are not combust or debilitated and have full aspect on Chandra Gajakeshari yoga is formed.

The native having this yoga in his birth-chart will be energetic, meritorious, efficient, affluent and dear to the king of the land.

61. Jeeva yoga—When Chandra and Vrishaspathi are situated in the 7th place from each other this yoga is termed as Jeeva yoga.

The native becomes benevolent, learned, efficient, affluent and energetic.

The result of Gajakeshari and Jeeva yogas are almost identical to each other.

62. Parvata yoga—(i) If favourable planet or planets are placed in any kendra from lagna and 6th or 8th place are associated with benefic planet or those places remain vacant, or

(ii) If Lagnapathi (lagna-lord) and Vyayapathi (twelfth lord) are situated in kendra from each other and they are aspected by friendly planets Parvata yoga is formed.

See the birth chart of Sir Ashutosh Mookherjee.

Lagna is in Vrsa, Ravi, Budha, Sukra in Mithuna, Sani in Kanya, Vrishaspathi and Rahu in Tula, Chandra and Mangal in Mina and Ketu in Mesa.

* This Lagnadhi yoga is slightly different from the one stated earlier.

Here Lagnapathi Sukra and 12th lord Mangal are in angular positions from each other.

The native having Parvata yoga in his birth chart will be prosperous, noble, benevolent, energetic, powerful, spirited, an illustrious person, and a supreme personality in an institution. He is highly educated and learned. If the 9th lord, lagna lord, or Vrhaspathi and Sani are afflicted the native may be attached to women other than his wife.

63. Kahala yoga—(i) If the 4th lord and 9th lord are posited in kendra from each other, or

(ii) The 4th lord being in his own or exalted house is combined with or aspected by 10th lord this yoga is formed.

The yoga makes a man the ruler of many villages, very daring and successful administrator.

See the above chart of Sir Ashutosh.

64. Malika or Mala yoga—Mala means garland. When planets adorn houses one after another the planets look like a garland, hence the yoga is called Mala or Malika.

The seven planets may sit in 7 places one after another from lagna, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th houses etc.

Any one of them may be called Mala yoga but they have different results, such as:—

(i) If from Lagna planets are situated in 7 places one after another the native becomes a king and lord of many horses and elephants.

(ii) If from the 2nd place planets are seated in 7 houses one after another the native becomes a lord of huge wealth; he is devoted to his parents, a man of resolute mind, sober, highly meritorious, talented and king of kings.

(iii) When from the third house the Mala yoga is formed the native is courageous, but he is sickly. But Brihat Jataka says that the native becomes a popular leader and is a handsome person.

(iv) If the yoga is formed from the 4th house the native becomes a noble-minded man, a very wealthy king having sovereignty over many countries.

(v) If the yoga is formed from the 5th house the native becomes a king, religiously observes sacrificial rites or for any other religious deeds he is noted as a famous king.

(vi) If the yoga is formed from the 6th house the native will at least once suffer from penury but at any period of his life he shall earn huge wealth and shall lead a happy life.

(vii) If the planets one after another are situated from the 7th house, he will be loved by many beautiful wives and shall be a king.

(viii) If from the 8th house the Mala yoga is formed the native will be a famous man and long lived but he will be poor and a henpecked husband.

(ix) If Mala yoga is formed from the 9th place the native shall be a highly talented and powerful man engaged in religious austerities.

(x) If it is from the 10th place the native is engaged in religious austerities, respected by all and is an honest person.

(xi) If the Malika (Mala) yoga is formed from the 11th house the native is born of a royal family, very efficient and a husband of women of paragon of beauty.

(xii) If Mala yoga is formed from the 12th house the native is very open-handed in spending money and held in high esteem by all.

Besides Mala yoga some authorities mentioned "Samrata yoga" which is formed when planets occupy all houses beginning from lagna upto the 6th place. The name of the yoga is quite indicative of its meaning.

See the birth-chart of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

65. Samkha yoga—When the lords of the 5th and 6th houses are posited in angular position from each other, or if the lords of lagna and the 10th house occupy cardinal rasis and the 9th lord is strong the yoga is called as Samkha yoga.

The native is luxurious, kind-minded, virtuous, learned in many shastras, and orthodox. He observes all religious rites, is a happy man with his good wife and children and also owns landed property. His longevity is 81 years.

66. Bhairi yoga—If lagna, 2nd, 7th and 12th places are occupied by planets, the 10th lord is powerful, or Sukra and lagna-lord are posited in a kendra from Vrhaspatti and the 9th lord is strong the yoga is called "Bhairi".

He who has this yoga in his birth chart is born of high family, free from disease, owner of many landed properties, and wealthy.

and a noble and mighty man. His wife and children too earn name and fame and their virtuous deeds give him unmixed joy. The native is an experienced person in wordly affairs.

67. Srinath yoga—If the 7th lord is posited in the 10th place, and the 10th lord is in the house of exaltation and is associated with the lord of the 9th house the yoga thus formed is called Srinath yoga.

The native having this yoga becomes as powerful as the Lord Indra.

68. Matsa yoga—If the 9th and 5th places are occupied by pāpa (malefic) and suva (benefic) planets respectively and the 4th or 8th house is associated with malefic planets the yoga is termed as Matsa.

The native having this yoga in his chart becomes an astrologer. He is kind-hearted, virtuous, intelligent, educated, talented and a famous man.

This is to be noted that complete yoga as enunciated by different authors is not always found. In many cases the central idea of a yoga is to be considered and the result as indicated by authors will be evident.

To cite an example, let me quote a birth-chart. Lagna is in Dhanu, the 3rd house is occupied by the lords of 9th, 7th and 3rd combined with Ketu, 4th house is occupied by Sukra, the 5th place by Vṛhaspathi, the 9th house by Rahu and the 11th place is occupied by Chandra and Mangal.

Here the 9th place is occupied by a malefic, the 5th house by a benefic planet and the 8th lord is conjoined with a natural malefic planet Mangal. Again, the 4th lord is aspected by the lord of the 8th house. The first two conditions are fulfilled and in case of the third if we take the central idea of the yoga we shall find that all the conditions are fulfilled.

The native of this birth chart is an astrologer. He is handsome, highly educated, and is known as kind-hearted and religiously inclined person.

69. Lakshmi yoga—If the lord of the 9th house being in his Mooltrikona sign is posited in any kendra or kona from lagna and the lagna-lord is in his exalted house and strong the yoga is termed as Lakshmi yoga.

The native under the influence of this yoga will be king of kings, highly talented, educated, very handsome like "Kandarpa" (lord of love and beauty). He will be respected by kings of many countries and will be blessed with sons.

70. Kurma yoga—If Benefics are in the 5th, 6th and 7th places from lagna and malefics occupy lagna, 3rd and 11th places and those benefic and malefic planets in the navamsa chart occupy their own sign, signs of Mooltrikona or house of exaltation Kurma yoga is formed.

The native becomes talented, pious, sober, happy and a public leader. His sweet conduct attracts the attention of the king of the land. One out of many noble deeds of the native is that he always tries to come to rescue his friends in their calamitous days.

71. Parijata yoga—If the lord of the rasi (sign) where lagna-lord is situated is posited in any kendra or the navamsa lord of the sign where lagna lord is posited occupies kendra or kona from lagna or he sits in his own, mooltrikona or exalted sign the yoga thus formed is called "Parijata" yoga.

This is a brilliant yoga that makes a man a king and master of many horses and elephants. He is a warrior, dignified, dutiful and kind-hearted man. He enjoys happiness at his middle and last stage of life.

72. Kalanidhi yoga—When Vrhspathi occupying the 2nd or 5th place from lagna is conjoined with or aspected by Budha or Sukra or occupies the house of Budha or Sukra the Kalanidhi yoga is formed.

The native under the influence of this yoga is courageous and respected by many and owns many lands and houses and is surrounded by many followers who would look after his comfort. He is free from disease, does not encounter any danger and has no enemy.

The following Rajayogas are quoted from Sarvartha Chintamani, an authoritative treatise on astrology :

73. If a planet is debilitated and the lord of the rasi of that debilitated planet and also the planet who is exalted in that house are placed in kendra from lagna the native becomes virtuous and king of kings.

To explain the yoga more explicitly—say Sani is debilitated in Mesa rasi, the lord of Mesa is Mangal and also Mesa rasi is Ravi's exalted house. Now, if both Mangal and Ravi are situated in kendra from lagna Rajayoga will occur. Here it is not necessary for both Ravi and Mangal to occupy one kendra. Ravi may be seated in one and Mangal in another kendra from lagna.

74. If Chandra is situated in any kendra or kona other than lagna and She is aspected by any one of Vrhaspathi and Sukra the native shall be as fortunate as a king.

According to Jataka-Parijat the yoga will be more effective if it is full moon.

75. When a planet is debilitated in the birth-chart but is in the house of exaltation in the navamsa chart the planet may give good result, but if it is otherwise, that is, when an exalted planet in the birth-chart is debilitated in navamsa chart that planet will not be in a position to give favourable result to the native.

The following yogas are basically favourable Rajayogas and they are very effective and may be interesting to common readers.

76. If Vrhaspathi is in lagna, and Budha is placed in any kendra and aspected by lagnapathi the native will be prosperous like a king.

77. If Vrhaspathi being in the 7th or in any kona (5th or 9th place) is aspected by the lagnapathi the native is as lucky as a king.

78. If Sani is in exalted house or in any kona house and is aspected by the 10th lord the native will be as fortunate as a king.

79. If the 10th lord being in the 8th house is posited in his exalted or friendly sign in navamsa chart or acquires Paravatamsa the native is the lord of kings. A planet when acquires 6 vargas of his own is said to be in "Paravatamsa".

80. If Vrhaspathi being debilitated is posited in lagna (this means lagna rasi is in Makar) or the 9th lord is posited in the 8th house but Vrhaspathi or the 9th lord is posited in exalted or friendly house in navamsa chart or they acquire Paravatamsa the native becomes king of kings.

81. If Navamsa lord of Chandra and also Budha are placed in kendra from lagna the native shall get the same result as said in previous two yogas.

82. If Chandra in combination with Mangal is posited in the 2nd or 3rd places from lagna and the 5th house is occupied by Rahu the same result will follow.

83. If the navamsa lord of lagna conjoined with 9th lord be posited in the 4th or 5th place the native will be a very great king.

84. If Rahu is in the 10th house, Sani aspected by the 9th lord be in the 11th place and lagna-lord is conjoined with a debilitated planet the native becomes as prosperous as a king.

The following few selected Rajayogas are quoted from Uttara-Kalamrita :

85. (i) Relation between the lords of 9th and 10th houses.

(ii) Relation between the 9th and 10th lords from the 9th house from lagna.

(iii) Relation between 9th and 10th lords from the 10th place from lagna.

(iv) Relation among lord of the rasi where Chandra is situated, Chandra-navamsa-lord and Lagnapathi.

(v) Relation between 9th and 10th lords from Chandra.

(vi) Relation between 9th and 10th lords from Ravi.

(vii) Relation among the lords of the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 7th places.

(viii) Relation between the lords of the 2nd and 11th houses.

86. The following planets are beneficial :—

(i) Sukra in the 12th, Budha in the 8th and Vrhaspathi in the 6th places.

(ii) The lords of the 6th, 8th and 12th places are beneficial if they are situated in their own, exalted or friendly houses and are aspected by benefics. But if they are posited in inimical house, aspected by or conjoined with enemy planets or combust they are very unfavourable.

(iii) Natural benefics when posited in kendra, 2nd, 3rd, 5th or 9th places are beneficial ; even benefics in the 6th house is favourable.

(iv) Natural malefics in Upachayasthana (3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th places are upachayasthanas) are favourable.

(v) Sani and Ravi in the 9th place is favourable.

(vi) Sani when posited in his own sign, exalted sign or in the house owned by Vrhaspathi is favourable, even he is favourable in lagna if it is the house of Vrhaspathi.

(vii) It is said that Sukra in the 12th house is favourable but if that 12th house is Sani's sign or Sukra being in the 12th place be in Sani's house in navamsa chakra is not beneficial.

When a native becomes a millionaire ?

(a) All the seven planets master over different digits, such as Ravi 30 kala, Chandra 16 kala, Mangal 6, Budha 8, Vrhaspathi 10, Sukra 12 and Sani 1 kala.

Now add together the kalas indicated above of the lords of the 9th place from lagna and Chandra. Divide the sum-total by 12 and the remainder will be the number of rasi from the position of Chandra. If that rasi is owned by a benefic planet the native will be multimillionaire.

(b) If any two or more lords of the 2nd, 5th, 9th and 11th houses from Chandra are related to each other by conjunction or aspect and they are also strong the native will be master of lacs.

(c) If that 9th house from Chandra is occupied by any malefic the native shall get thousand rupees, if that house (where malefic planet is situated) is the exalted sign of that malefic planet the native shall be a multimillionaire.

Let us illustrate this yoga :

Lagna is in Makar, 9th place from Makar is owned by Budha who masters over 8, Chandra also is in Makar. In this case also the 9th lord is Budha. So, $8+8=16 \div 12$. Remainder is 4. From Chandra the 4th place is Mesa occupied by benefic planet Vrhaspathi who is exalted in navamsa chart. The native is a very wealthy man.

If those planets are related to the lords of 6th, 8th or 12th houses the native will lose all assets, will be over head and ears in debt and also will be oppressed by his enemies.

87. If all the planets are situated in kendra (from lagna) and there are no planet in Panafar (2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th houses) and āpoklima (3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th houses) benefic planets are strong and full moon is not conjoined with or aspected by any malefic the native becomes a king or very influential public leader.

88. If any native is born within 2 dandas after noon or midnight then he shall vanquish all his opponents and shall become an emperor. He will be highly educated, pious and devoted to religious austerities.

Again if in the birth-chart of that native any exalted planet is situated in the 2nd place from lagna, he will possess huge wealth. If that planet in the 2nd house is not exalted the native will be a moneyed man only.

Here midday (i.e. noon) or midnight is to be calculated according to equation of time. We generally take noon hours when our clock strikes 12, if we calculate 12 hours according to equation of time it may not agree with hours as shown by our clock.

The horoscope of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose may be consulted.

Yogas that make a man educated and learned :

There is a difference between education and learning. When we say that a man is educated we mean that he has acquired knowledge in any branch of literature or science. This he can obtain through studies in school, college etc. When it is said that he is a learned man, which is termed as Vidya in Sanskrit we mean that he has acquired Jnana-knowledge of the supreme being, knowledge that gives us the clear idea of truth, truth of eternal bliss that may be obtained through meditation and by deep introspection.

Here we shall mostly deal with education that is obtained through scholarship, experience and observation.

Budha stands for education and Vrhaspathi is the only planet that gives us learning, Jnana or real Vidya by which we acquire the knowledge of existence of God. Again, Vrhaspathi also helps a native acquire University education.

Sukra also is a karaka of fine arts and an adjutant Budha. Similarly, fifth house stands for Vidya in general and education in particular that we obtain from schools and colleges and it is to be determined from Budha in general.

89. If the lord of the 4th house, Vrhaspathi, Budha and Sukra are posited in their own or exalted houses and be placed in kendra or kona the native becomes highly educated, learned, fortunate and popular. But if they are situated in malefic houses (6th, 8th or 12th place) combust, aspected by or conjoined with enemy or malefic planets good effect may be nullified or minimised.

90. Second house also stands for such education through which a man earns his livelihood.

So, if the lords of 2nd, 11th and lagna together are situated in the 2nd or 11th house the native not only may get good money but also acquire practical education that will help him earn a lot of money.

91. If Budha and Sukra are placed in the 10th place from Chandra the native may acquire higher education, he becomes wealthy and is blessed with a good wife.

(i) Similar result may be obtained if from Chandra Vrhspathi and Sukra are posited in the 10th place. The native over and above the favourable result referred to above will be the protector of religion enumerated by Brahmins.

92. If Ravi, Chandra and Budha are seated together the native earns name and fame for his education.

93. Combination of Ravi, Chandra and Vrhspathi or Ravi, Budha and Vrhspathi or Ravi, Budha and Sukra is really a brilliant yoga that makes a man highly educated, learned and wise. He is widely known as a highly educated and learned man.

This is also to be noted that Budha in the 11th house gives a man high education and keen intellect.

94. If lagna is occupied by Budha or lord of the 2nd house or the lord of lagna is situated in the 2nd house and the 2nd house and its lord or lagnapathi or Budha is associated with or aspected by any benefic the native will be renowned for his education.

95. If Budha and Vrhspathi being associated with Sukra are posited in the 9th house the native is not only renowned for his education but also is endowed with many qualities of head and heart.

(i) If Budha and Vrhspathi being in the 9th house are conjoined with Sani the native is also a good orator.

96. If Vrhaspathi while positing in the 9th house is aspected by Chandra and Sani the native will be a very talented man and will be an expert in analysing and explaining correctly the legal problems of foreign land.

97. Again if Vrhaspathi occupying the 9th house is aspected by Budha and Sukra the native will be profoundly learned.

The above yogas are quoted from Jataka-Parijat.

The yogas that make a man astrologer and mathematician :

98. If the 2nd house is occupied by Ravi and Budha, the native becomes an astrologer and if those planets are aspected by Sani he will be a mathematician.

99. When Chandra and Mangal are aspected by Budha and occupy the 2nd house the native becomes a mathematician.

(i) If any kendra is occupied by Budha and Chandra and Mangal are in the 2nd place,

(ii) If Budha being exalted is posited in the 2nd house, Lagna is occupied by Vrhaspathi and Sani is posited in 8th place from lagna,

(iii) If Sukra is in the house of exaltation, and Vrhaspathi occupies kendra or kona position,

(iv) If Budha is in the 2nd place from lagna, and Vrhaspathi is situated in any kendra or kona,

The native becomes very much efficient in mathematics.

(v) If Ravi and Budha together are posited in kendra, kona or 11th place the native becomes efficient in mathematics. The planets should be powerful.

Yoga that makes a man scientist :

100. The native becomes versatile in many shastras if Chandra and Budha together are situated in any favourable place. He will specially be educated in many branches of science.

The yoga will be very effective if Chandra and Budha are in the 9th place from lagna.

101. If the planets occupying the 2nd, 4th, 5th and 10th houses and lords of lagna, 9th and 10th houses are strong in Sada-varga the native becomes profoundly learned in many shastras. He acquires profound knowledge in science and of Veda-Vedanga.

The native having this excellent yoga in his birth-chart will be known in the world as a mine of education.

102. If Ravi, Budha and Sukra are situated in the 2nd place and be strong the native becomes a poet. Consult Rabindranath's horoscope.

103. If the lord of drekkansthan of the 5th lord or the karaka planet (Vrhaspathi and Budha) is a naturally favourable planet be posited in any kendra or kona and aspected by karaka planet or by any favourable planet the native can understand the inner meaning of any hint or suggestion. Budha and Vrhaspathi are natural indicator of intellect.

(i) The same effect is indicated if Rahu is in the 5th place from lagna.

104. If the 2nd place is occupied by powerful Vrhaspathi specially if he is posited in his own house or exalted house, the native shall be proficiently learned in Veda and Vedanga and is held in high esteem by all great Pandits of the country.

Conveyances

Maharshi Parasara and other authors of astrological treatise laid down much stress on Sukra as the principal significator of conveyance. Next comes the lord of the 4th house. So, Maharsi Parasara says :—

105. If Sukra in conjunction with the lord of the 4th house occupies the 4th place from Lagna, or if the 4th lord being in the 4th house or in the house of exaltation casts his aspect over Sukra the native will possess excellent conveyance.

106. If Ravi occupies the 4th house and the 4th lord happens to be in the highest exaltation point and is conjoined with Sukra the native gets conveyance of his own at the age of 32 years.

107. If the 4th lord being in the highest exaltation point is combined with the lord of 10th house the native shall own conveyance at his 42 years of age.

108. If 4th lord in conjunction with Vrhaspathi occupies lagna the native has various kinds of conveyances, such as motor car, horse, elephant etc.

109. If the 11th lord is in the 4th house and the 4th lord in the 11th place from lagna the native shall own conveyance at his 12 years of age.

110. If strong 4th lord is conjoined with a benefic or the lord of the 9th house the native becomes lord of many countries and he has various kinds of conveyances.

[This is to be noted that the 4th lord and the benefic planet referred to above or the 9th lord who are conjoined with the lord of the 4th house must be powerful and occupy a favourable place. Otherwise the result will not be very effective].

111. When the 4th lord is in a kendra and the lord of that kendra occupies lagna or the 10th lord is in lagna and lagnapathi is in the 10th house the native owns a number of conveyances.

112. If the 4th lord is posited in the house owned by Mangal, lagna is occupied by a benefic and a favourable planet is situated in lagna the native will be a king and he shall be an owner of many conveyances besides wealth and jewels.

113. If the 2nd lord is in lagna and the lord of the 10th house is posited in the 2nd house the native shall possess many conveyances.

114. If the 12th lord being in the house of exaltation is conjoined with the lord of the 2nd house and the 9th lord casts his full aspect on them the native will possess conveyance.

115. When the 10th lord is in the 4th place, the 4th lord in the 11th, and lagna receives the aspect of a favourable planet the native owns many conveyances.

Ownership of Houses

116. If the lord of the 4th house conjoined with lagnapathi occupies the 4th place the native will have a house of his own.

If these two planets occupy any unfavourable place (such as 6th, 8th or 12th place) there is possibility of loss of the house.

117. If the lord of either lagna or the 4th place in combination with a benefic is posited in kendra or kona the native will have a house of his own.

118. If the 4th lord in conjunction with the lord of the 10th place occupies any kendra or kona the native shall own a palatial building enclosed with beautiful wall.

119. If the lord of navamsa of the 4th lord and the lord of rasi where that navamsa lord is posited and both of them are situated in a kendra the native will have a house of his own.

120. If the 4th house is conjoined with an exalted planet, the 9th lord is in a kendra and the lord of the 4th house is placed in his exalted or friendly house the native may have many beautiful houses of his own.

(i) Maharshi Parasara says, if the 4th house, 4th lord and the karaka planet are posited in cardinal house the native may build many houses in many places.

121. If the third place is associated with a benefic planet and the 4th lord occupies his own house the native shall have a beautiful house of his own enclosed with wall.

Prabrajya or Sannyas yoga (religious mendicancy)

122. When the 10th lord being conjoined with 4 planets be placed in any kendra or kona the yoga is termed as Prabrajya or Sannyas.

See the horoscope of Mahapravu Sri Chaitanya. His horoscope reads thus :

Lagna in Simha with Chandra and Ketu, Sani in Vrschika, Vrhaspathi and Mangal in Dhanu, Ravi, Budha, Sukra and Rahu in Kumbha rasi.

* Here 4 planets are in kendra from both lagna and Chandra and of these 4 planets one (i.e. Sukra) is the lord of 10th house.

* I owe an apology to my readers for quoting in my Jyotish Yoga Sanchayan written in Bengali a wrong chart drawn by Sri B. V. Raman in his 'One hundred notable horoscopes'. In Chaitanya Bhagabat and Chaitanya Charitamrita the two authoritative treatise on His (Maha Prabhu Sri Chaitanya) life activities Simha lagna and Simha rasi were mentioned. It was asserted that after the birth of such a great personality His maternal grandfather Nilambar Chakravarty by name a great scholar of his time and vastly learned in astrology erected his birth chart where Simha lagna and Simha rasi were mentioned and it is no less a person than that erudite scholar (in many branches of shastras) prophesied that a great man almost god incarnate was born.

123. Only 4 planets together when occupy any kendra may cause Sannyas yoga.

124. If Sani is aspected by the lord of lagna or he has aspect on the latter (lord of lagna) and no other planet has aspect on lagnapathi or Sani unaspected by any planet casts his aspect on lagna-lord and both lagna-lord and Sani are weak it is Sannyas yoga.

125. When Chandra falls in the drekkan or navamsa of Sani or Mangal and is aspected by Sani it makes a man Sannyasi.

See the horoscope of Swami Vivekananda (Quoted from 100 Notable horoscopes by Sri B. V. Raman.)

Lagna in Dhanu, Lagnasphuta $27^{\circ}-31'$, Ravi in Makara $0^{\circ}-52'$, with Budha $13^{\circ}-13'$ and Sukra $8^{\circ}-32'$, in the 5th house Mangal $7^{\circ}-46'$, in the 6th Ketu $23^{\circ}-41'$, in the 10th Chandra $18^{\circ}-54'$ and Sani $15^{\circ}-2'$ in the 11th Vrhaspathi $5^{\circ}-28'$ and in the 12th Rahu $23^{\circ}-41'$.

(If we accept Sri Lahiri's Ayanamsa Ravi will be in the last degree of Dhanu. This was also acceptable to all astrologers of wide reputation of Bengal before Sri Lahiri's Ephemeris was out in the market).

In the birth chart of Swami Vivekananda Chandra is' posited in Sani's drekkan and She is associated with Sani. See birth chart of Swami Sibananda (Quoted from Notable horoscopes) :—

Lagna in Karkata 29° with Mangal $16^{\circ}-41'$, Sani $21^{\circ}-28'$ and Rahu $26^{\circ}-30'$, in the 2nd Ravi $24^{\circ}-18'$ and Budha $21^{\circ}-32'$ in the 3rd Sukra $14^{\circ}-18'$, in the 4th Vrhaspathi $12^{\circ}-42'$, in the 7th Ketu $26^{\circ}-30'$ and in the 10th Chandra $24^{\circ}-13'$.

Here Chandra in the navamsa of Mangal receives the full aspect of Sani.

The yogas no. 124 and 125 have three conditions to effect Sannyas yoga.

(i) Chandra should be in either Sani's drekkan or in the navamsa of Sani or Mangal and Chandra receives aspect of no other planet than Sani.

(ii) Sani and lagnapathi will be weak.

(iii) Further Sani will have full aspect on lagna lord. All these conditions are fulfilled in the horoscope of Swami Sibananda.

126. If Lagna rises in any of the houses owned by Mangal, Vrhaspathi or Sani and Vrhaspathi is posited in the house of luck and also there are rajayogas in the birth chart the native visits many holy shrines and for his sacred and religious deeds he becomes widely known in the world.

127. If Chandra unaspected by any planet be posited in either 9th or 10th house from lagna the native in spite of powerful rajayoga in the chart becomes a person of great reputation only after he embraces 'Sannyas dharma'.

Here "aspect" should be construed as "full aspect".

In the birth chart of Swami Vivekananda Chandra is situated in the 10th place from lagna and She (Chandra) does not receive any full aspect of any other planet.

128. If Vrhaspathi is posited in the 9th and lagna, Chandra and Vrhaspathi are aspected by Sani the native preaches a new religious doctrine and earns great name and fame. (The result as said above will be very effective provided the chart contains powerful rajayoga).

Please see the 'rasichakra' (birth chart) of Maha Prabhu Sri Chaitanya. Vrhaspathi has full aspect on the 9th house, Sani aspects lagna and Chandra.

'Vaishnaba' dharma in the truest sense was introduced by Him and He is taken to be God Incarnate by the Vaishnaba world. Even his staunch opponents have great regard for his wonderful meritorious deed in the country at a time when people were apostate and impious and were unscrupulous. Chaitanya juga is rightly called by historians a period of renaissance in Bengal.

129. If Sani is posited in the 9th and is not aspected by any other planet and also there are powerful rajayogas in the birth chart the native becomes a Sannyasi and his greatness as a man is widely known throughout the world and afterwards he enjoys all the beneficial results of rajayogas.

130. When the following planets be strong and are posited together in 'Sama' (even) rasi the native becomes a devoted ascetic leading true religious life.

(Vrsa, Karkata, Kanya, Vrschika, Makar and Mina—these six rasis are Sama-even-rasis)

- (i) Ravi, Mangal, Sukra and Sani
- (ii) Vrhaspathi, Mangal, Ravi and Sani
- (iii) Chandra, Mangal, Vrhaspathi and Sani

131. If Ravi, Chandra, Mangal, Vrhaspathi and Sukra these 5 planets together are associated with Budha or Sani the native becomes an ascetic and his eyesight is so sharp that he can see and identify very easily and accurately even a very small thing from a great distance.

132. The following combination of planets make a man 'Sannyasi' :

- (i) Mangal, Ravi, Chandra, Sani and Vrhaspathi
- (ii) Mangal, Ravi, Budha, Sani and Sukra
- (iii) Mangal, Chandra, Ravi, Sukra and Sani
- (iv) Mangal, Ravi, Sukra, Sani and Vrhaspathi
- (v) Mangal, Chandra, Budha, Sukra and Sani.

When Sannyas yogas are to be taken as defunct ?

133. When yogakaraka planet or planets are associated with Rahu, Ketu or Gulik and he (or they—yogakaraka planets) is posited in a malefic navamsa then the native abandons the life of asceticism and is considered as a renegade by people at large.

(Only association of Rahu, Ketu or Gulik with yogakaraka planets will not nullify the sacred effect of asceticism. The yogakarakas must be positioned also in malefic navamsa).

134. If the yogakaraka planet or planets in spite of their strength be sunk down by the Sun's rays or be combust the native holds greatest regard for 'Sannyas dharma' but he cannot be a 'Sannyasi'.

135. When yogakaraka planets are overpowered by other planets the native cannot embrace 'Sannyas dharma' in spite of aspect of beneficial planet on the yogakarakas.

Yogas of glorious and virtuous deeds :

136. When the 10th lord, lord of the 2nd and Budha are powerful the native performs sacrificial rites.

137. If the 10th place is occupied by Budha and the 10th lord is not aspected by or conjoined with a malefic but is aspected by a benefic the native performs sacrificial rites.

138. If the 10th lord Budha is in the house of exaltation or be in the 9th house from lagna but not in conjunction with Rahu or Ketu the same result may be predicted.

139. If the 10th lord is exalted and aspected by Budha or the 10th lord being in his own house is aspected by a favourable planet the native performs sacrificial rites.

140. If Chandra occupies Karkata rasi (cancer-sign) and is aspected by Vrhaspathi and Sukra the native earns name and fame for his glorious deeds.

141. This is also a yoga of virtuous deeds if Chandra acquires Pārāvāt Varga (when a planet attains 6 Vargas of his own is said to be in Paravatamsa).

142. A person becomes famous for his glorious deeds if in his birth chart 10th lord conjoined with a benefic is situated in a favourable navamsa or is posited between benefics.

143. If the 10th lord is a natural benefic and be posited in the house of exaltation, his own or friendly house or friendly navamsa the native earns name and fame for his glorious deeds.

144. When the lord of Lagna is strong, lord of luck is situated in Simha rasi in navamsa chakra and lord of the 10th house acquires Devalokavarga (acquiring 7 vargas of a planet's own sign) the native becomes a famous man for his meritorious and virtuous deeds and is greatly adored by all.

(In spite of all these yogas if Ravi and Sani together are situated in the 10th house and are aspected by or conjoined with a malefic or seated in a malefic navamsa the native loses his name and fame for his misdeeds and is decried by all).

Taking bath in holy river or sea :

Hindus consider the following rivers and sea as holy stream :

They are The Ganges of Prayag and Kalighat, Sindhu (Sind river), Yamuna, Rameswar Setu Banda, Sagara-Sangama.

145. When full moon is in the watery sign, Vrhaspathi is in the 10th house the native shall have bath in any of these holy streams.

146. Similar result happens if the 12th place is occupied by Budha and the 12th lord is seated in the house of exaltation.

147. If the 9th lord being in the watery sign be posited in any kendra from lagna the native shall have bath in holy water.

148. Chandra being associated with a benefic if posited in the 3rd house from lagna the native shall have bath in holy water.

The yogas that make a man an Orator or eloquent speaker :

149. If the natural benefic be the lord of the 2nd house and is situated in any kendra or kona and is aspected by or associated with a benefic planet the native may be an eloquent speaker.

150. When the 2nd lord be in his highest exaltation point or acquires 'Pārāvāt' varga the yoga makes a man an excellent orator.

151. Similarly the navamsa lord of the lord of the 2nd house if associated with a benefic is in his highest point of exaltation or acquires Gapur varga (a planet acquiring 4 vargas of his own) makes a native good orator.

152. When Budha being in Vargottoma navamsa be in conjunction with Vṛhaspathi who acquires Simhasana varga (a planet acquiring 5 vargas of his own) also makes a native very great speaker.

The following configuration of planets make a native a good orator :

153. (i) When the 2nd lord is conjoined with a benefic or be in Vargottoma navamsa.

(ii) If the 4th lord associated with Vṛhaspathi acquires Paravat varga.

(iii) When Chandra and Budha together are situated in the 9th house.

This is also to be noted that the second house signifies mouth as well as power of speech. Similarly Budha and Vṛhaspathi primarily are signifiers of speech.

Therefore when these two planets along with the 2nd lord are powerfully posited the native must be a good orator, a fluent speaker and pleasant conversationalist.

CHAPTER XV

ASTHAVARGA SYSTEM

Though our birth chart shows the stationary positions of all planets they are actually not so but moving every hour, minute and second. We should say that planets are transiting through their orbit and their movements are constant. They are found in stationary positions at the time of birth which means, they imbibe some strength, energy or weakness, virtues, merits or demerits in the native at the time of birth. These virtues, qualities, merits or demerits will actively play in the native by which he will either rise, shine or go down. But at any given time after birth these planets which we find as if stationary in the birth chart will be found moving constantly. Their constant movement in different places provide the native with energy, power of activity, and at other times transit of some planets be the cause of morbid state of mind or activity to the native.

By asthavarga system we can ascertain the various sources of energy for all seven planets. Rahu and Ketu are not taken into consideration in determining the source of energy in calculation of asthavarga, whereas lagna is an important thing in this calculation.

In short we may say that asthavarga helps us to estimate the stability, good or evil results pertaining to each bhava, or strength or weakness of a bhava on account of transit of planets.

As for example if Mangal is situated in Vrscika at the time of birth, he may be in Dhanu after 45 days and will be in Makar rasi after next 45 days. Asthavarga records the results of such transits.

We are to draw asthavarga charts of each planet and in each chart benefic houses from all the 7 planets and lagna are to be recorded by putting rekhas or vertical small lines. We show hereafter the benefic houses of 7 planets in asthavarga chart of each planet.

Ravi's asthavarga :

From Ravi auspicious places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Chandra auspicious places—3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th.

From Mangal auspicious places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th,
10th and 11th.

From Budha auspicious places—3rd, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th, 11th
and 12th.

From Vrhaspathi auspicious places—5th, 6th, 9th and 11th.

From Sukra auspicious places—6th, 7th and 12th.

From Sani auspicious places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Lagna auspicious places—3rd, 4th, 6th, 10th, 11th and 12th.

Total—48

Chandra's asthavarga :

From Ravi auspicious places—3rd, 6th, 7th, 8th, 10th and 11th.

From Chandra auspicious places—1st, 3rd, 6th, 7th, 10th, 11th.

From Mangal auspicious places—2nd, 3rd, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Budha auspicious places—1st, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 7th, 8th,
10th and 11th.

From Vrhaspathi auspicious places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th,
10th and 11th.

From Sukra auspicious places—3rd, 4th, 5th, 7th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Sani auspicious places—3rd, 5th, 6th and 11th.

From Lagna auspicious places—3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th.

Total—49

* According to Brihat-Jataka, from Vrhaspathi auspicious places are 1st, 4th, 7th, 8th, 10th, 11th and 12th, Jataka-Parijat also followed Brihat-Jataka. But we follow Parasari Hora.

Mangal's asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th, 10th and 11th.

From Chandra benefic places—3rd, 6th and 11th.

From Mangal benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 10th, 11th.

From Budha benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th and 11th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—6th, 10th, 11th and 12th.

From Sukra benefic places—6th, 8th, 11th and 12th.

From Sani benefic places—1st, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th & 11th.

From Lagna benefic places—1st, 3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th.

Total—39

Budha's asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—5th, 6th, 9th, 11th and 12th.

From Chandra benefic places—2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th, 10th & 11th.

From Mangal benefic planets—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Budha benefic places—1st, 3rd, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th, 11th
and 12th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—6th, 8th, 11th and 12th.

From Sukra benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th and 11th.

From Sani benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Lagna benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th, 10th & 11th.

Total—54

Vrhaspathi's asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th,
10th and 11th.

From Chandra benefic places—2nd, 5th, 7th, 9th and 11th.

From Mangal benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 10th, 11th.

From Budha benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th
and 11th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 7th, 8th,
10th and 11th.

From Sukra benefic places—2nd, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th and 11th.

From Sani benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th and 12th.

From Lagna benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th and 11th.

Total—56

Sukra's asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—8th, 11th and 12th.

From Chandra benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th,
11th and 12th.

From Mangal benefic places—3rd, 4th, 6th, 9th, 11th and 12th—
(According to Brihat-Jataka—3rd, 5th, 6th, 9th, 11th & 12th).

From Budha benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th, 9th and 11th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—5th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th,

From Sukra benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th,
10th and 11th.

From Sani benefic places—3rd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th, 10th & 11th.

From Lagna benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th and 11th.

Total—52

Sani's asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 10th & 11th.

From Chandra benefic places—3rd, 6th and 11th.

From Mangal benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th, 10th, 11th & 12th.

From Budha benefic places—6th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—5th, 6th, 11th and 12th.

From Sukra benefic places—6th, 11th and 12th.

From Sani benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th and 11th.

From Lagna benefic places—1st, 3rd, 4th, 6th, 10th and 11th.

Total—39

Lagna asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 10th & 11th.

From Chandra benefic places—3rd, 6th and 11th.

From Mangal benefic places—3rd, 5th, 6th and 11th.

From Budha benefic places—6th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—5th, 6th, 11th and 12th.

From Sukra benefic places—6th, 11th and 12th.

From Sani benefic places—3rd, 5th, 8th, 10th and 11th.

From Lagna benefic places—1st, 3rd, 4th, 6th, 10th and 11th.

Total—37

Rahu's asthavarga :

From Ravi benefic places—2nd, 3rd, 4th, 6th and 9th.

From Chandra benefic places—1st, 3rd, 4th and 6th.

From Mangal benefic places—3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 9th.

*Though Rahu and Ketu are not taken into consideration at the time of asthavarga calculation by majority of eminent astrologers there are a few notable astrologers who prefer to include Rahu in calculating asthavarga. Hence we have chosen to record Rahu's asthavarga for those students who may follow the latter group of astrologers. We have discussed about it in the next paragraph.

From Budha benefic places—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 5th and 9th.

From Vrhaspathi benefic places—3rd, 4th, 6th and 9th.

From Sukra benefic places—2nd, 3rd, 5th and 9th.

From Sani benefic places—2nd, 5th and 6th.

From Rahu benefic places—1st, 4th, 5th, 6th and 9th.

From Lagna benefic places—4th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th.

Total—40

Asthavargas of lagna and Rahu are not mentioned in Brihat-Jataka and by other contemporary authors. Maharshi Parasara in his Parasari Hora gave a chart of lagnasthavarga where total benefic rekhas are 49. But there too no asthavarga of Rahu is found. In later days some eminent astrologers thought of Lagnasthavarga and asthavarga of Rahu. They drew Lagnasthavarga containing 37 benefic rekhas instead of 49. Regarding Rahu's asthavarga there is difference of opinion. Some of them fix 40 benefic rekhas of Rahu-asthavarga others are for 41 benefic rekhas. In Eastern part of India most of the astrologers of the 19th and early part of 20th centuries prefer 37 benefic rekhas for lagna and 40 for Rahu.

Let us now explain in detail the method of putting benefic rekhas to avoid confusion.

Several benefic places as said above are to be reckoned with respect to lagna rasi and not bhava occupied by each planet in the birth chart. The places (houses) where rekhas are put are to be understood as benefic and where there is no rekha is to be considered as malefic for that planet. For each of the 7 planets and lagna 8 times are to be counted to ascertain benefic and malefic houses. Maximum rekhas in a house would be 8 in number and malefic bindus also can not exceed 8.

Regarding putting rekhas (or small vertical lines) there are different processes in different parts of the country.

For example, in Bengal majority of astrologers give vertical strokes which are considered as benefic, where there is no such stroke they put bindus in that house.

Say, Ravi is in Mesa. From Ravi benefic rekhas will be put in the 1st, 2nd, 4th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th houses and in the 3rd, 5th, 6th and 12th houses there will be malefic bindus only.

In this way if a house contain 6 rekhas and 2 bindus we shall deduce that transit-Ravi while passing through that house will give $\frac{1}{2}$ favourable result.

Again, if a house contain 4 benefic rekhas there will be 4 malefic bindus in that house and the result will be neutral.

If malefic bindus are more in number than benefic rekhas the planet while traversing through that house give unfavourable result.

Mahasthavarga

Draw a separate chart. Now add the number of benefic rekhas of the seven planets of each rasi and put the total figure in the same rasi of which benefic rekhas of all the seven planets are summed up.

Let us explain the method in detail.

We may say that number of benefic rekhas in Mesa rasi of seven planets are to be added and the total figure thus found is to be put in Mesa rasi of Mahasthavarga chart. In this manner all the benefic rekhas of all rasis of seven planets' asthavarga charts are to be added and to be put in respective rasis in the Mahasthavarga chakra (or chart).

Asthavarga chakra

(Number of rekhas in each rasi of all planets are shown below:)

Draw a birth chart of the boy who was born on the 30th April, 1953 at 10 A.M. (L.M.T.) in Calcutta (See p. 69). We have not drawn separately birth chart and asthavarga chakras of 7 planets but indicate positions of lagna and planets for convenience of our readers. The number of auspicious rekhas in each rasi also is shown in the following diagram.

Birth chart—Lagna in Mithune, Ravi in Mesa, Chandra in Tula, Mangal and Vrhaspathi in Vrsha, Budha and Sukra in Mina, Sani in Kanya, Rahu in Makar and Ketu in Karkata.

If we look into the diagram of Mahasthavarga we find that sum of auspicious rekhas of all the 7 planets for Mesa rasi is 25, Vrsha rasi contains 29, Mithune 26 (where lagna rises), Karkata 29 etc.

Now add the figures received by Mina, Mesa, Vrsha and Mithune; again, the figures in Karkata, Simha, Kanya and Tula and lastly figures in Vrsika, Dhanu, Makar and Kumbha. All these group-numbers are to be added. The first group indicates first part of life, the second group the middle part and the third group indicates the old or last part of life.

Diagram of Asthavarga rekhas

	Ravi	Chandra	Mangal	Budha	Vrhaspathi	Sukra	Sani	Rasi
Lagna	2	5	4	4	6	4	1	Mithune
2nd	4	5	2	5	5	5	3	Karkata
3rd	5	3	6	4	6	4	4	Simha
4th	4	4	2	3	1	3	3	Kanya
5th	3	4	2	3	2	4	4	Tula
6th	4	5	2	5	8	5	4	Vrscika
7th	5	4	3	5	6	4	2	Dhanu
8th	4	5	3	5	4	7	4	Makar
9th	4	4	4	3	6	4	5	Kumbha
10th	5	5	5	8	4	4	4	Mina
11th	3	2	3	4	5	4	4	Mesa
12th	5	3	3	5	8	4	1	Vrsa

Mahasthavarga chakra

Bhava	Number of Rekhas	Rasi
Lagna	26	Mithune
2nd	29	Karkata
3rd	32	Simha
4th	20	Kanya
5th	22	Tula
6th	33	Vrscika
7th	29	Dhanu
8th	32	Makar
9th	30	Kumbha
10th	35	Mina
11th	25	Mesa
12th	29	Vrsa

In the present case it will be seen that—

The first group from Mina to Mithune, total benefic rekhas—

$$\text{Mina } 35 + \text{Mesa } 25 + \text{Vrsa } 29 + \text{Mithune } 26 = 115$$

The second or middle part, benefic rekhas—

$$\text{Karkata } 29 + \text{Simha } 32 + \text{Kanya } 20 + \text{Tula } 22 = 103$$

The old or last part, benefic rekhas—

Vrscika 33+Dhanu 29+Makar 32+Kumbha 30=124

The standard figure is 100, which means, that part of life will remain normal, the figure above 100 and below 120 indicates better part of life and if the figure is above 120 it will indicate best period.

We see that the last part of the native has fairly good total of 124 which means that the native will enjoy happy life in this part. The first part of life will be fairly good and the middle part of life is tolerably good.

Next thing to judge from Mahasthavarga chart is to see whether there is any dhanayoga, and worries and anxieties.

1. If the figures in 6th, 8th and 12th houses from lagna-rasi are more than those in lagna-rasi the native shall have to face very many obstacles in his career or day-to-day life and also suffer from worries and anxieties.

2. If the figures in any two malefic places (6th, 8th and 12th) from lagna rasi are more than those of lagna the native may find respite occasionally; if one place out of these three malefic houses are effected due to more figure than lagna-rasi the native may have to encounter some troubles relating to that house but he shall be able to pass over the difficulties after a short while.

3. If these malefic houses contain less number of auspicious rekhas than that of lagna-rasi the native shall have chance of enjoying an easy-going life.

4. Find the total figures in rasis where Sani, Mangal and Rahu are situated, the native may fall ill and suffer from worries and anxieties at those ages.

These effects are to be judged from Mahasthavarga chakra.

From asthavarga chakra :—

5. In asthavarga chakra of Sani—Add together the auspicious rekhas from Sani to lagna and lagna to Sani. we find two figures and also the sum of these two figures. These three figures will represent the ages at which the native shall have bad period. Of course if the dasa and antardasas are favourable the ages may not be so unfavourable. The unfavourable result will be prominently felt if dasa and antardasa also is unfavourable.

6. Similarly in Mangal's asthavarga, rekhas from Mangal to lagna and lagna to Mangal are to be added and also the sum of these two figures are to be determined. These ages also will be unfavourable if dasa and antardasa are not favourable.

7. We may ascertain favourable periods also from Vrhaspathi and Sukra's asthavarga charts.

The method of working out these favourable periods is the same as Sani and Mangal.

Thus we shall find the figures indicating ages when the native will get favourable result in many respects provided dasa and antardasa are favourable. If dasa and antardasa are otherwise these ages may not be as good as it should be.

The same process is applicable in case of Sukra.

In short, good periods may be ascertained from Vrhaspathi and Sukra's asthavarga and unfavourable periods from asthavarga chakras of Sani and Mangal.

8. To determine dhana yoga :—

In the Mahasthavarga chakra if the total figure in the 11th house is more than the figure in the 10th and the figure in the 12th is less than that of lagna and also of the 11th the native is supposed to be financially affluent.

But this is also to be specifically remembered that no favourable or unfavourable yogas will have serious influence on the native if they are not supported by similar yogas in the birthchart. As for example, if we find dhana yoga in Mahasthavarga chakra but the birthchart shows signs of serious poverty the ghanayoga in the Mahasthavarga chakra will have no influence on the native.

9. In Mahasthavarga—Add together the figures in rasis where Sani, Mangal and Rahu are posited. The figure thus obtained may be reduced by subtracting multiples of 12 and 27. The resultant number will indicate the age. The period at those ages may prove very bad for the native if the dasa and antardasa are also unfavourable.

There is another method of finding out periods of childhood, youth and old enumerated by renowned author Kalyanvarma in his Saravally an authoritative book on astrology. He also narrated a different process to determine yogas of wealth and poverty. We shall explain both the methods in the next paragraphs.

(i) Add together the figure of the Mahasthavarga chakra in lagna-rasi, the 4th, 7th, and 10th from lagna-rasi.

The sum of those figures will represent the first part of life or early stage of life.

(ii) Sum of the figures in the 2nd, 5th, 8th and 11th will stand for middle part or young stage of life.

(iii) Add together the figures in the 3rd, 6th, 9th and 12th. The sum thus obtained will represent the old stage of life.

That part of life which has the maximum number of auspicious rekhas shall be happier than the other two.

(iv) To determine the wealth giving yoga or yoga of poverty the author's method is as follows :

In Mahasthavarga chakra—

Add together the figures in the (i) 1st (lagnarasi), 5th and the 9th (ii) the 2nd, 6th and the 10th, (iii) the 3rd, 7th and the 11th, (iv) the 4th, 8th and the 12th reckoned from lagnarasi.

If there are more auspicious rekhas in the 3rd group than the 4th group indication is that the native shall be rich. Otherwise, he shall be poor. Nothing has been said about the first and the second group.

When a planet transits through a rasi (see Mahasthavarga chakra) containing 30 auspicious rekhas or more the planet will be favourable for the native; if the figure is less than 30 and more than 25 the planet will be neutral and if the figure is less than 25 the planet in question will give unfavourable result.

Gocharphala or results of transits of planets in different houses

Planets as we said earlier are moving constantly through various rasis and during such movement which we term as transit or gochar they produce some good or bad effect according to their ownership, position and relation with other benefic or malefic planets in the birth chart.

Transit-results are very important and should not be ignored. Transits of planets modify benefic or malefic results of dasa and antardasa. When we are to consider good or bad effect of transit of a planet it is the position of the radical Moon or Janmarasi from which such transit is to be considered though modern astrologers do not ignore lagna at the time of making any prophecy about such planetary transit. But shastric directions are always to count houses from Janmarasi.

Let us explain the above contention more elaborately by an example. In the standard horoscope of the boy born on the 30th April 1953 we find that lagna is in Mithune and Chandra (i.e. Janmarasi or radical Moon) is in Tula. If we are to consider the results of transits of Vrhaspathi and Sani at the time of writing this chapter in October, 1978 we find Sani in the 11th and Vrhaspathi in the 10th place from Janmarasi and Sani is situated in the 3rd and Vrhaspathi is in the 2nd place reckoned from lagna. Sani being in the 11th place from Janmarasi will produce favourable result and Vrhaspathi in the 10th place from radical moon will give unfavourable result. On the other hand both the planets will give good result from lagna. Authoritative pundits have totally ignored lagna in reference to gochar and we too shall deal in gochar results from Janmarasi only.

Gocharphala of Ravi

Ravi is favourable while transiting through 3rd, 6th, 10th and 11th houses from Janmarasi. In other places he will produce bad results.

1. Ravi in the 1st house—Ill health due to blood pressure, heart trouble, fatigue, nervous ailment, loss of money and prestige, eye disease, obstacles in all enterprises, fear and anxiety, misunderstanding with authorities etc.

2. In the 2nd house—loss of money, quarrel with friends and relatives, financial set-back, worries and anxieties, unsuccess etc.

3. In the 3rd house—good health, comforts in family life, appreciation by higher authorities or recognition by superiors, gain of wealth, new position and status, courage etc.

4. In the 4th house—domestic troubles and unhappiness, financial difficulties, dispute with friends and relatives, trouble in conjugal life etc.

5. In the 5th house—loss of mental peace, anxieties due to inimical activities of some one, accidents, bad health of the native and his children, strained relation with authorities or superiors and men in power, separation from relatives etc.

6. In the 6th house—success in all undertakings, cheerfulness, good health, good earning, happiness, enemies of the native will be subdued.

7. In the 7th house—the native will be unhappy owing to misunderstanding with his wife, bad health due to indigestion, disease of the intestine and anus, dysentery, fear, fatigue owing to nervous strain, depression of mind, humiliation, worries and anxieties etc.

8. In the 8th house—bad company, high blood pressure, displeasure from the king of the land, administrative head or superiors, quarrel with friends, irritable temperament, bad health of wife etc.

9. In the 9th house—bad luck, disappointment, loss of status, enmity with elders, humiliation, sickness etc.

10. In the 10th house—fulfillment of desire, restoration of lost position, gain of money, the native may be benefited by persons of high social standing etc.

11. In the 11th house—Ravi while moving through the 11th house from Janmarasi will confer on the native good and respectable position, honour, wealth, success and predominance over others etc.

12. In the 12th house—Ill health, sorrow, loss of money, wearisome travelling, unnecessary expenditure, quarrel with friends etc.

Ravi while passing through first 10° degrees of rasi will produce result.

Gocharphala of Chandra

Chandra produces beneficial results while passing through 1st, 3rd, 6th, 7th, 10th and 11th houses from Janmarasi. In other places Chandra is unfavourable. While undertaking new work or journey for a new place we generally consult the Almanac to see whether Chandra-suddhi of the person is there, this means that whether gocharphala of Chandra is favourable or not. Older generation obeyed strictly this shastric direction. They did not do any new work or would not go out of their residence to attend an appointment if Chandra and Ravi-suddhies are not available in the Panchanga (Almanac). But now-a-days life is so cumbrous and we are so busy that in order to cope with speed of the-yuga (age) we must be alert and cannot lose a moment to wait for Chandra or Ravi-suddhi. Hence modern young men cry down this belief and term this habit of old men as nonsense.

1. In the 1st house—Excellent food, bedroom comforts, sexual enjoyments, good fortunes, meeting with friends, gain of money etc.

2. In the 2nd house—Loss of prestige and wealth, dispute and unsuccess.

3. In the 3rd house—The native shall get wealth, good dress, women, joy and happiness etc.

4. In the 4th house—Loss of mental peace, domestic unhappiness, troubles, sorrows etc.

5. In the 5th house—Indigestion, mental worries, despair, obstacles in undertakings, loss of money, humiliation etc.

6. In the 6th house—The native enjoys wealth and good health ; he acquires friendship with good men and is happy etc.

7. In the 7th house—Good friends, bedroom comforts, sexual enjoyments, good food and dress, gain of conveyances, honour, gain of money and happiness, short journey etc.

8. In the 8th house—Misery, ill health, quarrel, anxiety, bronchial troubles etc.

9. In the 9th house—Fatigue and general debility, pain in the chest, mental agony, unwanted expenditure, loss of prestige and money etc.

10. In the 10th house—success, happiness and home comforts etc.

11. In the 11th house—The native shall enjoy prosperity, good health, money and company of new friends.

12. In the 12th house—Loss of money, injury, accident, unexpected expenditure, laziness, misunderstanding with friends and relatives.

Chandra will produce Gocharphala daily.

Gocharphala of Mangal

Mangal produces good results while passing through the 3rd, 6th and 11th houses from Janmarasi. In other houses he is unfavourable.

1. In the 1st house—accident through fire, poison or weapons, disease of bile, blood or heat, hepatic ailments, colic pain, piles or fissure, low vitality, fatigue, loss of money, the native may incur displeasure of superiors, obstacles in undertakings etc.

2. In the 2nd house—loss of money, harsh speech and dealing, fear from enemies and thieves, bad temper, disgrace, to incur displeasure of Government, anxiety, bilious and windy disease etc.

3. In the 3rd house—increase of vitality and energy, good health and strength, success in all endeavours, gain of position and money etc.

4. In the 4th house—mental agony, domestic unhappiness, disease of fever, indigestion and dysentery, loss of mental peace owing to hostile activities of relatives. The native may be cheated by some of his friends and incur monetary loss.

5. In the 5th house—quarrel with kith and kin and sons, serious illness—even death of a son, theft in the house, obstacles in performing religious deeds, disease of indigestion, dysentery, physical weakness etc.

6. In the 6th house—enemies may be vanquished, success in litigation and all undertakings, good earnings, good health etc.

7. In the 7th house—unhealthy atmosphere in the family, bad health of wife, or quarrel with her, mental agony, indigestion, stomach-ache, unnecessary travelling, loss of money etc.

8. In the 8th house—accident, serious illness, poisoning, wounds, litigation, loss of blood, anaemia, loss of money and mental peace etc.

9. In the 9th house—bad luck, loss of money, troublesome journey, humiliation, loss of vitality, mental anxiety etc.

10. In the 10th house—great trouble in vocational or professional sphere, misbehaviour, failure in endeavours, loss of money, ill health of any superior person etc.

11. In the 11th house—financial prospect, acquisition of landed property, success in undertakings, family peace, good health etc.

12. In the 12th house—disease in anus, hepatic ailments, eye troubles, unwanted expenses, mental worries, quarrel with wife and friends etc.

Mangal produces results when he passes through the first 10° degrees of a rasi.

Gocharphala of Budha

Budha produces favourable results in the 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th, 10th and 11th houses from Janmarasi and he will be unfavourable in other places.

1. In the 1st house—unsteady mind, dull intellect, unmannerly attitude and speech that creates enemies, friendship with low and mean people, loss of money in journey, obstacle in academic career etc.

2. In the 2nd house—good results in financial and professional undertakings but he (the planet) causes disgrace, dishonour, scandal and misery when passes through the 2nd house.

3. In the 3rd house—hostility with relatives, gain of new friends and destruction of enemies, troubles from Government and superiors etc.

4. In the 4th house—indication of good health, gain of money, honour and happiness, prosperity to relatives, domestic tranquillity, gain of good friends etc.

5. In the 5th house—bad relation with son, dull intellect, bad luck, loss of money and position etc.

6. In the 6th house—gain of position, status and popularity, prosperity, success, appreciation of native's efficiency by others etc.

7. In the 7th house—health may be run down due to attack of various diseases, mental worries, loss of money and domestic peace etc.

8. In the 8th house—gain of money through various sources, victory over enemies and other obstacles, cheerfulness, skill and intellect etc.

9. In the 9th house—obstacles in undertakings, loss of money and position etc.

10. In the 10th house—vocational success, domestic happiness, victory over enemies, prosperity etc.

11. In the 11th house—gain of money, happy conjugal life, gain of good friends, prosperity etc.

12. In the 12th house—domestic unhappiness, loss of money, enemies may create serious troubles, the native may court disgrace etc.

Gocharphala of Vrhaspathi

Of the slow moving planets Vrhaspathi's function in transit is very important. He is favourable in the 2nd, 5th, 7th, 9th and 11th houses from Janmarasi and in other places he is unfavourable.

1. In the 1st house—bad health, loss of wealth, heavy expenditure, domestic worries, bad relation with relatives etc.

2. In the 2nd house—good earning, gain of wealth, success in all enterprises, birth of a son, prosperity, promotion of service, gain of popularity etc.

3. In the 3rd house—loss of mental peace, failure in undertaking, loss of friends and position, family discomfort etc.

4. In the 4th house—loss of domestic peace, worries and anxieties, loss of money, quarrel with friends etc.

5. In the 5th house—This is a very auspicious house for Vrhaspathi. The native's efficiency may be highly appreciated by authorities, he will be honoured by others. Monetary gain, ceremonies at home, may visit holy places, may meet with honest and pious men, he may be initiated.

6. In the 6th house—unsuccess in undertakings, quarrel with relatives, inimical activities of some one, loss of money etc.

7. In the 7th house—happy conjugal life, sexual pleasure, marriage, financial gain, prosperity, knowledge, interest in new subjects etc.

8. In the 8th house—ill health, change of residence, transfer to unwanted place, liver trouble, fatigue, loss of money, dishonour, anxieties etc.

9. In the 9th house—good luck, prosperity, efficiency, promotion in service career, popularity, happiness at home, acquisition of landed property etc.

10. In the 10th house—loss of status, demotion in service career, may incur the displeasure of superiors, loss of money and prestige, scandle, domestic trouble, death of dear and near one, dispute about landed property etc.

11. In the 11th house—gain of money and luxurious articles, marriage, birth of a son, prosperity, respectful positio, ngood health etc.

12. In the 12th house—heavy expenditure, wearisome journey, anxiety, loss of money and property, bad health, loss of domestic peace etc.

Gocharphala of Sukra

Sukra is favourable in the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th houses from Janmarasi and in other places she is unfavourable.

1. In the 1st house—good academic career, gain of status, happy conjugal life, good dress, development of artistic talent, gain of articles of luxury etc.

2. In the 2nd house—domestic happiness, marriage, prosperity, increased wealth, gains etc.

3. In the 3rd house—energetic approach to all endeavours, success, gain of position, power and prestige, good friends, he may pass through pleasurable days, happy married life etc.

4. In the 4th house—uplift of vocational career, good gain through agricultural pursuits, pleasure trips, gain of wealth, domestic tranquillity etc.

5. In the 5th house—defeat of enemy, efficiency, meritorious works to be appreciated by superiors and gain of honours from them, sympathies from friends, virtuous deeds, name and fame, cordial relation with friends and relatives etc.

6. In the 6th house—unfavourable results such as disgrace, debts, quarrels, litigation, financial loss, anxieties etc.

7. In the 7th house—domestic unhappiness, scandal, association with women of ill repute, ill health of or misunderstanding with wife, loss of money etc.

8. In the 8th house—good health, acquisition of land, building an excellent house of his own, gain of wealth, or honour, and prosperity etc.

9. In the 9th house—gain of luxury-articles, respect from elders, gain of knowledge, fame and prosperity etc.

10. In the 10th house—good professional career, respect from friends but defeat in litigation, disgrace, quarrel with elders etc.

11. In the 11th house—gain of money, prosperity, friendship with opposite sex, mental peace, domestic peace and happiness etc.

12. In the 12th house—enjoyment, gain of luxury-goods, unnecessary expenditure, indulgence in sensual pleasures etc.

Gocharphala of Sani

Sani during his transit is beneficial when he passes through 3rd, 6th and 11th houses. Other houses are unfavourable for him.

Sani in transit is very unfavourable in the 7th, 8th and 12th houses from radical moon. He is "Randhra-gata" when he is in the 8th house from Janmarasi. "Randhra" means 8th place or Mrityu-sthana or house of death. Even a lay man becomes panicky when he hears of 'Randhra-gata' Sani in his birth chart.

1. In the 1st house—bad health, bereavement, change of place, separation from one's own men, miseries, failure in every endeavour, loss of money, mental worries etc.

2. In the 2nd house—loss of money, quarrel with relatives, financial stringency, heavy expenditure, loss of money and prestige owing to deception committed by notorious persons, ill health, loss of mental peace, unhappy conjugal life etc.

3. In the 3rd house—native's anxiety over question of availability of a good servant may be solved, he shall be able to do his duties more energetically and actively and shall be successful in his endeavour if dasa and antardasa donot stand in the way, he shall be able to exert his influence over many, particularly his subordinates, shall be able to secure his position and status. 3rd house is a upachayasthana, malefic planets in transit or in a radical chart will act favourably when they pass through or is situated in any of the upachayasthanas.

4. In the 4th house—the native shall be deprived of the company of good friends, rather shall associate with wicked men, shall fall in the trap of cheats and shall lose both money and prestige, domestic unhappiness, bad health of mother etc.

5. In the 5th house—loss of children, bad health due to indigestion or any other similar ailment, misjudgment, misapplication of intelligence, loss of money and may have to face trouble for that, separation from family, obstacle in performing religious deeds etc.

6. In the 6th house—this is also a upachayasthana. Sani in transit is considered to produce favourable results in respect of health, wealth and profession, success, defeat of enemies etc.

7. In the 7th house—loss of money in business sector, may incur displeasure of superiors, or of authorities, domestic troubles, bad health of wife and also of himself, obstacle and hindrance in every affair, tedious journey, fatigue etc.

8. In the 8th house—Sani is very unfavourable in the 8th house. Litigation, grief, most unhappy conjugal life due to either separation from or ill health of life partner, death or serious illness of children, intense miseries, loss of money owing to association with wicked men, gambling etc.

9. In the 9th house—tedious journey, enmity, loss of money, sorrow and unhappiness, ill health etc.

10. In the 10th house—Though 10th house also is one of the 'upachayasthanas' Sani will exert his evil influence in some respects when he passes through this house.

Favourable influences are—prosperity, success in new enterprises, unemployed will get employment or those who are already in service may get promotion.

Unfavourable results are—loss of money and accumulated wealth, loss of prestige, the native may indulge in sinful deeds etc.

11. In the 11th house—This is also a 'upachayasthana' and it is a favourable place for Sani.

Results are—gain of money, increased income, name and fame, happy relation with friends and relatives, good status etc.

12. In the 12th house—very bad house for Sani. Results are same as his passage through the 7th and 8th houses, only thing to be noted particularly is that there may be series of unhappy incidents in the family, unwanted heavy expenditure, loss of money due to theft or burglary, loss of mental peace.

It is needless to repeat that the transit of Sani through the 12th, 1st and the 2nd houses from Janmarasi is very unfavourable. The movement of Sani through these three houses is termed as Sani's 'Sade Sathi' which means that Sani takes $7\frac{1}{2}$ years to cover these fateful three rasis from the 12th to 2nd houses from radical moon—as Sani takes on an average $2\frac{1}{3}$ years to complete his passage through one rasi.

Experienced astrologers of eminence have termed Sani's 'Sade Sathi' as producing notoriously evil results. Generally this 'Sade Sathi' may occur three times in a man's life. In the first cycle the native is young in age and evil effects produced by 'Sade Sathi' may not do much harm to the native but malefic effects may be felt by his parents and their domestic environment may not remain healthy and comfortable. In the second term of 'Sade Sathi' the native is supposed to be a middle aged person and the effect of the 2nd cycle will be very malicious with regard to his health, financial condition and professional career.

In the third term the native shall attain about 90 years of age. Very few persons live upto that age. However, during the tenure of third cycle of Sani's 'Sade Sathi' the native suffers from serious illness, worries and anxieties, this may even cause death of the native.

If the dasa and antardasa running at the time of 'Sade Sathi' happen to be favourable and Sani in the birth chart is well-disposed evil results due to 'Sade Sathi' may be negligible.

Another very important point to be noted is that if the dasa and antardasa are favourable and Sani transits through a rasi where malefic bindus in asthavarga chart are more than benefic rekhas the native may suffer from miseries and other malefic effects in spite of favourable dasa and antardasa.

Gocharphala of Rahu and Ketu

Generally astrologers are of opinion that Rahu will produce the results similar to Sani and Ketu's results are similar to Mangal. But Rahu's transit in the 10th house from Janmarasi brings forth financial gain abundantly for the native.

A few general rules of application of gocharphala of planets

We have so long dealt with results of transit of planets in different houses from Janmarasi. But we should not forget that along with the transit of planets indication of planets' capability to impart benefic or malefic results according to the natal chart are to be taken note of. As for example a natural malefic planet's transit to a upachayasthan from Janmarasi may cause monetary gain but if the natal chart has very ominous signs so far the native's financial conditions are concerned he may not get the benefit of monetary gain in spite of good transit of a particular planet or planets. Similarly if the transit of a planet speaks of very unfavourable result but the planet in question is powerful and well disposed in the natal chart and the rasi through which the planet passes has contained more benefic rekhas in asthavarga chart the results of that planet in spite of unfavourable transit will not be evil.

1. If a planet's sojourn to a malefic house from Janmarasi happens to be his exalted, mooltrikone, own or friendly sign the planet will not produce very bad result, rather effects will be mildest, milder or mild.

2. If the transiting planet be favourable in the birth chart and the house (where he transits) from Janmarasi also be benefic such transit will prove beneficial provided in the asthavarga chart of that planet that rasi contains benefic rekhas at least more than 4.

(i) If that planet transits to his inimical rasi or the house of depression the result will not be favourable.

3. Again, if the planet by ownership or position in the birth-chart is malefic he will not be able to yield favourable result in spite of his transit to a favourable house from Janmarasi. Of course if in the asthavarga chart the planet contains more benefic rekhas the unfavourable result will be minimum.

4. If a natural benefic transits to a favourable house from Janmarasi and at the same time is in retrograde motion in that house his good results will be very effective. Here also the asthavarga chakra of that planet should be consulted. If the planet receives more benefic rekhas in that rasi the aforesaid maximum good result may be expected.

(i) If the planet is a natural benefic but transits to an unfavourable house and at the same time he is in retrograde motion malefic results will be minimum.

5. If a natural malefic after transiting to a favourable house be in retrograde motion the beneficial results will be reduced to minimum or to nil, and if a malefic planet transits to an unfavourable house and be retrograde the unfavourable results will be intensified.

6. When dasa and antardasa of benefic planets run and the planet moves to a favourable house the results of transit will be very much favourable, whereas if the planet transits to an unfavourable house the favourable results of dasa and antardasa will be reduced.

7. When a planet is combust (or obstructed by Ravi's rays or eclipsed) he cannot produce any good result in spite of his transit to a favourable house from Janmarasi.

8. Similarly unfavourable results of transit of a planet even through a favourable house will be produced if the planet is hemmed in between two malefics. If the rasi where the planet moves contains more than 4 benefic rekhas in asthavarga chakra minimum good result will be felt.

(i) Reverse will be the result if the planet is situated between two benefics.

9. If a planet transits through a benefic house which contains more than 4 auspicious rekhas and the 4th, 5th or 9th place from that planet is occupied by a benefic the maximum favourable results will be produced but if the house where the planet transits contains less than 4 rekhas fairly good result may be felt by the native under similar condition provided the planet transits through his own, exalted or friendly house, otherwise no good or bad result may be expected.

10. Special points to be noted—

A transiting planet can not give any result if the Vedasthana is posited by any other planet.

From the table in the next page it is clear that number of Vedasthanas of a planet from natal Chandra is exactly the same as the number of favourable places of that planet.

For example—transiting Ravi is favourable in the 3rd place (house) from Janmarasi (or natal Chandra) the corresponding Vedasthana is the 9th place from Janmarasi. This means when Ravi transits through the 3rd place from Janmarasi and at the same time another planet passes through the 9th house from Janmarasi Ravi's good effect due to favourable transit will be checked or nullified. Therefore a planet's favourable transit will be ineffective if any other planet passes through the corresponding Vedasthana of that planet. Again if a planet moves to an unfavourable place from natal Chandra (or Janmarasi) and the corresponding favourable house of that planet is occupied by any other planet the effect of unfavourable transit will be checked or nullified.

For instance, Ravi's movement to the 9th place from Janmarasi is inauspicious if at that time any other planet transits through the 3rd house from natal Chandra Ravi's bad effect is checked. This reverse rule is applicable in case of all planets.

But there is a special rule with regard to Ravi and Sani, Budha and Chandra. This means if Ravi and Sani mutually move to their respective Vedasthanas their effects during favourable or unfavourable transits will not be checked. Similar is the case with Budha and Chandra.

In the following table corresponding Vedasthana of each planet is shown.

Ravi		Vrhaspathi
Benefic places from natal Chandra	Corresponding Vedasthana	Benefic places from natal Chandra	Corresponding Vedasthana
3rd house	9th house	2nd house	12th house
6th house	12th house	5th house	4th house
10th house	4th house	7th house	3rd house
11th house	1st house	9th house	10th house
		11th house	8th house
Chandra		Sukra
1st house	5th house	1st house	8th house
3rd house	9th house	2nd house	7th house
6th house	12th house	3rd house	1st house
7th house	2nd house	4th house	10th house
10th house	4th house	5th house	9th house
11th house	8th house	8th house	5th house
		9th house	11th house
		10th house	6th house
		12th house	3rd house
Mangal		Sani
3rd house	12th house	3rd house	12th house
6th house	9th house	6th house	9th house
11th house	5th house	11th house	5th house
Budha
2nd house	5th house
4th house	3rd house
6th house	9th house
8th house	1st house
10th house	7th house
11th house	12th house

A separate book is required if we are to deal with this subject only from all aspects of transits. Inquisitive readers may take help of other authoritative treatise on this subject—particularly Tajik Nilkanthi.

CHAPTER XVI

DISEASES

There are innumerable yogas of diseases in authoritative books on astrology. It is hardly possible to quote all of them in a book of this size for want of space. I however mention a few very important yogas of diseases from which generally men of tropical countries suffer. This is also to be noted that not all the yogas are found in toto in a birth chart. It rests with the astrologer to understand the inner meaning of yogas and explain them according to his own ability and experience. As for instance, general dictum is that Sani together with Mangal when placed in the 7th or the 8th place from lagna the husband or the wife as the case may be may die a premature death. It may so happen that Sani and Mangal together are not posited in the 7th or 8th place from lagna but Sani in the 8th place is aspected by Mangal, or the 7th lord either Sani or Mangal is situated in any other unfavourable bhava. From such placement of these two unfavourable planets in any malefic bhava or their relation with the 7th lord it may be construed that the conditions of the malefic yoga are fulfilled and the unfavourable results contemplated by astrological pundits may happen.

This is the way how majority of favourable or unfavourable yogas are explained.

Blindness : 1. If the 4th or 5th bhava is associated with malefics, over and above Chandra specially occupies 6th, 8th or 12th house the native becomes blind.

But if the owners of these bhavas and Chandra are conjoined with or aspected by benefics the result will not be unfavourable.

2. The native will be blind from his very birth if Ravi and Chandra being in Simha lagna are aspected by Sani and Mangal. If lagna receives the aspect of any benefic the native's eyes will be full of bubbles, consequently he shall not be able to see anything.

In Brihat-jataka it is stated that Ravi, Chandra, Sani and Mangal cause blindness if they are related to each other in any way—particularly if these planets are situated in the 2nd, 6th 8th and 12th houses this inauspicious result may happen.

Commentator Bhattapal is of opinion that when lagna rises at Simharasi and Ravi is there and there is full aspect of Sani and Mangal on lagna and Ravi the native will be blind of right eye and if only Chandra in that lagna is aspected by aforesaid malefic planets the native will be blind of left eye.

3. The native loses his eyesight if the 6th or 8th place is occupied by a malefic. Unfavourable planets in the 6th house cause blindness of the left eye and if the 8th house is occupied by a malefic sight of right eye will be lost.

4. When Ravi is posited in lagna or the 7th place from lagna and is aspected by or conjoined with Sani the native at a very early age loses the sight of the right eye, and if such ill disposed Ravi is in the company of only Rahu and Mangal the native becomes blind of left eye

5. If malefic planets be placed in the 6th, 8th or 12th places and Ravi being one of them be situated in the 12th and Chandra is in the 6th place the native loses his left eye. Again, if Ravi be in the 8th place instead of the 12th the native loses his right eye.

6. The native will be blind when Mangal owns the 2nd house, the 8th house is occupied by Ravi and Chandra, and Sani be either in the 6th or 12th house from lagna.

The sloka is quoted from Jataka Ratna :

(i) This is also a yoga of blindness if Chandra be in any one of the houses of 6th, 8th or 12th and Sani and Mangal are combined with each other.

7. When lords of the 2nd, 5th, 7th and 9th places are in dusthanas and Sukra is in lagna the native becomes blind.

8. If Chandra is in the 6th, Ravi in the 8th, Sani in the 12th and Mangal is situated in the 2nd place even Indra, the king of heaven cannot escape the result of this unfavourable yoga of blindness.

9. If the lord of the 2nd house in conjunction with the lord of lagna be situated in any dusthana the native loses his eye sight.

10. When lagnapathi, Ravi and Sukra together are posited in any bhava particularly in any dusthana the native will be blind from his very birth.

If these planets gain strength on account of their position in the houses of exaltation or own house unfavourable result stated above in some cases do not happen.

If these unfavourable yogakaraka planets are associated with the lords of the 9th, 4th or 3rd houses malefic results will be effective in cases of father, mother, brother or sister respectively.

The following yogas are quoted from Sarvartha Chintamony :

11. When lagnapathi and dhanapathi (2nd Lord) together be placed in any dusthana the native becomes blind.

12. The native becomes blind from his very birth if Ravi, Sukra and lagnapathi in combination with the lord of the 2nd place are posited in any dusthana.

13. Jatakalankar says that if the 6th, 8th or 12th place is occupied by Ravi and Sukra the native will be born blind and if any bhava lord is associated with these two planets the malefic result of blindness will effect them indicated by those bhavas i.e. say the 9th lord is associated with these malefic yogakaraka planets the father will be blind, if it is the 4th lord conjoined with those malefic yogakarakas the mother will be blind etc.

14. In case of a few yogas of blindness the following points are to be noted :

(i) Mangal being in the 12th will effect the left eye, and if Sani be in the 12th it is the right eye that will be lost.

According to Phaladipika Ravi and Mangal are signifiers of eyesight. Ravi and the 2nd house indicate right eye and Chandra as well as the 12th house indicate left eye.

15. Yoga of loss of one eye : When of the two planets, Ravi and Chandra one is in the 12th and the other in the 6th the native will be an one eyed person. Unfortunate coincidence is that his wife too will also be one eyed.

16. Yoga of night blindness : If in a birthchart Chandra and Sukra together occupy the 6th, 8th or 12th house the native may be blind at night.

17. In case of Tula lagna if Ravi in combination with a malefic is posited in lagna the native will be blind at night and be poor.

18. If the lord of the 2nd house conjoined with Sukra, and Chandra is situated in lagna it is a yoga of night blindness, but if the 2nd lord is exalted or combined with a benefic the yoga of night blindness is nullified.

19. If the lord of lagna, Ravi and Sukra are situated in invisible part of the birthchart the native's eyesight will be weak.

(From the 2nd bhava upto the 7th bhava is the invisible part of birthchart.)

20. These are also the yogas of night blindness,

(i) When lords of lagna and the 2nd house are related to each other, and Ravi and Chandra are combined with Sukra, or

(ii) Lagnapathi and the lord of the 2nd house are related to each other and they are posited in any of the three houses from the rasi occupied by Sukra and the 2nd lord is associated with Ravi and Chandra.

Eye disease : 21. Ravi in Simha lagna causes eye disease.

(Jataka-Parijat)

22. The native suffers from Eye disease and Tooth trouble under the following configuration of planets, such as,

(i) Chandra or Rahu is in the 12th, Sani in the 5th or 9th house and Ravi occupies the 7th or 8th house from lagna,

(ii) If those planets are posited in debilitated navamsa rasi of a malefic the native suffers from Eye disease.

23. If Gulik (Mandi) is posted in the 8th place from lagna the native has defaced face and weak Eye sight.

24. In case of Simha lagna even if Ravi is in his exalted house (that is Mesa rasi) and is aspected by Sani and Mangal the native suffers from eye disease.

25. If Ravi is in Karkata lagna and aspected by Sani and Mangal the native has inflamed eyes.

26. If lagna is occupied by the lords of the 10th, 6th and 2nd or these planets are situated in the lowest debilitated points and are conjoined with malefics the native loses his eyes due to wrath of the head of the state.

27. If the lords of dwadasamsa of the lords of 6th and 10th houses conjoined with lords of lagna are posited in any dusthana and are not aspected by any benefic the native suffers from Eye disease.

Dumbness : 28. If the lord of the 2nd house accompanied by Vrhspathi is posited in the 8th place from lagna the native becomes dumb, but if any of those planets (viz., Vṛhaspathi and 2nd lord) occupy his own or exalted house the malefic yoga of dumbness is nullified.

29. If Chandra is posited in Vṛsa rasi and malefic planets are situated in "Riksha Sandhi" the native will be dumb.

(Riksha Sandhi means the last point of Karkata, Vṛścika and Mīna rasis.)

Some commentators are of opinion that as Chandra in Vṛsa is strong the yoga will be ineffective if she is not aspected by any unfavourable planet.

According to Saravali the yoga of dumbness will be ineffective if Chandra is not aspected by all those malefics being in "Riksha Sandhi".

According to Jataka-Parijat if Chandra is aspected by a benefic the native shall not be dumb in spite of the aspect of those three malefics. Only result will be that the functioning of native's vocal organ may be retarded and he may start speaking at late years of age.

(i) If Chandra is aspected by two malefics out of the aforesaid three unfavourable planets the native may have indistinct speech or he may pronounce words with break and there will be no fluency in the manner of talk.

30. If Vṛhaspathi and the lord of the 2nd house be posited in any dusthana the native becomes dumb, when the lord of the bhava indicating father or mother are conjoined with those two planets (Vṛhaspathi and the 2nd lord) the native's parents will be dumb. (Para-Hora)

31. If the lord of the 2nd house combined with Budha and Rahu is situated in the 6th place from lagna, the 2nd lord is conjoined with the lord of the rasi occupied by Budha and Rahu the native is attacked with any disease of palate and ultimately becomes dumb. ((S. Chintamony))

32. If the 4th place falls in a cardinal sign or the 4th bhava is associated with "Chara" (swift moving) planet, the 4th lord be in the 6th and the 12th house is occupied by Mangal the native becomes dumb. (Para-Hora)

Deafness or disease of ears : 3rd and 11th houses signify Ears. Third house indicates right ear and Eleventh house left ear.

According to Brihat Jataka from 5th and 9th houses one should know about ears and Seventh house signifies teeth.

33. If malefic planets be posited in 3rd, 11th, 5th and 9th the native will be suffering from disease of ears and be deaf. If those malefics are not aspected by a favourable planet the yoga of deafness will certainly be fruitful. (J. Parijat)

(i) According to some commentators if Chandra unaspected by any favourable planet be placed in any of those places, (viz., 3rd, 11th, 5th or 9th places) the disease of ears is possible.

34. If Chandra, Budha, Vrhaspathi and Sukra together are posited in any sign (rasi) the native becomes deaf but he will be highly educated, rich and a noted personality.

35. If waning moon of the dark fortnight occupies lagna there is possibility of deafness. This is also supported by Brihat-Jataka and Phaladipika.

My father's lagna was in Tula and Chandra was there and Ravi was in Makar Rasi, at his 70 yrs. of age he was slightly hard of hearing.

36. If Mangal associated with 'Mandi' (Gulik) is situated in the 3rd house the native suffers from the disease of ears.

37. When 3rd house is associated with a malefic and is not aspected by any benefic the native becomes deaf.

In my birthchart the 3rd house is occupied by more than one unfavourable planet. I feel that I am gradually losing power of hearing but complete loss of power of hearing is not expected as the 3rd lord is very powerful:

Dental disease

38. If the 7th place is occupied by a malefic and is not aspected by any beneficial planet the native has uneven set of teeth and suffers from disease of teeth.

39. If Chandra or Rahu occupies the 12th, Sani is in any trikona (5th or 9th place) and Ravi is placed in the 7th or 8th house the native suffers from both Tooth and Eye diseases.

40. If the lord of the rasi where Rahu is situated or Rahu himself along with the lord of the 2nd house occupies any dusthana the native during dasa-antardasa of the lord of the 2nd house suffers from tooth-disease and during the sub-period of Budha under the major period of the 2nd lord (during dasa of the 2nd lord and antardasa of Budha) he shall be attacked with any disease of the tongue. (J. Parijai)

(i) Sarvartha Chintamony supporting the aforesaid yoga has further mentioned that if Budha and Rahu conjoined with the 2nd lord are placed in the 6th place from lagna, or they are combined with lord of the sign (rasi) where Rahu is posited the native suffers from disease of palate during their dasa and antardasa.

Disease of the throat : 41. If the 3rd lord is combined with Budha there is possibility of throat-disease, or the native unknowingly may swallow any poisonous thing or drug. That may cause such ailment in throat and for want of financial affluence proper treatment cannot be rendered. (J. Parijat)

Sarvartha Chintamony another authoritative book on astrology says that disease of the throat is possible only when 3rd lord conjoined with Budha occupies lagna.

I think the version of Sarvartha Chintamony is more dependable. In my horoscope and also my younger brother's 3rd lords are conjoined with Budha but uptil now no such trouble is apprehended. I am a grand old man of 75. I have not experienced any such trouble as yet. I have a close friend in whose horoscope the 3rd lord is conjoined with Budha but he has no such experience even at the age of 78.

42. If any malefic associated with 'Mandi' (Gulika) occupies the 3rd house disease of the throat is possible.

43. If Chandra being in the 4th place with a malefic occupies that sign and also in Navamsa Chakra the disease of the throat is apprehended.

44. When both the 2nd lord and Rahu are combined with the 3rd lord the disease of the throat will be very painful.

45. If Vrhaspathi being in the 8th place is in conjunction with a planet in debilitation such disease is possible.

Asthma or disease of respiratory organ

46. When Ravi posited in lagna is aspected by Mangal the native may be attacked with asthma, consumption or colic pain.

47. If Sani being in the 6th place is combined with 'Mandi', aspected by Ravi, Mangal and Rahu, and is neither aspected by nor associated with any benefic the native may suffer from any kind of phlegmatic disease—such as, asthma or phthisis.

48. When the 12th place from lagna is occupied by any malefic, 6th place by Chandra, 8th place by Sani and lagnapathi acquires malefic navamsa the native suffers from malignant type of nasal ulcer (ayurvedic term is Pinās).

49. If Chandra is hemmed in between two malefics and Ravi is posited in the 7th place which falls in makar rasi the native may be attacked with any kind of phlegmatic disease.

50. If Chandra and Sukra are conjoined with each other or they are posited in the 7th place from each other and also are aspected by any malefic the native suffers from asthma. If these planets are in any watery sign the disease is very painful to the patient.

51. If Mangal associated with Budha is placed in the 6th place and be in a malefic navamsa and at the same time Chandra is aspected by Sukra the native may be attacked with a very bad type of phlegmatic disease and becomes physically weak and almost crippled.

52. If the 5th lord be in the 2nd or 8th place or Ravi, Chandra, Mangal, Vrhaspathi, Sukra and Sani—these six planets together are posited in any house the native suffers from asthma.

53. If Budha occupies a watery sign and is aspected by a malefic, or the 2nd place is occupied by Chandra and Rahu the native suffers from asthma.

Phthisis or Consumptive disease

54. If Ravi and Chandra are situated either in Simha or Karkata rasi it is a yoga of Bone T. B.

55. When Chandra is posited between two malefics and Sani is situated in the 7th place from lagna the native may suffer from carbuncle, disease of spleen and consumption.

56. When 'Mandi' is situated in any kendra from the position of Rahu who is posited in the 6th place from lagna the native suffers from Phthisis.

57. If Chandra is seated between Sani and Mangal and Ravi is in Makar rasi the native suffers from Phthisis.

58. If Chandra is in Kanya rasi and is situated between malefics the native suffers from Haematemesis (Vomiting of blood from the stomach).

59. If Chandra is conjoined with Sani, or one is placed in the 7th place from the other and also they are aspected by malefics the native is attacked with Phthisis.

60. When Chandra or Vrhaspathi is placed in a watery sign, is aspected by a malefic and is placed in the 8th place from lagna the native suffers from the disease of Consumption.

61. The following yogas cause Phthisis :

(i) If Mangal is posited in a malefic house, is conjoined with a malefic and is situated in the 8th place from lagna.

(ii) When lord of lagna associated with Sukra is situated in any dusthana.

(iii) If Mangal and Rahu are posited in the 4th or 5th place from atmakarakamsa lagna the native may be attacked with Phthisis but the disease may turn very serious if Chandra has full aspect on Mangal and Rahu.

(iv) If Mangal has full aspect on Sani particularly when Mangal owns any dusthana.

(v) If Ravi and Chandra together are situated in the 6th or 8th house from lagna.

(vi) If atmakarakamsa lagna falls in Dhanu rasi and Chandra being aspected by Mangal is situated in that sign.

(vii) The native is attacked with Phthisis at his 26th year of age if Rahu is in the 6th, Mandi in any kendra from lagna and the lord of lagna is in the 8th place.

62. If any one of the 2nd, 4th, 5th and 8th houses is occupied by Rahu and Mangal the native may be attacked with Phthisis.

Here is an example : (i) Birth date : 1908—25th October.

Lagna in Mithune associated with Rahu, in the 3rd place Vrhaspathi and Sukra, in the 4th Mangal, in the 5th Ravi, Chandra and (R) Budha, in the 7th Ketu, and Sani in the 10th house from lagna.

Here the 6th lord Mangal and the 8th lord Sani are related to each other and from Chandra both the planets are in dusthanas.

Another instance : (ii) Lagna in Kumbha, Ketu in Mesa, Ravi and Sukra in Mithune, Budha in Karkata, Mangal in Simha, Chandra and Rahu in Tula, Vrhaspathi in Vrscika and (R) Sani in Dhanu Rasi.

Here lagna is aspected by Sani and also Mangal from the 7th place has full aspect on lagna.

Another example : (iii) Lagna in Karkata with Ravi (in lagna), Sani, Chandra, Mangal and Rahu in Mesa, Budha in Simha, Sukra in Kanya and Tula is occupied by Vrhaspatti and Ketu. (See Rules no. 46 & 59)

Haematemesis

(Disease involving spontaneous haemorrhage from the Stomach)

63. If Mangal aspected by or conjoined with a malefic is posited in the 7th place from lagna disease of Haematemesis is possible.

64. If Chandra aspected by a malefic is situated in a cruel rasi and is posited in the 6th place from lagna the native may suffer from this disease.*

65. If Chandra is associated with or aspected by a malefic and Mangal is posited in the 7th place from lagna the native suffers from Haematemesis.

66. If Mangal being in a cruel sign is posited in the 6th house and is aspected by a cruel planet the native is attacked with this disease (viz., Haematemesis)

67. If Chandra and Mangal occupy Karkata rasi, or,

68. When lagna rises in the debilitated house of Mangal and he occupies lagna (i. e. Karkata lagna occupied by Mangal) the disease of Haematemesis is possible.

Our readers have definitely noticed that yogas relating to Phthisis, Consumption, Asthma, Haematemesis etc. are almost the same as there is slight difference among these diseases.

Birth-chart of a native suffering from Haematemesis.

Lagna in Tula. Rabu in Vrsika, Ravi, Sani, Budha in Mina, Sukra, Vrhaspatti and Ketu in Vrsa, Chandra and Mangal in Karkata (See Rule No. 67). Over and above two watery planets, Vrhaspatti and Sukra are in the 8th place from lagna and they are aspected by malefic Rahu.

Indigestion, dyspepsia, colic pain and gastritis : (Generally Chandra, Vrhaspatti, Sani or Rahu and 5th lord combined with or aspected by any malefic cause these diseases.)

The following are a few yogas that cause any one of the diseases said above.

* Houses of Ravi, Mangal and Sani are generally taken to be cruel. Sanskrit equivalent is Krurarasi.

69. If Mangal is in lagna and the 6th lord is weak diseases of indigestion, colic pain and spleen are indicated.

(i) Similarly if Rahu or any other malefic be in lagna and Sani sits in the 8th place the native is attacked with the disease of indigestion or dyspepsia or both. (J. Parijat)

70. If lagnapathi is in his inimical and at the same time debilitated house and Mangal occupies the 4th place and Sani is aspected by a malefic the native suffers from colic pain. (J. Parijat)

(This yoga is possible if lagna rises in Simha, Makar or Kumbha rasi.)

71. The native dies of diseases involving digestive organs if lagnapathi is combined with the lords of the 2nd and 4th houses.

(i) The same disease may be the cause of death of the native if lords of the 2nd, the 4th and the 7th houses are associated together. (Jataka-Parijat & S. Chintamony)

72. If Chandra conjoined with and aspected by malefics is posited in the 6th the native suffers acutely from gastritis and allied diseases.

73. If Budha is situated in the 3rd place from lagna or atmakaraka the native suffers from dyspepsia.

74. If Vrhaspathi is associated with lagnapathi and the lord of the 4th or 8th place the native suffers from indigestion.

75. If Vrhaspathi is posited in the 3rd or 6th place the native suffers from dyspepsia and if that Vrhaspathi is seated in a watery sign the native has loose motions.

76. If Chandra and Mangal together are in lagna the yoga produces unfavourable result like chronic dyspepsia, indigestion etc.

(i) Only debilitated Chandra in lagna also produces the same result.

77. When Chandra accompanied by a malefic is posited in lagna, 6th or 8th house the native suffers from loss of appetite and indigestion.

78. When the 6th or the 8th house is occupied by Chandra and Sukra, or lagna is occupied by Chandra, and Sani is posited in the 5th place the disease of indigestion; dyspepsia etc. is the result.

79. If the lord of the 12th is in the 6th and the 6th lord is in the 12th the native is attacked with indigestion and chronic enlargement of spleen.

80. If the 6th, 8th or lagna is occupied by Mangal and he is also conjoined with or aspected by a malefic the native may suffer from indigestion, dysentery and dyspepsia. The yoga may also cause the disease of piles and fissure.

81. In majority of birth-charts it has been noticed that the native suffers from chronic indigestion when the 5th house is occupied by Vrhaspathi. Even a strong Vrhaspathi will not spare the native from suffering from this disease until and unless there is other protective force to counteract the unfavourable effect of this planet.

82. Most of the authoritative books on Astrology have said almost decisively about the ill-effect of Vrhaspathi being in the 5th place from lagna. They further said :

(i) Vrhaspathi in the 5th place when associated with Sani or Rahu the native suffers from indigestion, chronic amoebiasis.

(ii) Or, if he is accompanied by waning moon and Mangal the aforesaid diseases will give immense trouble to the native.

(iii) If the lords of lagna and 8th house are in conjunction with Vrhaspathi being in the 6th the native dies of the disease of indigestion. Even the lagnapathi brings about death of the native if he is associated with Vrhaspathi and be placed in the 6th house.

83. Death of the native is possible during the dasa and antardasa of the 8th lord if the lords of lagna and the 8th place together are posited in the 6th house from lagna.

(i) Similarly if the lord of the Pitri (father) or Matri (mother) bhava is in conjunction with or aspected by the 8th lord and be placed in the 6th house the yoga may cause death of the father or the mother of the native.

(All these yogas No. 83 are quoted from S. Chintamony)

Strong Diarrhoea and Vomiting etc.

84. This disease is possible when—

(i) Sukra being in the 6th is associated with and aspected by malefics.

(ii) Mangal being in the 6th is accompanied or aspected by maleficcs.

(iii) Lagna is occupied by Rahu and Budha, and Sani and Mangal are posited in the 7th house.

(iv) Chandra and Sukra together are placed in the 8th or the 9th house and are aspected by or associated with Mangal.

Chronic amoebiasis & diarrhoea (Ayurvedic term is Grahani) : (Symptoms of this disease are chronic dysentery, indigestion, passing abundant stool with mucus immediately after principal meals).

85. If the 2nd house is occupied by Sani and Rahu the native may be attacked with this disease.

My experience is that under this yoga if Vrhaspathi is associated with or aspected by a malefic the disease will certainly be the cause of immense trouble to the native.

86. If the 6th lord is placed in the 8th house the native will suffer from this disease.

87. If the 4th or 5th place from 'atmakarakamsa' is occupied by Rahu, Ketu or 'atmakarakamsa' or the 8th place from there is occupied by Ketu this disease is possible.

88. If Vrhaspathi being in the 5th place is associated with or aspected by the 8th lord and any other malefic this disease may be the cause of prolonged suffering to the native. But if Vrhaspathi is placed in any favourable house with a favourable planet and acquires strength the disease may not be cured completely but the disease will be less troublesome.

Dysentery

89. When lagna or its lord is placed in Mina rasi in Navamsa Chakra the native may die of drowning or dysentery. (J. Parijat)

90. If Chandra conjoined with or aspected by a malefic is placed in the 6th from lagna and Sukra is situated in the 7th the native is attacked with blood dysentery. (J. Parijat)

(i) Even Sukra with an unfavourable planet or aspected by a malefic may produce this disease if she is placed in the 7th place.

91. If lagnapathi combined with Vrhaspathi is posited in the 6th, 8th or 12th house the native may be attacked with dysentery.

92. Similarly if Mangal associated with or aspected by an inauspicious planet is situated in a dusthana suffering from dysentery is possible.

93. If waning moon is aspected by powerful Mangal and Sani is in the 8th place from lagna the native may be attacked with the following diseases :— Piles, Fistula, Fissure etc.

To ameliorate the painful condition he may use any caustic drug or may undergo surgical operation resulting into death.
(J. Parijat)

(Some commentators are of opinion that the patient may die of Piles, Hernia or Kidney trouble after surgical operation).

94. When the waning moon be in the 8th place and is aspected by Sani the same disease is possible.

95. If lord of lagna is situated in any inauspicious house along with Mangal and Budha and the 6th house is aspected by them the native suffers from any disease in the anus (such as Piles, Fistula, Fissure etc.). (J. Parijat)

96. When the moon occupies the 6th or 8th place and is aspected by Mangal, and Sani is in lagna the native will suffer from piles or similar such diseases leading to profuse blood discharges. (J. Parijat)

97. When the lord of lagna associated with any malefic is posited in the 8th place from lagna the native suffers from severe pain in anus. (J. Parijat)

98. The disease of piles is possible if Sani is situated in the 8th place from lagna. (Ph. Dip.)

99. When the 8th lord is a natural malefic and is situated in the 7th place from lagna and is also aspected by an unfavourable planet disease of Piles is possible.

100. If Sani along with lagnapathi and Mangal is situated in Mina rasi, or the 7th place from lagna receives the aspect of lagnapathi and Mangal the native is attacked with Piles.

101. If Mangal occupying Vrscika rasi is not aspected by Vrhaspathi, or lagna is occupied by Sani, and Mangal is situated in the 7th place from lagna the person concerned suffers from Piles.

102. When Mangal and Vṛhaspathi are conjoined with each other or one of the two is in the 7th place from the other the native suffers from Piles.

Here is a birth-chart :—Lagna in Dhanu, Vṛhaspathi in Mēsa rasi and, Chandra and Mangal are in Tula rasi. The native has been suffering from Piles for a pretty long time.

Another example : Lagna in Vṛścika rasi, Sani is in lagna, Mangal and Rahu is in Vṛsa, Chandra in Kumbha. Though there is aspect of Vṛhaspathi on the lagna from his position in Mēsa rasi. The owner of the chart (who is a lady) has been suffering from Piles and Fistula for about 10 years.

105. If the lords of the 7th and the 8th places are natural malefics and are posited in any dusthana without receiving aspect of beneficial planets the yoga causes this disease. This yoga is possible if lagna rises in Karkata, Makar or Kumbha rasi and Chandra is waning.

106. If Ravi is in lagna and the 7th place is occupied by Sani, and Mangal is posited in Vṛścika rasi the native may suffer from Piles.

Hernia

Generally those who suffer from chronic Dysentery and Piles for a pretty long time are attacked with Hernia. This is a disease of intestine.

107. When lords of lagna, 6th, 8th and 12th houses are related to each other the native may be attacked with this disease.

(i) Again if the 8th house and its lord are associated with or aspected by a malefic this nasty disease is possible.

108. If Chandra in watery sign occupying the place from lagna is aspected by a favourable planet from his position in another watery sign the person concerned may be attacked with Hernia.

(The yoga is also the cause of Strangury—Enlargement of prostate gland) Both Sarvartha Chintamony and Jataka Parijat support this view.

109. When any one of the lords of lagna, 12th and 5th houses and the 8th lord are related to each other either by conjunction or aspect this disease is possible.

This yoga also causes the disease of Piles.

110. When Ravi is the lord of the rasi where Rahu is situated (i. e. when Rahu is posited in Simha rasi) and Ravi in conjunction with the 2nd lord Sani is posited in the 3rd place from lagna the yoga causes chronic Dysentery and ultimately the native suffers from Hernia.

This particular yoga is formed in toto in the following birth-chart :

Lagna in Dhanu, Rahu in Simha and Ravi is in the 3rd place from lagna along with Sani the lord of the 2nd house.

The native has been suffering from chronic Dysentery, Piles and Hernia.

Diabetes

Sukra is the significator of Syphilis, Gonorrhoea, Kidney trouble and Urinal diseases. The seventh place indicates abdomen, pelvis, and the eighth place signifies bladder, genital organ, rectum etc.

111. So, if Sukra associated with or aspected by a malefic and also in a watery sign or conjoined with any other watery planet is posited in the 7th or 8th place or any other dusthana or that afflicted Sukra be seated between malefics the native may be attacked with diabetes, kidney trouble etc.

The 6th place or the lord of that bhava is indicator of these diseases.

(i) So, if the 6th place or its lord in conjunction with afflicted Sukra be placed in any watery sign or is confined between two malefics the disease of diabetes may be anticipated.

Here are two birth-charts. Both the natives are suffering from diabetes.

Chart No. 1 : Birth date—1908, 18th February.

Lagna in Mithune rasi, Rahu in lagna, Sukra and Vrhaspatti in the 3rd place, Mangal in the 4th, Ravi, Chandra and retrograde Budha in the 5th, Ketu in the 7th and Sani in the 10th place.

Navamsa Chakra : Lagna in Mina rasi, Ketu in the 3rd, Mangal in the 4th, Vrhaspatti in the 6th, Sani in the 8th, Rahu in the 9th, Ravi and Sukra in the 10th, Budha in the 11th and the 12th place is occupied by Chandra.

Look at the Navamsa chart. Sukra the general indicator of this disease and also the 8th lord is conjoined with and aspected by malefics, lagna is in watery sign. Majority of faults may be found from Chandra-lagna too.

Chart No. 2 : Birth date—1909, 31st December (according to Western system 1st January, 1910). Lagna in Kanya, Vrhaspathi in lagna, Ketu in the 3rd, Ravi in the 4th, Budha and Sukra in the 5th, Sani and Mangal in the 7th, Chandra in 8th and Rahu in the 9th place.

Navamsa Chakra : Lagna in Karkata, Vrhaspathi in lagna, Chandra in the 2nd, Ravi and Sukra in 3rd, Ketu in the 5th, Budha in the 7th, Sani and Mangal in 8th and Rahu in the 11th place.

The 7th lord Vrhaspathi who is a watery planet is in lagna aspected by the lords of the 6th and the 8th houses (viz., Sani and Mangal respectively) is situated in a watery sign. So, the 7th house and its lord are very much afflicted. Again, general indicator Sukra is aspected by Rahu and in navamsa chart very weak and afflicted. Also in Navamsa-chart the 7th house is occupied by Budha who is a lord of dusthana. Lagna falls in a watery sign and is occupied by a watery planet who is also the lord of the 6th place from lagna, and the 8th house is afflicted due to occupation of two malefics Sani and Mangal.

The owner of the chart No. 1 very recently died of diabetes and the owner of the chart No. 2 has been suffering from the disease for a pretty long time.

Enlargement of Prostate gland

112. If Chandra is situated in a watery sign, the lord of the 'janma rasi' (the lord of the rasi where Chandra is situated in the birth-chart) is placed in the 6th house and she (Chandra) is aspected by any planet occupying a watery sign the disease is possible. (Jataka Parijat)

113. If the 6th, 7th or 8th place is occupied by any inauspicious planet and the 7th bhava falls in any cruel 'sastyamsa' the native may be attacked with this disease.

114. If Sani be in the 7th place and is aspected by Rahu, or

115. If Sukra be in a fiery or windy sign and is placed in any dusthana, or she is posited in her debilitated house this disease is possible.

116. If Mangal is posited in the 7th place and is aspected by any unfavourable planet, or

117. If Sukra be the lord of 8th house from Chandra and is placed in a watery sign as well as in the 6th place from lagna the native may be attacked with this disease.

Here is an instance : Lagna in Dhanu, Chandra and Mangal in Tula rasi and Sukra the 8th lord from Chandra is posited in Mina rasi which is a watery sign and is the 6th house from Chandra. The native suffered from this disease and had a surgical operation in 1971.

Gonorrhea or Syphilis

118. If Chandra in conjunction with Sani is posited in Karkata, Vrschika or Kumbha rasi in navamsa chart the disease of this nature is possible.

119. If Chandra is associated with the lord of the 8th place and Rahu has full aspect on the lord of the 8th house the native may be attacked with Gonorrhea or Syphilis.

(i) If Chandra is afflicted in the manner noted above and the 8th house is occupied by three or more malefics the same result may be anticipated.

If the 8th house is occupied by any auspicious planet the native may recover from this disease.

* This is to be noted that if the 7th house (that indicates sex), the 9th house (which indicates religion, virtue, morality) and lagna, or lords of these houses are not afflicted but well-fortified due to aspect of or association with powerful benefics this type of disease may not occur at all. Because people having such favourable yogas should be men of moral stamina and seldom go astray and meet notorious and ill-reputed women.

120. If lagna is occupied by Ravi, Mangal, Sani and Rahu the native may be attacked with Syphilis.

121. If Sukra, the indicator of passion is conjoined with any malefic or be confined between malefics and be in lagna, or under that circumstance if afflicted Sukra is posited in a lagna-rasi which is Sukra's inimical sign the native may be attacked with Syphilis.

122. If the 5th house from lagna is occupied by Ravi and Rahu, or Chandra and Mangal occupy Kanyā rasi (Virgo) this disease is possible.

123. When Sukra is associated with Gulik the native may be attacked with this disease. Having such an unfortunate yoga in his birth-chart the native always hankers after women of bad character.

It is said earlier that in spite of these malicious yogas if the lords of the 7th, 9th and lagna are favourably disposed there is least chance of attack of this disease. But if it is otherwise, that is, if the aforesaid lords are afflicted due to aspect, association or malefic position the disease of this nature, namely Gonorrhœa or Syphilis is possible.

Even the following yogas may ultimately produce these nefarious diseases if the lords of the 7th, 9th and lagna are badly afflicted. The yogas are as follows :—

(i) If the lords of the 2nd, 6th and 7th places are associated with Sukra and they are aspected by or conjoined with malefics and occupy lagna the native may be passionate or lascivious.

(ii) If lagnapathi and the lord of the 6th place are aspected by or in conjunction with malefics, or

(iii) If only a malefic be in the 7th place and is also conjoined with the lords of lagna, the 2nd and the 6th places the native is ardently desirous of sexual relation with women.

(iv) If the 9th place and its lord are associated with malefics and the lords of the 6th and the 7th houses together occupy the 9th house the native becomes very much passionate.

If a birth-chart contains any of the above yogas along with those that cause venereal diseases there is strong possibility of attack of these nefarious ailments. Only yogas of lasciviousness may not be the cause of such disease.

Disease of Prameha

“Prameha” is a disease which has no English equivalent. Because this disease may develop as the after effect of excessive sexual act, gonorrhœa or sex debility. The symptoms among others are as follows :—The patient may have pain in the loin, may have urinary trouble, sex organ grows weak and weaker everyday, consequently he is unable to satisfy his wife etc. The yogas almost are the same that cause Gonorrhoea or Syphilis. The disease may be caused by afflicted Sukra and lords of the 6th and 7th houses.

124. If lagna is occupied by Ravi, and Mangal is posited in the 7th house the attack of this disease is possible.

125. If the 5th house is associated with Ravi, Sukra and Sani there is strong possibility of attack of this disease, or,

126. If Sukra is aspected by or combined with a malefic and be situated in the 8th place, or,

127. If the 6th house is occupied by Sukra along with two or more malefics, or,

128. If Sukra is situated in the 3rd place either from lagna, atmakarakamsa, or atmakaraka the disease may give trouble to the native, or

129. If Mangal aspected by or conjoined with Sani is posited in the 10th house the native may be attacked with this disease.

Enlargement of Scrotum

130. If karakamsa is associated with 'Gulik' and is aspected by Budha only—that is, no other planet excepting Budha has aspect on karakamsa the native may be attacked with the disease of enlargement of Scrotum. (Parasari Hora)

131. If Rahu and Mangal or Rahu and Sani together are posited in lagna, or Rahu and Sani are combined with each other and lagna is occupied by Mangal attack of this disease is possible. (Jataka Parijat)

The latter yoga produces some other ailments, such as, inflammation of naval cavity and ankles of the feet.

132. If the lord of lagna is in the 8th place, conjoined with Rahu and Gulik this disease is possible.

133. Enlargement of Scrotum is possible if Rahu occupies lagna, Gulik is in the 5th or the 9th place, and Sani and Mangal are situated in the 8th place from lagna. (Jataka Parijat)

According to Sarvartha Chintamony the disease is possible if Rahu is in lagna, Gulik is in the 9th and Sani and Mangal are posited in the 8th place.

134. If the lord of Navamsa of the lord of lagna is in conjunction with Rahu, Sani and Gulik the native suffers from this disease.

According to some commentators Enlargement of Scrotum is possible if Sani and Mangal are situated in the 8th place from lagna.

135. If the 8th place from lagna is occupied by more than one malefic the native may suffer from disease in the rectum and also enlargement of Scrotum.

Rheumatism or Gout

136. If Sukra is placed in the 8th place from lagna and is also aspected by a malefic the native may die of Rheumatism. (This is also a yoga of Diabetes and Consumption.)

137. If the lord of lagna is in Karkata in Navamsa chart the native may be attacked with this disease. Further, the yoga produces some symptoms of Lunacy.

138. If Sani is in lagna and Mangal occupies any one of the 5th, the 7th and the 10th places the native may suffer from Rheumatism.

139. If any one of the 1st, the 6th and the 12th places is occupied by Sukra, and she is aspected by or associated with any malefic the native suffers from this disease.

140. If Sukra and Mangal are situated in the 12th place from lagna as well as aspected by malefics the attack of this disease is possible.

141. If the waning moon and Sani together are posited in the 12th place from lagna the native suffers from this disease.

142. If Sani is posited in the 3rd place from lagna or karakamsa this disease is possible.

(Some astrologers are of the opinion that Sani in the 3rd place from atmakaraka planet may cause the disease).

The following yogas may cause the disease of Rheumatism :

143. When combust Chandra is aspected by Sani, or the 6th house is occupied by Ravi, Mangal and Sani.

144. The native is attacked with rheumatism or gout at the age of 59 years of age if lagna is occupied by its lord and Sani is combined with an inimical planet.

145. If lords of lagna and the 6th house are associated with Rahu or Ketu the native has the danger from snake, fire, thief and Rheumatism.

Impotency

146. If the 7th lord associated with Sukra is posited in the 6th place from lagna the native suffers from impotency.

147. The native may become impotent if Chandra being in Tula rasi is aspected by Ravi, Mangal or Sani.

148. If the 6th lord is combined with Budha and Rahu and is related to the lord of lagna the native may be impotent.

149. If lord of lagna associated with Mangal be placed in the 6th house the native is attacked with an incurable ulcer in his penis.

[Sukra signifies 'Semen'. When this planet is weak and afflicted and 7th house or its lord is also afflicted the native becomes sexually weak resulting into impotency.]

Heart disease

Heart disease is to be judged mainly from the 4th house and its lord. So, if the said place (bhava or house) or its lord is afflicted the disease of heart may be the reason of his suffering. Of course if that house or its lord has relation with any auspicious planet the native may be fortunate enough to avert heart trouble. Third house too has some bearing in this ailment.

150. If the 4th house is occupied by Ravi heart disease is possible. The effect of this yoga is more certain if Ravi owns the 6th house. (Jataka Parijat)

151. If the 4th as well as the 5th are occupied by malefics and these houses and their lords without being aspected by any favourable planet be situated in 'Krura' (very malefic or cruel) 'shastyamsa' the native suffers from this disease.

152. If Sani, Mangal and Vrhaspatti together or Mangal Sukra and Rahu—these trio are situated in the 4th the native is attacked with heart disease.

153. If the 3rd place is occupied by Ketu and he is associated with Gulik (Mandi) there is possibility of heart disease.

154. If the 5th lord with the lord of the 12th house is posited in the 12th place heart disease is possible, or

(i) If that 5th lord sunk down by sun's rays (asthagata) or be debilitated, or situated in an enemy house the same result may be anticipated.

155. If the 7th house from lagna is occupied by Chandra and Mangal heart disease is possible.

156. If any one of Vrsa, Karkata, Vrschika and Makar rasis is occupied by Chandra with any malefic heart disease may be possible.

157. When Chandra is situated in the 6th or 12th place and with her there is Mangal, Sani or Rahu the native suddenly may be attacked with this disease. (Horāsār) [Chandra signifies nerve and Ravi signifies both nerve and muscle. Again, in judging heart-disease Chandra is more important than Ravi. This can be easily testified from the aforesaid yogas. So, in determining the cause of heart disease one should at first see the disposition of Chandra. There are other factors also, which may be found in the yogas enumerated before].

Hysteria or Epilepsy

158. When Chandra in combination with Mangal, Sani and Rahu be in the 8th place from lagna the native may die of Epilepsy or Hysteria. (Jataka Parijat)

Even waning moon situated in the 8th place may cause this disease. This view is supported by Sarvartha Chintamony.

159. If the waning moon in conjunction with Sani, Mangal and Rahu is posited in the 8th place the native may be possessed of by evil spirit, and is attacked with this disease and ultimately dies. (Jataka Parijat)

160. If lagna or 8th house from lagna is occupied by Ravi, Chandra, and Mangal there is possibility of suffering from this disease.

Sarvartha Chintamony says, 'If the waning moon in the 7th or any dusthana, is situated between Ravi and Mangal there is, strong possibility of attack of this disease. The disease becomes so acute and serious that the native ultimately succumbs to it.

161. If malefic planets are in the 8th place, Chandra and Sukra are situated in any kendra (4th, 7th or 10th place) the native may be attacked with Hysteria.

An instance : Lagna in Vrschika, Sani and Mangal in Mithuna, Vrhspathi and Rahu in Karkata, Ravi, Budha and Sukra in Mesa, Chandra in Kumbha and Ketu in Makar.

At the beginning of this Chapter it has been said that complete yoga indicated by configuration of planets in a birth-chart is not always found. So, in that perspective astrologers will explain the yogas on the basis of planetary positions, relations and aspect. Here in this case cited above it is found that—

Sani and Mangal are situated in the 8th place from lagna. Sani, Mangal and Rahu have aspect (not full, Sani and Mangal have $\frac{1}{2}$ and Rahu has $\frac{2}{3}$ aspect) on the waning moon, and the 8th place from Chandra is aspected by Mangal.

The native suddenly developed fainting fits at the time of a serious wrangle in the family. Afterwards he had attacks of epileptic fits every now and then. Of course, the native recovered from this ailment after prolonged treatment.

162. When weak Chandra occupying the 6th or 12th place is conjoined with Mangal, Sani or Rahu the native may be attacked with Hysteria. (Hora Ratnasār)

Lunacy or Insanity

163. (i) If lagna is occupied by Ravi, and Mangal is in the 7th house from lagna, or (ii) Sani is in lagna and Mangal in the 7th house from lagna, or (iii) Sani is in lagna and Mangal in any 'Trikona' the native develops insanity.

(These yogas are stated both in Brihat Jataka and Jataka Parijat).

164. If lagna rises at Dhanu rasi, and Ravi and Chandra sit in lagna and Vrhaspathi occupies the 3rd or the 4th place from lagna the native becomes insane.

* But Sarvartha Chintamony says that such a yoga of lunacy will be effective only when native's birth day is on Saturday or Tuesday. This view is supported by many experienced astrologers.

In Jatakādes̄h along with the above yoga there is mention of another yoga, viz., if lagna falls in any sign within the 4 rasis from Dhanu to Mina, and Ravi and Chandra are situated in any trikona and Vrhaspathi occupies the 3rd or any Kendra the native may be insane if the birth day is on Tuesday or Saturday.

165. If Budha and Chandra be posited in any kendra or they are in any malefic navamsa complete loss of memory is possible. It is almost a state of imbecility or lunacy.

166. When Chandra is conjoined with a malefic and Rahu is seated in the 5th, 8th, or the 12th place the native develops insanity. The native not only is an insane person but also becomes violent on any flimsy ground. (Jataka Parijat)

167. This is also a yoga of insanity if Ravi and Chandra are in lagna and the 5th or the 9th place is occupied by Sani and Mangal.

168. When Vrhaspathi or Sani posited in lagna and the 7th place is occupied by Mangal the native becomes insane.

(i) The native becomes a person of violent temper if Sani positing in lagna is in opposition to Mangal.

I came across a birth-chart only last year in which Mangal is in Makar lagna and Sani is in Karkata.

The native's elder brother and sister left him alone in his house on account of his violent temper. The native himself told me that he became almost insane and all the valuable articles in the house were thrown on the road when he was incited to anger. He is an Engineer by profession, did not dare to marry due to his irritable temper.

169. If Chandra is conjoined with Sani or Ketu the native becomes insane. We found many horoscopes where Chandra is associated with Sani or Ketu but the owners of the horoscopes are never insane. But they are fickle minded and highly sensitive, sentimental and have no mental peace.

170. If Chandra is conjoined with Rahu or any other malefic and is situated in any one of the 8th, 9th and 12th houses the native becomes quarrelsome and insane. (Sarvartha Chintamony)

171. If the lord of lagna in association with Mangal and Budha is situated in the 4th or 12th place from lagna the native may suffer from morbid affection of the nervous system. If these three planets have aspect on the 6th house the native becomes almost a lunatic.

172. If Rahu is in the 12th, Sukra in the 8th and Chandra is associated with any malefic, particularly Sani or Mangal the native becomes insane.

173. If Budha is posited in the 3rd place from atmakaraka or a amatyakaraka-lagna the same result is apprehended.

174. If Chandra along with Rahu occupies any one of the 4th, the 8th and the 12th places and She (Chandra) is aspected by a malefic the native becomes insane.

[Rahu and Sani are windy planets. Chandra represents mind and Budha denotes intelligence. If these planets are afflicted the disease of insanity may develop].

Disease of Ovary and Uterus

[These are female diseases. The seventh and the eighth houses from lagna denote abdomen and genital organs. Women's principal genital organs are ovary and uterus. If these houses (The 7th and 8th houses), their lords, and also Sukra and Mangal are afflicted the disease of ovary and/or uterus is possible. In case of women both Sukra and Mangal are indicators of genital organs but in case of men it is only Sukra that signifies these organs].

175. If Navamsa lagna falls in the house of Mangal (either in Mesa or Vrschika rasi) and lagna is aspected by Sani the native is attacked with diseases in her private part (Vagina). (Jataka Parijat)

176. If Mangal in the 7th house is aspected by Sani the native may be attacked with the disease of ovary. Even these two planets together in the 7th house may be the cause of ovarian disease.

177. If Navamsa lagna falls in any house owned by Mangal and that house is the 7th place from lagna of the birth chart and if that navamsa lagna receives the aspect of Ravi and Budha and there is no aspect of any favourable planet on that lagna the native suffers from vaginal diseases. If that lagna is aspected by any auspicious planet the native shall be free from such ailment. (Jataka Parijat)

178. If the 7th place is associated with a malefic and in navamsa chart that 7th place falls in the house of Mangal the same disease may be the result.

179. If Sukra confined between malefics is posited in the 7th place from lagna the same disease may be apprehended.

180. If lagna or the 6th place from lagna is occupied by Mangal conjoined with or aspected by any other malefic the native may suffer from disease in uterus or ovary.

181. If Sukra in Karkata rasi is associated with or aspected by unfavourable planets or hemmed in between malefics and the 7th lord is weak the native may suffer from uterine or ovarian disease.

182. If the 7th lord and Sukra are not well-disposed and strong and they are afflicted due to conjunction with or aspect by malefics the native may be attacked with vaginal disease.

183. The weak moon associated with or aspected by Sani or Mangal may be the cause of uterine haemorrhage or menstrual complications.

Disease of Fever

184. If Budha being in Simha rasi is aspected by a malefic the native may die of fever arising from disorder of three humours (bile, blood and phlegm) of the body.

(i) The same result is anticipated if the lagna (in the birth-chart) falls in the navamsa of Mesa rasi.

185. If the 8th house from lagna is not occupied by any planet but is aspected by strong Budha the native may be attacked with a serious type of fever.

186. If the lords of lagna and the 6th place from lagna are associated with Ravi the native is attacked with fever.

187. If Mangal is posited in the 6th and the lord of the 6th place is in the 8th the native is attacked with fever at his (or her) 6th or 12th year of age. (Parasari Hora)

188. If Rahu or Ketu is posited in the 8th house from lagna the native may be attacked with periodic fever. (Sarvartha Chintamony)

189. If the lord of the 8th house acquires cruel Sasthyamsa and is posited in the 8th house the native may also suffer from periodic fever. (Sarvartha Chintamony)

Cancer

"Ayurvedic" term of 'cancer' is 'karkat' roga (disease). Cancer is said to be an incurable disease. So, proverb about this disease is 'cancer has no answer'. So was the case with Phthisis some years ago but this disease now can be cured completely. We hope time is not far off when some specific remedy to arrest the growth of this fatal disease and also to cure it will be found out by eminent researchists.

Cancer is said to be a malignant growth or tumour that eats the part of the body where it grows and also spreads indefinitely. I have been trying for a pretty long time to detect the causes of this disease astrologically.

I noticed the following reasons that may cause this fatal ailments.

(1) Combination of or any other relation between Sani and Mangal and when any of those two planets receive the aspect of Rahu the patient may be attacked with this disease.

Here is a birth-chart :

Lagna in Kanya with Ravi, in the 2nd house Budha, in the 3rd house Sukra, in the 5th Ketu, in the 6th Sani, in the 10th Vrhaspatti and Chandra, in the 11th Rahu and in the 12th Mangal.

Here Sani and Mangal are opposing each other and Sani receives the aspect of Rahu.

(2) If the 6th lord is in lagna, 8th or 10th house and malefic planets such as Rahu, Sani and Mangal have some relation with the aforesaid house/houses or their lords the disease of cancer may appear in that part of the body indicated by these signs or houses or their lords.

Sometimes planet afflicting or causing the disease may show the symptoms according to the planet's own character. That is why physicians be in a dilemma and can not diagnose the disease at an early stage.

Students of astrology must have noticed in the Karkata chapter that different parts of the body are ruled by different Planets, such as,

Ravi rules over head, bone, marrow, nervous system, stomach, lungs, heart, vein, artery etc.

Chandra is an indicator of blood, breast, stomach etc.

Mangal rules over uterus, neck, genitals, intestine, anus etc.

Budha rules over larynx (wind pipe), respiratory organ, mouth, tongue, nose, navel etc.

Vrhaspathi rules over liver, tongue, thigh, respiratory organs, digestive organ etc.

Sukra controls genital organs, prostate gland, urethra etc.

Sani rules over leg, hand, teeth (including gum).

When these planets are afflicted and at the same time own malefic houses they are capable of producing cancer in any part or organ of the body ruled by them.

Leukaemia

This fatal disease is produced due to malignant growth of white corpuscles in blood which is termed as cancer of blood. Mangal and Chandra indicate blood and three watery signs Karkata, Vrscika, and Mina rasis, 4th, 8th and 12th houses rule 'blood'.

So, when rulers of blood (Chandra and Mangal) and any one or two of the aforesaid houses together their lords are afflicted this fatal disease is produced. In majority of cases of leukaemia Rahu has an important part to play by making any relation with these house-lords, Chandra and Mangal and the result is blood cancer.

Yogas indicating bad health

190. If the lord of lagna is combined with a cruel planet or the lagnapathi (lord of lagna) is posited in the 8th place from lagna the native does not keep good health. Of course if the same lord receives the aspect of any auspicious planet he may normally keep good health.

191. If the lord of the rasi where lagnapathi is posited occupies any dusthana the native does not keep good health.

192. If the lord of lagna conjoined with any lord of dusthana occupies lagna the native may be sickly.

193. If the lord of lagna is a natural malefic and is situated in lagna or 'Janma rasi' (the rasi where Chandra is posited in the natal chart) or occupies any kendra from lagna the native may be sickly but if the lagnapathi is placed in any trikona or the 11th house the native maintains good health.

194. If the 6th house and its lord are associated with malefics and Rahu and Sani are in conjunction the native always suffers from this or that illness.

195. When lagna rises in Mesa, Mithuna, Simha, Tula, Dhanu or Kumbha rasi and 6th lord is in lagna the native may be attacked with such a disease that cannot be cured easily.

(Jatakalanker)

(i) If lagna falls in Tula and Vrhaspathi though a natural benefic is there in lagna the native suffers from various diseases every now and then.

This was experimented by me in a number of cases.

196. If lagna is occupied by a lord of any dusthana or the planet that occupies lagna is posited in his debilitated or inimical house the native may not keep good health. (Jataka Parijat)

197. If the lord of lagna is posited in any dry sign or the lord of the rasi where lagnapathi is posited is placed in any dusthana and in Navamsa chart also he is posited in a dry sign the native is attacked with many kinds of diseases and gets emaciated day by day. (Jataka Parijat)

(Firy and windy rasis are dry signs. Firy rasis are Mesa, Simha and Dhanu. Windy rasis are Mithuna, Tula and Kumbha)

198. If Ravi, Chandra, Budha, Sukra and Sani together are seated in a bhava the native is tall, poor, childless and always suffers from various ailments. (Jataka Parijat)

199. If Sukra sits in the 3rd or the 6th house the native suffers from various diseases; but if Sukra be in advanced position from Ravi she (Sukra) will be beneficial and the native shall not be sickly.

200. If Sani and Mangal together are situated in the 6th house and are aspected by Ravi and Rahu and lord of lagna is weak the native suffers from a disease continually for a pretty long time. (Jataka Parijat)

201. If Budha is conjoined with the lords of lagna and the 6th house the native suffers from biliary diseases.

(i) If these two planets (lagnapathi and the lord of the 6th house) are in conjunction with debilitated Sani the native suffers from gastritis arising out of accumulation of excessive gas in stomach or intestine. The disease becomes very painful to the native.

(ii) If these two planets are associated with Vṛhaspathi the native ultimately recovers from the disease. (Jataka Parijat)

Painful or unnatural death

202. The native may commit suicide by hanging if the lord of the 8th house is situated in Sani's drekkana and Sani is associated with Gulika or Rahu. (Sarvartha Chintamony)

203. If Ravi is associated with Mangal, Rahu or Sani and be in cruel 'Shasthyamsa' and is also aspected by Sukra or Vṛhaspathi the native may be beheaded. (Sarvartha Chintamony)

204. If Chandra aspected by lagnapathi be in any dusthana and she (Chandra) is associated with Sani, Rahu or Gulika the native meets with painful death. (Sarvartha Chintamony)

205. If Sani is combined with an inauspicious planet, be posited in an enemy house, be debilitated or combust, or is situated in cruel 'Shasthyamsa', aspected by any enemy or unfavourable planet the native meets with painful end of life.

206. If the lord of the 8th house be in Pāsa or Sarpa drekkana the native may die by hanging or snake-bite. (S. Chintamony)

* (The 1st drekkana of Karkata, Vṛscika and Mīna are called Pāsa or Sarpa drekkana. The 2nd drekkana of Vṛscika is called Nigada and the 1st drekkanas of Makar and Simha are called Pakshmi drekkana.)

Jataka Parijat gives some clues to determine the happy and painful death, some of which are explained herebelow :

"Janmani yannavamsakagatou mandistadiyastake
Rasou tisthati chet Subhastu balaban Saukhyena nanyam mritis
Bhuput্রে samarena Suryatanaye chouradivirdanabais
Sarpadyesch tatha rabou nripavayat kshidupe toyajat" (J.P.)

Meaning of the sloka :

(i) If the 7th house from the position of Mandi is the Navamsa sign of any benefic and that Navamsa sign is occupied by any powerful benefic peaceful death of the native is expected.

(ii) If that Navamsa sign is occupied by Mangal the native may die in a war or it may be due to serious quarrel with opponents.

(iii) If that Navamsa sign is occupied by Sani the native may die of snake-bite or bite of any reptile, or he may die of a fatal wound inflicted by a hooligan.

(iv) If that Navamsa sign is posited by either Ravi or Chandra the native may be sentenced to death by the Government or he may be killed by any aquatic animal.

207. If the 8th house is aspected by any powerful planet the native may die due to affliction of any constituent of the body indicated by that planet.

* Constituent of the body indicated by Ravi—Bile ;

Constituent of the body indicated by Chandra—Wind and Phlegm ;

Constituent of the body indicated by Budha—All the three humours (Wind, Bile and Phlegm) ;

Constituent of the body indicated by Sukra—Phlegm and Wind ;

Constituent of the body indicated by Sani and Rahu—Wind.

(1) If the 8th house is aspected by Ravi the native may be burnt to death.

(2) If the 8th house is aspected by Chandra the native may die of any water-born disease.

(3) If the 8th house is aspected by Mangal death may occur due to wound by any weapon.

(4) If the 8th house is aspected by Sukra and Sani death may be due to hunger.

(5) If the 8th house is aspected by Budha death may be due to fever.

(6) If the 8th house is aspected by Vrhaspathi death may be due to Phlegmatic disease.

208. If the 8th house is afflicted by any malefic planet painful death is possible.

(i) If the 8th house is occupied by any malefic planet death of the native is possible due to conspiracy of some wicked men, or he may die of a wound inflicted by a hooligan.

209. If the waning moon being in the 8th place from lagna is aspected by strong Sani the native may die either of any disease in the anus or he may die of a wound by any weapon.

210. If Ravi and Mangal be in any angular position from the 8th lord the native may be sentenced to death by the king of the land and hanged.

211. If weak moon be in lagna, Ravi in the 8th place, Vrhaspatti in the 12th and the 4th place from lagna is occupied by a malefic the native may fall from his bed or may be assassinated by a low caste Hindu.

212. If lagnapathi is posited in the 6th Navamsa Rasi or be combust and also occupies the 6th house from lagna the native may die of hunger in a lonely place during prevalence of famine in the country.

213. If lagnapathi and the 8th lord are weak and Mangal is associated with the lord of the 6th house the native may die in a war, or death may occur due to any sort of fatal wound in a feud with somebody.

214. If the waning Moon, Mangal, Sani and Ravi are posited in the 8th, 10th, lagna and 4th place respectively the native may be beaten to death by a rod or a club.

215. If the waning Moon, Mangal, Sani and Ravi occupy the 10th, 9th, 1st and 5th place respectively the native may die of suffocation or fire, or he may be trampled to death while running away in headlong panic.

216. If Mangal be in the 4th, Ravi in the 7th and Sani be situated in the 10th house from lagna the native may be sentenced to death by the lawful government, or he may die of a wound inflicted by any sharp weapon.

217. If Sani occupies the 2nd house, Chandra the 4th, and Mangal occupies the 10th house the native may die of gangrene caused by a surgical operation.

218. If the 10th house is occupied by Ravi, 4th house by Mangal he may die of an accidental fall from a vehicle.

Suicide and unnatural or accidental death

219. If the lord of the 10th Navamsa from lagna is combined with Sani the native may commit suicide by swallowing poison.

220. If the 5th house from the 9th place from Chandra is occupied by any malefic or any of those houses are aspected by any unfavourable planet and the 8th Bhavasphuta be posited in sarpa, nigada or pasa drekkana the native may commit suicide by hanging.

221. If the 4th and the 10th or the 5th and the 9th houses are occupied by malefics and the 8th lord is associated with Mangal the native may commit suicide by hanging.

222. If the waning moon in combination with Sani, Mangal or Rahu is posited in the 8th place the native may be burnt to death, may die by being drowned in water, or may be possessed of by evil spirit and die.

223. If Chandra being in the 6th, 8th or 12th place from lagna is aspected by the lagnapathi and associated with Sani, Rahu and Gulik (Mandi) the native dies an unnatural death.

224. If Ravi or Mangal be in the 4th house and Sani in the 10th place from lagna and

(i) Again if Ravi be in the 4th house and Mangal in the 10th and both the planets are aspected by the waning moon the native's death is possible by impalement (piercing with something pointed).

(ii) If Ravi be in the 10th, Mangal (without being associated with any benefic) in the 4th and lagna is occupied by Budha the native may die of a fatal blow of a bullock or by impalement.

225. If the beneficial planets aspected by malefics be in the 4th, 8th or 10th house the native may die in a riot or fracas.

226. If the 4th house is occupied by Mangal or the 7th house by Ravi, and Chandra and Sani together be in the 8th house from lagna the native may die of food poisoning.

227. If lagna is occupied by Ravi, the 5th house by Sani, the 8th place by Chandra, and Mangal is posited in the 9th the native may die of thunderbolt or fall from a tree.

228. If Chandra conjoined with or confined between malefics is posited in the house owned by either Mangal or Sani the native may die accidentally by firearm.

(i) The same result is possible if Chandra in the 4th place from lagna be in Kanya rasi (Virgo) and is situated between malefics.

229. If Sani being associated with and aspected by malefics be in the 2nd house from lagna the native may be wounded by dog-bite, and ultimately may die of hydrophobia.

(i) The native may be bitten by a dog, if Sani associated with and aspected by a malefic be posited in the 2nd in combination with the lord of the 2nd house.

230. If the lord of the 3rd house and Vṛhaspathi in conjunction with Rahu or the lord of the Rasi where Rahu is situated are posited in lagna there is chance of being wounded by a bullock.

231. If the 6th house is occupied by the 8th lord, lagna by the 12th lord and Chandra is associated with the lord of the 6th house the native may apprehend danger from a four-footed animal at his 8th year of age.

232. If Ravi be in the 6th or 8th place and Chandra be in the 12th place from Ravi, the native may be drowned in water at the age of 5 or 9.

233. If lagna rises in a dual sign and Chandra be in the lagna the native may die of drowning.

CHAPTER XVII

When Rajayogas are ineffective ?

[Rajayogas here include Dhana yoga (wealth giving yoga), good academic career, yogas that bring about fortune, high position in society and professional career, popularity, name and fame etc.

In the following paragraphs most of the yogas mentioned will be taken to be unfavourable and their malefic effect may mar the excellent result of Rajayogas. Besides them a few unfavourable yogas such as extinction of lineage, illiteracy, beggary etc, will be explained.]

234. If at birth Ravi posited in Mesa rasi (which is his house of exaltation) occupies Tula rasi in Navamsa chart and is aspected by an unfavourable planet the native becomes penniless.

(i) Similarly if in the birth-chart Sukra occupying Kanyā rasi be in the lowest debilitated position and being in the same rasi in Navamsa chart she is aspected by a malefic the same result of penury is apprehended.

(Sukra's highest exalted position is 27° degree in Mina rasi and 27° degree in Kanya rasi is her lowest debilitated position. Ravi's highest exalted position is 10° degree in Mesa rasi and lowest debilitated position is 10° degree in Tula rasi.

So, malefic result referred to above two yogas are not expected to be effective if the aforesaid planets be not in their debilitated positions in navamsa rasi.)*

The yoga that makes a man a beggar.

235. In case of Makar lagna if in the 10th house Ravi is situated in his lowest debilitated position (that is, 10° degree in Tula) or he is in Tula rasi in Navamsa chart the native lives on alms.

A few more yogas of beggary :

(i) If Chandra in the 4th house from lagna is posited in her lowest debilitated position and is aspected by a malefic.

*According to Skanda mere position of these planets in Nisha-kshetra or Nishanavamsa is not expected to give the unfavourable result as stated above. They must be in a particular bhava to be capable of destroying good effect of the horoscope.

(ii) If Mangal in the 8th house from lagna is posited in his lowest debilitated position and is aspected by a malefic the native under the aforesaid yogas anyhow manages his livelihood by begging.

(Chandra's highest exalted position is 3° degree Vrsa and 3° degree Vrschika rasi is her lowest debilitated position. Mangal's highest exalted position is 28° degree in Makar rasi and 28° degree in Karkata rasi is his lowest debilitated position.)

(iii) Similarly Budha in the 7th place from lagna is posited in his lowest debilitated position, i.e. 15° degree in Mina rasi and is aspected by a malefic.

(iv) Vrhaspatti being in his lowest debilitated position in Makar rasi (5° degree in Makar rasi) receives the aspect of an unfavourable planet.

(v) Sukra in the 5th house from lagna be in the lowest debilitated position and is aspected by a malefic.

(vi) Sani in the 2nd house from lagna be in the lowest debilitated position in Mesa rasi and is aspected by a malefic.

Under the aforesaid yogas which are considered to be very unfavourable the native suffers from poverty and has to live on alms.

236. If Sani without receiving aspect of any favourable planet be in lagna or in any other angular position the native may be a beggar.

(i) If Sani, Chandra and Ravi together be in any kendra the native becomes a dullard and a beggar.

(ii) If Chandra in conjunction with Mangal is posited in Mesa rasi and receives the aspect of Ravi and is not aspected by any favourable planet the native will be a beggar.

237. While Chandra occupies lagna, Sani in any kendra from lagna and Vrhaspatti is situated in the 12th place the native is forsaken by his own men, expelled from his house and is to live on alms.

(i) If the lord of luck (9th house) is in the 12th place and kendras are occupied by malefics the native is addicted to sinful acts and lives at others' expense just like a parasite.

238. If the lord of the 9th is in the 12th, the 12th lord is in the 2nd and the 3rd house is occupied by unfavourable planets the native is attacked with hernia. He is mean-minded, immoral and becomes a beggar.

239. If the 10th house is not occupied by any planet, and most of the planets are either in their inimical houses or in their houses of debilitation the native is illiterate, short-tempered and a beggar. He is without wife and children.

240. If Vrhaspathi in conjunction with Rahu or Ketu is aspected by an unfavourable planet the native is mean, or is engaged in heinous activities. He is selfish and a liar.

241. If Vrhaspathi is posited in the house of debilitation and is aspected by any other planet from his debilitated house the native indulges in heinous acts in spite of his best pedigree.

This yoga is possible in the following manner :

(i) Vrhaspathi in Makar, and Mangal in Karkata.

(ii) Vrhaspathi in Makar, and Sani in Mesa.

All the veteran astrologers spoke highly of "Nicha-Vanga Rajayoga". If the yoga stated above are so unfavourable then "Nich-Vanga Rajayoga" has no meaning at all. (When Vrhaspathi is in Makar and Mangal is in Karkata it is Nicha-Vanga Rajayoga and they from their debilitated houses are aspecting each other.)

Probably the author of Sarvartha Chintamony is correct when he pointed out that the aforesaid yogas will be unfavourable only when Vrhaspathi is in conjunction with or is aspected by any other unfavourable planet other than the planet in debilitation that aspects Vrhaspathi.

242. If the lord of lagna is in the 12th place and Chandra in conjunction with Mangal is situated in any unfavourable rasi the native suffers from poverty in a foreign land.

But Sarvartha Chintamony is of the opinion that this yoga will be very malefic provided Chandra and Mangal in conjunction with a "Krura" planet be posited in the 10th place from lagna and the lord of lagna is in the 12th house.

Extinction of Family lineage

243. If the lord of the 9th is posited in the 12th house, lagnapathi and lord of janmarasi remain unaspected by any favourable planet the native shall have no issue and his family line shall be extinct.

244. If Kendra (or Kendras) is occupied by both benefic and malefic planets and Chandra occupying Sani's navamsa is aspected by the lord of lagna the yoga causes extinction of family line.

(i) Similar result is apprehended when the 7th house from Chandra is occupied by Budha and Sukra, Vrhaspatti is in the 5th place from lagna, and the 4th and 8th houses (from lagna) are occupied by malefic planets.

(ii) Again the following configuration of planets gives the same result. Such as : Chandra is in the 10th, Vrhaspatti in the 7th and a malefic planet is situated in the 9th house.

When a native is considered a disgrace to the family ?

245. If Chandra, Budha and Sukra are situated in angular position and Rahu is in lagna the native becomes unscrupulous and is a disgrace to his family.

According to Saravali, an important book on Astrology conjunction of Chandra, Budha and Sukra makes a man highly educated and cultured but in spite of these qualities the man is mean, greedy and unscrupulous.

246. If the 6th, the 8th and 12th places from the 5th house (that is, the 10th, the 12th and the 4th houses from lagna) are occupied by malefics, or Chandra and Vrhaspatti are situated in lagna and 7th house is posited by Sani and Mangal the native becomes poor, and creates a discord among own men for which he is hated by all.

247. The native is considered a disgrace to his family under the following yogas :

(i) When the 4th house is occupied by all the malefic planets.

(ii) When lagna, the 5th, 8th and 12th houses are occupied by malefics.

(iii) When all inauspicious planets are situated in lagna, the 5th and the 12th house.

(iv) When malefic planet or planets are in lagna, Chandra is in the 4th, the 5th place is occupied by Vrhaspatti and the lord of the 5th house is weak.

(v) When Sukra in combination with a malefic is in the 4th house, Budha in the 7th, Vrhasthathi in the 5th and Chandra in conjunction with a malefic is in the 8th place from lagna.

(vi) When lagna is occupied by waning Moon, and combust Vrhasthathi is situated in the rasi owned by Sani.

Rekha yoga

This is one of the worst yogas as described in Jataka Parijat. A person born under this yoga, as if he has no right to live in society as a man. For he has neither knowledge nor wealth. He suffers from extreme poverty, he is lustful and wrathful. He is filthy has no grace and always picks up quarrel with others. He shows disregard to gods and brahmins.

It is almost a verbatim translation of Sloka No. 26, Ch. VI of Jataka Parijat. I do not know why it is termed as Rekha yoga. 'Presnya' (Servitude), 'Kemadruma' (daridra) yogas also come under this yoga. Some commentators are of the opinion that Rekha yogas mar the beneficial effect of Raja yogas.

248. (i) If the lord of lagna is weak and aspected by the 8th lord and Vrhasthathi is scorched by Sun's rays it is Rekha yoga.

(ii) When the lord of Navamsa of the 4th lord is obscured by Sun's rays and aspected by the lord of the 12th place it is Rekha yoga.

(iii) When the 4th lord is conjoined with the 6th lord, the lord of the 9th house in combination with the lord of the 8th house is posited in the 5th house and the lord of lagna is weak it is Rekha yoga.

(iv) When benefics are in dusthanas (6th, 8th and 12th houses), malefics in kendra and kona positions and the lord of the 11th house is weak it is Rekha yoga.

(v) If the 9th lord is scorched by Sun's rays, the lords of lagna and dhana (2nd place) are posited in their debilitated houses it is Rekha yoga.

(vi) If any 3 planets are obscured by Sun's rays or they are situated in their own debilitated houses and the lords of lagna is either weak or placed in any dusthana (6th, 8th and 12th places) it is Rekha yoga.

(vii) If malefic planets are either debilitated or aspected by planets posited in their inimical houses and are placed in lagna, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 7th, 9th, 10th or 11th houses it is Rekha yoga.

The Yogas that indicate Poverty

(These yogas of poverty are described here in addition to those narrated in p. 130)

249. If any one of Vrhaspathi, Mangal, Sani and Budha be in his house of depression or obscured by sun's rays and is placed in 5th, 6th, 8th, 11th or 12th house the native not only suffers from financial distress but also has to live on alms.

250. When Sani being placed in the 6th house is aspected by an unfavourable planet, and Ravi and Budha occupy lagna the native is poverty stricken and is to live on alms.

251. If Mangal, Budha, Vrhaspathi, Sukra and Sani are posited in the 5th, 6th, 8th, 10th and 12th places respectively and lord of the 12th house is debilitated or either combust, scorched or obscured by sun's rays and the lord of lagna is without strength the native suffers from poverty and has no other means to maintain his livelihood than begging.

Here all the 5 planets may not be posited in the manner stated in the above sloka, but when majority of them are situated in most of the bhavas stated above, lagna-lord is weak, the lord of the 12th house is debilitated and Combust or scorched by sun's rays unfavourable results indicated in the sloka are expected to occur.

252. If Chandra, Mangal, Vrhaspathi and Sukra are situated in any four bhavas out of the 5th, 7th, 9th, 10th and 11th the native shall be very poor, or,

(i) When debilitated Sukra is posited in lagna, the 5th house is occupied by Vrhaspathi being in his house of depression, debilitated Mangal in the 11th and Chandra in her house of depression occupies the 3rd place the person having such a yoga will definitely be penniless.

253. If lagnas both in birth and navamsa charts fall in cardinal signs and Vrhaspathi other than his own sign is posited in the 6th or 12th house the native shall be poor and a beggar.

254. In case of birth at night if lagna rises in cardinal signs (chara rasi), favourable planets are weak and posited in kendra and kona, and malefic planets occupy those bhavas other than kendra the native is sure to live on alms.

The following yogas are quoted from Hora Ratna (author is Yavanacharya) :

255. When the lord of lagna in association with a malefic is posited in the 12th house or benefic planets are obscured by sun's rays the native becomes penniless.

256. If inauspicious planets are placed in kendra and benefic planets are weak and obscured by sun's rays the native becomes imbecile and poor.

257. If the lord of lagna is posited in the 8th house (particularly when he is obscured by sun's rays), the 10th lord in the 6th and the lord of the 2nd house is in the 12th place the native will be poor.

258. When lords of lagna and the 7th house are in the 6th, the 5th place is occupied by a strong malefic and Vrhaspadi and Sukra are obscured by sun's rays the native is penniless and distressed.

259. If the lagna-lord be in the 6th and the lord of the 2nd house associated with or aspected by "Krura", (very malefic) planets is situated in the 8th place the native is poor and imbecile.

260. If the 2nd house is associated with and aspected by a malefic and the lord thereof is conjoined with Ravi the native will be poor.

261. If the lord of the 2nd house is in conjunction with malefics and obscured by sun's rays even if the 2nd house is occupied by auspicious planets or

262. If favourable planets occupying the 6th and the 11th houses and the lord of the 2nd house is sunk down by sun's rays the native will be poor.

263. This also betrays poverty as and when both the lagna-lords of the birth and navamsa charts being combined with the 10th lord and also the lord of the 2nd house being associated with unfavourable planets are posited in the 6th house and the 2nd house is occupied by malefic planets.

264. If the 2nd house is occupied and aspected by inauspicious planets and the lord of the 2nd house is placed in the 3rd the native becomes poor.

265. When the 2nd house and four kendras are occupied by malefic planets not only the native himself will be poverty-stricken but also his kith and kin born in the family is bereft of wealth.

266. If Ravi, Sukra and Sani together be posited in any bhava a wealthy person also under this yoga will be poor, but when Mesa or Simha Rasi is occupied by these three planets and conjoined with Budha and aspected by Vrhaspathi the native becomes a very wealthy man.

267. If Chandra, Mangal, Sukra and Sani together are posited in any bhava even a wealthy man under this yoga becomes poor.

268. When the 10th place from lagna, 11th place from Ravi and 8th place from Chandra are not occupied by any planet the yoga produces poverty.

269. If the 2nd house is posited by a debilitated, combust and krura planet and the lords of the 2nd and 11th houses are conjoined with unfavourable planets the native becomes poor.

270. When favourable planet be in dusthanas (6th, 8th and 12th places) and unfavourable planets are in Kendra or Kona the native any how is capable of managing his two meals but it is very difficult for him to get money to purchase his clothings.

The following yogas of poverty are quoted from 'Laghu Parasari' :

271. If lagnapathi is in the 12th and the 12th lord is in Lagna and the latter is aspected by or conjoined with a "maraka" planet it is a yoga of poverty.

272. If there is an exchange of planets between lagnalord and lord of the 6th house and they are aspected by a "maraka" planet the native born with a silver spoon in his mouth becomes poor.

273. When lagna and/or Chandra are associated with Ketu and the lord of lagna is placed in the 8th and aspected by or conjoined with a "maraka" planet the yoga produces poverty.

274. If lagnapathi is conjoined with the lord of the 6th, 8th or 12th house and is aspected by an inauspicious planet the native will be poor. Even the aspect on lagnapathi by the lord of the 5th or 9th house will not mitigate the ill effect of poverty, but if the said lagnapathi receives no aspect of the lord of the 5th or 9th house the native shall be very poor.

275. If the lord of the 4th is in the 6th and the lord of the 9th is in the 10th house but aspected by a maraka planet the person having such a yoga shall be poor.

276. When an unfavourable planet aspected by or conjoined with a "maraka" planet be posited in lagna and lagna is not occupied by the lord of the 9th or 10th house it is a yoga that betrays poverty.

277. If the lord of any bhava exchanges places with the lord of the 6th, the 8th or the 12th house and is aspected by any unfavourable planet particularly Sani the native becomes poor.

278. If the lord of Navamsa of the lord of Janmarasi (i. e. where Chandra is posited) is associated with a "maraka" planet or be posited in maraka-sthana the yoga produces poverty.

279. When the Navamsa-lord of lagnapathi posited in dusthana is conjoined with or aspected by any "maraka" planet the yoga produces poverty.

280. It is a yoga of destruction of "Dhana" yoga when Chandra and Mangal are in the 2nd place from lagna".

(i) It is also a yoga of poverty if Ravi being in the 2nd house is aspected by Sani but when Ravi is not aspected by Sani the native will be very rich.

(ii) Again if Sani aspected by Budha is posited in the 2nd house the native owns great wealth.

281. If Vrhaspathi being in the 2nd house is aspected by Budha the native becomes poor.

282. Budha when aspected by Chandra and posited in the house of wealth makes a man pauper.

The following yogas of poverty are quoted from 'Sarvartha Chintamony' :

283. If lagnapathi is weak and associated with an unfavourable planet, posited in the 12th and the lord of the 2nd house is associated with Ravi and aspected by a malefic, or be in the house of depression the native incurs displeasure of the Government and loses money.

(i) Similar result is apprehended if that 12th lord is in the 2nd, the lord of the 11th house is in the 12th and the lord of the 2nd is in any dusthana or posited in his debilitated house.

284. If the 2nd lord conjoined with Ravi or the 10th lord is situated in the 12th or in his debilitated house and also combined with an unfavourable planet the native loses money owing to displeasure of the Government.

(i) If the lagnapathi combined with a malefic be posited in the 8th place similar results noted above is apprehended.

285. If the lord of any dusthana is aspected by Mangal, the lord of the 11th house is in the Navamsa of an inauspicious planet, weak or conjoined with an unfavourable planet and aspected by or combined with the 3rd lord the native loses money due to activities of thieves or fire or he may lose money owing to punishment inflicted by the Government of the land.

286. The native becomes poor if the Navamsa lord of the dhanapathi (lord of the 2nd house) is situated in any dusthana, combined with a malefic or placed in "Krura" Sastyamsa.

287. If the Navamsa lord of lagna is an unfavourable planet, associated with the lord of the 2nd house, posited in any dusthana and at the same time conjoined with or aspected by the lagna lord, the native has to lose money due to fire, activities of thieves or wrath of the Government.

288. The native is poverty-stricken if the 2nd house, its lord and the lord of the 11th house are in conjunction with malefics.

289. When Ravi being associated with an unfavourable planet is weak or debilitated and is in conjunction with the 12th lord or lord of Navamsa of lagna and is also aspected by the lord of the 2nd house the native becomes poor.

290. If the Dhanapathi (lord of the 2nd house) is in "Krura" Sastyamsa and is placed in any kendra or kona or associated with debilitated Ravi the native has meagre income.

(i) Similar result is expected when the 11th lord is posited in "Krura" Sastyamsa and is not aspected by either Vrhaspathi or Sukra.

The following yogas of poverty are quoted from 'Bhavartha Ratnakar' :

291. If the lords of the 4th, 9th and lagna are posited in the 2nd house the native suffers from penury till his death.

I have no experience of such a yoga giving such an unlucky result and why the yoga shall impart such a bad result can not be reasonably explained.

292. (i) It is a yoga of poverty if the 2nd lord is in the 12th and the 12th lord in the 2nd.

(ii) It is a yoga of poverty if the 2nd lord is in the 12th and the 12th lord in lagna.

(iii) It is a yoga of poverty if the 5th lord is in the 6th and the 9th lord in the 8th.

(iv) It is a yoga of poverty if the 4th lord along with the lord of the 9th place is posited in the 8th, or the lords of the 4th and lagna or the lords of lagna and the 9th house are posited in the 8th.

(v) When these three Bhavas viz., the 4th, 9th and lagna are associated with unfavourable planets or the Navamsa lords of these Bhavas are conjoined with the lord of the 8th, or lord of the 6th or 12th house cast aspect on those Navamsa lords the native shall suffer from extreme poverty.

Again if Dhana-lord is in the 12th and 12th lord is in the 2nd place it is a sign of poverty, but if any one of these two lords viz., lords of the 2nd and 12th are placed either in the 2nd or 12th house and other planets particularly lord of Dhanasthan is posited in any favourable house the pecuniary stringency shall not be so acute. But this is also to be remembered that if the navamsa lords of these two planets—i.e., the lord of the 2nd and the 12th are posited in any dusthana or conjoined with or aspected by any lord of dusthanas very unfavourable result may be apprehended. In Parasari-Hora it is stated that the lord of the 12th when combined with the lord of lagna and also lord of the 11th and the 12th are combined in any Bhava the native shall loose wealth and shall be involved in debt.

This is also stated in that treatise that when lagna-lord is in the 12th or lords of the 12th and the 8th are in lagna the native shall loose all his money and shall have to incur debt.

Here is an instance—lagna in Tula Rasi, Sani in Makar, Vṛhaspathi in Kumbha, Ketu in Mina, Ravi in Mesa, Budha in Vṛsa, Sukra in Mithuna and Mangal and Rahu in Kanya.

In this Birth-chart the 9th lord is in the 8th and the 8th lord in the 9th and the lord of the 2nd is in the 12th place. The native is a poor man no doubt but the 5th lord Sani is not in the 6th place and Dhanakaraka (wealth-giving) Vṛhaspathi in spite of his fault as a 6th lord is placed in the 5th place from lagna. This is probably the reason why the native did not suffer from extreme penury.

2nd instance—Lagna in Simha Rasi, Rahu in Tula, Sukra in Kumbha, Mangal in Mina, Ravi, Budha and Ketu in Mesa. Sani in Vṛsa, Vṛhaspathi in Mithuna and Chandra in Karkata.

In this chart Mangal the lord of the 4th and the 9th is in the 8th, 8th lord is in the 11th and lord of the 6th is in 10th the native though a son of a very rich man is over head and ears in debt and has been suffering from extreme poverty. This is to be noted particularly in this case that Mangal who is the only yogakaraka planet is posited in the 8th and worth of the horoscope is practically lost.

A few Daridra and other unfavourable yogas :

(According to Vrihat Jataka Chandrika)

In this book the author has given a few unfavourable yogas naming them as Hradha, Fanimukha, Kaka, Byaghratunda, Hutasana, Kemadruma and Lalati. Names of these yogas are peculiar and are not found in any other authoritative book or I think these yogas are not commonly found. Even the Kemadruma yoga mentioned here is not the one which is generally found in other books of Astrology.

293. Hradha yoga : This yoga is produced when Mangal, Ravi, Sani and Vṛhaspathi are posited in their respective houses of debilitation. A person born under this yoga will suffer from ill health, financial miseries. He will have no peace in the family and in most times will remain unemployed.

294. Fanimukha yoga : If Sukra, Ravi, Chandra and Sani are in their houses of depression, the native has very low position in service and possesses no money and peace.

295. Kaka yoga : When Karkat lagna rises and Mangal be in Mesa, Sukra in Mina, and Chandra occupies Kanya Rasi, the native suffers from mental depression all the time.

296. Byaghratunda yoga : Sukra in Kanya, Vrhasthi in Makar, Ravi in Tula, Sani together with Mangal is in Mesa Rasi. The native born under this yoga is devoid of any good quality and becomes poor.

297. Hutasana yoga : Lagna in Mesa Rasi, Sani in lagna, Chandra in Vrschik, Mangal in Karkata and Ravi, Budha and Sukra are in Makara. The native under this yoga becomes very poor.

298. Kemadruma yoga : If the 7th place from Chandra is without any planet and that place is not aspected by any benefic the native becomes poor having gloomy disposition. He may have liason with the wife of any superior person.

299. Lalati yoga : When Sani or Rahu be in lagna and the 10th place from lagna is not occupied by any planet the native earns his livelihood by begging.

Delineation of some Vargas as they were dealt with by Maharshi Parasara and some other authors

Maharshi Parasara mentiond in his Parasari Hora about Sada-Varga, Sapta-Varga, Dasa-Varga and Sorasha-Varga.

1. Sada-Varga includes Lagna, Hora, Drekkana, Navamsa, Dwadasamsa and Trimsamsa.

(Lagna means Rasi-chakra or birthchart)

2. Sapta-Varga includes all 'Sada-Vargas' plus Saptamsa Varga.

3. Dasa-Varga contains all Sapta-Vargas plus Dasamsa Varga, Sorashamsa-Varga and Sastyamsa-Varga.

4. Sorashamsa-Varga contains all the dasa-vargas plus Turyamsa, Vimsamsa, Chatur-Vimsamsa (24th div.), Sapta-Vimsamsa (27th div), Chatterimsa (40th div), Pancha-Chatterimsa (45th div).

A. Sada-Varga is termed as Kimsukamsa Varga.

(i) If a planet acquires two Vargas of his own the planet is said to be in "Kimsuka".

(ii) If a planet acquires three Vargas of his own he is in "Benjan" Varga.

(iii) If a planet acquires four Vargas of his own he is in "Chamara" Varga.

(iv) If a planet acquires five Vargas of his own he is in "Chatra" Varga.

(v) If a planet acquires six Vargas of his own he is in "Kundal" Varga.

(vi) If a planet acquires seven Vargas of his own he is in "Mukuta" Varga.

B. Dasa-Varga is termed as Parijatadi Varga.

(i) When a planet gets two Vargas of his own he is in 'Parijata' Varga.

(ii) When a planet gets three Vargas of his own he is in 'Uttama' Varga.

(iii) When a planet gets four Vargas of his own he is in 'Gopura' Varga.

(iv) When a planet gets five Vargas of his own he is in 'Simhasana' Varga.

(v) When a planet gets six Vargas of his own he is in 'Paravata' Varga.

(vi) When a planet gets seven Vargas of his own he is in 'Devaloka' Varga.

(vii) When a planet gets eight Vargas of his own he is in 'Brahmaloka' Varga.

(viii) When a planet gets nine Vargas of his own he is in 'Satruvahana' or 'Indravahana' Varga.

(ix) When a planet gets ten Vargas of his own he is in 'Sreedhama' Varga.

C. Sorasha-Varga

(i) When a planet acquires two Vargas of his own he is in 'Vedaka' Varga. (ii) Similarly three Vargas of his own, 'Kusuma', (iii) four Vargas of his own 'Naga-puspa', (iv) five Vargas of his own 'Kanduka', (v) six Vargas of his own 'Keral', (vi) seven Vargas of his own 'Kalpa Vrksa', (vii) eight Vargas of his own 'Chandan bana', (viii) nine Vargas of his own 'Purna-Chandra', (ix) ten Vargas of his own 'Uchhai-Srava', (x) eleven Vargas of his own 'Dhanantwari', (xi) twelve Vargas of his own 'Suryakanta', (xii) thirteen Vargas of his own 'Vridhruma', (xiii) fourteen Vargas of his own 'Indra-Simhasana', (xiv) fifteen Vargas of his own 'Goloka', (xv) sixteen Vargas of his own 'Sree-Vallava'.

5. What these different Vargas indicate ?

(i) From lagna (or kshetra as we may call it) :—judgement about body, Structure, Constitution, health etc.

(ii) From Hora.....one's wealth, poverty etc.

(iii) From Drekkana.....relation (favourable or unfavourable) with brothers and sisters.

(iv) From Turyamsa.....luck or fortune.

(v) From Saptamsa.....children and grand-children.

(vi) From Navamsawife or husband.

(vii) From Dasamsa.....prosperity and upliftment.

(viii) From Daudamsa.....parents.

- (ix) From Sorashamsahappiness or miseries and conveyance.
- (x) From Vimsamsa.....prayer and worshipping of God Almighty.
- (xi) From Chaturvimsamsa.....knowledge and learning.
- (xii) From Sapta-vimsamsa.....strength and weakness (no commentator has tried to explain this).
- (xiii) From Trimsamsa.....danger in life (aristha).
- (xiv) From Chatterimsa.....general good or bad result (that a native may enjoy).
- (xv) From Pancha-Chatterimsa } and } everything that is good or evil.
- (xvi) From Sastyamsa..... }

* Special indication of Sastyamsa and Sorashamsa is that when a planet occupies a cruel or very malefic (Sanskrit equivalent is 'krura') Sastyamsa good effect of that planet and of that bhava (where the planet concerned is posited) is lost.

Again, if a planet sits in a favourable 'Sorashamsa' good effect of that planet and the bhava (where that planet is posited) is enhanced.

6. How to determine a favourable Varga of a planet ?

(i) If a planet acquires the Varga of a planet who is the lord of a Kendra from the former his Varga (i.e. the varga of the lord of that Kendra) is favourable.

(ii) If that planet or Kendra-lord of that planet is combust, vanquished in planetary war, debilitated, malefic in 'Sayanadi bhava' or old or dead that Varga has no worth.

Say, Budha is in Kanya exalted, his kendra-lord is Vrhaspathi who is situated in Makara which is his debilitated house, or Budha in navamsa chart occupies Mina where he is debilitated, or Vrhaspathi is unfavourable in 'Sayanadi bhava', or he is dead or old then Vrhaspathi's Varga acquired by Budha will carry no worth at all.

(iii) If any Rajayoga occurs due to relation between Budha and Sukra the yoga will not produce any benefic result, because Budha is ineffective in Varga.

Therefore this can be concluded that a planet or planet's effect on account of any rajayoga or any other favourable yoga through them will not be beneficial until and unless they are favourable and strong in Varga-chakra.

Of course effect of one Varga is not the final say. In this way a planet's worth is to be examined in either Sada-Varga, Dasa-Varga or Sorasha-Varga etc.

It will not be out of place to mention that Maharshi Parasara's method of testing Varga-strength is somewhat difficult or strenuous but what to do. If we want to arrive at an accurate decision from a chart it must have to be done.

Again this also must not be forgotten that judgement of a birthchart does not depend only on all these mechanical processes. The mechanical process of working out Varga-strength and other relative factors will give the astrologer the basical data only. The astrologer shall be able to give his judgement on the accuracy of these data provided he has developed power of intuition and also relies on his experience.

Maharshi Parasara has given some clues for determination of the strength of a planet. They are as follows :—

(a) Strength of a planet is full if he is posited in his own or exalted sign.

(b) If a planet occupies the seventh place from his own house, or he is in his debilitated sign strength of the planet is nil.

(c) If the planet in question is posited between his exalted and debilitated house the numerical strength is to be worked out by rule of three.

E. g. Ravi's degree is $4^{\circ}-10^{\circ}-20'$, he is situated between his exalted and debilitated signs.

Ravi's exalted point is $0^{\circ}-10^{\circ}-0'$ and debilitated point is $6^{\circ}-10^{\circ}-0'$. This means Ravi is debilitated 6 signs apart from his exalted sign, which is 180 degree. Generally a planet's total strength is taken to be 20 (of course in some cases it varies). Now we are to find out the numerical strength of Ravi by rule of three.

For 180° numerical strength is 20

For 120° " " is —

$\frac{120 \times 20}{180} = \frac{40}{3} = 13\frac{1}{3}$. This means Ravi has already consumed

$13\frac{1}{3}$ out of 20 and is able to give $6\frac{2}{3}$ result only.

(d) Mangal, Vrhaspathi and Sukra are effective in Ravi's Hora. Chandra, Sukra and Sani are effective in Chandra's Hora

(this means Sukra is effective both in Ravi and Chandra's Hora). Budha brings about result both in Ravi and Chandra's Hora, but if he is in a neutral sign in the birth-chart he is more effective in Chandra's Hora and in an odd sign in the birth chart he gives better result if he occupies Ravi's Hora.

(e) In Trimsamsa Varga Ravi gives the result of Mangal and Chandra gives the result of Sukra.

(f) Those planets who occupy the seventh place from Ravi in the birth-chart are said to impart full result (whether favourable or otherwise).

(g) When a planet is in combination with Ravi and has identical degree with him (Ravi) the result is nil, i.e. his action is defunct.

7. How Varga-chakras are analysed ?

(a) There is no clear-cut process mentioned in Parasari Hora to delineate a Varga-chakra. From that great treatise we only know which chart indicates what. Such as, Lagna indicates body, health etc., Hora indicates wealth, Drekkhan signifies happy or unhappy relation with brothers or sisters etc.

Actually we are not told by the author how we can come to a conclusion with regard to one's relation with his brothers and sisters from a Drekkhan-chart.

My idea is that the clue lies with the third house of Drekkhan chart. If that house is occupied or aspected by papas or the lord of that house is not friendly with the lord of lagna of the birth or Drekkhan-chart relation with brothers and sisters may not be happy.

Again, if the lord of the third house acquires benefic Vargas or the lord of third house of the Drekkhan chart is benefic and in majority cases acquires benefic Vargas in Sada or Dasa-Vargas the relation of the native with his brothers and sisters may be congenial. Otherwise the result may be the reverse.

(b) Navamsa chart (Varga) according to Parasari Hora indicates wife or husband and I think, this means conjugal life also. Therefore, if the seventh house from Navamsa lagna or its lord or both acquire favourable Varga and also the seventh house of Navamsa chart is occupied by a natural benefic the wife or the husband as the case may be is expected to be good to the native's liking and conjugal life of that person will also be happy.

This is the way how we can judge all Vargas. But this may also be the case that Maharshi Parasara might not lay much stress on delineation of Vargas. His only directions to his readers are confined to determinations of strength of planets and bhavas. Other incidental results of Vargas have been spoken on suitable occasions. Such as :—

(i) The native may be a charitable and generous person if the lord of lagna, 4th, 7th or the 10th acquires 'Parijata' Varga.

(ii) The native may be a very generous person if lord of any of these houses is in "Uttama" Varga.

(iii) If any one of them be in "Gopur" Varga the native will be a person full of vigour and manliness.

(iv) If any one of them be in "Simhasana" Varga the native is respected and honoured by all.

(v) If any one of them be in "Paravata" Varga the native will be a brave and straight-forward person.

(vi) If any of them be in "Devaloka" Varga the native may be a leader of an Assembly or a Council.

(vii) If any one of them be in "Vrhmalo" Varga the native may be a great sage.

(viii) If any one of them be in "Satruvahana" or "Airavata" Varga the native may be in happy mood under any circumstance.

(ix) "Sreedhama" Varga cannot be attained by anyone in kaliyuga.

8. Indication of results for lords of some other bhavas :—

(i) When the lord of the 5th house acquires "Parijata" Varga the native gets education according to the standard of his family.

(ii) When the 5th lord be in "Uttama" Varga the native will be highly educated.

(iii) When the 5th lord be in "Gopur" Varga the native will earn name and fame and he will be recognised as a great learned man by all eminent persons of the world and his contribution in the field of learning will be remembered by all.

(iv) If the 5th lord be in "Simhasana" Varga the native will be a renowned educationist and a great minister or adviser to the head of the state.

(v) If that lord be in "Paravata" Varga the native acquires Brahma Vidya.

(vi) If he is in "Devaloka" Varga the native will be a 'Karma yogi' (meaning he will perform his worldly duties dispassionately and surrender himself to God Almighty.)

(vii) If he is in "Brahmaloka" Varga the native may be a true devotee of God and worship God with untiring energy and devotion.

(viii) If he is in "Airavata" Varga the native will also be a great devotee of God.

9. About 9th lord.

(i) If the 9th lord acquires "Parijata" Varga the native visits holi places on several occasions.

(ii) If the lord be in "Uttama" Varga the native used to visit many sacred places in his previous birth and in this birth also he shall visit such sacred places on many occasions.

(iii) If the lord be in "Gopura" Varga he shall during this and after this birth will perform sacrificial deeds (Jajna).

(iv) If the same lord be in "Simhasana" Varga the native will be courageous, truthful and self-restrained person.

(v) If he is in "Paravata" Varga he will be a devotee of 'Brahma' and be a "Parama-bansa" in this and after this birth.

(vi) If the lord be in "Devaloka" Varga the native will be a "Laguri" and "Pitru-dandi" (the meaning is not clear to me).

(vii) If the lord be in "Brahmaloka" Varga he will perform "aswa-medha" Jajna (horse-sacrifice) and will become the king of heaven.

(viii) If the lord attains "Airavata" Varga the native becomes true incarnation of justice and religion.

(This yoga was found only in the birthcharts of Sri Ramchandra and Yudhisthara).

Nothing has been mentioned about 'Sreedhama' Varga.

(ix) When both the 9th and the 10th lords be in "Parijata" Varga the native becomes a great educationist and reformer.

(x) If they are in 'Uttama' Varga the native becomes a great king possessing many horses and elephants (now-a-days motor-cars, aeroplanes may be substituted in place of horses and elephants).

(xi) If they are in "Gopura" Varga the native becomes an emperor adored by all kings (now-a-days king or emperor is seldom found anywhere).

(xii) If they are in "Simhasana" Varga the native becomes a king of kings. This yoga is found in the birth charts of Maharaja Harish Chandra, Bali and Vaiswanara.

(xiii) In Kali yuga men like Yudhisthir, Salivahana, Nagarjuna will be born if the 9th and 10th lords be in "Gopura" Varga.

(xiv) If they are in "Paravata" Varga advent of 'Manu' is possible.

(xv) If they are in "Devaloka" Varga Dasāvatār from Matsya to Kalki are born.

(xvi) And Sayambhuma Manu is born when the 9th and 10th lords are in Airavata Varga.

9. The author of Jyotir nirbandha (comparatively a recent publication of 18th century) an important book on astrology gave some important clues for delineation of six Vargas only, viz., Hora, Drekkā, Saptamsa, Navamsa, Dwadasamsa and Trimsamsa.

According to him, from Hora Chakra native's complexion, honesty and his love for others should be judged.

In case of Hora-chakra the first house is Karkata, and second house is Simha. (i) If lagna rises at Karkata i.e. the 1st house and the second house (Simha rasi) is occupied by many planets (at least more than four planets) the native rises very high in life and will be the best man in his family. He will be handsome, very well-behaved and accomplished in manners. (ii) If lagna falls in Simha rasi and many planets are in the 12th place from lagna the result will be the reverse.

Over and above a man's wealth or poverty may be judged from Hora Chakra. Here, also if there are more number of planets in the Karkata rasi and lagna rises at Simha the native will not be a wealthy man.

(ii) In Drekkā chakra—If any Kendra from lagna (Drekkā Lagna) is occupied by any planet in exaltation the native becomes a king or a prosperous man like a king.

If the planet occupying any kendra (from Drekkana lagna) is situated in his own sign the native becomes a Commander of king's army; if that kendra is the planet's friendly sign the native becomes an orator.

If the Drekkana lord is fully powerful and is also aspected by a friendly planet the native may get all the benefic results indicated by the Drekkana-chakra.

(iv) In Saptamsa chakra—If the lord of the third house from lagna is aspected by or combined with benefic planets the native may have many brothers and sisters.

If the same lord is aspected by or combined with malefics only he may not have any brother or sister.

(v) In Navamsa chakra—If the fifth lord from lagna is a natural benefic and is aspected by another natural beneficial planet the native may have many children.

If that lord being a natural malefic is aspected by or associated with an unfavourable planet the native's relation with his children may be strained or he may not derive any happiness from them.

(vi) In Dwadasamsa chakra—If the seventh lord being a natural benefic is aspected by or combined with a natural favourable planet the native will have one wife and he gets sons through that wife.

If that seventh lord being a natural unfavourable planet is combined with or aspected by natural malefic the native's conjugal life will be unhappy and he does not get happiness from his children.

(vii) In Trimsamsa chakra—If the eighth lord from lagna be a favourable planet aspected by or associated with a benefic the native breaths his last with full consciousness in a holy place.

If that lord be a natural malefic planet associated with or aspected by natural malefic the native may die of nasty disease or he may die of fire or drowning.

Readers must have noticed that author of Jyotir-nirbandha has different view from that of Maharshi Parasara with regard to indication of aforesaid chakras.

*In Jyotir nirbandha the author has said in almost all the slokas that when the planet in question is aspected by or combined with either benefic or malefic the result will have to be deduced accordingly. Now, the question is, what sort of aspect it should be; whether the planet in the birth chart will cast his aspect on the planet in a Varga, or a planet as he is placed in the Varga will cast his aspect on that planet. Many astrologers are of the opinion that a planet in a Varga can not cast his aspect on another bhava or a planet, as no authority has corroborated such opinion. But Dr. B. V. Raman and some other eminent astrologers do not support this view. I am also of the opinion that if a planet in a Varga may have no aspect on another the author would never mention anything about such aspect or he would say that the planet in the birth chart may cast his aspect on another planet posited in the Varga-chakra.

Old Schools are of the opinion that a planet in a Varga may be aspected by another planet posited in the birthchart and the author has mentioned about such aspect only. I think the opinion of such astrologers of old school are not tenable.

TABLES

Rasi, Gana, Varna and Yoni Chakra

Rasi	Nakshatra	Gana	Varna	Yoni
Mesa	1 Aaswini 2 Varani 3 Krithika	Deva Nara Rakshasa	Kshatriya alternate Vaisya	Horse Elephant Ram
Vrsa	3 Krithika 4 Rohini 5 Mrigasira	Rakshasa Nara Deva	Vaisya alternate Sudra	Ram Serpent ..
Mithuna	5 Mrigasira 6 Adra 7 Punarvasu	Deva Nara Deva	Sudra alternate Vaisya	Serpent Dog Oat
Karkata	7 Punarvasu 8 Pুষya 9 Aashla	Deva " Rakshasa	Vipra " "	Cat Ram Cat
Simha	10 Magha 11 P. Falguni 12 U. Falguni	Rakshasa Nara Nara	Kshatriya " "	Rat " Cow
Kanya	12 U. Falguni 13 Hasta 14 Chitra	Nara Deva Rakshasa	Vaisya alternate Sudra	Cow Buffalo Tiger
Tula	14 Chitra 15 Swati 16 Bisakha	Rakshasa Deva Rakshasa	Kshatriya alternate Sudra	Tiger Buffalo Tiger
Vrschika	16 Bisakha 17 Anuradha 18 Jyestha	Rakshasa Deva Rakshasa	Vipra " "	Tiger Deer "
Dhanu	19 Moola 20 Purbasarha 21 Uttarasarha	Rakshasa Nara "	Kshatriya " "	Dog Monkey Mongoose (Nakul)
Makar	21 Uttarasarha 22 Sravana 23 Dhanistha	Nara Deva Rakshasa	Vaisya alternate Sudra	Mongoose Monkey Lion
Kumbha	23 Dhanistha 24 Satabhisha 25 P.bhadrapada	Rakshasa " Nara	Sudra alternate Vaisya	Lion Horse Lion
Mina	25 P.bhadrapada 26 U.bhadrapada 27 Revati	Nara " Deva	Vipra " "	Lion Cow Elephant

Diva Yamardhapathi

Day	1st Yama	2nd Yama	3rd Yama	4th Yama	5th Yama	6th Yama	7th Yama	8th Yama
Sun	Rav	Suk	Budh	Ch	San	Vrhs	Mang	Rav
Mon	Ch	San	Vrhs	Mang	Rav	Suk	Budh	Ch
Tues	Mang	Rav	Suk	Budh	Ch	San	Vrhs	Mang
Wed	Budh	Ch	San	Vrhs	Mang	Rav	Suk	Budh
Thurs	Vrhs	Mang	Rav	Suk	Budh	Ch	San	Vrhs
Fri	Suk	Budh	Ch	San	Vrhs	Mang	Rav	Suk
Sat	San	Vrhs	Mang	Rav	Suk	Budh	Ch	San

Ratri Yamardhapathi

Day	1st Yama	2nd Yama	3rd Yama	4th Yama	5th Yama	6th Yama	7th Yama	8th Yama
Sun	Rav	Vrhs	Ch	Suk	Mang	San	Budh	Rav
Mon	Ch	Suk	Mang	San	Budh	Rav	Vrhs	Ch
Tues	Mang	San	Budh	Rav	Vrhs	Ch	Suk	Mang
Wed	Budh	Rav	Vrhs	Ch	Suk	Mang	San	Budh
Thurs	Vrhs	Ch	Suk	Mang	San	Budh	Rav	Vrhs
Fri	Suk	Mang	San	Budh	Rav	Vrhs	Ch	Suk
Sat	San	Budh	Rav	Vrhs	Ch	Suk	Mang	San

Rav—Ravi Ch—Chandra Mang—Mangal Budh—Budha
Vrhs—Vrhaspathi Suk—Sukra San—Sani

Diva Dandapathi

Yamardha- pathi	1st D-pathi	2nd D-pathi	3rd D-pathi	4th D-pathi
Ravi	Ravi	Rabu	Budh	Ch
Chandra	Ch	Ravi	Rabu	Budh
Mangal	Mang	Ravi	Rabu	Budh
Budh	Budh	Ch	Ravi	Rabu
Vrhas	Vrhs	Ch	Ravi	Rabu
Sukra	Suk	Mang	Ravi	Rabu
Sani	Sani	Mang	Ravi	Rabu

Ratri Dandapathi

Yamardha- pathi	1st D-pathi	2nd D-pathi	3rd D-pathi	4th D-pathi
Ravi	Ravi	Suk	Budh	Ch
Chandra	Ch	Sani	Vrhs	Mang
Mangal	Mang	Ravi	Suk	Budh
Budh	Budh	Ch	Sani	Vrhs
Vrhas	Vrhs	Mang	Ravi	Suk
Sukra	Suk	Budh	Ch	Sani
Sani	Sani	Vrhs	Mang	Ravi

TABLE OF SANNADI CHAKRA

	Janma Nadi	Karma Nadi	Sanghallk Nadi	Samuday Nadi	Vinash Nadi	Manas Nadi
1. Aswini	1	10	16	18	23	25
2. Varani	2	11	17	19	24	26
3. Krittika	3	12	18	20	25	27
4. Rohini	4	13	19	21	26	1
5. Mrigasira	5	14	20	22	27	2
6. Adra	6	15	21	23	1	3
7. Punarvasu	7	16	22	24	2	4
8. Pusa	8	17	23	25	3	5
9. Aslesha	9	18	24	26	4	6
10. Magha	10	19	25	27	5	7
11. P. Falg	11	20	26	1	6	8
12. Uttar Falg	12	21	27	2	7	9
13. Hasta	13	22	1	3	8	10
14. Chitra	14	23	2	4	9	11
15. Swati	15	24	3	5	10	12
16. Visakha	16	25	4	6	11	13
17. Anuradha	17	26	5	7	12	14
18. Jestha	18	27	6	8	13	15
19. Moola	19	1	7	9	14	16
20. P. Sarha	20	2	8	10	15	17
21. U. Sarha	21	3	9	11	16	18
22. Sravana	22	4	10	12	17	19
23. Dhanistha	23	5	11	13	18	20
24. Satavisa	24	6	12	14	19	21
25. P. bhadra	25	7	13	15	20	22
26. U. bhadra	26	8	14	16	21	23
27. Revati	27	9	15	17	22	24

DASA-VARGA TABLE (or Sarani)

Kshetra-Chakra

Rasi	Mes 1	Vrs 2	Mith 3	Kart 4	Sinh 5	Kany 6	Tul 7	Vrsc 8	Dhn 9	Makr 10	Kum 11	Mina 12
Adhipati	Mang	Suk	Budh	Ch	Ravi	Budh	Suk	Mang	Vrsh	San	San	Vrsh

HORA-CHAKRA

Rasi	Mes	Vrs	Mith	Kart	Sinh	Kany	Tul	Vrsc	Dhn	Makr	Kum	Mina
upto 15th part	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch
upto 30th part	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi	Ch	Ravi

DREKKAN-CHAKRA

Rasi	Mes	Vrs	Mith	Kart	Sinh	Kany	Tul	Vrsc	Dhn	Makr	Kum	Mina
upto 10th part	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
upto 20th part	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4
upto 30th part	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8

TURYAMGSA-CHAKRA

Amsa	Mes	Vrsa	Mith	Kart	Sinh	Kany	Tul	Vrsc	Dhn	Makr	Kum	Mina
7/30	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
15/0	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3
22/30	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6
30/0	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

Mes—Mesa Vrsa—Vrsa Mith—Mithune Kart—Karkat Sinh—Sinha Kanya—Kanya

Tul—Tula Vrsc—Vrscika Dhn—Dhanu Makr—Makar Kum—Kumbha Mina—Mina

SAPTAMGSA-CHAKRA

Amsa	Mes	Vrs	Mith	Kart	Sinh	Kany	Tul	Vrsc	Dhn	Makr	Kum	Mina
4/17/8/34	1 Mang	8 Mang	3 Budh	10 San	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs	7 Suk	2 Suk	9 Vrhs	4 Ch	11 San	6 Budh
8/34/17/8	2 Suk	9 Vrhs	4 Ch	11 San	6 Budh	1 Mang	8 Mang	3 Budh	10 San	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs	7 Suk
12/51/25/42	3 Budh	10 San	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs	7 Suk	2 Suk	9 Vrhs	4 Ch	11 San	6 Budh	1 Mang	8 Mang
17/8/34/16	4 Ch	11 San	6 Budh	1 Mang	8 Mang	3 Budh	10 San	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs	7 Suk	2 Suk	9 Vrhs
21/25/42/50	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs	7 Suk	2 Suk	9 Vrhs	4 Ch	11 San	6 Budh	1 Mang	8 Mang	3 Budh	10 San
25/42/51/24	6 Budh	1 Mang	8 Mang	3 Budh	10 San	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs	7 Suk	2 Suk	9 Vrhs	4 Ch	11 San
29/59/59/58	7 Suk	2 Suk	9 Vrhs	4 Ch	11 San	6 Budh	1 Mang	8 Mang	3 Budh	10 San	5 Ravi	12 Vrhs

NAVAMGSA-CHAKRA

Amsa	Mes, Sinh, Dhn	Vrs, Kany, Makr	Mith, Tul, Kum	Kart, Vrsc, Mina
3/20	1 Mang	10 San	7 Suk	4 Ch
6/40	2 Suk	11 San	8 Mang	5 Ravi
10/0	3 Budh	11 Vrhs	9 Vrhs	6 Budh
13/20	4 Ch	1 Mang	10 San	7 Suk
16/40	5 Ravi	2 Suk	11 San	8 Mang
20/0	6 Budh	3 Budh	12 Vrhs	9 Vrhs
23/20	7 Suk	4 Ch	1 Mang	10 San
26/40	8 Mang	5 Ravi	2 Suk	11 San
30/0	9 Vrhs	6 Budh	3 Budh	12 Vrhs

DWADASAMSA-CHAKRA

Amsa	Mes	Vrs	Mith	Kart	Sinh	Kany	Tul	Vrsc	Dhn	Makr	Kum	Mina
2/30	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
5/0	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1
7/30	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2
10/0	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3
12/30	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4
15/0	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5
17/30	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6
20/0	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
22/30	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
25/0	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
27/30	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
30/0	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11

SORASAMSA-CHAKRA

[illegible]

TRIMSAMGSA-CHAKRA (BISHAMA RASI)

Amsa	Mesa	Mithune	Sinha	Tula	Dhanu	Kumbha
5	Mangal	Mang	Mang	Mang	Mang	Mang
10	Sani	San	San	San	San	San
18	Vrihas pathi	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs
25	Budh	Budh	Budh	Budh	Budh	Budh
30	Sukra	Suk	Suk	Suk	Suk	Suk

TRIMSAMGSA-CHAKRA (SAMA RASI)

Amsa	Vrsa	Karkat	Kanya	Vrscika	Makar	Mina
5	Suk	Suk	Suk	Suk	Suk	Suk
12	Budh	Budh	Budh	Budh	Budh	Budh
20	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs	Vrhs
25	San	San	San	San	San	San
30	Mang	Mang	Mang	Mang	Mang	Mang

SASTHYAMGSA-CHAKRA (2)

[illegible]

SASTHYAMGSA-CHAKRA (3)

Bishama Rasi Number	Mes	Vrsa	Mith	Kart	Sinh	Kany	Tul	Vrsc	Dhn	Makr	Kum	Minu	Sama Rasi	Amaz	Kala
*	42	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	21	0
*	43	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	21	30
*	44	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	22	0
	45	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	22	30
	46	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	23	0
	47	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	23	30
	48	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	24	0
	49	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	24	30
	50	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	25	0
*	51	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	25	30
	52	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	26	0
	53	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	26	30
	54	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	27	0
	55	7	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	27	30
	56	8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	28	0
	57	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	28	30
	58	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	29	0
*	59	11	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	29	30
	60	12	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	30	0
		Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi	Rasi

Read the digits 1, 2, 3 etc. in the following manners: 1 means Mesa, 2 means Vrsa, 3 means Mithuna etc. How to read Sasthyamsa chakra? Say Ravi's degree in Mesa is 1°-20'. Look at the chart, you will notice, in the column Mesa after 1° within 1°-30' the planet's position is in 3rd Rasi i.e. in Mithuna. There is no star mark against it. So it is not in Krura rasi. Star marked figures indicate 'Krura' (cruel or very malefic) rasi.

APPENDIX—A

Method of Calculation

Hora lagna. Method of calculation :—

We may show the process of calculation by a formula which is this :

Birth time hours and minutes minus Sunrise hours and minutes.

2nd step : The resultant hours and minutes are to be converted into Rasi and amsa and kala (min).

Each hour is equal to one rasi.

Two minutes are equal to one amsa (degree).

Two seconds are equal to one kala (minute).

3rd step : The aforesaid Rasi, amsa and kala etc, are to be added to either Ravisphuta or Chandrasphuta.

The result is Hora lagna.

When Ravi or Chandrasphuta is to be added ?

If the lagna in the birthchart falls in a Visama (odd) rasi Ravisphuta and when lagna falls in a Sama (even) rasi Chandrasphuta are to be added to the rasi, amsa etc worked out in the 2nd step.

Let us give an illustration :

Look at the standard horoscope in Chapter II, page 71.

The boy was born at 4 hours 27 minutes 17 seconds after sunrise, which means 4 rasi 13 amsa (or degree) 38 kala (or minute) 30 bikala (or seconds).

As the lagna is in Visama rasi (odd) Ravisphuta is to be added.

So, Hora lagna will be ($4^{\circ} - 13^{\circ} - 38' - 30'' + 0^{\circ} - 16^{\circ} - 18' - 19''$) $4^{\circ} - 29^{\circ} - 56' - 49''$.

Ghati lagna—Method of calculation :—

Find out Jata-danda. Divide Jata-danda and pala etc by 12. The remainder danda, pala should be converted into rasi and amsa etc. Here, each danda is equal to one rasi, two palas are equal to one amsa (degree), two bipalas are equal to one kala (minute). Now, add this newly found rasi, amsa etc to actual rasi, amsa, etc of lagnasphuta. The result is Ghati lagna.

If the Jata-danda is less than 12 then division by 12 is not necessary. This is a lagna quite different from Jata-lagna. But there will be no difference with regard to placement of planets in the birthchart.

Meaning of different digits in Arudha chakra

See the diagram of Arudhapada (p 90). There are in different rasis no. 1, 2, 3, etc to denote Lagnapada, Dhanapada, Sahajapada etc. This means the 1 digit is Lagnapada, 2 is Dhanapada, 3 is Sahajapada, 4 is Sukhapada etc.

Indian Astrologer's dilemma :

How to find out lagna of a birth chart when the native is born outside India, such as London or Newyork etc ?

The method of calculation is explained by a specific illustration.

This is to be noted first that lagna-position is to be calculated according to the local mean time of the place where the child is born. Grahasphuta is to be calculated according to our (Indian) Panchanga (Ephemeris) if the Ephemeris of the birth place is not available.

Illustration I : A boy was born on the 10th March, 1971 at 3 hrs 30 min (A. M.) at London. According to Indian System 3 hrs 30 min at night on the 9th March.

Process of calculation :—

London longitude— $0^{\circ}-5'$

Calcutta „ — $88^{\circ}-23'$ difference is „ — $88^{\circ}-18'$

Each degree is equal to 4 mins

Therefore $88^{\circ}-18' \times 4 = 5 \text{ hrs } 53 \text{ m } 12 \text{ secs}$. London is west to Calcutta. So London time + 5 hrs 53 m 12 secs i.e. 3 hrs 30 m (A. M.) + 5 hrs 53 m 12 sec = 9 hrs 23 m 12 secs A. M. (Calcutta local mean time) or 8 hrs 59 m 42 secs (Ind. St. Time) on the 10th March, 1971. I have already said that lagna is to be worked out according to London local mean time which is 3 hrs 30 m (A. M.) and grahasphuta is to be calculated according to I. S. T.

Illustration II: If the boy was born at Newyork (U. S. A.) on that day and at that time i. e. at 3 hrs 30 m (A. M.) on the 10th March, process of calculation will be as follows :

Calcutta longitude = $88^{\circ}-23'$

Newyork „ = $73^{\circ}-58'$

By addition it comes to $162^{\circ}-21'$

Each degree = 4 min. So, $162^{\circ}-21' \times 4$
= 10 hrs 48 min 21 Sec.

Therefore this difference of time is to be added to the birth time of Newyork which is 14 hrs 18 min 21 sec (L. M. T.) P. M., i.e. 3 hrs 30 min (A. M.) + 10 hrs 48 min 21 sec = 14 hrs 18 min 21 sec of the afternoon of the 10th March. This is Calcutta Local Mean Time which is equivalent to 13 hrs 54 min 51 secs Indian Standard Time.

Another most important point to be noted :

U. S. A. and England have different time in different periods which are quoted herebelow from N. C. Lahiri's Table of Ascendants.

Period of Summer Time

British Summer Time (when clock time is 1 hr more than G. M. T.) changing at 2 A. M. G. M. T.

1985 Apr 14 to Oct 6	1948 Mar 14 to Oct 31	1962 Mar 25 to Oct 28
1986 Apr 19 to Oct 4	1949 Apr 3 to Oct 30	1963 Mar 31 to Oct 27
1987 Apr 18 to Oct 3	1950 Apr 16 to Oct 22	1964 Mar 23 to Oct 25
1988 Apr 10 to Oct 2	1951 Apr 15 to Oct 21	1965 Mar 21 to Oct 24
1989 April 16 to Nov 19	1952 Apr 20 to Oct 26	1966 Mar 20 to Oct 23
1940 Feb 26 to Dec 31	1953 Apr 19 to Oct 4	1967 Mar 19 to Oct 29
* 1941 whole year	1954 Apr 11 to Oct 3	1968 Feb 18 to Dec 31
* 1942 whole year	1955 Apr 17 to Oct 2	1969 whole year
* 1943 whole year	1956 Apr 22 to Oct 7	1970 whole year
* 1944 whole year	1957 Apr 14 to Oct 6	1971 till Oct 31
* 1945 Jan 1 to Oct 7	1958 Apr 20 to Oct 5	1972 Mar 19 to Oct 29
1946 Apr 14 to Oct 6	1959 Apr 19 to Oct 4	1973 Mar 18 to Oct 28
* 1947 Mar 16 to Nov '2	1960 Apr 10 to Oct 2	1974 Mar 17 to Oct 27
	1961 Mar 26 to Oct 29	1975 Mar 16 to Oct 26

• Double Summer Time (when clock time is 2 hr more than G. M. T.)

1941 May 4 to Aug 10

1944 Apr 2 to Sept 17

1942 Apr 5 to Aug 9

1945 Apr 2 to July 15

1943 Apr 4 to Aug 15

1947 Apr 13 to Aug 10

From 1973 onward Summer Time observed is from 2 A. M. of Sunday following the third Saturday in March to 2 A. M. of the day following the fourth Sunday in October.

In North America (U. S. A., Canada and Mexico) the following Standard Times are maintained :

	Normal Standard Time	During Summer Seasons
Atlantic time	—4 hr AST	—3 hr ADT
Eastern time	—5 hr EST	—4 hr EDT
Central time	—6 hr CST	—5 hr CDT
Mountain time	—7 hr MST	—6 hr MDT
Pacific time	—8 hr PST	—7 hr PDT

The cities of Newyork, Washington D. C., Philadelphia, Boston, Quebec, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal etc. fall in the Eastern Time zone. Indian Standard Time is $10\frac{1}{4}$ hrs in advance of the normal Standard Time of this zone.

Summer time or Day light Saving time is introduced from 2 A. M. of last Sunday in April and withdrawn from 2 A. M. of last Sunday in October, during which period clocks are advanced by one hour.

In U. S. S. R. the Standard time observed varies from +3 hr to +13 hr. Originally the European Countries like Irish Republic, France, Belgium, Portugal, Spain etc, observed G. M. T. as the Standard time of the country. During the period of the second world war, their clocks were advanced by one hour for the purpose of Day Light Saving as was done in Great Britain. This system of time is still being continued in these countries although Britain has since restored to G. M. T. except for Summer Time. (Quoted from Table of Ascendants by N. C. Lahiri)

APPENDIX—B

Dreams—A Mystery

The Agni Purana a sacred book of Hindus instructs the image-maker to pray on, the night before he begins his work as follows :—

“O, Lord of all the Gods teach me in dreams to carry out the work I have in mind.”

Closely similar to the prayer in the Agni Purana is the following from Tibetan yoga & secret doctrines edited by Evans-arntz :

“Then at night, when about to sleep pray to the guru that thou mayest be enabled to comprehend the dream-state, and firmly resolve that thou wilt comprehend it. By meditating thus, one is certain to comprehend it.

In the second practice, comprehending it by the power of breath, the methods are : sleep on the rightside as a lion doth. With the thumb and ring finger of the right hand press the pulsation of the throat arteries, stop the nostrils with the fingers (of the left hand) ; let the saliva collect in throat.

As a result of these methods, the yogin enjoys a vivid consciousness in the dream-state as in the waking state ; and in passing from one state to another experiences no break in the continuity of memory. Thereby the content of the dream-state is found to be quite the same as that of the waking-state, in that it is wholly phenomenal and, therefore illusory. All the multitudinous forms, both inorganic and organic, existing in nature, including the forms of men and of gods, are found to be purely phenomenal, and thus, in themselves, non-real. So dream-experiences and waking-experiences alike are discovered to be like mirage or-like the image of the moon-seen reflected in water. The yogin's aim is to attain to the causal or nonmenal state wherein alone can thereby realisation of Reality.”

The reader may try the second practice described above, for himself. He will discover certain things for himself. The practice is worth-trying, easy and harmless.

This is perhaps a little more positive than what Shakespeare meant in his famous lines, "We are such stuff as dreams are made on, and our little life is rounded with a sleep."

And let it not be forgotten that from the visions or dreams, if you will, of Joan of Arc, come the rescue of feudal France from the grip of England—also that John Bunyan was called the "Mad Dreamer" after he had written his immortal Pilgrims Progress and nearer still, to modern times, Coleridge claimed to have written his poetical fragment Kublakhan from a dream.

The theory that dreams are just events casting their shadows before has been re-enforced in our own times by the scientific ideas of serialism set forth by the Cambridge mathematician Dunne. But there are other theories as well, less philosophical or scientific and more prosaic: "Children of the night of indigestion bred" observes one theorist. "A world of the dead in the hues of life", says another. "We are somewhat more than ourselves in our sleeps and the slumber of the body seems to be but the waking of the soul. It is the litigation of sense but the liberty of reason and our waking conceptions do not match the fancies of our sleeps." (Sir J. Browne)

There is a different way of putting the basic philosophy of serialism, long before Dunne.

But apart from theories, of which there is no end—they begin beyond Plato from the facts of the Bible, or beyond even that and there still "Icumen in"—the important question remains why do some dreams come true? There is hardly any satisfying answer to it. It is a mystery.

Least mystifying, however, is the answer which Bernard Shaw puts in the mouth of Joan of Arc when charged with accusation that her dream voices "come from your imagination."

Of course she replies, "that is how messages of God do come to us."

"Nobody", writes Shaw, "disputes that the relief of Orleans followed by the coronation of the Dauphin at Rheims.....were military and political master-strokes that saved France. They might have been planned by Napoleonic or any other illusion-proof genius."

Yet as everybody knows Joan was a young peasant maid unlearned and unversed in either war or politics.

The probability seems to be that man is a multi-lazared being and though ninety-nine percent of dreams may be straightforward enough and altogether unproblematic, there are always a few dreams which seem to be utterly strange as if they were trying to tell something, that is to convey a sort of message. Jung in his Memories, Dreams, Reflections records some such feelings in the chapter which he calls "confrontation with the unconscious". He describes a dream in which the corpses in a row of tombs seemed to come back to life, as he looked at them. Then he describes a sort of sense of oppression he was passing through—it was the Autumn of 1913, a little before the first world war started—and then a vision. It was that of a mighty flood covering the whole and large tracts of land between the North Sea and the Alps and of mountains getting higher and higher to thwart it and countless floating dead bodies in the flood which had become metamorphosed into flood. The vision returned two weeks later and he heard a voice that said "Look at it well: it is wholly real." Sometime after, he had dreams of an Arctic cold wave freezing the world. The vision came again for the third time.

He realised only later that the dreams had been prophetic. "We have in dreams" writes Winslow, "No true perception of time—a strange property of mind! For, if such be also its property when entered into the eternal disembodied state, time will appear to us Eternity! The realisations of space as well as of time are also annihilated so that, while almost an eternity is compressed into a moment infinite space is traversed more swiftly than by real thought."

Students of Hindu Philosophy particularly of the Philosophy of Yogavashista Ramayana will discover considerable similarity between the above and his own studies.

"Nothing so much convinces me the boundlessness of the human mind as its operations in dreaming", writes a philosopher and this may be read along with the following: "Dreaming is an act of pure imagination, attesting in all men a creative power which if it were available in waking, would make every man a Dante and a Shakespeare." (Hedge)

Freud divided dreams into two classes: latent dreams or personal wishes which might or might not be fulfilled in the dream: and manifest dreams, those in which the dreamer either participated in some action or was simply a witness to it. Of these the latter are of course more significant. They may be "Message Dreams", warning of experiences to come or just pictures of events that have already taken place. The latter are mostly attributed to supernatural influences.

The ancients believed in dreams with a kind of reverence and awe. The Scriptures say: "God speaketh once, yet twice, yet man perceived it not. In a dream, in a vision of the night when deep sleep fallen upon man in slumbering upon the bed, then He openeth the ears of men and sealeth their instruction."

In the Old Testament, God thus spoke to Moses "Here now my words if there be a prophet among you! I, the lord, will make myself known to him in a vision and will speak to him in a dream."

Thus the ancients looked upon dreams as direct messages from God and regarded angels as His chosen messengers. When Jacob dreamed, he saw a ladder and the angels of God ascending and descending upon it.

The Biblical story of the dreams of the Pharaoh of Egypt is too well-known to be repeated.

Another Biblical ruler Nebuchadnezzar dreamed that he saw a great image of gold, silver, brass, iron and clay and Daniel interpreted the dream which conveyed a message. Throughout the ages writers and philosophers had devoted much attention to dreams.

The Greeks firmly believed in dreams and regarded them as commands from the gods of Olympus, sent to man by Zeus, the father of the gods, through His messenger Hermes (in Latin Mercury). Amongst the lesser gods were Hypnos (sleep), Oneiros (Dreams) and Thanatos (Death); so dreams were taken as the domain of a god.

The Greek philosophers of course attributed material and physical causes to dreams—disorders of the liver, which was then held to be the seat of passions and of appetite, bodily strain due to overwork. But Plato, Aristotle, Democritus and Galen were never 'popular' as 'popularity' has been understood in various epochs.

Interpretation of dreams has been the philosopher's job through centuries. In Hindu sacred lore, the Brahmavaivarta Purana devoted attention to this, while, in the West the name of Artemidorus is conspicuous. He lived in the reign of Augustus of Rome and wrote a book on dreams which was translated in later times by Rigaltius, an edition of which was published in 1604.

Artemidorus did not concoct the interpretations but compiled them from the lessons of antiquity.

Racial or inherited, accumulated memory or the stored-up impressions in the mind, which are assumed to be transmitted down through the ages for countless generations, are said to account for many dreams. When we sleep, the remembrance of things long past surges back again and produces the dreams. And naturally, those dreams are the most difficult to explain. Through them, we live again fragments of lives of our ancestors in the dim, distant past.

Some dreams again are said to be caused or influenced by departed spirits—the “shades of women and of men, who have lived and have died and are living again.” For this reason, religion enjoins that, before going to sleep, one should pray, so that the spiritual defence against evil spirits is fought into action.

A further complication is introduced by the concept of re-incarnation.

It is most interesting and potentialities of this theory are immense. But, unless the modern studies in para-psychology, are more persuasive and convincing, orthodox science continues to be indifferent. Hindu scriptures are full of illustrations of this line of explanation for dreams: but they belong to the reader of forgotten knowledge, of which, alas, there is no lack in India.

One would therefore conclude on the note that dreams are a mystery, not yet fully explained, they are on the twilight of understanding—interesting and significant all the time, but hardly fully intelligible, therein possibly lies the attractiveness of it all.

The following points would however sum up a safe guide line to go by.

Our dreams at least those which are more meaningful or significant than the rest, are those in which we the dreamers are both spectators and participants.

Frequently they are distorted impressions of experiences remote or recent. If remote, they may be too remote for explaining.

As in the mirrors, so also, frequently in dreams, we see our thoughts in reverse gear, so that the popular saying that "dreams go by contraries" is thereby confirmed.

But in any case, dreams, it is worth repeating, remain a mystery in both space and time. And some of those may very truly be trembling at what T. S. Eliot calls the "intersection of the timeless moment" with time or at the intersection of the sub-conscious with the conscious. And, not only spiritually but also in the Art, Literature and Music, they have been great creative forces. The musician, the painter, the writer, the architect, sculptor and the poet may all have their waking dreams, but in some cases the end products of sleep dream have been great. R. N. Stevenson's wonderful story of Jekyll and Hyde was a dream.

To sum up, Defoe wrote in 1726: "So dream is nothing else but to sleep thinking". And this may be taken as the texts our modern theories of the sub-conscious have built upon. And even to-day, this is about as far as we can safely go.
